FERRY ELECTED 1921 FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

The 1920 Varsity Football squad held their last meeting at the Ag School last Wednesday night, and elected the captain for the 1921 season. Oliver Ferry, varsity guard for the past two years, was elected to pilot the purple and gold gridders next year.

Ferry has played a steady game throughout the past season and is regarded as one of the most reliable men on the squad. He well deserves the captaincy of the team by his playing in the last two years. Captain Searles, who had charge of the squad this year, is one of the four men who will be lost from the team by graduation. He has served faithfully and earnestly, and to a large extent the success of the team has been due to his untiring efforts. The captain-elect is a senior next year, being a Ceramic Engineer of the class of '22.

STUDENT SENATE

The eighth regular meeting of the Student Senate was called to order by the president, December 1. It was voted to place January 13th, on the college calendar for the high school play. Also voted that the Eta Phi banquet be changed from the 21st of April to the 10th of March. Voted that December 16th be placed on the college calendar for the night shirt parade.

FOUNDERS' DAY CELEBRATION TOMORROW

All past memories and present sentiments which we hold for Alfred will be brought nearer by the commemoration of Founders' Day on next Wednesday, December 8th. Traditions and ideals of the institution which we so fondly reverence and love will again the more firmly ingrain themselves into our characters, and we look forward with pleasure to being present at the exercises which will occur on this date.

We are to set aside Wednesday as the day for bringing to memory the 84th anniversary of Alfred's history and it is hoped that many of the old alumni may be back to aid us in making this event one to be remembered. It is the present understanding that one of the speakers will be Professor Jones of Columbia.

AG FRAT INITIATES

Theta Gamma recently initiated ten new members. The candidates traveled the hard road successively, and are now happy members of the Order.

The following men were initiated: S. Adams, C. H. Barry, R. R. Brown, W. A. Childs, D. D. Jumph, D. McIntyre, L. F. Reed, G. S. Robinson, R. E. Swanson, A. R. Tuttle.

How about those letters to Jumph? Are you still keeping in touch with him? And do you realize how much those letters will mean? Don't fail to write.

JUMPH IMPROVING SLOWLY

Durwood Jumph, who was injured in the Thiel game Thanksgiving Day, is at the latest reports, resting as comfortably as possible. Jumph was removed from the train at Meadville on the return from Thiel. He was taken to the Spencer Hospital where he was operated upon. The removal of a kidney was necessary. While his recovery will be complete, it will be very slow. No doubt it will be six weeks before he can be removed from the hospital.

Jumph is a Junior in Ag School. Although this was his first year at Alfred, he succeeded in making the team and had up to the time of his injury, played a remarkable game. Jumph has no relatives and all the students are urged to write to him and do all they can to keep him cheerful. Professor Bennehoff has been in Meadville during the past week to visit him. As yet he is not able to see visitors but as soon as he is well enough many of the students should visit him.

Last Wednesday the student body raised over two hundred dollars to pay the expenses of someone of the student body to stay with him constantly and see that he gets every possible attention. He has the best care the hospital can give. Three doctors and two nurses have been in constant attendance during the critical period after the operation.

The student body and faculty voted to extend to Mr. Jumph a resolution of sympathy and good cheer and earnest hope for a speedy recovery.

ALFRED WINDS UP SUCCESSFUL FOOT BALL SEASON

Scores 81 Points to 53 by Opponents

Alfred closed a successful football season with the Thanksgiving Day game at Thiel. Although the team won only four games out of seven, the present season has done more to further athletics at Alfred than any previous one. Several changes have come over the athletic program in the past season. In the first place the Alumni Advisory Board was formed to push athletics. This Board has proved to be of unspeakable help in their enlistment of the alumni in support of better sports. The student management also decided to play only inter-collegiate games. This is the first season that an entire inter-collegiate schedule was played.

The squad began practice on the twentieth of September, a week before college opened. Although about thirty-five men turned out there were only six letter men from last year's team that had returned. The greater part of the squad was green and somewhat light. In spite of all the enthusiasm of the students, the promise of a winning combination did not look bright. The coach was undaunted, however, and set about to put the best possible team in the field. Taking as a foundation Capt. Searles, Witter, Ahern, R. Campbell and Ferry of last year's Varsity and Stryker, Teal and Peck of the reserves he began training.

The first game came on October ninth when the team journeyed to Clinton to play Hamilton. The game was the first collegiate contest which many of the men had played. Although a remarkable fight was put up, Hamilton won a 7 to 0 victory, making their touchdown on an intercepted forward pass. The fact that Alfred had had no practice game before this may account for the defeat. E. Campbell, brother of Bob, proved to be the stellar player of the game. The little 126 pound Frosh was viewing the first inter-collegiate game he had ever seen and from all indications he saw a lion's share of it.

The following week, Alfred came back strong and, with the same team that played at Hamilton, administered a 39 to 0 defeat to the St. Stephens College team. Although the opponents were somewhat heavier the purple and gold had the game all won at the end of the first half. If the same playing form, that was shown in the St. Stephens game, had been present in the Hamilton game, the score might have been different.

On the twenty-second, Buffalo was the victim of a 7 to 3 defeat. Alfred put over their touchdown in the first few minutes of play. The teams were about evenly matched and they put up a wonderful exhibition of football. Though the varsity proved superior, the Bison team put up a game fight and in the third quarter came dangerously near scoring a touchdown but Alfred tightened up and the U. of B. team contented themselves with a 3 point score from a field goal.

The next week Alfred met the second defeat of the season from the powerful Geneva team at Beaver Falls by the score of 34 to 0. Geneva had a much heavier and more experienced team against which the varsity was unable to make much headway. It was a clean, hard fought game from the start until the last whistle and Geneva justly won their victory. Stryker who had replaced Fox after his in-

THIEL DEFEATS ALFRED ON THANKSGIVING DAY BY 6-0 SCORE

Fighting hard on a mud covered field and in a steady rain, Alfred University lost the final game of the 1920 season to Thiel College at Greenville, Pa., by a score of 6-0, Thanksgiving afternoon. The game was a bitter battle, the teams being evenly matched in weight and football ability. But Thiel resorted to unsportsmanlike tactics at many stages of the game, kicking, holding and slugging to their heart's content, while a pair of weak kneed officials marked time on the muddy turf. Not a single penalty was called during the entire contest, and time and again there was just cause for objection on the part of Alfred. Despite the playing of the Thiel men, every man on the purple team stood out as a clean sportsman, and in the minds of even the hostile crowd that was assembled, much credit was given to the Alfred team for their conduct under the conditions. The game in general, was characterized by much rough work and many fumbles, the wet and slippery ball rendering it hard to handle.

In the first half Thiel had a slight edge, receiving the ball on the kick-off and carrying it into Alfred territory, where it remained during the greater part of the first half. In the second quarter Thiel advanced by end runs and forward passes to the Alfred one yard line. Four times the Alfred forwards hurled the Thiel backfield men into their own territory for short losses, and then, receiving the ball punted out of danger. It was one of the greatest stands that Alfred has made this season when in the very shadow of their goal line, they held four times and yielded not an inch. During the remainder of the half the ball was in the center of the field, and not much resulted except a regular exchange of punts, and small gains by both teams.

In the third quarter Thiel received, but was downed on the twenty yard line. By means of a series of punts which took place between the two teams, and a series of line plunges and end runs by McClure, Christman and Bell, Thiel succeeded in taking the ball to the Alfred forty yard line, where Bell dropped back on a third down, and tossed a thirty-five yard pass to Mould, left end, for the lone touchdown of the contest. Bell failed to kick the goal, and at the beginning of the final period the score stood, Thiel 6-Alfred 0.

Alfred elected to kick, and the Thiel runner was downed on his own thirty yard line, just a moment before the whistle blew for the end of the period.

In the fourth quarter Alfred put on an offensive that toward the end of the game endangered Thiel's goal. Forward passes and trick plays all were given their inning, but Alfred finally lost the ball on the twenty yard line, and Thiel punted out of danger. The game ended with the ball in Thiel's possession on their own forty yard line.

Durwood Jumph, Alfred right guard, was seriously injured in the game, and forced to submit to a major operation a few hours later at the Spencer Hospital of Meadville. The removal of a kidney was necessary as Jumph was suffering from internal hem-

Alfred's men all fought well in the game, but E. Campbell perhaps outshone all others in his fast, snappy offensive work, and his excellent defensive play. For Thiel, Christman was the bright light.

CERAMIC SOCIETY MEETS

At the meeting of the Ceramic Society, held last Tuesday evening, it was unanimously decided to send a delegate to the coming convention of the American Ceramic Society at Columbus, Ohio. The students have never had an official delegate at the convention but the need of such a representative has become so great that one will be sent this year.

Much other business was brought before the meeting for discussion. Stamm was elected to the position of Secretary and Treasurer in the place of Peck who handed in his resignation. The matter of dues was also brought up and discussed. It was decided to levy a tax of 25 cents per capita exclusive of the fund to be raised to send the delegate to the convention.

After the business meeting, Plank gave an interesting and instructive report on his summer work at the Locke Porcelain Company's plant at Victor, New York. His report brought forth a lively discussion of the advantages and disadvantages of the processes and conditions as he found them in the plant. Locke manufactures electrical porcelain exclusively. Several small examples of their products were exhibited for examination.

PROFESSOR POTTER ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY

One of the most interesting addresses heard so far this year in assemblies was given last Wednesday by Professor Potter, who told of the experiences one has in twenty-four hours of life in a hospital behind the lines.

Any notion which those unfamiliar with the Army might have entertained regarding the campartive ease in which a Medical corps man is able to live as contrasted with the life of a member of a combative organization was thoroughly dispelled by Professor Potter. The Medical Corps not only has to take active part in any task which comes to hand in time of emergency, but its members also have to take care of the ill and wounded. All the tasks of the Medical Corps must be performed under constant danger and the routine of the work is many times unbearably monotonous. However, it is a source of gratification to know that the same spirit of fair fight and sportsmanship which characterized the action of our fighting troops was also carried over into the Medical Branch of the Service, where it was more difficult to maintain the fighting spirit, but where it was necessary that all hardship be endured cheerfully and manfully for the sake of those who were suffering from illness and wounds.

MUSICAL TREAT

Prof. Wingate has given us another real treat by bringing on November 2d, to Alfred University Rose Becker, violinist.

Miss Becker played to a good sized audience and to say they really did appreciate her interpretations would be sotto voce.

Did you realize that the violin upon which Miss Becker played just cost her $5,000? It surely was a beautiful instrument to look at and a much superior one to hear.

Miss Becker gave an excellent program of varied numbers and her skill was evenly contrasted between such numbers as this Crieg Sonata and Gardner's Canebrake. Miss Becker was required to repeat the Canebrake. Her many encores included Melody Eb Tchaikowsky and the Bee by Schubert.

Ada Becker Seidlin, pianist, sister of Rose Becker, ably supported the violinist with a clean cut, clear and boyant tone. Her solos were known to the larger part of the audience which made them all the more interesting. Her touch is firm and tempo strict with a liberal supply of technique.

Let us have some more of these real artists as we certainly do enjoy them. Come again Wingate.

Y. W. FAIR

The Y. W. C. A. fair which was in progress last week, was most successful. It opened Monday afternoon and continued Monday evening and Tuesday afternoon. The Y. W. parlors in the Brick, where the fair was held, were decorated in Japanese effect and the booths were attractively arranged displaying their wares. All kinds of fancy work, mandarin baskets, favors, and stationary sets were on sale. The girls who were in charge of the work were Leah Clerke, Margaret Banghart, Cynthia Hunt, Mildred Faulstich and committees.

What Is Air?

BEFORE 1894 every chemist thought he knew what air is. "A mechanical mixture of moisture, nitrogen and oxygen, with traces of hydrogen and carbon dioxide," he would explain. There was so much oxygen and nitrogen in a given sample that he simply determined the amount of oxygen present and assumed the rest to be nitrogen.

One great English chemist, Lord Rayleigh, found that the nitrogen obtained from the air was never so pure as that obtained from some compound like ammonia. What was the "impurity"? In co-operation with another prominent chemist, Sir William Ramsay, it was discovered in an entirely new gas—"argon." Later came the discovery of other rare gases in the atmosphere. The air we breathe contains about a dozen gases and gaseous compounds.

This study of the air is an example of research in pure science. Rayleigh and Ramsay had no practical end in view—merely the discovery of new facts.

A few years ago the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company began to study the destruction of filaments in exhausted lamps in order to ascertain how this happened. It was a purely scientific undertaking. It was found that the filament evaporated—boiled away, like so much water.

Pressure will check boiling or evaporation. If the pressure within a boiler is very high, it will take more heat than ordinarily to boil the water. Would a gas under pressure prevent filaments from boiling away? If so, what gas? It must be a gas that will not combine chemically with the filament. The filament would burn in oxygen; hydrogen would conduct the heat away too rapidly. Nitrogen is a useful gas in this case. It does form a few compounds, however. Better still is argon. It forms no compounds at all.

Thus the modern, efficient, gas-filled lamp appeared, and so argon, which seemed the most useless gas in the world, found a practical application.

Discover new facts, and their practical application will take care of itself.

And the discovery of new facts is the primary purpose of the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company.

Sometimes years must elapse before the practical application of a discovery becomes apparent, as in the case of argon; sometimes a practical application follows from the mere answering of a "theoretical" question, as in the case of a gas-filled lamp. But no substantial progress can be made unless research is conducted for the purpose of discovering new facts.

N. Y. S. A. NOTES

Miss Langworthy took charge of chapel Tuesday morning. She read a very interesting article on the subject: "Did you ever wish you were somebody else?" Each one of us have a place in this big world and each our little part to do to make it better. Would you be someone else and leave your bit undone?

We're glad Allan Bowen and Ed Harnes, two of our live wires, stayed with us during the recent vacation for they sure showed those of us who couldn't go home a jolly good time Thanksgiving evening. We assembled at Ag Hall about eight o'clock and spent the hours, though few they seemed, in dancing and pulling taffy. At eleven-thirty we met the bus which brought the boys back from the hard-fought game against Thiel.

Thursday morning the Sigma Alpha Phi took charge of chapel. Ray Tuttle being president of the Club, presided and a short but very good program was rendered consisting of a violin solo by Mr. Davis and a very interesting war-time experience on and around the Island of Haiti related by Mr. Brookins.

Another dance and taffy pull was enjoyed by the Country Life members Tuesday night on third floor of Ag Hall. At this time the new officers of the Club were elected and installed as follows: president, Mr. Swanson; Vice Pres., Mr. Brown; Sec., Miss Button; Treas., Mr. Fox.

Thursday at twelve-fifteen the first of a series of six lunches was served to the faculty by the cooking 4 class, Mary Prentice and Phyl Scott in charge.

It is customary in many other places to have the flag taken down at sunset each night. We wish it might be the custom here.

We want to thank all the students and members of the Faculty for their hearty co-operation in making it possible for us to send men down to see Mr. Jumph and also for the letters that have been written to him. We all realize what a sacrifice he has made for our college and anything that we can do to lessen the tedium of his enforced stay in the hospital is bound to be appreciated by him. The operation which was performed on Jumph was a very serious one, more serious than many of us realize. The last reports of his condition were quite encouraging and it is proposed that, as soon as he is able to see anyone, a man be sent to Meadville to stay with him three days at a time. Prof. Bennehoff, in the meantime, is with Jumph and will continue to send night letters of his condition which will be posted in the post office.

New Fables in Slang By Lemohn Ade

It all happened in the court of Alfred the Great, or some other place like that. The king and queen were quarreling. They had fallen into a religious discussion and the king was cussing right royally too. He seemed to have a grouch on women and on all women from Eve down.

Said he: "We men would have never had any trouble if it hadn't been for Adams breaking Luce over that apple; and Eve was to blame for that. Why the Dea—did she trust such an old Fox as that serpent anyway. It was Child's play to work deception on her. But she Wendt and did it: and you women have never Learned to profit by it, even a Little bit."

"Great Scott!" snapped the queen. "Go Jumph into the Lake. Perhaps the frogs will think you are that White Swanson instead of the Minny you really are. You haven't as much sense as one of the Mowers in your Greenfield close by the Abby! Why don't you Prentice yourself to a black Smith or the royal Wagner? Wheelwrights are scarce—you might make a good Wheeler! Don't try anything where you have to use your head for it must be made of Wood or Barry granite. I never saw such a Slowman before, just like your mother. She was a simp and you are a Simpson."

"Now! Now!" replied his majesty, quite upset by such a torrent of abuse. "Keep your Knighty on! But don't speak so slightly of my good mother's name for by doing so you wrong both my mother Anderson. But what a beautiful fur opera cloak you wear. Is it the one the Earle gave you? I should say it is of Brown seal or perhaps Martin. You should be more careful of the hang of it. Don't Miss Button it as you leave now. And when you lay it aside be sure it is out of Harm's way. It should be a wonderfully comfortable ulster for one of your poor circulation. It must keep your Bloodgood and warm."

The queen played with the Tassel on her cloak for a moment and then went to the garden where she borrowed the gardner's Dibble and buried herself with transplanting cabbages.

Lost: An Ingersoll watch by a Frosh with a cracked face.

Prof. Nelson: I am tempted to give you a test.

Cassada: "Yield not to temptation."

Prof. Lloyd Robinson: "Good morning."

Allan Bowen: "What are you teaching today?"

Prof: "Nuts."

Prof. Randolph in Chem. 1. "Your answer is about as clear as mud."

Bright Child (s) "Well, that covers the ground doesn't it?"

Harnes: "What would this nation be without women?"

Dea: "A stagnation."

Curley: Eight twenty classes I love best;

I love to rise before the rest,
I like to miss my breakfast too,
I do, I do, like the deuce I do.

ALFRED AND ITS STUDENTS

Alfred University is located in the foothills of the southwestern New York Alleghenies. It "opens its doors to all worthy students etc." It receives, like other similar institutions, its share of curies male and female. They come in all sizes and varieties, from the demure pink cheeked young thing who goes to college because she don't know what else to do, down to the red-necked calloused sons of the soil who feel that they have missed something in early education and desire through technical agricultural training to pave the way to greater future profits on the farm.

The village of Alfred is small, having actual population of not more than seven hundred during the weeks that college is not in session. Thus there are few outside diversions to interest a student body which normally averages about four hundred. Living together as a body, the students naturally become well acquainted, and each person, male or female, student or faculty member, is soon familiarly hailed by a name, given or "applied." For that reason, the student family of Alfred lives within itself and the radius of its community in many ways, and it takes but a short time to discover the nature, talents, and dispositions of those who go to make it up.

Many interesting personal characteristics must naturally be disclosed, for while working together, playing together, and associating in various ways, the fact must be remembered that no two people under a given impetus, will conduct themselves in exactly the same manner. As to hobbies or should it not be said, "definite characteristics." Alfred is of course blessed with many of such.

In general, it has been observed that the greatest Alfred hobby is personal attachment between the lads and misses who here strive for the golden uplift of knowledge. The fact is not to be denied, however, that when people of opposite sex are thrown together in the pleasant comradeship, and under the congenial conditions which only a small country college can assure, "affairs" are bound to result. The student body of Alfred expects this, they tolerate it easily, and, most of them being normal, they are not at all surprised at some of the turns and twists which these affairs assume. They tread the shadowy streets and secluded lanes as those hundreds before them have trod, and as the thousands that come after them undoubtedly will tread. The spirit actuates nearly everyone, although necessarily to varying degrees. That, in brief, is Alfred's most pleasing hobby.

But now, being through with generalization, it is only natural to pass on to specific analysis and testimony. This episode, written from a male point of view, cannot hope to explain easily or to delineate with absolute accuracy, the different feminine characterizations which must be borne in mind. Thus it is that men, alone, will be selected as examples. Please pardon the omission, which must be made despite knowledge and study of the Nineteenth Amendment.

A young man of scientific mental machinery, well known to everyone, is a continual dabbler in the realms of the master chemist. His nostrils distend happily at the odor of chlorine gas, and with retorts, crucibles and litmus paper between himself, a supply of bottles, and a Bunsen burner, he seems to have reached the "Seventh Heaven" of his existence. May he be blest with a glorious future, and may he bring to light astounding facts of chemical research and ponderous text books to accentuate the brain of the next generation.

Then, too, we have his direct opposite, a pleasant faced, congenial youth, who avoids all laboratories and all scientific study to the best of his ability, being content to ponder diligently upon the pages of English classics, and to delve deeply into the dusty columns of time-dispelled history. Usually he is found consulting a reader's guide in search of curious classical literature, and keys to all branches of mathematics, especially Algebra, though he has no distinct love for the latter subject.

But a more interesting character is the lad whose mind wanders to nature and to the study of the respective anatomies of half grown cats, struggling pollywags, and ancient toads. Indeed, it is hard to accurately diagnose this mind, especially when tired but happy ornithology classes may be discerned passing by bedroom windows, just as the sun rises over the eastern slope of the Allegany hills and just as many people are casting aside evening wear for the dress of the day. But here one comment must be interspersed—simply that lovers of natural science seem to be actuated by a really sympathetic spirit toward the opposite sex. For hours a couple may sit in the vicinity of the laboratory of natural history during moonlight evenings, deeply though silently pondering upon the extreme beauty of God's greatest creation, the human race.

But there must be spirit at Alfred—that too, is one of the general hobbies—and to attain that spirit athletic teams, must take the field. Some find keen delight in the struggles on track, field and court, and it is from this number that the personnel of Varsity teams is selected. Others demonstrate their spirit in different ways, but it is all for the common cause. The main hobby of Alfred has and will ever be, loyalty.

FIRST COSMOPOLITAN CLUB FORMED IN ALFRED UNIVERSITY

This year the University has an enrollment of eight foreign students representing Italy, China, Canada, India, Chili and Syria. Some of them come from M. I. T., Ohio State, Columbia and other American schools. Their desire to make Alfred University a great and high standard institution is no less than that of every American student. As the Cosmopolitan Club has become a prominent feature in nearly all the famous American universities and colleges, these eight foreign students in Alfred with the full approval of the faculty have finally succeeded in forming one.

The first meeting was held in Kenyon Memorial Hall last Friday night. The time was entirely devoted to the discussions on constitution and activities, and to getting acquainted with one another.

Regular meetings will be held twice a month. It is intended that each member of the Club will give during each term a lecture on his or her own country.

At least one regular meeting in each month will be open to every one in the school so that the professors and fellow students can learn more about cosmopolitan countries.

The officers elected at the last meeting are: Pres., C. H. Yang; Vice Pres., Miss Paschelle; Sec-Treas., M. Fellicetti.

ALUMNI NOTES

Mrs. Clarissa Beard Huy died at her home in Hornell, N. Y., on November 23d. Mrs. Huy was a graduate of Alfred belonging to the class of 1855.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Clark of Nutley, N. J., were recent Alfred visitors. Mr. Clark is a trustee of the University.

Adelene Titsworth '12, who has been in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for sometime, is in Alfred. Miss Titsworth will spend the winter here.

Edward Saunders '17, who has been in the engineering office of the Bemis Bros., Bag Co., in St. Louis, is home for a few weeks before going to Spokane, Wash., to take a position with the Inland Empire Paper Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Erling Ayers, Alfred '17, and little son, were in Alfred last week. Mr. Ayers has resigned his position at Baltimore to accept a more desirable one at Danville, Ill.

Y. M. C. A.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A., held last Sunday evening at the Gothic, Dean Titsworth gave an earnest address on "Education as a World Need." Taking Moses as an example of the educated man, the speaker emphasized the noble characteristics of the great law-giver's life which could have come only through education. Turning to the present day, Dr. Titsworth declared that the world's need of educated Christians is greater now than ever before. He outlined the physical, social and moral advantages of education, and also the responsibilities and opportunities of the college graduate. With four years of additional preparation for larger service to mankind, men and women from our higher institutions of learning should go forth with ideals of justice for all, righteousness and love for the beautiful in life. The address was an inspiring message to every man at the meeting. After Dean Titsworth's talk the members present voted to send $10 as this year's contribution to the National Headquarters of the Y. M. C. A. Student's Department.

KANAKADEA NOTES

Our year book, the Kanakadea, is rapidly being shaped into what promises to be a large and interesting book. A successful publication is possible only when all lovers of Alfred and her spirit help the members of the Board in their earnest efforts.

A final appeal is made for snaps suitable for "stunt pictures" or scenes. Negatives, from which glossy prints can be made, should be handed to Robert Clark or Genevieve Button.

The charge which must be made on the classes and clubs taking pages in the book has been made, and bills sent out. Prompt payment of these bills will help the business management in a very practical way.

Finally, there is the urgent call for material from those whose duty it is to write up their organizations. These articles should be handed to Clyde Dwight, if for the college section, and to Raymond Tuttle, if for the Ag section.

DR. BEAVEN'S VISIT

Through the co-operation of the college authorities, the Seminary and the Christian Associations, plans have been completed for Dr. Beaven's Conference with Alfred students on the 16th, 17th and 18th of this month. All who attended the Inter-church meetings held last February will remember Dr. Beaven as a forceful speaker. He will be entertained, while in Alfred, at the home of Pres. B. C. Davis. Several meetings with the students have been arranged, which will be announced later.

Football manager Dougherty, wishes to thank his "scrub" assistants, Slough '23, Wemette '24, Cunningham '24 and Gibson '24, and the members of the Freshman class for their loyal support and hearty co-operation in helping to make the football season a successful one.

A great deal of credit is due the Frosh for the way in which they so nobly responded to the many calls for workers on the athletic field and on the campus.

The Student Senate has placed the night shirt parade on the calendar for the evening of December 16th. At that time the class of '24, will become full fledged Alfred Freshmen. It is an event that is remembered by every student of the college.

The annual event is a custom or tradition as old as the school itself. The committee has prepared a novel program for the evening under the direction of supreme judge "Chief" Witter, who will administer the penalties.

The Sophomores are busy instilling wild and thrilling tales of the parade. Just what the effect has been upon the Frosh is difficult to explain as they are somewhat reluctant to talk on the subject. Perhaps they are conserving the talk for that night. It is a wise policy as they will need it.

The close of the football season has brought a new thought to the minds of the students. With the term examinations a little over two weeks away the three dates December 20, 21, and 22 look dangerously near.

Forgotten books have been brought to light and now we find their owners busily engaged in hard, concentrated study while only a few short weeks ago the thought of study was not taken as seriously. Just why the approach of the term exams should bring so much thought of study into the student body is difficult to explain. It isn't possible that everybody is behind in every subject and yet every one is not up in all his work. The problem at present is for the laggards to catch up. If the old saying, "That which is done today will not have to be done tomorrow," had been followed all the term there would be no eleventh hour burning of the midnight oil.

ASSEMBLY DANCE

This year's first formal dance, which combined our usual first-term Assembly and the annual football dance, was much enjoyed Saturday evening by the seventy couples who attended. The large gymnasium, with floor marked for basketball, was so well decorated with evergreen boughs, banners and paper streamers that it seemed magically transformed into an ideal dancing hall. The music, supplied by "Cap" Rice's orchestra of five pieces, was fully appreciated till the town clock, striking midnight, ended the program. Too much cannot be said in praise of Robert Boyd '22, chairman of the dance committee, and his assistants, for the efficient arrangements they made for the dancer's pleasure.

During the intermission the first and second team A's were awarded by "Jack" Searles, this year's captain. He made some stirring remarks, and called on Ferry, next year's captain, for a few words. Coach Wesbecher also gave a short talk on Alfred football, as he saw it.

THE WEE PLAY HOUSE

The members of the Wee Play House wish it to be understood that the matinee on December 9th, is not exclusively a college affair. It is hoped that the whole community will feel an interest in the Wee Play House which is intended to be a community theatre in reality.

Kenyon Hall has been selected for this performance, pending the provision of a special location, because it is best suited to the presentation of one-act plays and because it affords a unique opportunity for the use of new and different scenery and lighting.

The music between the acts will be under the direction of Ada Becker Seidlin. No tickets will be sold in advance. The doors will be opened at 3:30 P. M. Admission 50 cents.

THE MAN WHO MADE FOOTBALL A SUCCESS

A. A. Wesbecher, football mentor of the purple and gold squad, deserves every credit for his work during the past season. He came here for his first year, and with but five letter men with whom to work, molded successfully together a team of more than average strength. The squad was large enough, but it was lamentably green, and it was Wesbecher's job to teach a great deal of football. How he has accomplished his purpose is well known to all. Clean football has always been the slogan of the former W. and J. athlete. "I would rather see my team play clean and lose as we did at Greenville on Thanksgiving Day, than to win by the means which Thiel used," said Coach Wesbecher a few evenings ago. "If I thought that one of my players had deliberately sought to disable a man, as a certain Thiel footballer did to Jump, I would be ashamed to think that I was any kind of a sportsman. Any coach who leads his men to use underhand tactics in order to win, should never be allowed on the chalk-lined field."

Alfred had this season, under the tutelage of Coach Wesbecher, one of the cleanest squads that has ever worn the purple. The men fought hard and cleanly, and in every game that they played demonstrated the spirit of true sportsmanship. Few penalties came to the Alfred team throughout the year. Little tricks of illegal holding, tripping, slugging, etc., which could easily have been taught were absolutely discouraged. Officials during the past season seemed to overlook a great deal of unsportsmanlike play, and some of that type came against the Alfred eleven, but not once throughout the season did Coach Wesbecher mention a thing which smacked of dirty football.

Few coaches that have been here in the past have urged the football men to keep up their collegiate work. Few coaches care about such a detail. They are receiving their money to tutor a football eleven, and had rather their men would not waste sleep by evening study, and the impression which they give is something like this: if football interferes with your study periods, give up the latter. Coach Wesbecher has always insisted that collegiate work should be first, that it is the primary purpose of students being here, and should not, therefore, be neglected.

The comparatively green squad that Alfred presented learned much football from Wesbecher, they learned the principles of true sportsmanship, and they learned to hold in high regard the man who had taught them these things. Wesbecher was always a friend of the men. He acted as coach, doctor, companion, and trainer to them all, and never was too busy to help someone out of difficulty, or to bandage someone's injury. The good will of every man on the squad will follow "Buzz" Wesbecher in future days. It is possible that he may continue here another year, but nothing definite is known as yet. It is safe to say, however, that if Wesbecher decides to return, the 1921 team which takes the gridiron for the purple and gold will be one of the strongest which has ever represented this institution, that it will fight hard, play clean, and die game. If there's anything more that can be expected of a football coach, Wesbecher will have it.

Russel J. Dougherty, Manager

"Doc" Dougherty of Patterson, N. J., who came here from New York University this year, was one of the most capable football managers that Alfred has had in some time. "Doc" was ever on the alert, and seldom missed a detail in connection with his work. He has won many friends here by his capable executive ability, and his work as manager of the 1920 football eleven will not soon be forgotten. "Doc" is a member of the class of '22, and is pursuing a pre-medical course in the college.

BASKETBALL STARTS—35 CANDIDATES

Candidates for the Varsity basketball team are working out daily in the gymnasium under the direction of Coach Wesbecher and Captain Witter. Thirty-five men have reported for practice thus far, and prospects for a winning team have never been better. Banks, a star forward of last season's team, has been showing excellent form in practice, caging baskets from all angles of the court, and passing accurately and well, while Smith, last season's center, is also working out well. Lanphere, a member of the basketball team of Genesee Wesleyan Seminary two years ago, is giving Smith a stern battle for the pivot position, while several other men are also trying hard for the position.

Holley, Campbell, Ahern, Lyman, and others are making strong bids for the guard positions, while Hinchecliffe, Newton, Coffin, and Barron are showing first class form at the forwards. There is no question but that the fight for positions will be bitterly contested this week, as the Varsity squad will probably be selected before many days have passed.

Manager Ahern is busy with his schedule which calls for twelve games, and announcement will be made next week of the teams which will be played. Colgate and Union will be met before Christmas on a holiday trip, and another game may be added at that time.

Practice sessions are held regularly each afternoon at 4:30.

CONFERENCE AT ELMIRA

Florence Bowden, Laura Stillman and Margaret Glaspy, students at the University went to Elmira last week to attend the annual conference of the Woman's Intercollegiate Association for Student Government. The interests of the student government of different colleges were discussed for mutual help and suggestion.

Forty-six colleges east of the Mississippi were represented and included were New Orleans, West Virginia, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and others.

Friday afternoon the girls were taken to Watkins Glen in automobiles as guests of the Rotary Club of Elmira.

Elmira College girls entertained the representatives of the various colleges with a play on Thursday night. The trip was greatly enjoyed by the Alfred girls.

ALFRED WINDS UP SUCCESSFUL FOOTBALL SEASON

jury in the Buffalo game, played a remarkable game and deserved much credit. Worden played a good game at tackle in Ferry's place. Ferry was also injured in the Buffalo game.

Niagara was the next opponent to meet the purple and gold. Niagara was outweighed considerably but held the varsity scoreless in the first half. In the second half Alfred had lost its over-confident attitude and settled down to real hard work. As a result they put over two touchdowns and won the game 14 to 0.

After the Niagara game the coach put through a week of hard practice in preparation of the Mansfield conflict. Mansfield is the one rival that we had to beat at any cost. The Penn-Sylvanians came full of hope and, elated by their 10 to 0 victory last year, were determined to repeat the act. Alfred was just as confident that they shouldn't and true to all predictions they did not. They started out strong and succeeded in kicking a field goal in the first three minutes of play. It was one of the prettiest field goals ever kicked on the Alfred field. From then on the purple grid-ders had things their own way and without much difficulty ran up 21 points. It was the best game the varsity played this season. The sting of last year's defeat put the desired punch into the team that would make defeat impossible.

The cancelling of the St. Lawrence game on account of the snow at Canton brought much disappointment into the Alfred camp. That team had triumphed over Rochester and Hobart and for that reason there was a great desire among Alfred supporters to see the two teams meet.

The Thiel game Thanksgiving day proved to be the most disastrous of the season when Thiel captured a 6 to 0 victory. There is little to say of the game except that Alfred put up a clean, hard fight and was defeated. Jumph, who played guard, was kicked so badly that he was removed from the train on the return, at Meadville. He was taken to the Spencer Hospital where he was operated on, a smashed kidney being removed. While he is recovering slowly it will be three or four months before he can be around again. Stryker, Childs, Searles and E. Campbell were less severely injured mostly from being deliberately kicked, but are able to be around again.

The success of the team is due to the untiring efforts of Coach Wesbecher. He is the one who talked, thought and instilled the football spirit and knowledge into the team. This is his first year at Alfred and although it was not as successful as he desired, he did mighty well with the inexperienced material he had to start with. Next year the true results of his work will be shown as ten of the fourteen letter men will return.

The four men lost by graduation are Cpt. Searles, Witter, Swanson and Worden, the first three being veterans of the chalk lined field, and heroes of many battles on the gridiron. Worden made the Varsity for the first time this season but his work was characterized by true fighting spirit.

Captain Searles, Center

N. C. "Jack" Searles, last fall's Varsity leader and center of the purple line hails from Newark, N. J., where he was a member for four years of Barringer High school of that city. During the world war, "Jack" was eighteen months in the big game across the water, and he was wounded at Chateau Thierry on June 16, 1918. He survived his wound and saw service on five different fronts before the armistice came. Searles came to Alfred in September, 1918, entering as a Junior in the agricultural school. His work on the football field attracted much favorable comment, and his fighting spirit was recognized by every team that was met. At the close of the season he was unanimously elected as 1920 leader. During the past season "Jack" Searles has been one of the mainstays of the Varsity line, and in every game he has shown superior football ability. His passing has been above criticism in every game, even when handicapped by a wet field and slippery ball. It is safe to say that Jack Searles is one of the best pivot men that has been developed at Alfred in many years, and that if he continued on into life with the same determination which he evinced on the chalk lined field, success will await him. "Jack" is president of the Theta Gamma Fraternity.

Ralph E. Swanson, Left Tackle

"Butch" Swanson, the 220 pound purple lineman, is a graduate of Dunkirk, N. Y. High school, where he played three years. In the fall of 1916 he entered Cornell University Agricultural College, where he spent two years, being a member of the Big Red Varsity eleven in his Sophomore year. He enlisted in army aviation service during the world war, and served a long period, although never sent to France. In the fall of '20, Swanson came to Alfred, and enrolled as a Senior in the agricultural school. During the past season Swanson has played a wonderful game in the Alfred line, and during the entire period has not been outplayed by an opponent and on the offense Swanson opened yawning holes for the purple backs, while on the defense, few plays that were sent through the left side of the line ever meant gains for the opposition. Alfred will lose a real football luminary in "Butch" Swanson, and much regret has been expressed that he cannot be here another year. He will receive his diploma from the Agricultural School next April. He is also a member of Theta Gamma frat.

Ray C. Witter, Full Back

"Chief" Witter, star fullback of this year's purple and gold eleven, is a veteran who will be greatly missed when the Alfred squad starts training next fall. His first football experience came on his high school team. He graduated from Warsaw, N. Y. High in 1915, going to Syracuse for his first college year. During the 1915 season, when playing with the Syracuse Frosh, Witter lined up against the Alfred eleven. The following year he played on the Syracuse Varsity. Coming to Alfred in the spring of 1917, "Chief's" great football work has helped make the A. U. elevens successful in the seasons of '17, '19 and '20. During most of the war he was working for Uncle Sam as a radio operator in the Navy.

Witter is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, having joined at Syracuse. During his Alfred days he has been one of the leading spirits of Eta Phi Gamma.

Dean M. Worden, Right Tackle

Dean Worden, playing his first season of Varsity football in his Senior year, was not a member of the first team until about mid-season when his work in the line became so conspicuous that he earned for himself Varsity recognition. Dean has had considerable football experience as a member of class teams in past seasons, and despite his comparatively light weight, put up an excellent game. Worden entered Alfred in the fall of '15, but was eighteen months in government service, serving as a second lieutenant in aviation. He will graduate with the class of '21. On the football field he has shown a real fighting spirit, and his work in the Mansfield game was one of the prettiest exhibitions of the year. He is a member of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. Dean prepared at Brookfield, N. Y. High school.

Paul V. Orvis, Tackle

While Orvis did not earn his block letter during the 1920 season, he played regularly in 1919, and his late return to college was responsible for his failure to count again this year. Orvis prepared at Hutchinson Central High school of Buffalo, and was a half-back on the brown and white team for several seasons. He came to Alfred in the fall of 1919 entering as a Junior in the Agricultural school, and was quickly given a regular berth as half-back. He played an excellent game last season, and this year, in the games that he has participated, his work has been above criticism. He was a charter member of the Theta Gamma Fraternity, and will complete his scholastic work in April, 1920. He received second team honors this year.

George D. Ford, Halfback

"Dewey" Ford prepped at Hornell High School, and spent two years of his college course at Salem College, West Virginia. He entered the Alfred S. A. T. C. in the fall of 1918, and was a member of the S. A. T. C. football team. Last season, he played in the majority of games at a halfback position, and won his Varsity letter. This season "Dewey" has been a first string substitute, and barely failed to get in the requisite time for the big A. He participated in the St. Stephens, Niagara, Mansfield, Thiel, and Buffalo games at certain periods, and his loss will be sorely felt when the 1921 eleven takes the gridiron. Ford was a real fighter, and was one of the fastest men on the squad, but his light weight handicapped him, and he was forced to give way to heavier backs. He is a member of the Eta Phi Gamma fraternity, and will receive his degree as Ceramic Engineer in June, 1921.

Oliver Ferry, Left Guard

"Ollie" Ferry, for three seasons a strong lineman on the Varsity team, and captain-elect for 1921, came here from Almond, N. Y., a graduate of Almond High school. Ferry entered Alfred in the fall of 1918 as a member of the S. A. T. C. and was identified with football in his first year as a guard on the S. A. T. C. team. In the fall of 1919 Ferry was one of the most dependable guards that Alfred boasted. During the past season although handicapped by injuries, Ferry has played a hard and excellent game in the line. Few gains have been made through the position which he guarded. "Ollie" began the season at a tackle, but after his injuries in the University of Buffalo game, he was relegated to a guard position. Ferry will lead next year's team as the result of an election held by the letter men last Thursday evening. He is admirably fitted for the position, and there is no question but that he will be a worthy successor of Captain Searles. Ferry is president of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, and is a member of the class of '22.

Theodore Ahern, Half Back

Ahern at second half was with the exception of Witter, the heaviest man in the back field. He was a tower of strength on the defensive and on the offensive proved to be a consistent line plunger for gains. Last year he played tackle on the varsity but his speed and defensive ability caused his shift to the back field. With two more years at Alfred the Delta Sigma Phi boy will be a valuable part of the team next year.

Childs, End

Childs had a mysterious way of pulling forward passes out of the air. He was in the game every minute and was the cause of much dismay to his opponents. Although this is his first year at Alfred he played in every game and was one of the finds of the year. Childs is an Ag Frosh and member of Theta Gamma fraternity. He has two more years at Alfred.

Stryker, End

Stryker found a regular berth on the varsity team after Fox's injury in the Buffalo game. His ability to break up forward passes rarely failed, while his defensive tactics were above any criticism. Stryker has two more years in college and will be one of the main stays on next year's team. He is a member of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

Teal, Guard

Teal made the varsity although it was his first year on the squad. His playing at guard was a good example of the fighting spirit. The opponents found little chance of gain through his position. He has two more years on the squad. With his experience in the past season he will prove of great value to the team. He is a member of Klan Alpine fraternity.

Edward Campbell, Quarter Back

"Soupy" Campbell's successful year as quarter of our Varsity eleven came as the result of hard practice and football experience on the squad of Passaic, N. J. High during three years. In the 1919 season, when a Senior, he earned his football letter from High School; and in the 1920 season, as an Alfred Frosh, he earned his A.

Soupy's play, both offensive and defensive, has been brilliant in every game. He has recently been pledged to the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

Robert E. Campbell, Half Back

"Bob" Campbell hails from Passaic, N. J., where he was a letter man on the high school football team in the 1916 and 1917 seasons. In the early part of 1918 "Bob" enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve and served about eighteen months in the transport service. Coming to Alfred in 1919, he made good as a half back. During the past season he has played a hard, consistent game.

Campbell is a member of Delta Sigma Phi, and a worker in several college activities.

George M. Fox, End

"Mort" Fox, who started the season at left end, was a player of much promise, but a rather severe injury to the knee as a result of the Buffalo game kept him out of the running until late in the year. While inexperienced at the gridiron game, Fox put up an excellent exhibition in each game which he participated. His ability in receiving forward passes probably exceeded that of any other man on the squad, while his speed made him an end to be feared on all kick formations. Fox is a freshman in the agricultural school, and has two more years on the squad. Great things are expected from him next season.

Durwood D. Jumph, Guard

Jumph came to Alfred from Lawrenceville, N. J., prep. school, and entered as a Junior in the agricultural school. His football ability was immediately recognized, and while he was not a first string man until after the first three games, his work in later contests proved him to be, next to Swanson, the most valuable performer in the Alfred line. Jumph was fearless and aggressive, a born fighter, and an opponent to be feared by a rival line. Sadly enough, he has probably played his last football game, for at the present time, he is resting as comfortably as possible in the Spencer Hospital, Meadville, Pa., convalescing from a very serious operation, the result of the final game of the season at Thiel. Much sympathy must be extended to the unfortunate lad, and his work on the gridiron for Alfred will never be forgotten.

J. Clair Peck, Guard

Peck was one of the most dependable linemen on the Alfred squad this season, due to his experience of former years, and his fighting spirit. Clair was one of the heavier men on the squad, and when performing on the same side of the line with Swanson, they together made up a defense which was nearly impregnable, and an offense which carried the opposing line well backward. Peck, despite his other duties was always one of the first men on the field for afternoon practice, and his example was an excellent one to all the new men on the squad. He is sure to prove one of the most powerful linemen on next year's squad, and Alfred is fortunate in having his services another season. Peck is a Junior in the Ceramic school, and a member of the class of 1922.
