PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT

To The Board of Trustees of Alfred University:

The President has the honor to submit his eighteenth annual report, namely for the year beginning June 4, 1912, and ending June 3, 1913.

While making grateful acknowledgement to a kind Providence which has kept in life and health the teaching staff of the University and the student body, it is a painful duty to record the death of four members of the Board of Trustees during the current year. Never before in my experience has the University been so sorely bereaved in the loss of so many able, faithful and loyal members of its governing body.

Necrology

Honorable George Herbert Utter, LL. D., Congressman from Rhode Island and ex-governor of that state, died November 3, 1912. He had been in public life for more than thirty years, serving on the governor's staff, later in the general assembly, becoming in 1888 the speaker of that body. From 1889 to 1891 he was elected to the state senate, for three years he was state secretary, in 1904 lieutenant-governor and for two years, 1905-06, Rhode Island's chief executive. Since 1910 he had been congressman from Rhode Island, which office he held at the time of his death. Mr. Utter gained a part of his education at Alfred University, completing his college work at Amherst. He was elected a member of the Board of Trustees of Alfred University in 1895, and has continued to hold this office until the time of his death. Though not able to be present regularly at meetings of the Board, his wise counsel, experience and interest in education and in affairs gave him a position of large influence as a member of the Board.

Hon. John N. Davidson, E. M., died November 8, 1912. He was born at Wyndham, N. H., April 14, 1833. When he was three years of age his parents moved to Wyoming County to the farm on which he spent most of his life and where he died. He graduated from Alfred University in 1854. He filled places of responsibility and trust in his local community and in the state, having served in the state legislature. He was elected trustee of Alfred University in 1899 and continued to hold this position until his death. He was one of the most faithful members of the Board in his attendance upon its regular and special meetings. He was a man of high ideals of moral life and of citizenship, and was deeply interested in the prosperity of Alfred University. He had a great fondness for young men and was a favorite among the young men of the College. He was particularly attached to the Orophilian Lyceum of which he was an early member. He was a generous contributor to the interests of the University along all its lines of need, but more particularly to the funds for the library. He was also a valuable worker in the ranks of the Alumni Association and promoted the interests of that organization in many ways. His services for the University will long be remembered and cherished.

Charles Clarence Chipman, Acct. B., was born February 6, 1859. He was a native of Rhode Island. In 1881, after having learned the carpenter's trade, he entered Alfred University. Upon his graduation in 1886, he pursued a course of study in architecture in Cornell University. In 1888, he was married to Miss Flora Prudence Clarke and located in New York City to begin his career as an architect. His ability, together with his personal force of character, soon won him a place in his profession. He became an expert in school architecture and had the satisfaction of designing and supervising the erection of many school buildings, particularly in the City of Yonkers where in later life he made his home. In 1896, Mr. Chipman was elected a trustee of Alfred University and was appointed a member of the committee on buildings and grounds. In 1897, he was made chairman of the committee on buildings and grounds, a position which he continued to hold as well as that of trustee of the University until his death. During the seventeen years he has taken an active interest in everything that pertained to the welfare of Alfred University, including participation in the activities of the Alumni Association and the New York Branch of the Alumni Association and the Alfred Alumni Club in New York City. Mr. Chipman designed the Babcock Hall of Physics, the Hall of Ceramics, and the rebuilding of Kanakadea Hall after the fire, also all other improvements to the buildings which have been made during these years. He was much interested in the design for the Carnegie Library and gave constant advice and counsel to the President and the architect of the Carnegie Library in the preparation of its plans and specifications. We are indebted to Mr. Chipman's suggestions for the fire-proof stack-room in the basement of the Carnegie Library. In 1910, when the campaign for the Betterment Fund was made, Mr. Chipman spent a number of weeks traveling with the President and assisting him in soliciting in behalf of this fund. Mr. Chipman and his wife also contributed generously toward the Betterment Fund, as he has done toward all the interests of the University. Few men have borne so constantly and so faithfully the responsibilities of the University and have felt so deep an interest in its welfare as has Mr. Chipman. Many of our buildings and the campus itself, are monuments to his affection, skill and wisdom and will bear their testimony to his worth during all the years to come. His death occurred on January 20, 1913, at the Battle Creek Sanitarium. His body was taken on January 24th, for interment to the River Bend Cemetery in Westerly, Rhode Island.

Hon. Peter Bailie McLennan, Ph. D., LL. D., was born December 3, 1850, of Scotch ancestry. He graduated from Alfred University in 1873, and in 1876 was admitted to the bar. In 1892 he was elected Supreme Court justice, was designated to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in 1898, and was made presiding justice in 1904. In 1906 he was re-elected for a second term of fourteen years. In 1881, he was married to Belle Barron and has since made his home in Syracuse, New York. In 1886, he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Alfred University and in 1902 the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. In 1888, he was elected a trustee of Alfred University, a position which he has held, with the exception of three years (1900-1903), until the time of his death. Judge McLennan has manifested an unusual interest in his Alma Mater during all the years since his graduation. In recent years, however, he has borne an increasingly important part in the work and administration of the University. At the sacrifice of much time and effort, he has faithfully attended the meetings of the board and has planned and labored with untiring devotion to advance the interests of Alfred University and to promote its growth and development that it might become a large and influential institution of learning. He was the foremost advocate of the establishment of the State School of Agriculture at Alfred University. He brought the matter to the attention of Governor Higgins and later to the attention of Governor Hughes and secured the recommendation which Governor Hughes made in his message to the Legislature, advising the establishment of the School of Agriculture at Alfred University. In the fall of 1907, Judge McLennan brought to Alfred a number of the members of the Legislature including Senator Armstrong of Rochester, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate. Without these efforts on the part of Judge McLennan, there would probably have been no State School Agriculture at Alfred University. In public addresses about the state, he advocated agricultural education and the needs of western New York which could be served by a school at Alfred University. In the establishment of the School and when plans for buildings were under consideration, Judge McLennan took a special interest in the design for the barns of the State School of Agriculture. The present structures were practically planned and designed by Judge McLennan, who spent many whole days in the work of perfecting these plans. When the Betterment Fund was to be raised in order to secure the Carnegie Library, Judge McLennan invited the President to be his guest in Rochester at the Genesee Valley Club. During that visit he approached many of his personal friends in the Club, introducing the President and soliciting from them subscriptions to the Fund. Out of this effort he raised a total, aggregating fifteen thousand dollars, most of it subscribed by men who had never seen Alfred. Judge McLennan was a man of gigantic intellect, convincing manner and statement, of tireless energy and boundless love and devotion to any cause he espoused. The President counted him among his closest personal friends. Judge McLennan repeatedly said that, next to his own family, Alfred University was dearer to him than anything else in the world. In his death, which resulted from a fall, and occurred in Rochester on May 8, 1913, at the close of a busy day's work, Alfred University sustains an irreparable loss.

In the death of these four trustees, Alfred University has lost men who have stood like corner stones in the structure of this educational institution. Other colleges have been blessed with greater wealth but no college has ever been blessed with greater love or devotion to its causes and to the ideals of learning, citizenship and Christian manhood than has Alfred University in its possession of these men as its alumni and on its Board of Trustees.

Faculty

The college faculty has sustained one change during the college year, namely, the resignation of Professor Dyer B. Lake, from the department of chemistry and the substitution of George A. Bole, A. M., of Columbia, to fill the vacancy. As associate professor of chemistry Mr. Bole has rendered efficient service during the year. He has also carried the technical chemistry work in connection with the School of Ceramics, carried last year by Dr. G. K. Daghlian. Mr. Bole came from graduate studies in Columbia University.

The request of Professor Wayland D. Wilcox for a year's leave of absence granted a year ago resulted in the appointment of Miss Myrta A. Little, A. M., of Radcliffe, as substitute with the title of Associate Professor of English and public speaking. Miss Little's work has proved to be of a high order and at the request of Professor Wilcox for a second year's leave of absence, she was retained in the same position for the coming year. Since the completion of this arrangement, however, and within the past few days the President has received the resignation of Professor Wilcox, who has decided to leave the teaching profession and enter a business career.

Professor Waldo A. Titsworth, last year elected to the Babcock Professorship of Physics, has given the department of Physics a new interest and efficiency and has proved to be a wise choice for the position.

Mr. Ray W. Wingate, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, was appointed associate professor of vocal and instrumental music and director of the department of music to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Professor A. Neil Annas. Professor Wingate comes to Alfred with unusual gifts and training as a vocalist and with great energy and enthusiasm as a musician. The attendance of the musical department has thereby been greatly increased during the past year and he has proven himself a popular and successful instructor.

Mr. Hubert P. Colton was appointed instructor in physical training in the place of Lester P. Dittmore, whose resignation was accepted one year ago. Mr. Colton, since completing his education at the International Y. M. C. A. Training School, had held for two years an instructorship in physical training in the Gilman School of Baltimore. His work as instructor in athletics and coach of the teams has given general satisfaction.

Other members of the faculty have continued their uniformly high grade of work and the year has been marked with an educational efficiency in keeping with the progress which the University is making along many lines. It is most gratifying to report that no changes in the faculty are contemplated for the coming year.

Matron

With the resignation of Mrs. Anna E. Backus last spring, Miss Mary K. Crocker was appointed matron and has proved herself competent and successful in filling the position.

Secretary to the President

Miss Ellen R. Peck was appointed secretary to the President and began her services September 1st, and has given most satisfactory service in this position, in which she is to continue for the coming year. Efficient assistance in the office of the President has become imperative with the greatly increased diversity of duties that devolve upon the President and it is greatly to be desired that the services now rendered by a competent and experienced secretary should be continued.

Registration

The registration of the University for the past year has been as follows:

College .....	150
Academy .....	97
Seminary .....	11
School of Ceramics .....	36
School of Agriculture .....	210
Specials in Music .....	37

Of this total of 571, 82 are duplicated, leaving a net total attendance of 489 individuals for the current year.

School of Clay-Working and Ceramics

The annual appropriation for the State School of Clay-Working and Ceramics was increased the past year from $11,580 to $13,350, also a special appropriation for $25,000 for the construction and equipment of an addition to the main building was granted by the Legislature. This building is in process of erection. A heating plant has been installed in the main building and by September it is expected that the new building will be ready for occupancy and the efficiency of the School will be greatly enlarged. The maintenance appropriation allowed by the recent Legislature for the coming year is $16,000, an increase of $2,650 over last year.

Mr. George A. Bole associate professor of chemistry in the college, has held the instructorship in physical chemistry in the Ceramic School formerly held by Dr. G. K. Daghlian. Miss Clara Capen Greenwood, a graduate of the Boston Museum Art School, has been added to the Ceramic School faculty in the department of art as instructor in drawing and design. She has proved herself exceptionally well qualified to fill this position and the teaching force of the Ceramic School is now stronger than ever before. With the enlarged teaching force and the enlarged building and equipment, the Ceramic School attendance can be materially increased without overtaxing the building and the faculty. It is the opinion of the President that instruction in this department might be given to some students in more popular form and thus greatly increase the influence and usefulness of the School.

School of Agriculture

The State School of Agriculture has completed a successful year with an enrollment of 173 full time students. In addition 21 students pursued a short course of four weeks and 46 students came in from the college and the academy for special work, making a total registration of 240 students

To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. O. S. Morgan, Professor William J. Wright, M. S., of the Pennsylvania State College of Agriculture, was appointed director of the school and assumed his duties August first. The prosperity of the School during the year with the enlarged plans for the coming year have demonstrated the fitness of Director Wright for this position and give prophecy of a larger growth and development for the future.

To fill the vacancy in this faculty caused by the resignation Prof. O. C. Bowes in the department of dairy and animal husbandry, Mr. DeVoe Meade, B. S., of the Pennsylvania State College of Agriculture, was appointed professor of dairy and animal husbandry and has given good satisfaction in this position.

Mr. H. E. Austin was appointed as assistant in the dairy laboratories to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. W. N. Richardson.

Mr. Everett E. Poole was appointed farm superintendent and instructor in farm practice to succeed Colonel J. Lansing Moore. Mr. Poole began his services November first. He is an experienced agriculturalist and breeder of Holstein-Fresian cattle and has already greatly improved the dairy herd of the State School.

Other members of the faculty have remained as during the previous year and have all rendered good service.

The appropriation for the past year was increased from $32,000 to $34,750 and the appropriation for the coming year, as passed by the Legislature, is $35,000, together with reimbursement from the proceeds of the farm and dairy laboratory of $6,000 and for additional improvement to the farm and real estate $5,000. It is becoming more and more apparent that the establishment of a school of agriculture for secondary instruction in agricultural and domestic sciences is meeting a need for this locality which no other form of education could have so well met.

Theological Seminary

There has been no change in the faculty of the Theological Seminary during the past year and its members have continued their work with a uniformly high grade of efficiency.

Alfred Academy

The vacancy caused by the resignation of Principal G. M. Ellis, was filled by the appointment of Mr. Hugh L. Gillis, A. B., a graduate of Cornell University and principal of the Bridgewater, N. Y., High School, to the principalship of the Academy. Principal Gillis has shown himself competent and successful and has merited the high praise which has been accorded to his administration. He is to be retained for the coming year.

The attendance of the Academy is less than last year and is gradually decreasing, due to causes which are outside of the control of the principal or the board of trustees. On account of the decreasing attendance and the subsequent large deficit in the maintenance of the Academy, the President is of the opinion that serious consideration should be given to the advisability of continuing, at so great expense, the maintenance of a college preparatory school.

Miss Asenath Egelston has held the position of teacher of Latin, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Agnes Kenyon. Two resignations have been received for the coming year, namely, Mr. Gilbert M. Fess from the department of modern languages, and Miss Mary L. Irish from the department of English.

Library -

During the past year the library has continued its efficient services though handicapped by the limited quarters to which it is restricted while awaiting the completion of the Carnegie library building. During the past year 10,000 books have been drawn from the library by 300 individuals. Total number of volumes added to the library during the year is 1500. The efficiency of the library and of the entire University will be greatly enhanced by the occupancy of the new library building.

The Carnegie Library

The new thirty thousand dollar Carnegie library building is nearing completion. It is a well planned and well constructed building and will be a credit to our campus and University equipment as well as a means of great efficiency in our work. Funds have been available out of the thirty thousand dollars given to provide furniture for the main floor of the building. The seminar rooms in the attic and the basement rooms, however, are not provided with new furniture and must be supplied from the furniture of the present library and offices. Although a little work in the basement may remain uncompleted, arrangements have been made for the dedication of the building on the afternoon of commencement day and it is earnestly hoped that the trustees may see their way clear to authorize the removal of the library to the building during the summer and the opening of the building for the coming year.

Ladies Hall

In order to provide rooming facilities for more of our women students and particularly for those who have small means with which to pay their college expenses, it was decided to fit up the third floor of the Hall with bath-room and kitchen and dining room and to repair and redecorate a number of the students' rooms on this floor. Although the work has drawn heavily upon the funds of the University, it has proven a good investment, as it has increased the income from the building and, of even more importance, it has brought a larger number of the women students into the hall under the supervision of the matron and has created a greater unity of interest and sympathy among the women students. Complying with instructions from the state fire marshal, hydrants with hose and reel have been established on each floor of this building for better fire protection, also a number of new fire extinguishers have been installed. Window weights have been installed in all the windows and the wood-work of the building has been repainted.

Burdick Hall

This building has also had extensive improvements, mainly in the way of fire protection and fire escapes required by the state fire marshal. On account of these necessary improvements and repairs to buildings, the appropriations for improvements and repairs have been over-run, a condition which seemed unavoidable.

Other Needed Improvements

For the coming year provision must be made for re-roofing the east side of the Academy chapel which is now in very bad condition and for redecorating the interior of the chapel hall. All available rooms in Burdick Hall and many of the rooms in Ladies Hall are now taken for next year and we will have great difficulty in finding places for our students. The tower of Burdick Hall has three rooms which have never been finished. They are lathed but not plastered. It is estimated a hundred dollars would make available three additional rooms in that building and it is the opinion of the President that they should be finished and made available. Also there are a few rooms in Ladies Hall which for many years have been used for store rooms that could be made available for renting with some repairs. It is desirable that all possible use be made of this building, both for the sake of assembling our women under the care of the matron and for the sake of providing rooming facilities for students. Some painting is greatly needed and repairs to the windows of the Steinheim. Aside from these matters, so far as the President is aware, the repairs for the coming year need not be large. An improvement which is greatly needed, but for which special funds must be raised before it can be made is the installation of a steam heating plant in Ladies Hall. The present system of heating by gas stoves is not satisfactory. It is estimated that a modern steam heating plant for that building would cost five thousand dollars, but I know of no improvement which is more urgently needed.

The Rose Real Estate

For a number of years the University has owned and rented the building on the corner of Main and University streets purchased from William A. Rose. This property was purchased with endowment moneys given by the late Ida F. Kenyon at a cost of about $3,600. It is very desirable that a fund of this amount be raised to replace this endowment in other investments so that this building can be removed from its present site and the corner lot annexed to the campus and put into attractive shape to match the park on the south side of Main Street and to make a fitting environment for the new Carnegie library building. The attention of the alumni should be called to this important improvement and an early effort should be made to raise this fund.

Gymnasium

The President has repeatedly called the attention of the trustees to the need for better gymnasium facilities. The present quarters are inadequate and illy adapted. They are unfit for large classes or for use for basket ball purposes. The University should have an adequate modern gymnasium and no effort should be spared to make that provision for our growing student population.

Assembly Hall

Each passing year emphasizes the great need of an adequate assembly hall for assembling together all the departments of the University for lectures, addresses and entertainments and for adequate accommodations for holding the commencement exercises. There is no building in the University and none in the town which adequately meets these needs. The generosity of interested and benevolent alumni could find no more excellent opportunity for rendering service to their Alma Mater than in meeting these pressing needs.

Interscholastic Meet

The Fifth Interscholastic Meet was held at Alfred on May 15th, and was attended by about two hundred high school students from the high schools of Allegany and neighboring counties. About one hundred forty students entered the contests and great interest and enthusiasm were shown in carrying out the events of the meet. At the annual prize speaking contest which accompanies the interscholastic meet, there were nine contestants. The Alfred University banner presented to the School winning the largest number of points was won by the Chamberlain Institute at Randolph, New York.

The Dr. Thomas World Peace Prize Contest

On May first was held the second of the Dr. Thomas World Peace Prize Contests. Three contestants entered and the fifty dollar gold prize was won by Miss Lucile Stillman of the Junior class, and the twenty-five dollar gold prize was won by Mr. William Garwood of the Junior class. These money prizes are of great value to the students winning them and Mrs. Thomas has rendered a large and lasting service in the establishment of this prize contest.

The Edward Mulford Tomlinson Gold Medal

At the annual meeting of the trustees in 1912, a communication was received from Corliss F. Randolph of Newark, New Jersey, proposing to found the Edward Mulford Tomlinson gold medal prize for proficiency in Latin and Greek; the foundation to continue throughout the life-time of the founder unless sooner revoked; a committee of award to determine the details of the requirements for awarding the medal; also all the conditions of the award to be published each year in the college catalogue and in the year-book of the University.

The college catalogue committee, appointed by the faculty, after an extended correspondence with Mr. Randolph ascertained that the copy which he wished inserted in the annual catalogue and in the year-book was so great in amount and also that the requirements were so in conflict with the requirements of the faculty for graduation, that the committee did not feel justified in printing the matter submitted. Since no money has been conveyed to the University for this foundation by Mr. Randolph and since the conditions imposed are in conflict with the faculty requirements for graduation and preclude the probability of many contestants, it is the opinion of the President that the acceptance of this foundation under the terms named should be reconsidered by the trustees with a view to obtaining some alteration of the conditions.

Gifts and Bequests

During the year the following thousand dollar scholarships have been established: The Dr. Levi Smith Goodrich Memorial by Mrs. Ervilla Goodrich Tuttle of Hornell, New York, the Rasselas Wilcox Brown Scholarship by Colonel W. W. Brown of Bradford, Pennsylvania, and the Nelson Ray Crandall Scholarship by Mrs. W. W. Brown.

Notice has been received of a bequest which has not yet been paid into the treasury of eight thousand dollars by Mrs. Ann Rushton, given to establish the Armsbury Fund, the income to be used for the general expenses of the University.

By will of the late Lydia Bridgeman of Belfast, New York, Alfred University was made residuary legatee after the payment of her obligations and care for her during her life time and one thousand dollars to William Frace. Subsequent to the making of this will, another will was made omitting any bequest to Alfred University and soon after the second will the entire property was deeded to William Frace. It is believed that the second will and the deed were both the result of undue influence and the committee appointed by the trustees at their last meeting has begun litigation with reference to the setting aside of the deed and the second will and the establishment of the first will mentioned making Alfred University residuary legatee, as the last will and testament of Lydia Bridgeman. The property of Lydia Bridgeman is variously estimated, from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars.

Betterment Fund

The Betterment Fund account stands as follows: Underwriters' debt—about $14,000, and the pledges available to apply on this obligation of the under-writers—$15,770; and in addition a five thousand dollar note due upon the death of the maker of the note. Although there is some tardiness in the payment of these subscriptions and a few of them will doubtless fail of payment, all things considered, the payments have been made remarkably well. Already about eighty-five percent has been paid on the one hundred thousand dollars subscribed toward the Betterment Fund. The President and the Treasurer are using all reasonable effort to hasten the collection of these out-standing obligations, co-operating with the committee as well as possible in the reduction of their obligations.

Finances

In accordance with the instruction of the trustees at their last meeting, an application was made to the General Education Board for a gift of thirty-three and one-third thousand dollars on condition that Alfred University should raise sixty-six and two-thirds thousands dollars, the same to be added to the endowment of the University. The request of the University was not granted by the General Education Board. The President in an interview with the secretary was given encouragement that at some later time an application from Alfred University might be favorably considered, but at the present time the applications for assistance were such that the Board could not see its way clear to grant our request. The former contention of the Board that Alfred University is a stock company and that a possibility existed that a dividend might at some time be declared and divided among the stock holders, seems to have been satisfactorily answered in the brief upon the subject submitted by Judge Hatch.

Notwithstanding the failure of this request, however, the President is strongly of the opinion that the University should make continuous and strenuous effort to increase our endowment, both by gifts and by bequests and that we should proceed at once with the purpose of raising as early as possible at least one hundred thousand dollars. The budget of the University is figured upon the closest possible margin and only by the greatest economy can we continue the work of the University with the present income. The salaries of the faculty have been slightly increased each year for the past two or three years and the President earnestly desires that this increase be continued each year as rapidly as possible until the salaries are more nearly on a par with other colleges of our rank and standing. The campaign for this increase of funds should not in the judgment of the President be carried on upon the same basis of the campaign for the Betterment Fund, but should be carried on among individuals who can make larger subscriptions than the average subscriptions to the Betterment Fund. The approval of this movement by the trustees and their hearty co-operation in the effort is earnestly requested by the President.

A year ago the trustees authorized the Finance Committee to dispose of the real estate known as the Jericho Farm in which about thirty-five hundred dollars of principal and interest is invested. Up to the present the committee has not been successful in disposing of this property and it remains upon the hands of the trustees, a source of expense rather than of income. It is most desirable that all unproductive real estate not included in the campus should be converted into productive securities.

Other Reports

The reports of the Dean of the College, the Librarian, the Curator of the Museum, the Dean of the Seminary, the Principal of the Academy, the Director of the State School of Clay-Working and Ceramics and the Director of the State School of Agriculture are transmitted herewith.

With grateful acknowledgment of the blessing of God upon the activities of Alfred University during the past year and with much appreciation of the confidence and co-operation of the trustees in all our labors for Alfred University, this report is respectfully submitted.

BOOTHE C. DAVIS, President.

Honors

The class orator for this year, chosen by the Faculty from a list of five nominated by the senior class, is Mr. Levi Roy Quick.

In accordance with the regulation of the Faculty, which went into effect last year, the remaining honors, viz: the first, second, and third honors, the department honors to seniors, the sophomore honors and the freshman honors, will be first announced by the President on Commencement day, and later printed in the annual catalogue.

A cup has been offered by some members of the Twentieth Century Club to the one of the two classes, freshman or sophomore, having the highest scholastic average for the year. This is also to be first announced on Commencement day.

Miscellaneous

The regulation made and announced a year ago, and duly advertised in the catalogue, making the number of subjects in which a student may be conditioned upon entrance to college two instead of three, goes into effect at the beginning of the next college year, September 17, 1913.

Permit me to gratefully acknowledge the addition during the year of two much needed filing cases for the card records in my office.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

To the President and Board of Trustees of Alfred University:

I hereby submit my report for the year ending June 1st, 1913. There have been added to the library during the year 1297 volumes. Of this number 505 were donated and 397 were purchased. The other 395 were old books for the first time accessioned and made available for students. The whole number accessioned including old and new books is 1746 volumes. 10,000 books have been drawn during the year. The largest gift of the year is that of Dr. Alfred C. Prentice of New York City, of the class of 1897, who presented 107 volumes to be known as the memorial library of Rev. A. B. Prentice. Dr. E. H. Sibley of Franklin, Pa., presented 56 volumes. During the year the W. M. Jones' library of 431 volumes was classified and accessioned. There are now four memorial libraries, namely: Rev. A. B. Prentice, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, Rev. Wm. and organizations have remembered the library by gifts:

It is with no small degree of satisfaction that the time approaches when we hope to move into our new quarters. Our crowded condition of affairs at present has been some hindrance to the best service and has put the facilities of the library at a disadvantage. Additional regulations for use in the new building were submitted to the Faculty at their last regular meeting for discussion and approval. In 1887, the University entered into an agreement with the various lyceums by which their libraries were consolidated with the college library. At that time the year consisted of three terms and the library tax was placed at 25 cents per term or 75 cents per year. The library for this consideration was to be kept open two hours per day under a paid librarian. Today conditions have so changed that the lyceums no longer feel responsibility in the matter of this tax and only two of the four lyceums have given it any attention for some years. This has happened notwithstanding the fact that the librarian has repeatedly urged this payment both by private interviews with the lyceum officers and by correspondence. The contract entered into at that time, has been repeatedly ignored by the lyceums until it has become practically annulled. The multiplicity of student activities today has to some extent, reacted against the former interest in the lyceums, which therefore do not represent as large a percentage of students as formerly. As the library is registered as a free library to all students, it is unfair and unjust that only those who join the lyceums should be compelled to support the library by a tax of 25 cents per term when the large number outside of the lyceums have equal privileges at no cost whatever. This is showing discrimination and the facts of the case are such that there is no way of legitimately compelling the payment of this tax. I am inclined to think that the lyceums themselves have come to this conclusion and this may account for the continued nonpayment of the tax on the part of at least two of them. In view of this situation which now confronts us, the Faculty at its last meeting unanimously voted to remit this lyceum tax altogether and in place of it charge a regular fee of $1.00 per semester to all students as a reading-room fee. This fee now is 30 cents and is placed on all tuition bills. By this action the fee is raised to $1.00, remitting the old lyceum tax, thereby treating all alike, and is the only equitable solution of the difficulty. At the present time there is really no fund for magazine binding. The regular library fund has been used heretofore for that purpose. Now that this fund is scarcely sufficient to meet the expenses of new books, and since the old magazines are accumulating rapidly, I would earnestly recommend that the treasurer set aside one-half of this fee as a fund to be used only for the binding of magazines. In view of this proposed tax the Faculty suggested that the library be open for reading and study only, not for the withdrawal of books, on Saturday and Sunday afternoons for certain hours and perhaps for two evenings each week. This problem involved extra assistance. As the librarian has no assistance at the present time and as his time is already fully employed, it was suggested that different members of the Faculty and upper classmen should have supervision of the reading-room during these extra openings. The entire management and oversight will be in the hands of the librarian who may be expected at the library at any time to supervise the proper carrying out of these suggestions.

As the library will be thrown open then and at other times to the people of Alfred, the Faculty appointed a committee to confer with the people in regard to the town's paying some share of the expense involved by the opening of the new library. Most towns tax themselves for the support of a public library considering it of equal importance with the institution of the Public Schools. This is done in view of the fact that the facilities and privileges of the library for these many years have been offered to the people of Alfred without cost. It is sincerely hoped that the village may see its way clear at its next annual meeting to, at least, duplicate the State's donation of $100.00 which in itself, would be a small amount in return for the increased facilities which the library hopes to offer to the community.

The reading-room director makes the following report of magazines drawn during the year:

Number of magazines drawn for the year, 1248.

The reading-room has the following classes of periodicals on its shelves:

Dailies . .	5
Weeklies .
Monthlies	49
Quarterlies	3
Total	80

As the financial condition of the library is submitted at this meeting by the treasurer of the University it is altogether omitted in this report.

Respectfully submitted,

C. R. CLAWSON, Librarian.

REPORT OF CURATOR OF ALLEN STEINHEIM MUSEUM

To the President of Alfred University:—

The Curator of the Allen Steinheim Museum submits the following report of a work which is progressing constantly, and in a definite direction; although this year is the first that shows such advancement in the way of concrete rearrangement of the collections. The use of the building as a museum for the aid of class work has been uppermost in the mind of the Curator. For this reason there has been an attempt to place the collection of Archaeology on the third floor, where will be assembled the prehistoric implements and the great Allen Collection of American Indian Implements.

The second floor should be given over to Arts, Manufactures, and Religious Relics.

The first floor should have the entire Natural History Collection so arranged that it can be available as one of the parts of the equipment of the Laboratory of Natural History.

The work would be greatly facilitated were some small fund available for cases and museum supplies.

We have received the following gifts during the past year:

Accession No. 117—Toys and the like of Colonial Times, by Hannah Crandall. Assigned to Anthropology Division 1664-1676.

Accession No. 118—Chinese kite, flute, and reed-instrument, by A. C. Davis, '12. Assigned to Anthropology Division 1678-1680.

Accession No. 119—A colonial sap yoke, by Mrs. W. A. Allen. Anthropology Division 1681.

Accession No. 120—Home made wood cuts, by Elmer L. Hunting. Anthropology Division 1682.

Accession No. 121—Calamites from carboniferous deposits of Prussia. Assigned to Natural History Division, by Mr. _____ Baker.

Accession No. 122—African collection, of tables, knives, spears, bows and arrows, etc., by Prof. W. D. Wilcox. Anthropology Division. Natural History Division—skulls of African antelopes (a very valuable series).

Accession No. 123—Set of Chinese dominoes, by Rev. D. H. Davis. Anthropology Division 1697.

Accession No. 124—An alcoholic specimen, by E. W. Ayars. Natural History Division 2910.

Accession No. 125—Collection of Indian implements, by George Williams. Anthropology Division 1750-1752.

Geological material, unclassified at present.

JAMES D. BENNEHOFF, Curator.

ALFRED ACADEMY

To the President of Alfred University:

Sir:—I have the honor to submit to you the following report of the work of Alfred Academy during the year ending June 23, 1913.

Through the hearty co-operation of faculty and students, the year 1912-1913 has been very successful in many ways. The standard of scholarship has been raised, the attendance has been very regular, and the deportment of the student body has been extremely satisfactory.

The total registration for the school year was eighty-five, of whom fifty-four were resident students, nineteen non-residents for whom the state paid tuition, and twelve non-residents from whom tuition was received.

The training class has maintained its usual standard of scholarship. Already more than fifteen students have pledged themselves to enter the class next September.

Nearly forty volumes were added to the reference library during the year. These were chiefly reference works in history. Some additions were made to the science laboratory equipment, especially for work in biology.

The Senior class of 1913 consisted of fifteen members, most of whom expect to enter college. Twelve of these will undoubtedly matriculate at Alfred in the fall.

It is the desire of the faculty to raise the standard of deportment and scholarship to a still higher standard than has been attained during the present year. But we find ourselves handicapped in this by the condition of the Academy building. It is not easy to teach the principles of neatness in a room whose walls are begrimed with smoke, and stained with leakage from the roof, whose floors are so badly worn that the boards squeak and groan under the most cautious footstep, whose windows rattle and bang with every passing wind, and serve as poor protection against the cold blasts of winter. During the extreme cold of the winter, it was necessary to close school several different days, because the combination of loose windows, poor gas pressure, and insufficient heating apparatus rendered it impossible to keep the temperature of the rooms above the danger point.

In view of these facts, I beg to recommend that repairs be made to the roof, that the study hall and library be re-decorated, that new floors be laid, at least on the second floor, and that the windows be properly tightened. Something should be done also in regard to the heating arrangements.

During the year, an exhibition was held for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of pictures for the Academy and Grammar School. The sum of fifty dollars was raised. This with state duplication made possible the purchase of five pictures for each school. These have been framed and will be hung in the study hall as soon as the walls are put in fit condition to serve as background.

I wish to express my appreciation of the co-operation of the President in all matters, a co-operation that has made it easier to work under the adverse conditions I have mentioned.

Respectfully yours,

HUGH L. GILLIS, Principal.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Covering the Period from July 1, 1912, to June 1, 1913

On account of the death of the chairman of the committee, Mr. C. C. Chipman, which occurred January 20, 1913, the undersigned has acted as chairman of the committee since that time and presents the following report in behalf of the committee.

The state fire marshal made specific requirements for fire protection in Ladies Hall and in Burdick Hall, which necessitated expense not foreseen that has amounted to about six hundred dollars which has been charged to improvements.

On account of the lack of rooming facilities for our students who need to board themselves and to enable them to do so in Ladies Hall, the committee found it necessary to make extensive improvements on the third floor of Ladies Hall, putting in bath room, kitchen and ironing room and making repairs in a number of rooms which have not been rented for many years. Also the windows in Ladies Hall have been provided with springs to lift the windows, and all exterior wood work of the building has been painted. These items have greatly increased the expense chargeable to repairs and improvements during the past year.

The following is a summary of expenses on each of the several buildings on the campus:

AUDITOR'S REPORT

Alfred, New York, August 25, 1913

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF ALFRED UNIVERSITY:

Gentlemen:

I have examined the accounts and vouchers of our Treasurer for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, and the securities held by him on June 30, 1913. This report does not include the Betterment Fund, nor the accounts of the State Schools.

I have verified the cash in bank by evidence of deposit; the income from securities by an examination of such securities, the income from students by an examination of the record of bills rendered by the Registrar and of the scholarship allowances granted them.

I have verified the Report of our Treasurer for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, to which this report is annexed, consisting of the Endowment Report, Schedules 1 to 9, inclusive, and the Income Report Schedules 15 to 27 inclusive, and also Schedules 29 and 31 by comparison with his accounts, and find such report correct in all respects.

Accrued interest on investments held by the Board (exclusive of Endowment Notes and Gifts) was in arrears on June 30, 1913, for one year and upwards in but two cases, namely, No. 302, Charles E. Bryant; and No. 739, Oliver D. Sherman.

The diligent efforts of our Treasurer in the collection of income, as well as the manner in which his accounts have been kept and his other duties performed are worthy of commendation.

Respectfully submitted,

HERBERT G. WHIPPLE, Auditor.

HONORARY DEGREES

ARTHUR DAVIS DEAN, presented by Professor Charles F. Binns.

Professor Binns said: "Mr. President, in making the nomination which I do, perhaps I may be pardoned a personal reference. It was about four years ago that we were assembled one Sunday morning for chapel in the 'Gothic' when a stranger walked into the building, accosted me and asked me if I were the President of the University. I was compelled to deny 'the soft impeachment' and set him right. He then mentioned his own name which recalled an interesting correspondence which I had been having in Albany. The gentleman to whom I refer is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and has been engaged in educational work, largely upon industrial lines. When the Regents of the University of the State of New York decided to develop the work of vocational education, they invited this gentleman to undertake the charge. Immediately the tender plant which had been hiding an apologetic head in the garden of brilliant educational blossoms discovered that it had a right to exist. Never since then has it been compelled to believe that it was born to blush unseen. Sir, I have the honor to nominate for the degree of Doctor of Science, Professor Arthur Davis Dean, Chief of the Bureau of Vocational Education in this state."

President Davis said:

"Professor Dean, the applause which this audience has just given on the presentation of your name for an honorary degree, is evidence of our appreciation of the scholarly and able doctor's oration which you have just delivered. Scholar, scientist, educator, Alfred University welcomes you to her halls on this commencement occasion and to a place among the distinguished men and women who are its alumni. With appreciation of the honor of your presence on this occasion and in recognition of your distinguished services to education, I now admit you to the honorary degree of Doctor of Science in Alfred University and confer upon you all the rights, privileges and honors belonging thereto."

Arthur Davis Dean, born in Cambridge, Massachusetts, 1872. Graduated from the Cambridge Manual Training School in 1891, the first graduate of the first manual training school maintained in the North-east section of the United States. Graduated with the degree of B. S. in Electrical Engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1895. Taught manual training in Portland, Maine; Supervisor of Manual Arts in Maiden, Mass.; Assistant Principal of Technical High School, Springfield, Mass., teaching mathematics and science. Supervisor of Evening Continuation Schools of Y. M. C. A. schools in Massachusetts and Rhode Island with a wide range of evening instruction for employed boys and men. Chief of the Division of Vocational Schools, New York State Education Department since the inception of the Education Law providing special state aid for vocational instruction in industrial, household, and agricultural arts. Associate editor of the "Manual Training Magazine" and "Vocational Education." Author of "The Worker and the State." Contributor to various educational and popular magazines. Has been President of the Eastern Art and Manual Training Teachers' Association. Member of several National Education Association committees on principles and policies underlying vocational instruction. Member of several committees of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education looking toward a national plan for vocational education. Lecturer at Columbia University, Syracuse University, University of Pittsburg, and Cornell University. Present address, Albany, New York.

BURDETTE BOARDMAN BROWN, presented by Dean Arthur E. Main.

Dean Main said: "Mr. President, in the class of 1890 in Alfred University there graduated a young man who received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. In the following year he received from his Alma Mater the degree of Master of Arts. For three years he was principal of public schools in this state. After pursuing graduate studies in New York University and Columbia and divinity in Yale University, he received in 1898 the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from Yale Divinity School. Since that time he has been a successful pastor and a distinguished preacher and worker in the New York East Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He is also secretary of the Methodist Child Welfare Society. I therefore count it a privilege to nominate for the degree of Doctor of Divinity the Reverend Burdette Boardman Brown of New York. Your pleasure, Mr. President, must be greater in conferring this honor because it was your privilege and his to be members of the same class in Alfred University."

President Davis said:

"My dear classmate, son of Alfred and of Yale, preacher, citizen, social worker, Alfred delights to welcome you again to this platform where years ago you were graduated and sent forth to your life work. In consideration of the scholarship which you have attained and of public services which you are rendering as a minister and social worker, I have great happiness in admitting you to the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in Alfred University, your Alma Mater, with all the rights, privileges and honors belonging thereto."

Burdette Boardman Brown, clergyman; born, Andover, New York, October 28, 1871; son of Anson D. and Esther J. (French) Brown; ancestors came from England in 1636; graduate of Alfred University, A. B., 1890; A. M., 1891; diploma Chautauqua School of Physical Education, 1893; Yale University, B. D., 1898; graduate student in philosophy New York University; married at New Haven, Connecticut, to Antoinette F., daughter of N. A. Fullerton, September 14, 1899; Principal of Andover High School 1893-1895; Pastor of St. Paul's Church, Hartford, Connecticut, 1902-04; took tour of Western Europe, 1905; Pastor First Church Port Washington, New York, 1905-08; Pastor Methodist Episcopal Church, Mamaroneck, New York, since 1909. Author of articles in various publications; sermons and addresses before several religious and educational institutions. General Secretary of the Methodist Child Welfare Society, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York City; member of the New York East Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Present address, 233 East Boston Post Road, Mamaroneck, New York.

GEORGE DOWNING GOULD, presented by Professor William C. Whitford.

Professor Whitford said: "Mr. President, it is my privilege to put in nomination for an honorary degree a son of Alfred who graduated from this institution twenty-five years ago. After completing his college course, he studied divinity in Rochester Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1891. Since that time he has been actively engaged in the Gospel ministry. In the midst of his active work as a pastor, he has found time for literary pursuits. He was the founder of the "Connecticut Baptist" and has since remained a contributor to that periodical. He was for a number of years a member of the executive committee of the Baptist Young People's Union and has been president of that organization for the State of Connecticut. Whether as a preacher or a writer, he has shown himself a man of earnestness and ability. He is characterized by the desire to serve his fellow men and to be an honor to the cause of Christ. I recommend for the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity the Reverend George Downing Gould of the class of 1888."

President Davis said:

"Son of Alfred and of Rochester, on this twenty-fifth anniversary of your graduation from Alfred University, your Alma Mater gives you hearty welcome as you return after a quarter of a century of service and achievement. Your return to us is notable, particularly at this anniversary of your graduation. In recognition of your scholarship and your public services as a Christian minister, I gladly admit you to the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in Alfred University with all the rights, privileges and honors belonging thereto."

George Downing Gould was born in the town of New Hudson, New York, May 15, 1859. He prepared for college in Friendship Academy and graduated from Alfred University in 1888. In 1891 he received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from Rochester Theological Seminary. Since graduating from the Theological Seminary he has served as pastor of Baptist churches in Huntington, Massachusetts, Westerly, Rhode Island, Hoockville, Connecticut, and St. Albans, Vermont. He is a trustee of the Baptist Young People's Union of America and was president of that organization for the State of Connecticut for two years. In 1882, he was married to Miss Mina E. Guilford of Belfast, New York, who died in 1884. In 1887, he was married to Miss Amanda P. Larkin of Alfred, New York. His present address is St. Albans, Vermont.

DEDICATION OF THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY BUILDING

On commencement day, June 5th, 1913, was dedicated the Carnegie Library, a building made possible by the gift of thirty thousand dollars by Mr. Andrew Carnegie.

The University procession marched in academic costume from Kenyon, Memorial Hall to the new library building where Pres. Davis introduced the first speaker on the program, Hon. Daniel Lewis, M. D., LL. D., who gave an address on the early history of Alfred University Library and presented the portrait of Professor Edward M. Tomlinson, A. M., Litt. D., LL. D., who was librarian of the University from 1881 to 1908. The portrait was a donation of Mrs. Tomlinson. Cor-etz R. Clawson, A. M., the present librarian, delivered an address on "The Present Library of Alfred University, its Place in Liberal Culture." George Greenman Champlin, Ph. B., Reference Librarian at the State Library at Albany, N. Y., delivered an address on "The Place of the Library in the Community," Mr. Carnegie had been invited by the President of the University, to be present at the dedication of the library, but in the absence of the Philanthropist, who is in Europe, the Architect of the library, Edward L. Tilton, A. M., of New York City, was present to present the keys of the library to the University. President Davis accepted the key with a very fitting address of appreciation of the services which Mr. Tilton had rendered the University in his faithful and careful work upon the plans for this building. He also thanked the givers of the property upon which the library was built, Miss Susan M. Burdick, and her mother, Mrs. W. C. Burdick, and the seven hundred contributors to the Betterment Fund who made Mr. Carnegie's gift possible. In the absence of Hon. Adelbert Moot, of the Regents of the University of the State of New York, Doctor Arthur Davis Dean, was called upon by Pres. Davis to represent the State at this occasion. Doctor Dean made a brief address which concluded the program.

Appendix D*NEW YORK STATE SCHOOL OF CLAY-WORKING AND CERAMICS*DIRECTOR'S REPORT

for the Year ending September 30, 1912

To the President of Alfred University,

Sir:—I have the honor of submitting to you the Twelfth Annual Report of the New York State School of Clay-Working and Ceramics.

The first event of the past year was the preparation and installation of an exhibit of clay wares at the New York State Fair at Syracuse in September. The exhibit was installed in the building set apart for State Institutions and was complete in every detail on the opening day. Your director was in charge of the exhibit and received visits from many well known persons, including the Governor of the State and the Mayor of New York City.

At the opening of the school year Dr. Daghlian, whose appointment was referred to in the report for 1911, took up his duties as instructor. He brought to the work a fund of accurate knowledge in the departments of Chemistry and Physics and acquitted himself most ably as an instructor. At the close of the year he felt compelled to return to his post at the Central Turkey College at Aintab, Turkey. The vacancy thus caused has been filled by the appointment of Mr. George A. Bole as instructor in Chemistry. Mr. Bole is a graduate of Columbia University where he has been assistant in the department of Chemistry. He will begin his work with the opening of the school year in September.

At the beginning of December the Board of Managers appointed Mr. Adolph R. Heubach as instructor in ceramic practice. This appointment was made on the recommendation of your Director and with the view of strengthening the work of the school along practical lines. Mr. Heubach is a graduate of the Koenigslich Keramische Fachschule at Bunzlau, Silesia, Germany. He has had some experience in manufacturing plants in his native country and has worked in several important factories in America. He has been appointed for another year.

Your Board of Managers also determine to strengthen the department of drawing and design by the appointment of an additional instructor. After considering the merits of several applicants, Miss Clara C. Greenwood of West Newton, Mass., was selected. Miss Greenwood is a graduate of the Massachusetts Normal Art School and has taught for some time with success at the James Millikin University, Decatur, Illinois. She will begin her duties with the opening of the school year.

The year has been rendered notable in the appropriation by the Legislature of the sum of $25,000 for the much needed extension and heating. A fire-proof wing 56 by 35 feet has been planned. This will be entered from the main building and will contain all the kilns and furnaces together with a laboratory for technical chemistry. The work is being begun under the direction of the State Architect.

Forty students were registered during the year and work in the classes has been pursued with vigor. The addition to the teaching force resulted in more efficient work than ever before.

At the convention of the American Ceramic Society in March your Director presented two papers and Mr. Heubach one. At the International Congress of Applied Chemistry meeting in New York in September, 1912, a paper will be read by your Director which was prepared by him during the past year, in collaboration with one of the students.

The demand for graduates of the school continues to increase, and good reports are received of those who have entered upon their work. One correspondent, in asking for a man to fill a vacant position, writes, "I very much want one of your graduates. I know what they can do and they have always been satisfactory."

It is evident that the field of clay-working is attracting more and more attention. The uses of brick and terra cotta are extending and the demand for skilled men is on the increase. The mail received at the school at times assumes large proportions, and it will be necessary in the near future to provide for a secretary and stenographer who can devote her whole time to the work of the office. Dependence in the past has been placed upon a student who could spend only part time at the desk.

Your Director would again express his obligation to the faculty of Alfred University who have at all times cordially co-operated in the work of the school.

Appendix E*NEW YORK STATE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

To the President of Alfred University:

Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith the fourth Annual Report of the New York State School of Agriculture at Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y. Owing to the absence of the former Director, Dr. O. S. Morgan, during the year, the duties of administration devolved upon the Assistant Director C. O. DuBois, Professor of Farm Crops and Soil Physics. This report deals almost wholly with the work accomplished during his administration.

Faculty

The faculty now consists of twenty professors and instructors, eleven of whom give their entire time to this School. Six are employed jointly with other departments of the University and two are student assistants from the College. The Farm Superintendent has charge of the instruction work in Farm Practice. Three of the full time instructors are employed in the Department of Home Economics. In most cases the part-time instructors teach academic subjects only.

There have been three changes in the full time instruction force during the year. The present Director assumed the duties of his office, August 1, 1912, and in addition to the executive work of the School will act as instructor in Horticulture.

Mr. DeVoe Meade, a graduate of the Pennsylvania State College, has been appointed to succeed Mr. O. C. Bowes as Professor of Animal Husbandry and Dairy Industry. Previous to his appointment, Prof. Meade was engaged in agricultural teaching in Minnesota.

Mr. E. E. Poole of Chenango County, N. Y., has been appointed to succeed Mr. J. Lansing Moore as Farm Superintendent and Instructor in Farm Practice. He will assume his duties November first. Mr. Poole is a successful farmer and a well-known breeder of Holstein Fresian cattle.

The Assistant Director spent the entire vacation period at the State Agricultural College, taking University work and acting as Assistant Lecturer in the Farm Crops Department of the summer session. Two of the instructors attended the training school for rural leaders held at Cornell University; the head of the Home Economics Department, accompanied by one of her assistants, spent the summer in study at Columbia University. The Librarian did special library work at Simon's College.

Buildings and Grounds

A considerable amount of necessary grading about the farm and School Buildings has been accomplished during the year. An addition to the main farm barn in the form of an implement storage and exercising shed for livestock has been erected. The material for its construction has been provided largely from material secured by razing old and useless buildings on the farm property.

An additional laboratory has been provided in the basement of the dairy building by excavating a portion of the unfinished part and relocating the power plant. Minor changes have also been made in the work room of the greenhouse which greatly adds to its convenience and usefulness.

Plans are now being considered for a small piggery and poultry house which will be erected in the course of a few months.

The Farm

A definite plan of crop rotation on the farm has been worked out and is being adhered to as closely as possible. The crops secured during the past season have shown marked improvement, almost without exception, over those of other years.

But little change has been made in the livestock except the additions due to natural increase. It is planned, however, to add a few specimens of several breeds of sheep, swine and poultry for demonstration and class room use as soon as provisions can be made for their proper housing.

Publications

The third annual catalogue, giving a list of students and showing minor changes in the course of study has been published, also a sixteen page pamphlet giving general information about the School. In addition data on experimental work of local interest has been furnished to local papers and the Agricultural press. These experiments have been mostly along the line of variety tests of potatoes, corn, oats and leguminous forage crops with the object of deciding upon the most profitable varieties for this particular section.

Extension Work

The School has not had funds nor has it felt it to be its province to enter largely into extension work. It has, however, endeavored to respond so far as possible to calls for addresses at Granges, farmers' meetings and teachers' institutes.

During the Fair season the school faculty attended a number of local Fairs. Whenever space permitted, the departments of Horticulture, Farm Crops, Animal Husbandry, Home Economics and Farm Mechanics made separate educational exhibits. The farming community appreciates this work and the Fair managers give it hearty commendation.

A four day Farmers Institute School was held February 12-15, in co-operation with the State Department of Agriculture which was attended by at least nine hundred and sixty (960) people. An extensive apple exhibit, consisting mainly of products from Allegany and surrounding counties, was also held. The orchards in the vicinity have been greatly improved in the last few years.

Students

A total of 158 students were enrolled during the year, showing an increase of more than 29 per cent over the enrollment of 1910 and 1911. Of these 38 were classified as Seniors, 62 as Juniors, 32 as Freshmen, and 26 as Specials.*

* These were regular term students. No short courses have yet been offered. The course consists of but three years' work, hence there is no sophomore class.

YEAR	MEN	WOMEN	TOTAL
Senior	31	7	38
Junior	50	12	62
Freshmen	28	4	32
Special	10	16	26
	119	89	158

The spirit of the students is most encouraging. Almost without exception, those who enter do so because they have a genuine interest in country life and its improvement. A majority of the young men come from farms and expect to return to them, and those who do not come from farms are planning to eventually acquire one. The young women also enroll with the avowed object of learning to become better home-makers and home-keepers. No training classes for teachers are conducted and few expect to enter the teaching profession.

In closing, I can but express my appreciation of the spirit of hearty co-operation exhibited alike by the Board of Managers, faculty and students, all of whom show a genuine desire to further the interest of the School, the community and the state.

* The financial report of the Treasurer is appended.

Respectfully yours,

W. J. WRIGHT, Director.
