

Higby presenting lecture at George Washington University

5/14/15

Wayne Higby, AU professor of ceramic art and Robert C. Turner Chair of Ceramic Art, College of Ceramics, will give the fifth lecture in the “Voices of American Design” series at the George Washington (GW) University Museum and The Textile Museum, Thursday, May 28, at 6 p.m.

Higby’s lecture, “Light Falling on Grass,” will explore how his innovative vessels, sculptures, and architectural installations use landscape imagery as a focal point for mediation.

Tickets are free for museum members and current GW students, faculty, and staff, and $10 for the public. Advance registration is required. Register online at <http://www.museum.gwu.edu/wayne-higby> or by calling 202.994.7394.

The museum is at 701 21st Street, NW, Washington, D.C. (Foggy Bottom-GWU Metro-Orange, Blue, and Silver lines)

“Voices of American Design” is a series of lectures that explore contemporary design in a range of different media.
