

Alfred University alumnus featured in FLOORR magazine

2/22/18

Alfred University alumnus SV Randall is featured in the latest issue of FLOORR magazine, a South London-based publication that showcases artists from around the globe.

Randall, who earned a BFA degree in art and design from AU in 2010, is an interdisciplinary artist living in Richmond, VA. In the magazine feature, he is interviewed extensively and images of several of his works, including Reverse Arrival (2015), are included.

Randall is the recent recipient of the Toby Devin Lewis Fellowship Award and a Sculpture Fellowship through the Virginia Commission for the Arts. Since graduating from Alfred University in 2010, he has worked as an art handler, screen printer, art educator, and research assistant at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. He recently received his MFA in sculpture and extended media from Virginia Commonwealth University.
