Department of Mathematics.

Text Books.—Those enumerated in the course for teachers, and Hassler's Theoretical Arithmetic, Davies' Bourdon's and Hackley's Algebras, Davies' Differential and Integral Calculus, Davies' Descriptive Geometry, Davies' Analytical Geometry, Farrar's Topography.

Department of Natural Science.

Most of the Text Books usually used in this department have been enumerated in connection with the Teachers' department.

Department of Moral Science.

Text Books.—Parley's Natural Theology, Butler's Analogy, Wayland's Moral Science, Stewart's Mental Phylosophy, Tappan's Elements of Logic, and Tappan on the Will.

Department of Vocal Music.

Those wishing to become scholars in vocal music, will have the opportunity of studying it under the instruction of an accomplished and experienced teacher, by taking it up as a regular study, the same as any other department of science.

Ladies' Department.

Ladies recite in classes with gentlemen as far as they are pursuing the same branches. All needful facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the polite and ornamental branches of education will be furnished.

SECTION II.

ACADEMIC TERMS.

The Academic year for 1848-9 consists of three terms as follows:

The First commencing Tuesday, August 15th, 1848, and ending Thursday, November 23d, 1848.

The Second, commencing Tuesday, December 5th, 1848, and ending Thursday, March 15th, 1849.

The Third, commencing Tuesday, April 3d, 1849, and ending July 12th, 1849.

As the plan of instruction in this Institution, laid out for each class, will require the entire term for its completion it is of the utmost importance that students should continue through the term, and accordingly, no student will be admitted for any length of time less than a term, extraordinaries excepted.

Students prepared to enter classes already in operation, can be admitted at any time in the terms.

N. B. Students who are expecting to teach during the winter or summer, will specify such intention on entering in the beginning of the fall or spring term; and, for the especial accommodation of such, a day will be set apart at first, on which they can leave, if they wish: and they will not be permitted to leave on any other day, nor will any other, than teachers, be permitted to leave on the day specified.

Farther, it is of the utmost importance that the student be present at the day of the opening of the term, as on that and the succeeding day, the students entering are examined and classified. The regulations of the Institution are then explained and all arrangements are made for the convenience and accommodation of the students. Those entering later than here mentioned will subject themselves to the rigors of a private examination, and the Principals to the inconvenience of disposing of such applicants, in a manner, not to interfere with previously existing arrangements.

It is also suggested to parents who patronise this Institution from the distance of a few miles around, that students should go home only once during the term, as every absence from classes is always attended with disadvantages to the student. This is a suggestion and not imperative. But to meet this suggestion the exercise of the school will close at noon on the seventh Friday in each term, and open again on the afternoon of Monday following.

SECTION III.

EXPENSES.

Board, per term,	$14 50
Room rent, per term,	1 50
Washing, per term,	2 50
Fuel, per term, Spring and Fall, 75 cents, Winter,	1 50
Tuition, per term, from	$3 50 to 5 00
Lights, per term,	1 50
Incidental expenses, per term,	25

EXTRAS, PER TERM.

Music on the Piano Forte,	10 00
Oil Painting,	7 00
Drawing,	2 00

The entire expenses for an Academic year, including board, washing, lights, fuel and tuition, (except the extras above mentioned,) need not exceed seventy-five dollars.

The expenses for board and tuition must be settled in advance, at the commencement of each term, either by actual payment, or satisfactory arrangement.

N. B. No departure from this requisition need be asked or expected. Parents should not, therefore, send their children by some neighbor, unless authorized to do their business, leaving them thus unprovided for, and, in a manner uncared for.

Experience of years has taught us, that this is the only way in which our business can be successfully managed. Besides, when paid in advance, or settled in advance, every Academic charge is fairly understood; and no man will be surprised at the end of the term, to find a bill exceeding his expectations.

N. B. Every student wishing to have washing done in the Hall, should have each article marked, so as to avoid exchanges and losses.

SECTION IV.

ACCOMMODATIONS.

The main buildings of the Institution consist of the North Hall, occupied exclusively by gentlemen, under the immediate supervision of some of the teachers; the South Hall, occupied exclusively by ladies, under the immediate supervision of the Preceptress; the Middle Hall, occupied by the Principals and their families, and also for a Boarding Hall; and the West Hall, occupied by students who board themselves, under the supervision of a family.

Ample Lecture and Recitation rooms are provided in each of the Halls.

Students board in the Hall with the Professors and their families, who are responsible for furnishing good board, and for the order of the Dining Hall. Each room for those who board in the Hall, is furnished with a bed and bedding, a table, two chairs, and a pail.

A number of private families accommodate a few boarders.

SECTION V.

FACILITIES.

APPARATUS.

The Apparatus of this Institution is sufficiently ample to illustrate successfully the fundamental principles of the different departments of Natural Science.

A Manikin of the most approved structure, and a large amount of other apparatus in illustration of Human Physiology and Anatomy, have been imported from Paris, expressly for this Institution. This enables the student in these highly important and interesting branches of science, to pursue his studies with advantages nearly equal to those afforded by the dissection of an actual subject, having this further advantage of being divested of all those revolting circumstances ever attendant on the dissecting room.

The Library of this Institution consists of only about four hundred choice volumes; but large additions are to be made the present season.

LECTURES.

Courses of Lectures on Natural and Moral Science each term of the year.

A course of Lectures on Chemistry will be commenced at the beginning of each fall term, and continued to its close, accompanied by a complete course of experiments.

Daily Lectures on School Teaching during the fall and winter terms.

SECTION VI.

REGULATIONS.

1. No student will be excused to leave town, except to visit home, unless by the expressed wish of such student's parent or guardian.

2. Punctuality in attending all regular Academic exercises.

3. The use of Tobacco for chewing or smoking, will not be allowed either in or about the Academic buildings.

4. Playing at games of chance, cannot be allowed.

5. Using profane language, cannot be allowed.

6. The use of any kind of intoxicating drinks, cannot be allowed, unless prescribed in case of sickness, by a regular physician.

7. Passing from room to room by students, during the regular hours of study, or after the ringing of the first bell each evening, cannot be permitted.

8. Gentlemen and Ladies of the Institution, will not be permitted to visit the rooms of the opposite sex, except in cases of imperious necessity, and then it must not be done without permission previously obtained from one of the Principals.

9. Good order must be maintained at all times, and in all the rooms and halls of the Institution, and in all the intercourse of students with each other.

10. All students are required to retire regularly at the ringing of the bell designated for that purpose, as occasion may require; and to rise at the ringing of the morning bell, also designated.

11. Any room, occupied by students, will, at all times, be subject to the visitation of the Teachers of the Institution, who are required to see that the regulations are complied with.

12. Students will be required to keep their own room in good order, and to pay all unnecessary damages, either of rooms or of furniture furnished with the rooms.

REGULAR ACADEMIC EXERCISES.

The regular exercises at which all the students will be required to attend, unless specially excused, are, Chapel exercises each morning during the term: Recitations, from two to four, five days each week, from Monday morning till Friday evening.—Compositions and Declamations, one half day, once in two weeks, Literary, Scientific and Moral Lectures by the Principals. Public Worship, once in each week, either on Saturday or Sunday, according as the students may be in the habit of keeping the Sabbath, either on the seventh or first day of the week.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS.

Students will be expected:—1st. To keep their own rooms in order. 2d. Not to throw anything out at the windows. 3d. Not to lounge upon their beds. 4th. Not to damage any of the furniture of their rooms beyond ordinary wear with fair usage.—5th. To repair to the meals regularly at the ringing of the bell at regular hours, which will be announced at the commencement of the term. 6th. To take such seats at the table as shall be respectively assigned to each one. 7th. To touch nothing on the table till the honors of the table are performed. 8th. Not to leave the table, except by excuse, until all are regularly dismissed, and then to leave the dining-hall in the same order as each may be seated at the table. 9th. Not to visit the kitchen or dining-hall other than at meal times; nor the wash room, except at stated times to bring or receive clothes, or in procuring warm water for cleaning rooms, &c.

GOVERNMENT.

The Government of the students will be in the hands of the Principals, and will be strictly and steadily exercised, and at the same time, strictly parental. The object of our academic government being to secure the greatest possible amount of physical, intellectual, and moral good to the students themselves, regularity and order of exercises, and good and wholesome citizens to society. No unwarrantable means will be made use of to enforce the observance of the above regulations; yet our constant endeavor will be, to make the means resorted to as effective as human means may be.

Parents who place their children in this Institution, and all students who are sufficiently old to understand the necessity of order, cannot be too well assured that the foregoing regulations form the most essential part of the contract between them and us; and that whatever student wantonly violates them, and shows himself incorrigably determined on pursuing his waywardness, will be expelled from the privileges of the Institution, and will not be permitted to re-enter it again, without special proof of reformation. Nor will an expelled student have any deduction made from full term charges.

Farther, parents are requested not to place money, for expenses, in the hands of students who are not old enough to use money with discretion and economy. Either of the Principals, or the book-keeper of the Institution, will act as fiscal guardian of such students without charge.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission as students, must present testimonials of good moral character, or be known to possess such a character: and must be willing to comply unreservedly, with the foregoing regulations; and no one will be permitted to receive instructions in any class, until all academic bills, for the term in prospect be paid or satisfactorily arranged.

SECTION VII.

NOTICE.

This Institution has a quiet and retired location, six miles south of Almond, and thirteen miles south-east of Angelica.

The primary object of this Institution, is the qualification of School Teachers. Teachers' classes are exercised in teaching, under the immediate supervision of their respective teachers, combining all the facilities of a Normal School. It has sent out not less than one hundred and fifty teachers annually, for the three past years, a number much larger than from any other Institution in the State.

The plan of instruction aims at a complete development of all the moral, intellectual and physical powers of students, in a manner to render them thorough and practical scholars, prepared to meet the great responsibilities of active life.

The Trustees would take this opportunity to assure the public that no exertion shall be wanting on their part, to make the Institution worthy of the very extensive patronage that it has hitherto received.

SAMUEL RUSSELL, President.
