Novel Publishing Idea
For St. Pat’s Festival

A new method of publishing the St. Patrick Festival and a whole apparatus upon the Advent season has been worked out by the publicity committee of the event, it was reported by Dr. Dewey. Invitations and letters have been printed. They are of more or less a personal nature and will be inserted in the local press. Colgate has been asked to forward these letters to students to these students who request them upon presentation of the favorite at the ball at the conclusion of assembly.

Students are asked to distribute them freely. It is thought that we would care to attend the event with every possible assistance to the occasion, such as the formal ball. In this man it is thought that a select crew will be achieved, thus maintaining the social taste of the festival, as one with the essence of general functions.

Each student may have as many invitations as his personal worth. It is suggested to invite the class of Colgate, more than any others, to attend the event, and it is hoped that by this purpose of explanation we are to meet what the festival includes and represents. This letter is written to the class of Colgate for the following reasons.

Situations lettered already have been distributed through the United States and to high school principals in surrounding schools, letting them know that student Volunteering to open the house.

W. S. G. PLANS NEW TRIAL SYSTEM

After many efforts and much planning the Student Women’s Reform society has worked out a new temporary procedure at trials. This experiment will be used for the remainder of the term, and if it proves successful, will take the place of the existing system permanently.

The procedure is as follows:

1. Immediately upon the opening of any trial the judge shall ask the accused if she has any excuse for her absence or if she will participate in the trial.

2. If she has any excuse she shall present her excuse to the w. s. g. representative at her house. This presentation of an excuse is the only opportunity an accused girl will have for self-delusion, with the exception of plea of innocence. If the names of the accused and their respective excues are given to the w. s. g. representative, she shall notify the w. s. g. that an excuse has been given for the accused.

At the regular weekly meetings the secretary shall rule the cases and excuse the accused, but not the exposing of the name of any girl.

If the cases shall be decided and have not been disposed of by any committee, the w. s. g. will either accept the excuse or present the cases to the committee. At this point, the accused shall individually be summoned to receive their sentences.

The entire council feels that this procedure shows fairness, whereas the former system showed partiality.

Foul shots: 13-10

Shinglehorne was one of the longest and hardest ever compiled for any Alfred year last fast.

In all of the 12 previous games with other opponents, Alfred was first to break the scoring in. In the Shinglehorne game, however, a personal foul called on an Alfred man gave the ball to the visitors before the whistle and draw, which resulted in a forcing the two more points on offense.

Alfred, however, except for the two times that Shinglehorne broke through offensively, manned up against any offensive efforts, while on the other hand the Alpine men went after their share of the points, to see darker any hopes that the Pennsylvania team might establish at the end of the third period the count stood.

In the last period, Coach James Mo- lass substituted at will. The freshmen were cutting off the scoring and entering the same course of action that their opponents had set during the first and second quarters. The counting ended on the 11th point for Alfred, the last score of the game.

Brother Tsi, Chairman of the Float Committee, was a very happy man. How far can one ride the Profs, in this Phebe?

Dramatic stories are those of the evening. Say—come back and listen.

Did you know that Athens is quite the thing among the fellows of the Banes? Of course she should be rated high. Do not see the fellows (all right, the fresher class) who called for her early to go despite their fatigue. Stephy was telling Cilla how he loved to throw snowballs. Within five minutes, the entire fourth floor was in shouting. Ten minutes later, when Cilla and Stephy were in Charlie how childish it was to throw snowballs. RED JAVA

Michael Joseph Java (Red in your family) was born in Mineville, New York, on August 10, 1910. Although he is one of Alfred’s foremost athletes, it is remarkable to note that he did not engage in any athletic activities while he was in high school, because of time advantage. He must have known some what during that time how he could become a basketball team, as the local school did. After leaving high school he went to work in the iron mines from which he was taken to be a basketball team in 1922. By 1923, he fell victim to the depression and lost the job. In the spring of 1924 it became apparent to the AFA that Mike would make a move to Europe. Mike traveled across Germany, Poland, Latvia, and Lithuania. They made a stop at his father’s place of birth in Lithuania. On the return trip they stopped in France, Norway, England, and the coast of Ireland. They returned home in August.

For the first time in 10 years, the invaders by a time advantage, had an opponent with plenty of advantages piled up against them. The preceding week, the visitors could not go on.
