To You, 1933

1933: Four years have passed while the untutored Freshman of 1929 has become the experienced College Senior of 1933. Font months will pass as this Senior begins his college career to become again the untutored Freshman, among the world.

1933: What have you to offer to the teacher who enters this unprepared and overworked field, the technician following the footsteps of his predecessors, who in spite of being forty years old are still fulfilling the ever-increasing tide of job seeker? What prospects have you for that Senior, drifting on a sea of uncertainty, who leaves the future to that fickle goddess, opportunity?

1933: The innocent baby that you are, may you give renewed courage and will to do to this fatherly Senior. Help him to instill ability and backbone of all business, where by individual and social life, to be dishonest in what the law demands, to lie is living below your standard. Do not spoil your future by the misuse of this greatest resource. Your ability may be a fresh start, a chance to rise. Do not waste the opportunity that others have not had.

1933: Men and women who belong to what is popularly considered our most privileged class—men and women who are in prison? Why should you want what is pretty nearly a one hundred percent insurance against his ever going to prison, let him earn at your college as he has a home that always faces life squarely and honestly, without foolish connect cause and effect. Do not spoil your future by the misuse of this greatest resource. Your ability may be a fresh start, a chance to rise. Do not waste the opportunity that others have not had.

— and I like CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes.
To me, they are mild—that is, they don't seem to be strong; and there is certainly no bite, so far as I can tell.
To me, they taste better and they have a pleasing aroma.

Every CHESTERFIELD that I get is well-filled, and I feel like I am getting my money's worth—that there is no short measure about it.
I like CHESTERFIELDS. They satisfy me.

THEM'RE Milder—
THEY TASTE BETTER.
