

STAGE IS SET FOR THE JUNIOR PROM

Big Social Event of Season Takes Place Saturday Night

MANY NEW FEATURES PLANNED

For many weeks a committee from the junior class has been planning for the greatest of the year's social events: the Junior Prom, which is to take place Saturday, June 12, at Academy Hall.

In addition to unusual decorations, which are planned to be the most startling and artistic ever adorning Academy Hall, Merrimen's orchestra consisting of eight pieces, is promised for the affair. This combination will no doubt go to promote the highest degree of convenience.

This, being the last dance of the year, will undoubtedly have the largest attendance, as every member of the class of '23 is planning to attend and of course their friends will plan to be with them. Many invitations have been sent out to alumni and others and it is expected that many out-of-town guests will be present. New gowns will be sharply in evidence and it has been prophesied that on this occasion many "Frat" pins will change owners, and that vivacity and merriment will reign supreme.

MASS MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT

DOC. FERGUSON'S MEN READY FOR ST. BONAVENTURE

Greatest Track Meet in History of College Promised for Friday

RECORDS WILL BE BROKEN

Emerging from the tilt at Meadville last week in the best of shape, the Alfred track squad are bending all efforts this week, in preparation for the meet with the Purple ancient rival, St. Bona, scheduled for Friday.

Though coming out on the short end of a 86-39 score, Dr. Ferguson's charges are not in the least discouraged at the result. In meeting Allegheny, the Purple met one of the fastest track squads in the class B circuit, which, defeated Thiel but a few days earlier 135-5. Each race was a real battle and the entire meet was hotly contested. That such keen competition "will be met next Friday is improbable.

DIRECTOR BINNS GIVES INSTRUCTIVE TALK ON "CHINESE PORCELAIN"

Assembly One of Great Interest

The assembly last Wednesday morning was conducted by Director Binns, who gave a scholarly and interesting talk on "Chinese Porcelain." His discussion of the subject was especially appealing because of his ability to draw so many clear cut distinctions, and also due to wealth of allusions, by way of illustration and comparison to objects familiar to the layman. The topic which might have been treated in a technical and uninspiring manner, proved most interesting to the listeners.

Chinese porcelain was considered from the aspect of its relationship to the life from whence it sprung, rather than an isolated subject.

"Practically every group of the human family," said Director Binns, "at some early stage of the growth of civilization, has learned that clay when moist possesses the property known as plasticity in virtue of which it can be shaped and that the shape will be retained when the clay is dry. In hot arid lands where much of the early work was done the dry pieces could be used for a number of purposes, they were quite strong but there was this limitation, they would not hold water. The discovery of the effect of fire, however, came about and changed this for it was shown that when the rude pottery had been heated to redness it was no longer destroyed when wet. Thus there are two points established, clay could be shaped at will and could be heated to permanence. Upon these two facts the whole ceramic industry of the world is based."

Thus establishing his point of contact between general and specific con-

PRES. DAVIS SPEAKS FOR STUDENT MASS MEETING

Tells of Alfred's Advance In Athletics

SMALL CROWD

Before a student body mass meeting held at the assembly hall last Thursday evening, President Davis spoke enthusiastically concerning the improvement of athletics and Alfred's athletic standing during the past twenty-five years.

"Never, in the past quarter of a century that I have been president of Alfred University, have athletics shown a more decided improvement as to grade of sportsmanship, than they have in the last three years," said President Davis. The speaker went on to tell of the immense interest with which he has always watched athletic activities, and of the gratification he has always felt at seeing good sportsmanship. He emphasized the great importance of clean playing both to school and individual.

Another speaker of importance was graduate manager of athletics, Champ- lin, who pointed out Alfred's advance in the world of collegiate sports by way of indicating football and cross-country schedules for the coming year. He emphasized the need of financial support which would come about by increased spirit and enthusiasm on the part of students.

"Doc" Ferguson and Coach Wesbecher also spoke, urging increased "fight" on the part of the University as a whole. Coach Wesbecher pointed to the need of a variety of athletic activity to prevent "lop-sidedness" and "Doc" Ferguson told of how each sport contributed to advance the others.

The meeting was one full of "pep" although not well attended. It was decided to hold over the election of cheer leader until Thursday night of this week when another meeting will be held.

—Chief Witter is to catch for the Olean baseball team this summer.

LAKE-BRONSON

The marriage of Miss Margaret D. Bronson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Bronson of Hornell, N. Y., and Charles C. Lake, a Ceramic Senior, took place Tuesday evening, May 1st, at 7:30 o'clock, at the First Baptist Parsonage, Hornell, N. Y. Rev. L. A. Pickett, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. Only a few of the intimate friends of the couple were in attendance at the wedding.

ALFRED LOSES TO ALLEGHENY IN FIRST MEET OF SEASON

McConnel, Navin and Witter Star

ALLEGHENY RECORDS BROKEN

Fighting doggedly for every possible point, the Alfred field and cinder men lost a hotly contested meet by a score of 86-39, to Allegheny College, at Meadville last Saturday afternoon. The score by no means tells the entire story, for although the Alfred squad was out-classed in the field events, they pushed the Pennsylvanians around the cinders for the fastest time this year and in addition broke four of the Allegheny track records.

"Billy" Navin, who by reason of his extraordinary performance in cross-country last fall was transferred from the sprints to the distances this spring came through in wonderful style, out-classing Bliss in both the mile and two mile runs. In the mile "Billy" followed Allegheny's star from the start, barely one step in the rear until the Pennsylvanian stepped out for the finishing sprint. Here again Navin dogged the Keystone starter's heels but not for long. To the great amazement of the Allegheny rooters Navin cut easily around his only rival and in spite of the greatest efforts on the part of Bliss, crossed the tape far in the lead.

In the two mile Bliss reversed tactics on the Alfred runner and this time Navin led his rival around the first seven laps before Bliss decided to take the lead. For the next fifty yards the two staked a battle royal. Nevertheless the Allegheny man was soon left in the lurch and Navin crossed tape again yards ahead of the Pennsylvanian, and for the second time in the afternoon set a new record on the Allegheny cinders.

No less spectacular was the half mile run of "Kidder" Witter, who loafed around two turns of the track bringing up the rear of a long line of contestants and just as Wimmer the Allegheny star, lengthened his stride in preparation for the final sprint began slipping past the stragglers. With only Wimmer left between him and the tape, Witter began his sprint. There was a cry of consternation from the Allegheny rooters. In spite of renewed efforts on the part of Wimmer "Kidder" easily sailed by and crossed the tape far in the lead.

Less spectacular but none the less gratifying was the work of Herrick, who running his first half mile race, put up a determined fight for second place losing out by inches only.

Of special interest was the performance of Travis who tramped his way to Meadville sleeping on a hay stack the night before the meet. Travis donned a track suit and led out the two mile for seven laps so fast that all but two of the Allegheny men were forced to drop out, and then on the last lap left the track and trotted off to the field house to change his togs and watch the remainder of the meet.

Although, aside from the work of "Frits" MacConnell, Navin and Witter no first places were taken the team as a whole, displayed extraordinary fight, working as hard for third as for first place.

Due to unfortunate breaks for Alfred, the purple squad lost several second and third places which ordinarily would have gone to them.

Ford C. Lyons and D. MacConnell as well as Scudder, showed promise of better things in the future.

Let it be said that Allegheny has one of the strongest and best balanced teams in her class. As was recently stated in a recent issue of the "Allegheny Campus" "every man is a star" and no doubt she will have but little trouble in winning every meet of her schedule.

It is believed that on the whole, athletic relations between the two colleges have been strengthened by

TENNIS SQUAD TO HAVE REGULAR PRACTICE PERIOD

Tournament Matches This Week

The tennis season is now on and in the near future students and townspeople will have an opportunity to witness some good matches, both between university students here and with outside teams.

The tennis team has been selected from a large number of men who have worked conscientiously and who show good playing form and play steadily and consistently. They are as follows: Drummond, Thorngate, Larabee, Nissen, Volk and Gibson. The following men will complete the squad: Johnson, H. Clark, Tuckman, DuBois and Frazer.

From 5 o'clock P. M. on, each day the courts are reserved for team and squad practice. At that time all members of the team should be present until a definite practice schedule can be arranged.

The college tournament opens this week and all players taking part are urged to play off their matches as soon as possible. The tournament diagram will be posted in Bassett's store window tomorrow.

There has also been arranged a series of matches between members of the team, the results of which will determine each man's team number.

Indications point to an interesting and successful season and it can be made satisfactory in every way by disinterested co-operation of all concerned.

DIRECTOR BINNS GIVES INSTRUCTIVE TALK

siderations Director Binns went on to say,

"Let us remember that the Chinese people have always been keenly alive to the finer artistic and dexterous means of expression. With their characteristic patience and painstaking they observed trifling points of quality and traced them to their source. Gradually it was shown that the purer clays demanded higher temperatures of firing, and the resulting pottery was as hard, or even harder, than heretofore, until in the Han dynasty or about the time of Christ there emerged a veritable stoneware, hard, impervious, sonorous, but dark in color and opaque."

These developments in the making of porcelain brought about considerable change in the standards held by the public, thus diverting the endeavors of the ceramic world into different channels. Director Binns described this transition in the following manner:

"The aim of the Egyptians, the Greeks, and the Romans was to produce these (wares) in fine quality as the contents of our museums prove. But with the advent of porcelain this was entirely changed. White ware now became the vogue as travellers brought home specimens of the new product. Syria and Persia venerated their dark clay with a silicious paste. Spain and Italy, Prance and Holland used an opaque, glassy coating for the same purpose. Finally France and England produced soft china and Germany found the true clay. Ever since that time all the white ware made in the world has been either true porcelain or an imitation of it."

In summing up his subject, Director Binns emphasized the beauty and the utility of the ware, porcelain, made possible for us to enjoy by the discoveries made back in the remote periods of China.

MEMORIES OF A. U.

As two men meet, in a dusty street.
Just twenty years from now,
As clear eyes meet, each man doth greet
The other with a bow.

One man doth turn, for his heart doth yearn
To see a dear old friend;
And then he speaks, with glowing cheeks,
As onward now they wend.

"I know I'm right, I can trust my sight,
I'll ask you just the same,
Wasn't it you, our tried and true,
Who won that football game?"

The two men's eyes, fill with glad surprise,
Two hands meet, firm and strong.
"How sure a hold has the Purple and Gold
The school we've loved so long."

The first one then, doth begin again,
"Remember those dear years
When Scotty played, and Soupie made
The crowd forget their fears?"

The other smiled, "Delta Sig went wild O'er girls of Theta Chi,
But our old clique, stuck to the Brick,
You know the reason why."

"Do you suppose that the student knows He'll value thru the years
As now we do, dear old A. U.
With all its hopes and fears?"

Hew to the Line.

Whatever your "Choice of a Career," college training has increased your economic value, and whatever business or profession you enter, adequate life insurance is a proper self-appraisal of your powers in that direction.

The traditions, practices, and financial strength of the JOHN HANCOCK Mutual Life Insurance Company are such that the college man can take peculiar pride in having a John Hancock policy on his life. It is a distinct asset from the start. It will pay you to buy it; and later on, should you think of joining this company, it will also pay you to sell it. Our representatives will tell you just how, and can assist you in selecting both your career and your insurance.

In preparation for the St. Bonaventure meet here, Friday afternoon, it is planned to hold the greatest mass meeting of the year on Thursday night. The poor attendance at last week's meeting is lamentable and only partly recompensed for by the great enthusiasm displayed by those attending.

Alfred has two meets remaining on her track schedule and should win both by a large margin, but a track meet which is hotly contested cannot be won by the contestants alone. Support of the student body is quite as essential as coaching. Student body backing has been one great evidence of weakness in Alfred's track. Although track is new here, there is no reason why it shouldn't assume paramount importance along with football. Therefore each and every red blooded student should make himself heard on Thursday night.

the Sophomores on Sunday evening, meeting and had for a topic, "Bring-not a perpetual grin." Ada Mills told "how to bring happiness to children."

The special music was a song- "I Come to Thee," sung by Hazel Niver.

LADIES CLUBS PRESENT NOVEL PROGRAM

Many Students Seen on Bill

AUDIENCE HIGHLY PLEASSED WITH PRODUCTION

Last Saturday night the Ladies Clubs of Alfred presented what was unquestionably one of the most unique and highly enjoyable entertainments seen on an Alfred stage this winter.
"The Village Variety Show" consisting largely of musical numbers and snappy comedy was received with great applause.

It would be difficult to speak too highly of the talent of those participating, or the skill of Mrs. Ramon Reynolds under whose direction the production was staged.

In a program so full of excellencies it is difficult to pick out any particular number and call it better than the others, yet perhaps one of the most sensational features, was the dancing of little Miss Dorothea Dun-ton of Hornell, who was encored time after time. However, the part of the show displaying greatest excellence was the singing of the well trained chorus, rather than individual starring.

One of the features was the song
"Childhood Chorus" by Mrs. DeForest Truman and a chorus of some twenty school children. A number which was highly applauded and encored many times. Another popular number was "Down on the Bus" by Mrs. Fred Ellis and chorus.

The singing of Mrs. Reynolds drew long applause, as did also that of Miss Nina Howard. Included on the evening's program were several college girls who contributed in no small way to the success of the program.
Among these were: Misses Mildred
Allen, Eleanor Prentice, Gertrude Burgess and Ada Mills.

It may be said that the show was on the whole, a decided success and the women of Alfred should be complimented for their work and for the work of their director.

The program follows:
"Opening Chorus" Chorus
"7 come 11, or My Dixie Pair o' Dice"
Gertrude Burgess, Ada Mills
"The China Blue Plate"

Mrs. Ramon Reynolds
"Down on the Bus" Mrs. Fred Ellis
"Japanese Moon"

NOMINATE STUDENT SENATORS

Elections Wednesday Morning

At the class meeting held last Wednesday the class of '24 nominated the following for election to next year's Student Senate: L. Borden, E. Tennyson, C. Danforth, E. Eaton, F. Gorab and R. Smith.

On the same day, next year's Junior class nominated for election to the Senate the following: Vida Randolph, Donald M. Gardner, F. Hamilton Whip-pie and William Navin.

VIEWPOINTS

A gray day!
And people said it was a pity that this day of all days must be gray.
And they shut themselves within their rooms,
And whiled away the time with indoor work;
They lighted, lamps with colored shades
To shed a cheerful light about,
And shut out all the grayness.

But there was one who opened wide her window
That the new Spring air might come in,

And sat looking out and dreaming,
She saw only the brown hills, and the treetops,

And a tall white church spire.
But here and there among the treetops was a touch of evergreen,
And in a clump, some yellow boughs
of birch,
Promising Spring.

The clouds were gray and white, Though there, on the far hill-top, she saw a streak of yellow light,
It spread, and crept down the hillside Until it touched the yellow boughs of birch, and turned them into gold.
Somewhere the sun was shining!
A gray day? Yes, but not so gray
When looked at through an open window
As when shut out by a dread of gray-ness.

FOOTBALL STAR HIT FOR HEAVY LOSS IN HORNELLSVILLE COURT

A Regular Speed Demon Declares City's Justice

ATHLETE PAYS LARGE INSTALLMENT ON NEW "MOTOR-BIKE"

Scotty Ahern, sometimes traffic cop at Atlantic Highlands, but better known in this vicinity as the Purple's Varsity football star, was hit hard and thrown for a severe loss, Monday afternoon when he appeared before Judge Rathbun of Hornell to answer the charge of speeding.

Though "Scotty" has taken considerable punishment in four years of battling for the Purple on the chalked field, never did the old Irish grin so nearly disappear as when he heard the Judge say "forty rocks." By what stretch of imagination, the Hornell justice conceived a student from Alfred looking like so much ready money is not known, but it was comparatively easy to find friends in the city who were able to make up the $39.60 deficit.

Under the supervision of Scotty several local mechanics have spent the last few week-ends in the complete over-hauling, which resulted in a complete rejuvenation and re-incarnation of an ancient flivver. With a new life and vitality, there was no doubt but what it could surpass any flivver on the road. Not wishing to enter his speedster in open competition until he had perfected the engine, he kept the racer under cover, but by Friday afternoon, the car was in shape for preliminary trial, so Scotty took it out for its first speed test. Incidentally he had business to transact in Hornell.

No harm would have resulted from such an incident had not the copper from the Hornellsville metropolis decided that he was due for a pinch. To "begin with the traffic gentleman showed poor judgment in picking out a Hupmobile. Surely the Alfred pilot could be excused for thinking he was in a triangular battle when the Hupmobile passed him and the Hornell representative was fast picking up on him. So shoving it to the floor he pushed her up to thirty-five miles. By this time the Hupmobile had easily outdistanced the field, so pulling up alongside, Hornell's pilot stopped Scott, as he thought to congratulate him on his stiff battle.

But instead, "Better drive with me to police station, buddy."

Director of Summer School, Alfred, N. Y.

A YEAR

Summer is over and the gentle chapel bell,
Sending a call to students far and wide,
Recalls us to our duties, and again we dwell
In Alfred in the mellow autumn-tide.
There is a sadness as we leave our happy homes;
But yet, the joy one feels in meeting friends
Atones for that, joy fills the student as he roams
About the campus, and his sorrow ends.

The glorious autumn with a glow of red and gold,
Enriches Alfred like a loving friend;
The world seems all alive with colors bright and bold,
As students to and from their classes wend.

Love, friendship, youth, fraternity and ruddy health,
Are everpresent as our hourly guides;
True sportsmanship we always value more than wealth;
True comradeship and friendliness abide.

The autumn passes with a wealth of lovely days;
And winter comes, with icy streams aglow,
With wintry winds now softly sighing on their way,
Now whistling, whining 'cross the trodden snow.

We love the winter, but it passes like a dream;
Our time is filled with sundry work and play;
When autumn's glory is but yesterday, 'twould seem
We greet our first bright balmy springtime day.

Yes, spring has come; the world is gay; how very soon
The days have passed; Commencement now is here;
'Tis o'er. The time from autumn mild to radiant June
Is just one short successful happy year.
