Internet Connection Concerns

ITS is aware that the available Internet bandwidth has become saturated and that students are having great difficulty connecting to resources off campus. As a result, we are fast-tracking the deployment of a new server that will allocate bandwidth in a highly efficient manner.

We do not believe that this will entirely solve our issues, but we believe that it will somewhat alleviate the problem.

For the last 18 months, Alfred University has been working with ION (Independent Optical Network) which is currently building a state-wide network that will bring new and great connectivity to All of Western New York, including Alfred University. We anticipate that ION will be online and providing service to Alfred University sometime in December or January. This new connectivity will triple our current bandwidth and provide a much better environment for cost-effective broadband in the coming decades.

We appreciate your patience as we work through this challenge.

'Twin Towers' Moving Toward Miller

Throughout the week, you will notice a replica of the Twin Towers on campus. This community-art project, created by Performing Arts and Drawn to Diversity, is intended to represent the connections between our community and the victims of the 911 attacks.

Please take a moment to stop by the sculpture and contribute "your connection." Silver links can be placed on the towers representing your closeness to a victim and names of those lost can be written on one wall.

The project will move each day toward Miller Performing Arts Center, where a powerful reading of "9/10:The Night Before" by Richard Willett will conclude the week's remembrance (Saturday night at 8 p.m. in CD Smith Theater).

Public Reading of '9/10'

As part of a week-long community-based art and performance project entitled "LINKED, Our Connection Over Time," intended to reflect on the tragic events of Sept. 11, 2001, there will be a public reading of Richard Willett's play "9/10" Saturday, Sept. 10, Sept. 10 at 8 p.m. in CD Smith III Theatre, Miller Performing Arts Center.

Co-sponsored by Student Activities/Drawn to Diversity and the Theater Department of the Division of Performing Arts/College of Liberal Arts, actors will be drawn from the AU student body and our community demonstrating the unity we all share as we reflect on this somber event that Developed from a play-writing workshop that Willet taught at Alfred in 2003 when America had just gone to war with Iraq, "9/10" interweaves four stories, each set in the World Trade Center on the night before the attack.

A reception and talk-back session with NYC director and AU alum Eliza Beckwith, who will co-direct with Professor Steve Crosby and his Directing I class, will be held after the free performance.
