

University activities abound for the week of Nov. 13-18

11/06/06

This week in November at Alfred University will feature a play, one movie, one musical performance, a dance performance, a barn dance, a comedian, a student-run fashion show, and a Leonid meteor shower presentation. Starting on Wednesday, Nov. 15-Saturday Nov. 18, William Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" will be performed in the CD Smith Theater, Miller Performing Arts Center. The story features different plots that all relate to the idea of mistaken identity and falling in love. For reservations call 607.871.2828, or visit the Box Office online at <http://las.alfred.edu/per...>. It is $5 for general admission, $3 for non-AU students and senior citizens, and $1 for AU students. Beginning on Friday, Nov. 17, there will be three showings of "Little Miss Sunshine," a comedy-drama rated R. The satire involves a dysfunctional family obsessed with winning and making the daughter, Olive, a beauty queen. The movie runs on Friday at 8 and 11 p.m., and on Sunday, Nov. 19, at 2 p.m. in Nevins Theater, Powell Campus Center. That same Friday, Nov. 17, Aafje van Summeren will be performing at the Terra Cotta Coffeehouse on Main Street. Fresh to the jazz scene, Aafje van Summeren has already begun to bring audiences a taste of her unique vocal style. Taking note of her upbringing in the Netherlands she has helped to bring an innovative and heartfelt sound to the musical masses. This musical performance will take place at 9 p.m. Also on Friday, Nov. 17, Alfred University's Middle Eastern Dance Organization will be performing at 8 p.m., in the Knight Club, Powell Campus Center. The dancers will unveil their newest dances featuring swords, sashes and lots of glittery costumes. Also in the Knight Club, Powell Campus Center, comedian Brad Lowery will be performing on Friday, Nov. 17, at 10 p.m. Lowry has been seen on A&E's "Caroline's Comedy Hour," "Star Search," and twice on NBC's "Showtime at the Apollo." He has also opened for such acts as Adam Sandler, Chris Rock, and Tommy Davidson. On Saturday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. the Caribbean Student Association and executive producer Chaz Bruce will be hosting their Fashion Show in Davis Gym. Also on Saturday, at 8 p.m., there will be a barn dance hosted by InterVarsity at Powell Campus Center. Join InterVarsity and community members as they boot-scoot to live music. Arrive an hour early for free lessons. Again, on Saturday, Nov. 18, at 11 p.m. at the John Stull Observatory, the last chance to see the Leonid Meteor Shower for the next 50 years will take place. Bring your beach chairs and enjoy the stars. To find the John Stull Observatory simply follow the neon balloons. There will also be a bake sale and a raffle.
