Arts for Peace: Breaking Women's Silence

Women of Influence speaker; Dr. Mallika Sarabhai.
Monday, April 28, 5 p.m. at the Women's Leadership Center.

Dr. Mallika Sarabhai is one of the most well-known and well-regarded classical Indian dancers in the world. She is also a passionate advocate for social justice issues, including the ongoing problem of violence against women.

Using stage performance and television to educate and communicate, Sarabhai melds her activism and art in inspiring ways. Sarabhai's work is based in the Indian state of Gujarat, a site of ongoing religious and political conflict. Her work is therefore both ground-breaking and courageous.

Sponsored by NEH, the Marlin and Ginger Miller Dance Residency Program, the WLC, and the Division of Performing Arts.

CLONE IDENTIFICATION OF THE AMERICAN BEECH TREE USING MOLECULAR GENETICS TECHNIQUES

Marie Tran
Biology Honors Thesis Seminar

The beetle scale attacks the bark of the American Beech tree and creates an opening for a fungus which causes Beech Bark Disease. This disease is fatal to all beech trees except those that are genetically resistant. Marie has used a variety of molecular techniques to identify genetic similarities and differences between beech trees in an attempt to identify and increase the number of trees resistant to this disease.
