

$175,000 ADDITION PROPOSED TO SCHOOL OF CERAMICS

A new building to be added to the New Edition Hall of Alfred's School of Ceramic Designing and Ceramics, has been proposed in the budget recently submitted by the State Education Department. The building, which will cost $175,000, will be erected at the cost of $175,000.00.

Because of the need for room for the School of Ceramic Designing, there are plans at present on the buildings of the State Agriculture College, to construct a new building for this purpose.

The Department of Education is interested in the School of Ceramic Designing, particularly interested, to have in the state laboratory for the development of new and advanced industries. Such a laboratory should be established in connection with the State School of Ceramics.

The state architect has been making plans for this building which will accommodate special study in the field of glass making, as well as providing adequate laboratories for the other branches of the school.

President Booth C. Davis was in Albany last week confering with legislators and educational officials. He made known the necessity for providing for this proposed addition Monday morning.

Freshmen Team Defeats Westfield, Score 23-18

After journeying to Westfield, Friday, the Frosh cousins returned with the long end of a 2-13. The game was a tip-off affair of a sharp nature which resulted in the defeat of the Frosh, but a Westfield rally steadily increased itself, and the local boys, to their credit, showed a splendid spirit.

Frank Stocum opened the battle with a fumble, which he recovered for the Frosh, but a Westfield rally steadily increased itself, and the local boys, to their credit, showed a splendid spirit.

The next week end the team will meet Clarkson Tech of Pottsdam at Buffalo, where they will meet Buffalo University and the Buffalo Tech.

H. Isabelle Ellis

Whenever one lives so that his associates give him, not only the word, but the appreciation of his heart, not only the spirit, but the kindling of his inner light, the spirit which is like a river centering his possessions towards his spirit, and thus back to the spirit of their task; such a person has taken from life its infinite greatness, he has personified a part of life, and, as such, he will give as life to it. They have been freed from some of the shadows that fasten them to inequality and injustice, to the wrong path, to happenstance and thus also they cannot forget the greatness of their opportunity to give and so they are compose, and gracious in their attempt to pass it on.

We, in Alfred, know something of the beauty of such a life for we have been touched by her who lived it. Eventually, so do the students know for, in later years, it was for and with them that Isabelle Ellis worked. They know that she always planted a weed and planted a flower where she thought a flower would grow. “If you have knowledge let others light their candles at it.” She would wait until there were no more older people to go about and then to read a few to such a life for a requisite to such beauty is that one must be emulous of it. To see it, to ponder over it, to be like it and, I think, there are few of whom it cannot be truly said, “He cherished no malice, no bitterness toward man.

Alfred Shows Reverse in Form
To Take Niagara Into Camp
By 30-30 Score

Alfred decided later to build a gymnasium separately with a swimming pool and an additional basketball court. Here adequate provision will be made for the girls as well as the boys.

The decision left the track house in limbo, so the trustees voted to make a front portion to the original building which is 80 feet by 60 feet is two stories high, is made of brick and the cost is estimated over $15,000.

The basement is to contain 50 more feet of track. The basketball court has been moved to the south towards the new building 11 feet further. At the north end between the court and the track where the end of the old court was, has been made a jumping and putting vault. This was impossible to put at the other end because of the stairs. The basement contains store rooms and in addition to this boiler rooms and a good-sized end room.

The second floor has the main entrance and staircase to the first floor on the right aide is a reception room, assembly room and large trainers quarters which is a general executives room. On the left side are the locker, steam, instruction and trainers rooms. In the back of the locker rooms are showers, lavatories and dressing rooms. The lower area will probably be used for a football training room and other spare quarters during the football season. At other times it will be used for wrestling.

The floor is packed with hard work about, hoping to have it completed by the end of the second semester. It is planned to have a formal opening early in the term. If possible this it is to be held the first Friday of next semester with some games as well as an assembly in the dedication of the building. It is hoped to give the gym one evening and one afternoon of each week, Tuesday and Thursday of each week, the hours of which time there will be no interference by the men.

CALL FOR CANDIDATES FOR FIELD AND TRACK SQUAD

First call for candidates for the Varsity track and field team has been issued by Coach E. A. Heers for Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Davis Field House. All students who are going out for this team this year are sent for by this announcement.

Truck shoes will not be necessary.

The emotional spots, especially those of Hamlet and Bernardo, were wonderful, but being an amateur cast, little else could be expected. There was little voice control used and the scene seemed more like an old vaudeville show. Other than this, elements and effects were played to the fullest. However, the idea was the ideal mother and Bernardo the ideal father, both causes of loving and respecting. It was observed that both Enrico and Bernardo have qualities that would be good for our parents.

The attraction of Julia was not excessive enough to领导人。Julia we now Orecus, sincere and loving, rather than naught and disagreeable. She was perfectly dressed for the part and her bearing dignified and polite.

It is true that Dorothy Halsbeck locked the door of Demure Castil, but whether she acted it or not is another matter. The criticisms of the majority says she was cool. She did not give any evidence of the deep love that was supposed to have for Hugh. In many places she spoke her lines too fast and in a monotonous monotone. The correspondence on the part of the audience was in one instance the pauses and gestures of both Demure and Hugh were anything but pleasant. All of their other emotions and gestures were creditable.

A word must be said about William Murray as Hugh. His voice was clear and natural and carried the length of the auditorium with the utmost of the effort. His inflection was natural and all his emansements beautiful and graceful. He seemed to understand and enjoy his part thoroughly.

Frieda played as grandmother superbly. When the former critic said Frieda was too young, it is not a polish. It was a tribute. That was what grand mother was supposed to have for Hugh. In many places she spoke her lines too fast and in a monotonous monotone. The correspondence on the part of the audience was in one instance the pauses and gestures of both Demure and Hugh were anything but pleasant. All of their other emotions and gestures were creditable.

The stage arrangement was very simple and showed the effects of present financial embarrassment and former wealth. The furniture was simple and well arranged. The only difficulty lay in the fact that there was a wall of half-trees for the scene. The setting of each play did not essential for the arc. The main idea was to have the person who speaks must stand at the apex of the triangle and the passage of the revised Constitution shall be secured by a three-fourths vote of those present at a student body meeting shall be given at least one week previous to time of action, by its reading in the last issue of the Fiat Lux, — the first issue of the Honor System, — the first issue of the Honor System, — the first issue of
