Over Break Get Your Seasonal Flu Vaccination

Students at high risk for complications from seasonal flu and those wishing to avoid being ill from seasonal flu, should plan to take time this break to get vaccinated. Unfortunately, non-profits agencies such as AU Health Services have had difficulty obtaining seasonal flu vaccine to meet student demands. Big chain pharmacies on the other hand do have seasonal flu vaccine. Please open the attachment below for more information on where you can get a seasonal flu vaccine.

CAAP Assessment Program

First-year students and seniors may have questions about a new campus-wide testing program that will be started this fall. The two tests, Critical Thinking and Writing, are being administered between 10/19/09 and 11/6/09 as part of freshman and senior seminars and college events.

The tests are designed to give administration and faculty information about student skills in these key general education skills. Scores WILL NOT be used for grades, but will be analyzed as group data to learn about skills of our students in comparison with other similar colleges and universities.

See the attached description for more information.

Sanitize Those Hands!

You may think the advise is too simple to be repeated but University of Colorado scientists don't see it that way. They supplied two residence halls with alcohol-based hand sanitizer for each room, including dining halls and bathrooms. These same students were given educational materials about the importance of hand hygiene. Two other halls didn't receive the sanitizer or education.

You guessed it. The halls with hand sanitizer and an education had a third fewer complaints of coughs, chest congestion, and fever; 20% less sickness; and missed 43% fewer school days. Who moved my Purell!
