Fraternity Rushing Begins Friday Night, 5 Frats to Compete

Fraternity Men and Freshmen are Urged to Observe Rushing Rules To Make For Better Rushing Season

"Open season for fraternity rushing will be in full swing, starting Friday. Freshmen will be the most sought-after people on the campus," declared Burrill Friedman '43, president of the Interfraternity Council.

Fraternity rushing will begin on Friday, October 16, and continue for four additional Fridays, concluding on November 13.

During the first four weeks the fraternities will invite the college men to their houses. The Frosh men will be shown around the houses; they will be able to ask questions about the cost and such; and entertainment will be provided by the fraternity men. On the fifth Friday, each Frosh man will be able to go to the fraternity house of his preference.

On Saturday afternoon, November 14, the men being rushed will receive preferential cards, on which they will write the name of the fraternity which they would like to join. These cards must be in the mail before 5 o'clock that Saturday evening. Tapping will occur on Tuesday, November 17.

The presence of honorary members will be allowed at all rushing parties except the final one.

In order to make this rushing season as successful as possible, Frosh men and upperclassmen are urged to read and observe the fraternity rushing rules which follow:

1. Closed season shall be defined as the period from the beginning of college instruction in the fall until the Tuesday that all bids are returned to the respective fraternities.
2. During the closed season no eligible man is allowed in a fraternity house except for the time allotted each Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, and Saturday afternoon and evening.
3. During the closed season no fraternity shall be allowed to entertain more than five eligible men on Monday and Wednesday nights from 5:30 until 11:00.
4. On Friday nights of the closed season from 8 until 11 p. m. each fraternity shall be allowed to entertain one-fourth of the eligible men. Not more than twenty cents per eligible man may be spent on entertaining the men.
5. On Saturday afternoons from 1:30 p. m. to 7:00 p. m. each fraternity may entertain ten men.
6. Representatives from each fraternity must meet at least four days before the first Friday of rushing and divide the eligible men into four equal groups or as nearly equal as possible, which shall be guests at the different fraternities on successive Friday nights. (That is, each group shall visit each house at least once.)
7. No fraternity men except those men working at Bartlett Dorm are to be allowed in the Dormitory at any time during the Rushing Season.
8. On the morning after the last rush party, each eligible man shall receive a preferential card from a clerk appointed by the Council which must be filled out and returned by the 5 o'clock mail that same night. On or before 5 p. m. of this same night, each fraternity must have in the hands of the clerk a list of the eligible men they will accept as pledges.
9. Each house shall be limited to 17 freshmen preferentials.
10. Each house shall be permitted to maintain 17 men in each class; a man's class to be considered the one with which he is connected upon entrance.
11. Honorary members shall be exempt from the quota but may not be pledged until the conclusion of the regular rushing season.
12. A list of all bona fide pledges must be posted by the clerk of the Council by 10 a. m. of the following Wednesday morning immediately after the closed season has terminated.
13. All eligible men must be in their place of residence from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. the Tuesday evening after bids are sent in.
14. The silent period shall extend from the last Friday of rushing at midnight until Saturday at 6 p. m. The silent period is limited to merely saying "Hello" to an eligible man and prohibits the association of fraternity men in any manner whatever with eligible men.
15. The first four weeks of school shall be a non-rushing period, during which time Freshmen are forbidden to enter into or on fraternity property.
16. There shall be a closed season from the Wednesday after pledging until one week from the following Thursday at 6 p. m. After this time there shall be unlimited rushing.
17. Any house may pledge any eligible man other than a Freshman at any time. An eligible man is defined as any man who has never been connected with a fraternity and has been through one closed season, or a man who has been connected with a fraternity and has been through a closed season since pledging.
18. Each fraternity must charge its pledges at least $9 yearly fee, and may charge any amount over that if it sees fit to do so.
19. No rush party or part of a rush party shall be held in the home of, or sponsored by, an alumnus, honorary, or active member of a fraternity. No eligible man shall room or board in any fraternity house until he has been pledged by the fraternity. No fraternity shall approach any man when he has been pledged to another fraternity or has signified in writing his intention of being pledged.
20. No woman shall take part in any rushing function at a fraternity house.
21. No fraternity shall pledge a man who has worn the pledge pin of another fraternity of this council until the beginning of the next school year. If a man should have a pledge pin taken from him, the council shall be informed, by the fraternity whose pin he wore, of the circumstances concerning his case.

Curie Describes Russian Effort In First Forum

"This is a war between amateurs and professionals. Russia is the only professional in the United Nations," declared Eve Curie as she opened the Alfred University Forum series last Tuesday.

She is just back from the fighting fronts of Africa and Asia on her world tour.

Russia

"Every man, woman and child in Russia has as his sole purpose the winning of the war," was the impression that she gained in visiting the Russian fronts.

"Do British and Americans realize the immensity of this war?" asked a Russian of Miss Curie, "casualties are not hundreds of thousands, but millions."

"The Russians know no priorities except the army," she stated. "The Russians are in the war in complete national unity."

In India, on the other hand, she saw division and disunity such as caused the downfall of France.

Libya

"In the Libyan campaign there is nothing between the British and the Germans but scientific emptiness" was her opinion. "The desert landscape seems made for modern warfare; no swamps, no forests, no gullies, only open space. England gets replacements in three to five weeks in Libya; Rommel, in three to four days," added Miss Curie.

China

Because of the defeats of the British and the United States in the Pacific by the Japanese, never again will China submit to domination by the west, was her opinion.

"After the coming victory," declared Madame Chiang Kai Shek to Miss Curie, "China will be friendly to everybody, but subjective to nobody."

India

Miss Curie took a morning walk with Ghandi only to learn that "he would oppose the Japanese as he has the British, always with non-violence."

"The Cripps mission has not been useless. It may well lead to future discussions."

Cooperation

"Coordination between the French patriots inside and outside France with the United States is necessary to a furious uprising in France which will lead the other conquered nations in Europe to revolt," she observed.

A street dance will be held on Main Street Saturday night from 8-10:30. Music will be provided by the Schuster sound system.

This dance which is sponsored by Blue Key will be the first in a series of new ideas to be tried out on campus. These suggestions are the result of work by the new All-Campus Recreation Committee.

Part of the street will be blocked off to provide the dance floor. If the weather is inclement the dance will be held in South Hall. No admission will be charged but a collection will be taken to help defray the slight expenses.

The following week a special attraction will be announced at Social Hall. Two weeks from Saturday a square dance is planned in the Grange Hall.

A $10,570 grant from the United States public health service has been made to the University of Texas John Sealy College of Nursing.

Mud In Your Eye

(Editorial)

Freshman men, put your raincoats and hats on and prepare for the annual mud slinging that accompanies fraternity rushing.

You're going to be told a lot of interesting stories about the various fraternity houses on campus in the next five weeks. You will hear that this house is a bunch of playboys. Someone will tell you that that house is full of intellectual snobs. Another house will be branded dopes. And you will hear many other tales.

Don't let this mud get in your eyes. Remember, every fraternity man has a bill of goods to sell you. If he likes you he will want you to join his house. Respect and admire the fellow who doesn't try to influence you by running down the other guy's product. Judge the house by the men, not by what you hear about it. Meet the fellows, get to know them and then decide where you want to pledge.

Special Assembly To Be Held At 3:45 Tomorrow

A Joint Presentation Board, representing every branch of the armed service, will appear at a special assembly to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 in Alumni Hall, and will explain the various plans of the different services.

Officers will be present from the Army Ground Force, the Army Air Force, the Navy, the Coast Guard, Naval Aviation and the Marine Corps. Each officer will speak for fifteen minutes after which questions may be asked.

All men in the Liberal Arts and Ceramic Colleges and the Ag-Tech Institute, not already enlisted in a reserve corps program, are expected to attend.

"This assembly," said Dean Drake, "presents an unusual opportunity to obtain additional information concerning the service and to ask questions."

In three weeks a joint recruiting party will visit Alfred to recruit men.

Schuster Tried By Frosh Court For Contempt

In a strange reversal of proceedings William Schuster, president of the Student Senate and defense attorney for the ten frosh hostages in frosh court, was tried by the court on charges of contempt of court.

Schuster presented the case of the frosh in vain. After considerable oration on the part of the eloquent attorney, Chief Justice Benny Soldano called a halt to the proceedings and demanded that the hostages be held in bond. In lieu of the bond "Hector Fuddle" was required to entertain the court and audience with a plea for money. His song, "Pennies From Heaven", was of no avail.

During the judiciary consultation the frosh did the conga, led by Frosh Doyle. Frosh Cottrell was summoned to do push-ups. After the consultation of the judges it was decided that the frosh would be freed if Doyle could do 15 push-ups. Doyle, a leader of the mysterious Doyle-Cottrell mob, supplied the push-ups and the frosh were freed.

Key Center Sponsors Faculty Speakers In Nearby Towns

Dr. Roland Warren, professor of sociology and philosophy, and Dr. Harold Boraas, professor of education and psychology, have given talks in nearby communities recently in connection with the work of the Alfred Key Center.

On Tuesday, October 6, Dr. Warren spoke in Hornell to the Lions Club and in Wellsville to the Masonic Lodge on the topic: "Some Thoughts About the War." Dr. Boraas spoke to the Andover Exchange Club on Thursday, October 8, on the subject, "Mental Hygiene and the War."

Meetings of the group working on the illustrative bulletin publicizing the services of the Key Center were held Thursday, October 8, and Sunday, October 11.

Senate Discusses Budget, Hears Group Requests

An appropriation for the current Freshman Handbook and appeals for allocations were topics of discussion at the Student Senate last Wednesday at 7:15 in Physics Hall.

In order to meet Handbook expenses the Senate voted to appropriate $40. No plans were discussed for similar action in the future.

Professor C. Duryea Smith, adviser of the Footlight Club and Miss Muriel Strong '43, president of the W.A.G.B., represented their respective organizations.

Professor Smith asked for $100 to suffice this year's budget. "The Footlight Club," he said, "is a morale builder—necessary in these times."

He stated that the Club budget had been revised and cut down to a minimum. "Expenses this year," he reminded the senators, "will be higher because prices have gone up and many materials are now on priority."

Miss Strong asked for an allocation of $95 for the W.A.G.B. She stated that although the requested sum was three dollars more than last year's amount, many athletic awards had been eliminated to comply with present conditions.

Senators are now making out a tentative budget. Organizations are requested to consider only essentials in making out their individual budgets. Requests for allocations may be heard at Senate meetings.

Directors Meet For N.Y.S. Ceramic Association

The Board of Directors of the Ceramic Association of New York State met Saturday in the Ceramic College. This meeting took the place of the regular convention which was cancelled because of the restrictions on travel.

Grant S. Diamond, vice president of the Electro Refractories and Alloy Corporation in Buffalo, was elected president of the group for the coming year. Vice president is L. E. Baringer of General Electric Corporation in Schenectady. Dean M. E. Holmes is permanent secretary and treasurer of the group.

J. C. Hofstetter of the Hartford Glass Corporation gave an address in the afternoon session of the meeting. Francis DiLaura '43, president of the Student Branch of the American Ceramic Society at Alfred, showed movies of glass manufacture.

A general report on the work conducted by the experiment station was given before the group. H. G. Schurecht is head of the experiment station at Alfred. Following the general report more detailed reports were given on the individual experiments to special groups.

The Board of Directors decided to publish three technical books this year. Prof. Charles Amberg and Dr. Bowman of Carborundum and Dr. Willem of Corning Glass will collaborate on the three books to be entitled: "The Use of the Microscope in Ceramics", "The Use of the X-ray in Ceramics" and "The Use of the Spectroscope in Ceramics."

Two University of Pittsburgh alumni, Regis Toomey '18 and Gene Kelly '33, are acting in motion pictures for M-G-M in Hollywood.

Red Cross Unit To Return To Alfred Soon

The mobile unit of the Blood Donors' Association will return to Alfred University some time this month. This organization made its first appearance on the campus last spring when 148 students, faculty and townspeople donated blood.

Prof. H. O. Burdick, chairman of the local Red Cross Blood Donor Committee, recently received the following telegram commending the work of this group:

War Department awarding Army-Navy "E" to Blood Donor Service for high achievement in supplies vital to armed forces. Please extend to all donors in community congratulations and appreciation for their cooperation. May this be an added incentive for all to give more freely in months ahead. Signed, Madison E. Pierce.

Professor Burdick stated that there are pins and certificates in his office for those who donated blood last year. Information on the blood types is printed below:

Wendell Willkie

Wendell Willkie has finished his job as special envoy for President Roosevelt and will soon be in Washington for conferences. He has visited some thirteen countries — "kingdoms, soviet, republics, mandated areas, colonies and dependencies" as he described them. He had talked with such leaders as King Farook of Egypt, Joseph Stalin and Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, leader of Free China.

In Moscow he pushed for a second front and in Chungking he urged an all-out global offensive by the United Nations.

- 1—They all want the United Nations to win the war.
- 2—They all want the United Nations to get on the offensive now.
- 3—They all desire a chance at the conclusion of the war to live in liberty and independence.
- 4—They all doubt in different degrees the readiness of the leading democracies of the world to stand up and be counted upon for the freedom of others after this war is finished.

New Tax Bill

A vote of 77 to 0 in the Senate passed the greatest tax bill in all history. The passage of the bill arrived after five days of debate, and seven months and seven days after the tax bill was first introduced to the Ways and Means Committee. The Treasury estimated that $8,525,000,000 would be raised of which $1,706,300,000 will be refundable after the war.

The House and Senate had several points of difference on the bill. The Senate eliminated a 5% tax on freight transportation. The House bill as passed was planned to yield $6,300,000,000. The Senate, on the other hand, had raised this amount nearly $3,000,000,000.

ATTENTION ARTISTS

Calling all artists on campus! The Fiat Lux is in need of a new name plate to replace the one at the top of this page.

If there are capable artists who wish to design a new plate for this paper it would be appreciated. The plate should be done on stiff white cardboard and in India ink. It should have the same wording as the present head; namely, The Fiat Lux, Student Newspaper of Alfred University. The lettering can be in any style. It would be preferred if it were not all capital letters and if the style of lettering were modernistic. The proportion of the lettering should be about the same as the present head or it may be slightly smaller.

Submit drawings to the editor or any staff member and the best one will be selected by the editorial board to replace the present head.

Dr. Scholes To Be Assembly Speaker Thurs.

Dr. Samuel Scholes, professor of glass technology in the Ceramic College, will speak on "New Uses for Glass and New Glass for Old Uses" at the university assembly Thursday morning at eleven o'clock in Alumni Hall.

Dr. Scholes, who is listed in "Who's Who in America" and "American Men of Science", is the inventor of an improved glass melting pot, the author of two books, "Modern Glass Practice" and "Glass Tank Furnaces", the editor of the "Glass Industry Handbook" and the contributor of articles on glass to various magazines.

He has had a wide experience in the glass field, having served as chemist, superintendent, or technical adviser for various glass companies and as laboratory assistant at Yale, assistant director at Mellon Institute, professor of chemistry at Geneva College and lecturer on glass technology at Ohio State, before coming to Alfred in 1932.

Dr. Scholes is a fellow of A.A.A.S., a member of the American Ceramic Society, the British Society of Glass Technology, Sigma XI, Acacia, Alpha Chi Sigma and Keramos.

"For some time there has been agitation by the student body for an occasional assembly program by a member of the faculty and the Assembly Program Committee has persuaded Dr. Scholes to talk in an attempt to satisfy this demand. The talk should prove of particular interest to the Liberal Arts students who don't usually have an opportunity to come in contact with the Ceramic College," stated Dean M. Ellis Drake.

Industrialists To Confer With Dean Holmes

Mr. J. J. Porter, president of North American Cement Corporation, and three of the company's highest officials will be in Alfred tomorrow.

They will be in all-day conference with Dean M. E. Holmes, Dr. H. G. Schurecht and Prof. C. R. Amberg, discussing the accomplishments of the fellowship which that company sponsors here.

Dean Holmes commented: "It is evident that the staff of the college is producing distinguished results or men of this calibre would not spend valuable time on it."

Dr. W. J. Knapp, who began the work last year, is being replaced by Dr. H. G. Foster. He will be assisted by Wesley Curtis '40.

Students Win Prize For Glass Thesis

The award was made at commencement for their thesis on the "Study of Glass Phase in Ceramic Bodies." They are both members of Kappa Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Why Not Go To Classes?

"Why should I go to class and sleep?" asked many students after the editorial on attending classes last week. And they have a point.

There are altogether too many classes which are led by Morpheus instead of the professor in charge. There are also classes which certainly do not measure up to university standards. These are the "book-classes" which are merely recitations of the book by the prof. Perhaps it is time that some of the professors who find many students cutting their classes stop and analyze their courses. Are they always giving a lecture which is interesting, alive and informative?

In the early days of the universities, the students gathered in a library and hired a professor to lecture to their group. If the professor did not keep on his toes he was dismissed and a new tutor was hired. In those days the students stayed awake to see that the professor was giving them their money's worth.

It all boils down to a 50-50 proposition. If students are alert in classes they will force the professor to be on his toes. If the professor is conscientious he will present his material in a manner which will keep the "ever-sleepy" college student on his toes and interested in attending every class.

Tale Of A Barn

There is a barn on the west hill of the valley. It isn't a very ostentatious barn. It's just a barn in the middle of a field.

A stranger looking at it for the first time would probably wonder why the painter of this barn did such a sloppy job and why he didn't finish. If the observer were to talk with the barn he could learn a lot about the Alfred that the barn has known. This is the barn which is called the '44 barn or whatever class happens to have its numerals painted on it. For years ambitious frosh have carried out the tradition of painting their numerals on this barn. The barn could tell of a pageant of strip-fights and tussles between the rival classes in the meadows around it. Tradition is painted deeply into the sides of this old barn. History has been made by the young men who came to paint and later became leaders on campus and in the world.

Someone owns this barn. The owner of the barn has been very patient. He has never complained when the students painted his barn or even when they borrowed his ladder to paint it. A sort of code has been built up about the use of the ladder and the barn. Midnight marauders have always returned his ladder and taken care not to damage the barn. Recently someone broke that code. Someone was over-zealous. Part of the siding was torn off the barn. Are the barn-painters of years before to be let down by a new class? Can one group of careless students spoil all the good will established by generations of men with the "Spirit of Alfred" who went before? The farmer is willing to lend his ladder to repair the damage.

Letter From The Editor

News is described by the dictionary as the report of a recent event. Notice, that it says recent.

The only way for a college paper to get its news is to seek it out from the various sources on campus which have the facts available. Lately it seems to be more a case of eeking it out rather than merely seeking.

This year, it seems that a job already made difficult by the hardships placed on it by the war situation has been doubled by certain uncooperative students and faculty members on campus.

Some faculty members have a bad case of "postpone it 'til next week." Students fail to carefully consider the news value of the particular activity they represent. They hand out incomplete or incorrect stories.

The reader can guess who gets blamed if a story isn't in the papers or if the details are incomplete.

The staff is ready and eager to do its part in presenting an accurate and timely coverage of the news. They can do this only with the complete and whole-hearted support of everyone concerned.

To those who have been threatening me: Remember Voltaire's immortal words and the fact that I now pack a .32 automatic.

To George Hyams: We can take any kind of destructive criticism that will come from your warped mind and forked pen, but from no one will I take such libelous statements as "pseudo-Pegler and Hearstling." No matter what popular opinion may be, no one can say that I've reached such depths. I DEMAND an immediate retraction and apology or I'll get Schuster to handle my suit.

To Pазoo: Thanks for the compliment, pal. Also please accept the excuse that so many people give when they have none. "I'm only human." (I may as well save you the trouble.)

To the gals: When your girdles are worn thin and you can't replace them, try adhesive tape or wrappings similar to those used for a sprained ankle. Any of our athletes will be more than willing to explain the details.

To Lt. Kep Booth ex-'43, who just graduated from Army Flying School on Friday and who was once my roomie: Congrats, old man.

To the frosh at Bartlett: We played a lot of pranks in our first year, too, but we didn't have to enlist the aid of the wandering canines from town. And it's a pretty low trick putting a dog into bed with a guy when he's dreaming of his girl.

To Delta Sig: At long last, "Victory Through Air Power." Now you can hold your heads up again.

To the Aggies: I know now that it was your absence that made Alfred look so lonely as it did 10 days ago . . . and Hornell, too.

Fuddle's Fancy

Editor's Note:—This week Hector Fuddle is in mourning, for this is the anniversary of the death of his brother, Filbert. Mr. Fuddle requests that no flowers be sent. For the benefit of those Alfredians who are not intimately acquainted with the Fuddle family, we herewith reprint the sad and strange circumstances surrounding the death of Filbert Fuddle. On page 5968, Volume CX, of Hector Fuddle's diary begins the fantastic narrative which follows:

"Something," cursed Filbert Fuddle, "is shining in my eyes!" He sat up impatiently in his bed. "It's pretty bad when a decent man can't even sleep."

He looked over toward the writing desk. That was where all the light was coming from. He knew what it was at once. It was an angel, sitting at Filbert Fuddle's desk, writing by the light of its halo in the GOLDEN BOOK.

"What do you mean by this intrusion?" Filbert Fuddle asked.

The angel rose, fluttered its white wings and smiled. "Writing, Filbert Fuddle. Much obliged for the use of your desk." The angel closed the book.

"And just what were you writing?" Fuddle approached the angel.

"Official business. Heaven wouldn't like it if I told you. Just taking a census . . . that's all . . ." The angel smoothed its glossy wings. Then, looking at its wrist watch, it cried out, "Zounds! Midnight! And I promised Gabriel I'd meet him for bugle call lessons. He's teaching me the rag, you know . . ."

Then without another word the angel flew out of the window. Fuddle looked toward the writing desk. The angel, in its haste, had left the GOLDEN BOOK. He approached the volume with an amount of caution, or perhaps fear. Then he quickly opened it, turning the worn pages. He found the page he was looking for: FORBES, FORTUNE, FUDDE! The names in letters of gold glittered in the darkness. Fuddle felt his heart in his mouth. FUDDE—Born: January 19, 1898; Will Die: April 7, 1960.

Filbert Fuddle slammed the book shut in triumph. So! He couldn't die until 1960! And it was only 1941 now! He gazed thoughtfully at the gold ink and the pen which the angel had left behind. (Careless angel, it had spilled the ink).

"So! I can't die until 1960!" murmured Filbert Fuddle. "I can have a little fun, then! If I jump out of the window I can't die! Because the GOLDEN BOOK said 1960, not 1941! I'll probably float to the ground!"

He walked over to the window. The curtains were fluttering in the cool night breeze. He drew them apart and stepped through, let go of the sill and felt the wind rushing past his hot cheeks; he felt the earth come up to meet his falling body and the cement crush his skull—blood oozing out of his head.

They found Fuddle lying on the cement, just beneath his window. In the cold morning air an attendant had discovered the tragedy.

"Loony as a goon!" Dr. Harker sighed. "This asylum has seen a lot of nuts, but until Fuddle came I hadn't seen anything!"

The head doctor of the Norton Asylum for the insane shook his head sadly. Fuddle had committed suicide. He had jumped out of the window. Dr. Harker must see to it personally that every room had barred windows now.

The maid who cleaned up the room in which Filbert Fuddle had lived for ten long years, making it ready for a new patient, mumbled angrily to herself, "The old slob . . . leavin' white feathers all around . . . an' spillin' gold ink all over the desk!"

To those of us who are disappointed over the fact that we won't have a Thanksgiving recess this year: Indirectly it is the fault of the enemy. Therefore, let us add that to our list of "scores to settle" and begin now by digging up all available scrap from boilers to beer cans to build bombs and bombers with which to blast the b . . . s. Beyond The Valley

By George Hyams

Wendell Willkie is a very nice fellow and it is a very fine thing to have him making the rounds of some of the United Nations as the representative of President Roosevelt. He will probably make lots of friends and from all we hear there isn't a more charming chap around to do the job.

But there are a couple of things we don't get. He seems to be making a lot of unofficial speeches which are all fine and dandy except that he says that they represent only his personal opinion. He calls for a second front and more aid to China. We might be in agreement with him, but it leaves the question open as to how much of a representative of the President he is.

If what he says in his frequent talks means nothing and he is just a big shot who is being given a world tour, then we are grossly misleading our allies. Because nothing that he says matters insofar as immediate action is concerned, all these interviews that he is getting with Stalin and Chiang are just so much more talk and waste of time.

The whole thing is unfortunate because it is so confused. True, democracy is slow and all that, but sooner or later it must get down to brass tacks and make decisions. It is time that things started to clear up in Washington. The Willkie example of mixup and "your guess is as good as mine" method of doing things is one among many.

If policies in all lines of the war effort from newspaper censorship to production and rationing would take a definite course the war effort would have increased cooperation from the American people.

The Administration is to blame in part. The opposition minority is certainly not entirely innocent. The various blocs and the various heads of departments who haven't gotten tough in time are all to blame. And maybe we are too. Maybe we haven't cared enough except in a sort of confusing way.

At any rate it is time that some serious thought were given to the problem of "Where do we go from here?"

Rabbits vs. Chickens

If you fellows return from Hornell very late some night and see white spots before your eyes, don't let it worry you. It's just Dr. Everett Lund of the biology department—who rises before six every morning—taking care of his seventy chickens and forty rabbits.

It seems that Dr. Lund wanted to find out whether it was more profitable to raise chickens or rabbits. So, he went to the honorable president of Kappa Psi, Stu Davis and ordered two New Zealand rabbits. Stu, you upperclassmen will remember, is the lad who used to pace the floor at night when his rabbits were expecting. Luckily, Dr. Lund did not waste time pacing up and down floors at night. He built coops for the animals. By the time these coops were ready there were twenty-three little rabbits to be taken care of. Delivery was delayed until the housing problem could be cleared up. By the time there was enough room for all the rabbits, ten of them had died. Undaunted, Dr. Lund went to Hornell and bought more rabbits. While he was there, he also purchased his chickens.

Dr. Lund is now in the middle of his experiment. He is just beginning to calculate his costs and profits. He says he does not know definitely, but he thinks that the chickens will turn out more profitable. He says, "The meat of both animals has the same value, but the chickens lay eggs, too." He also mentioned the fact that he is losing money on both the chickens and the rabbits.

Dr. Lund remarked, "I have learned more about farming through the care of these animals than I learned in all the years that I lived on a farm in Iowa."

Klan, Lamba Chi, Delta Sig Turn in Football Wins Sat.

In the only low-scoring game of the day, Klan Alpine stopped the fast-stepping Indies last Saturday morning to remain the only unbeaten team in the Intramural Touch Football league.

Lamba Chi stopped Kappa Psi and Delta Sig really opened up against Kappa Nu in the other two contests.

A twenty-yard field goal in the opening quarter was the only scoring in Klan's 3-0 victory over the Indies. The goal was booted by Deyerling after three successive Klan passes had been knocked down by the opposition.

Kappa Psi Defeated

Heretofore undefeated Kappa Psi was forced to give ground continually to the fast-moving attack of Lamba Chi, which netted them an 18-2 win.

Lamba Chi's first touchdown came several minutes after the opening kickoff when Marks circled right end for about fifteen yards.

A long pass from Marks to Hauth netted the second touchdown which occurred later in the quarter after Kappa Psi had failed to net any gains. Another pass to Hauth, this one from Moebus, in the third period ended the scoring for Lamba Chi.

Kappa Psi forced through to score a safety in the final quarter, but could produce no offensive threat.

Delta Sig Opens Up

Delta Sig finally got their gears rolling in facing Kappa Nu to the tune of 31-0, with Bob Golden scoring four touchdowns.

Playing the type of ball that has been expected of them all season, the Sigs were completely dominant at all times.

The Standings

	Won	Lost
Klan Alpine	3	0
Kappa Psi	2	1
Lamba Chi	2	1
Indies	1	1
Delta Sig	1	2

Alfred Alumnus Is Featured In Copy Of Fashion Magazine

Miss Sylvia Gailar '37 has been chosen by Mademoiselle as the career girl of the month in its October issue.

The prominent fashion magazine in its semi-annual career issue ran a feature article on Miss Gailar's career as a glass technologist.

Born in Rochester, she was interested in chemistry and science throughout her years in high school. While at Alfred she maintained high grades in advanced physics, chemistry, mathematics and surveying.

After graduating from college, Miss Gailar found difficulty in obtaining a position because no other woman had ever before held that type of job.

With the coming of the war, however, she was asked to help in the research of the manufacture of binocular lenses for the army and navy. She proved so capable in her work that after Pearl Harbor the government offered her a position in the Signal Corps.

At present Miss Gailar is working in lab at Fort Monmouth where she is employed in highly technical work which is very vital to the war effort.

Frosh Soph Soccer Contest Ends in Tie

Soccer made its debut at Alfred last Saturday afternoon in the guise of a Frosh-Soph battle with the game but outplayed Frosh gaining a moral victory in holding their rivals to a scoreless tie.

From the opening kick-off, the Sops took the offensive and managed to keep the ball in Frosh territory for the better part of the game. The Sops had several opportunities to score, but over-anxiousness on their part, together with the tightening of the Frosh defense, stopped short any scoring.

Outstanding for the Frosh were Schwartz, Traskos, Bemis, Hurlburt and Doyle. The main cogs for the Class of '45 were Crump, Gallagher, Fenton and Mosher.

Both teams are enthusiastic for a return contest.

New Fellowships Established Here For Ceramists

The Briggs Clarifier Company of Washington, D. C., has offered the Ceramic College a new industrial fellowship. Mr. Paul Brigg of the University of Illinois was chosen as permanent director by Dean M. E. Holmes and Dr. H. G. Schurecht. James Prokopec '43 will act as assistant director.

Brigg and Prokopec will investigate the use of new ceramic bonds in making grids for oil filters.

This new fellowship is the fifth one accepted by the Ceramic College. All of them are financed by industrial firms.

"These fellowships are valuable to the ceramic industry in that they enable necessary research to be done, and valuable to the student in that they offer him an insight into industrial ceramic engineering and a stimulus from such an extensive research program," stated Dean M. E. Holmes.

300 New Pieces Received By Steinheim

Miss Arta Place, a descendant of one of the oldest residents of Alfred, contributed many of the 300 new pieces acquired this summer by the Allen Steinheim Museum. An old brass door knocker from her ancestors' house near the Ag-Tech Institute was the oldest piece given to the museum, dating from the early 19th century.

One of the most interesting accessions was a mail bag dating from 1840. It was used by one C. Langworthy who carried mail on horse back from Almond to Spring Mills. Alfred Center was one of the many stopping places. It was contributed by a relative of the mail carrier, Mrs. W. Langworthy. Many early American house furnishings are among the summer accessions, including: old lamps, cups, saucers, and one very fancy glass mug with a large "Friendship" inscribed on the face.

A coin collection contains numerous ancient and modern pieces from several centuries B.C. to luxury and sales tokens of the present day in the United States. One section has the handiwork of both utilitarian and decorative nature made by natives of the Western Hemisphere; among the pieces are arrow heads, spear heads and scraping knives. In one of the back rooms are the reproductions of the Alfred University campus as it appeared at different dates. The Dr. Charles Stillman collection contains about a thousand marine shells. There are some 80 thousand specimens of stone in the walls of the Steinheim, and 7 or 8 hundred specimens of wood in the interior finish. One of the most practical things gained over the summer was a new coat of paint.

Mrs. Alice Richmond, the assistant curator, will be glad to show anyone around the museum. If anyone has any articles that could be loaned to the museum, Mrs. Richmond would appreciate it if he would see her. The building is open to visitors Sunday and Thursday afternoons from 2 to 5.

Music Appreciation Group Discussed

Mrs. Ada B. Seidlin, director of the Alfred University orchestra and head of the music appreciation department, announced that her music classes were discussing the possibility of organizing a music appreciation group.

"At those times convenient for the students," said Mrs. Seidlin, "request music could be played. This idea has worked very well in many colleges. The students write the names of the compositions they would like to hear, and the time that they could hear them. We have many fine pieces of music to choose from."

Last year several Alfred students gathered every Saturday afternoon to listen to the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts. This proved to be a great success. With so much fine music at the disposal of Alfred students, this suggestion deserves consideration.

Mrs. Ada B. Seidlin urges that all students who are interested should contact her immediately.

"All one needs to enjoy music is a good memory and a desire to appreciate melody," said Mrs. Seidlin. "A good listener doesn't necessarily have to play an instrument."

Ernst Krenek, noted Czech composer of the opera, "Johnny Spielt Auf," has been appointed professor of music at Hamline University, St. Paul, Minnesota.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The "Stovepipe," as the 60-millimeter trench mortar is commonly known, is used by our infantry for close-in fighting. It fires a 2.4-pound shell at the rate of about 35 a minute.

The mortar fires its projectile in a U-shaped arc and for this reason may be successfully camouflaged behind an obstruction. It costs about $500. You and your neighbors, joining together, can buy many of these effective weapons for use of our Army. Investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday will do the job. Pi Delta Epsilon Discusses Saxon Publication

Tentative plans to revive the "Saxonian", campus literary magazine, were discussed at a meeting of Pi Delta Epsilon Sunday evening in Alumni Hall.

At this, the second meeting of the year, the group discussed the selection of new members. Pi Delta Epsilon is a national honorary collegiate journalism fraternity. Its purposes are to promote the growth of journalism on college campuses and to reward outstanding achievements in the field of journalism. To be eligible for membership a student must have been registered in Alfred University at least two years and must have worked on a campus publication at least one year. New members this year will be selected from the staffs of the Fiat Lux, The Kanakadea and the Alfred Engineer. This is the first time the Engineer has been considered in the choice of new members.

President Robert L. Williams '44 announced that the next meeting would be held at 8:00 p. m. in the Fiat Office Tuesday. At this meeting a final vote will be taken on new members. Tentative date for initiation of the new members into this honorary has been set for November 15.

Spanish Club Holds First Meeting of Current Year

Spanish songs by Mrs. Elberto Ringo, with a guitar accompaniment, highlighted the Spanish Club's first meeting of the year last Wednesday night in the Kenyon Memorial Hall at 7:30.

After discussion it was resolved that the members would meet every two weeks on Wednesday nights. The possibility that the various language clubs will sponsor a Christmas party later on in the semester was also discussed.

FOR VICTORY BUY UNITED STATES WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

INVEST IN VICTORY!
Our boys can take the War to the enemy, if we back them up with ships and tanks and guns! But that takes money! Help your Government to put the tools of war into the hands of our soldiers by purchasing War Savings Bonds and Stamps. And remember... just one Bond can't lick the Axis any more than just one gun! It takes millions of Americans buying War Savings Bonds and Stamps every pay day!
Bonds cost $18.75 and up... and they pay you back one-third more in only 10 years! Stamps cost 10¢, 25¢, and up... soon total the price of a Bond if bought regularly.
Help our boys on the fighting fronts wherever they may be! Buy War Savings Bonds as an investment for yourself and your country.
