

TEAM SET FOR HARTWICK; PEP MEETING TONIGHT AT 8

Forum To Bring Noted Persons In Six Fields To Campus

With the sale of season tickets at registration time this week, the 1937-38 Forum committee launched its campaign for the coming Forum Series, which features six outstanding programs.

Science, literature, exploration, drama, statesmanship, and music, are represented in the program. Having learned many valuable lessons from the experience of past Forum committees, this year's committee is improving the entire organization and working of the Forum.

The series will open on October 11 by a leading British statesman, Lord Marley, who is Deputy Speaker of the House of Lords of Great Britain.

Marley to Discuss Far East

Lord Marley will discuss a timely and vital issue, with his topic built about the threatening war situation in Japan, and the prospects for peace in the Pacific area.

Second on the series will be an explorer who is well known by the books which he has written. He is William LaVarre, explorer of Central Africa, who wrote the books "Gold, Diamonds, and Orchids," and "White Man, Keep Out".

Explorer LaVarre will appear at the Alumni Hall lecture series on November 22. He will discuss his adventures in the jungle lands.

Drama will compose the third Forum series lecture. Miss Blanche Yurka, Broadway and Hollywood actress who was recently featured as Madame LaFarge in the movie of Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities," will appear here on December 8.

Miss Yurka will give character studies from modern drama, although the exact characterizations have not been selected yet.

Doctor-Writer Coming

Science and literature will be represented on the Forum by Dr. Victor Heiser, writer of the year's best-seller, "An American Doctor's Odyssey".

Dr. Heiser, who has been internationally employed by the Rockefeller Foundation on major problems concerning world health, is expected to tell more about his adventures, which were described in his "Odyssey".

Christopher Morley, whose name is familiar to students as one of the leading American essayists, novelists,

Fiat Lux Candidates Invited To Attend Meeting Tuesday

This and the Commencement issue to the contrary, The Fiat Lux has not gone tabloid. Neither has it gone communist, although someone playfully "planted" a "Daily Worker" on a Fiat editor who thought he was showing his own paper to the freshmen.

There will be a meeting of the business and editorial staff of Fiat Lux in the Publications Office, first floor of Burdick Hall, at 7 p. m., Tuesday. Candidates from all four classes are invited. Assignments will be given out for the first regular issue of the year, to be published the following Tuesday.

Blue Key Dance After Hartwick Football Game

The Blue Key, national collegiate service organization, will hold a dance in the gymnasium Saturday night, immediately after the football game between Alfred and Hartwick.

Funds from the dance will aid the Blue Key program of winter sports, including ice skating, skiing, and tobogganing.

Al Dorn's band will furnish the music for the dance. Dorn and Lennie Rubenstein have retained the band which represented the campus last year, and are expecting several promising freshmen to bolster the talent.

Applicants for positions in the Dorn-Rubenstein outfit are requested to see Dorn at Room 11, Burdick Hall. From last year's veterans and the new talent, the leaders expect to organize a seven or eight-piece band.

and editors, will speak here on the Forum program February 16.

The musical number on the program, it is expected, will be a violin-piano concert by Miss Rose Becker and Mrs. Ada Becker Seidlin, both outstanding musicians. Miss Becker is assistant director of a woman's symphony in New York, and Mrs. Seidlin is professor of pianoforte at Alfred.

Saxons Evenly Matched With Oneonta Gridders; Yunevich Shifts Bizet To Fullback

A giant pep rally tonight at 8 o'clock will sound the call to arms for a squad of 27 Alfred University football men, who will face the Indians of Hartwick College Saturday night on Merrill Field in the opening gridiron contest of the 1937 season. The pep rally will be held at Merrill Field, where Head Coach Alex Yunevich will send his Saxons through signal drills and passing and kicking exercises in the last night of practice before the Hartwick game.

Against Hartwick, the new Alfred coach will pit his first-string choices from one of the most promising squads to represent Alfred University in several years. Almost an all-sophomore eleven will meet Glenn A. Johnson's Indians.

Bizet Calling Signals

Most logical choices for backfield positions tomorrow night are Larry Bizet, signal-caller; Bob Glynn and Walter (Bo) Johnson, right and left halfbacks, and John Ryan, Walt Gardner or Marcello Rollery at the fourth backfield position. Bizet, quarterback of the 1936 freshman team which piled up a remarkable three-win and one-loss record, is playing the tailback or fullback position but is calling signals.

The spearheads of Yunevich's attack will be Johnson, sensational negro ball-carrier and passer, and Glynn, blond, 155-pound Irishman who is a shifty runner through the line and in open field. Bizet, too, will come in for several of the ball-carrying plays, and Ryan, Rollery or Gardner may be used on line bucks and runs.

Yunevich, a star of Purdue University six to eight years ago, is drilling the Saxons in the Notre Dame style of play which he learned under the incomparable Jimmy Phelan and Noble Kizer. Reverses, spinners, and a passing attack will comprise his offense.

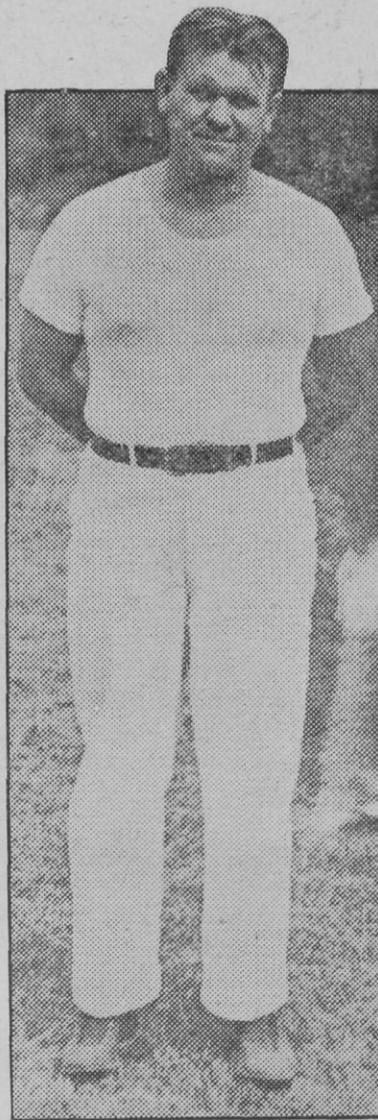

Yunevich is slightly pessimistic about the ability of the forward wall. "Sophomores," he says, "are not as experienced as the three and four year men we will meet on other teams."

Line of Sophomores

Dick Callista, 175-pound left guard and sophomore, is one of the most promising linemen. Bob (Butch) Eschbach, husky soph, has been playing right guard or right tackle. Harold Rouff is first-string center but may be placed at the right guard post, in which case Harold Edleson, a converted guard, will play center.

Bill Riley and Dick Thomas will fill the tackle berths while Eschbach is at guard. On the ends, Dick Brown

A College Opening Welcome

As Alfred University opens for its one hundred and second year of educational service, I wish through the columns of The Fiat Lux to extend greetings and a welcome to all who in any way are directly concerned with the University's day by day operation.

These greetings and this welcome go to the freshman classes, the Class of 1941, those young men and women who have finished their high school courses and now embark on a college career; to the old students returning from a summer of work or play or both to resume with us the courses previously begun; to the faculty members of all departments and divisions of the University who have spent the summer in study, teaching, or recreation at home or abroad, and especially to that unusually large number of faculty members who are joining us for the first time; to all administrative officers; to the men and women who begin again their labors, or who now as the University reopens merely change the nature of their work in the various offices, in the dormitories and other buildings, and on the campus.

Our various duties and responsibilities are all essential to the proper functioning of the school and the turning out of its finished product; namely, men and women educated in the best and fullest sense of the word. I trust that all come to their respective tasks with the firm determination to do their full part in making the year 1937-38 the best in the long history of the University.

J. NELSON NORWOOD, President

Need For Peace Action

The Sino-Japanese War and the so-called "Spanish" war, which seems to involve nearly all the rest of Europe in addition to Spain, are but two danger spots out of many that threaten the peace of the world. Clearly, there is more need for peace action today than at any other time since the World War.

The time is here to study intensively the problem of war and the broader subject of international relations. A practical philosophy of peace must be put forth soon or the catastrophe of 1914-18 will be repeated.

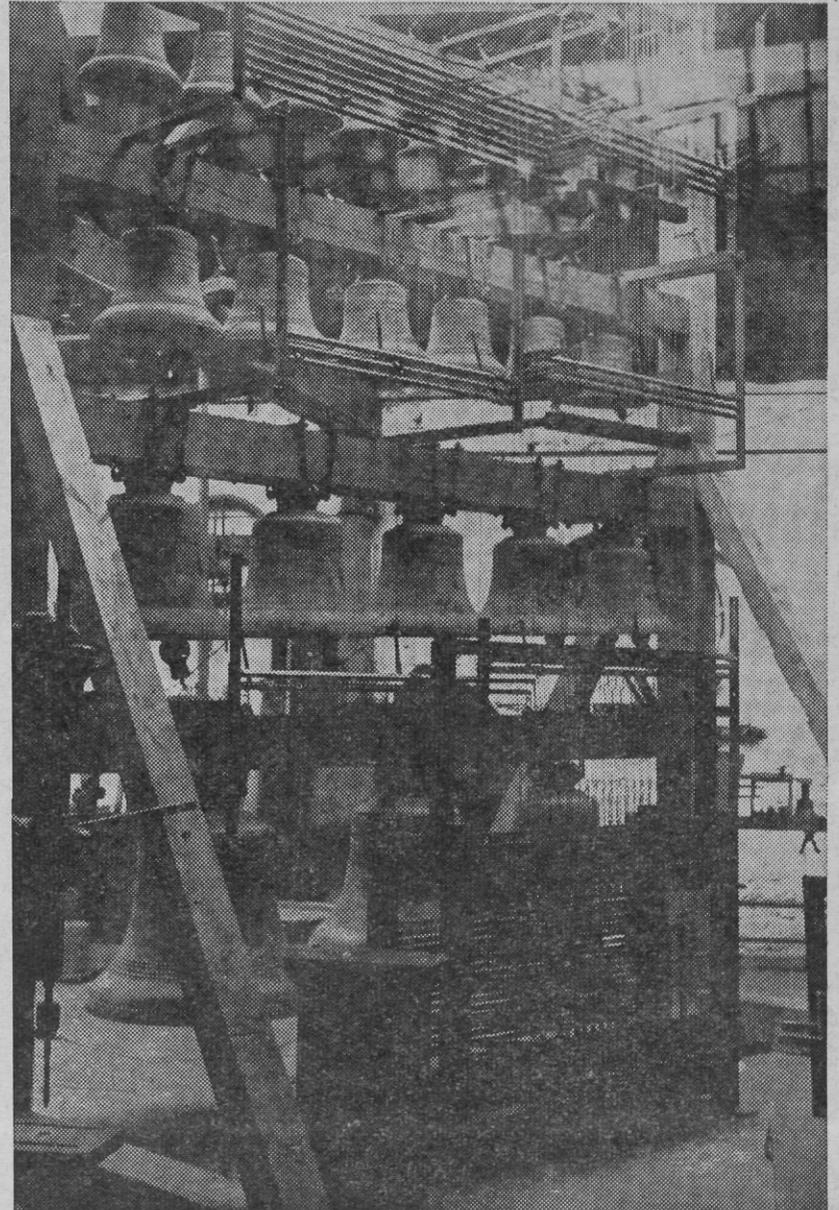

Alfred offers no course in Peace, but nearly all the political science and history courses throw light on the subject. Even more pertinent should be the International Relations Club, which is being revived after a season or so of inactivity.

If the resuscitated I.R.C. proves no more active than it has in past years, the fault is not with the organization but with the members. And if the students are indifferent now, they have no reason to be surprised when they find themselves on the draft list for the next war.

The season is opened by Prof. H. O. Burdick with the story about the absent-minded professor who dreamed he was talking to a class and woke up to find he was.

The new Almond-Alfred Station highway is a welcome change, but it may foster the disease which former Dean Conroe used to call "Hornellitis".

Ancient Carillon Honors Dr. and Mrs. Davis

'Oldest Bells In New World' Now Ring Out Over Alfred

The long-awaited carillon of ancient bells has arrived, has been played, and is attracting wide attention. The first public concert, played, two weeks ago, drew approximately 2,500 persons from all parts of western New York despite a heavy rainstorm. Part of the concert was broadcast on Station WHAM, Rochester.

Purchased by alumni and friends of the university in honor of President-emeritus and Mrs. Boothe C. Davis, to whom they will be dedicated next Commencement, the bells were cast between 1674 and 1786 by the three greatest bell-makers of all time.

They were collected from Belgium, Holland, Burgundy, and Northern France, coming principally from churches, municipal towers, and old castles.

One bell is reported to have been buried for years at the foot of a tower because its owners feared an invading army might melt it for ammunition. The heaviest bell of the carillon, weighing 950 pounds, is said to have escaped being melted only because of its great size.

The bells were matched and tuned by Jef Denyn, master carillonneur of Mechlin, Belg., and were installed in a temporary wooden campanile or tower here by a pupil of Denyn's, Dr. H. S. Wesson of Navasota, Tex., who played the first concert.

Wesson and other authorities are agreed that while there are 38 other carillons in the United States and Canada, there is no collection of ancient bells comparable to the one at Alfred, which will not be complete, however, until it contains 49 bells.

Ray W. Wingate, Alfred music professor, is to play the carillon in the future. Concerts are tentatively scheduled for sundown Friday and Sunday afternoon.

Alumnus Will Represent Alfred At Inauguration

Alfred University will be among the 150 educational institutions and learned societies that will be represented in Allentown, Pa., Oct. 1 and 2 for the academic program marking the inauguration of Dr. Levering Tyson as the fifth president of the college.

Dr. Isaac Miles Wright, head of the department of education at Muhlenberg and an alumnus of Alfred, has been named as the delegate.

SIDE LINES

By John
Dougherty

Faculty, administration and the young man's own intellectual incapacities conspired to rob the Fiat Lux of its budding Sports Editor in June. So here we are, back at the job of turning out a weekly sports page. May the gods descend on Alfred, and leave here a "white hope" newspaperman, ready, willing and able to take over the duties of the sports page. Meanwhile, we will be writing our own Side Lines column and doing the best we can with sports news.

Football, somebody tells us, is here again. We've heard that Alfred will open its season tomorrow night, and the opponent, according to informed sources, is Hartwick College, a team which we battled to a scoreless tie in 1936. The game will be played at 8 p. m. on Merrill Field, under the floodlights.

At the start of another season, Alfred is more hopeful of victory than in many years. Students who had become resigned to the prospect of losing football teams are looking upward—interest in the 1937 Saxon gridders is greater than ever. And the only thing that remains is the most important thing—to win games!

We must not be too optimistic. We have a good team, granted. But we have almost an all-sophomore team, where other schools have juniors and seniors, with more playing experience. Our team was highly successful in its freshman schedule last year, but Hartwick, Thiel, Kenyon, Ashland, Buffalo, Clarkson and R. P. I. are not freshman teams.

Let's have a reawakening of good old football spirit tomorrow night. A few cheerleaders, plenty of rousing yells, and a big crowd at the games will go a long way toward victory.

Down in the metropolitan area there's a college called Manhattan. This college has the second best crosscountry team in the nation—second only to Michigan State. And Manhattan is on Alfred's schedule this year.

Alfred vs. Manhattan will mean the toughest race the Saxons have had in years. The men who must carry the Purple and Gold to victory will be Captain Bob Hughes, for two years leader of the Saxon team; Lyle Perkins, sensational junior who was outstanding varsity man last year; and Lennie Dauenhauer, sophomore who was fifth in the I.C.A.A.A. last fall.

Behind these men are half a dozen veterans and sophomores, all of them good, strong men. They include: Russ Barreca, Walt Scott, Jake Dorn,

HARRIERS DRILLING

Frosh Harriers, Gridders Ready For Start Of Fall Drills

Coach Frank E. Lobaugh and Assistant Coach Daniel Minnick have issued a call for candidates for the freshmen football team. Practice is scheduled to begin Monday afternoon, October 27.

A large turnout is expected, since this year's class is one of the largest in Alfred's history.

The first game of the season is scheduled with the University of Buffalo Frosh at Alfred, October 16.

The schedule:

Oct. 16—Buffalo at Alfred

Oct. 22—Cook Academy at Alfred

Oct. 30—Scranton-Keystone Junior College at Alfred

Nov. 6—Dickenson Seminary at Williamsport (tentative)

Prospects are bright for a successful season in freshmen cross-country this year. Already four men are taking daily work-outs with the varsity and several more are expected to turn out with the opening of school.

The men already answering the call of Coach McLeod are Ed Lagassee, Francis Cronyn, Clifford Leahy and Carlos Morales.

Cornell and Syracuse are on this year's schedule while two dates remain vacant as yet.

The schedule:

Oct. 16—Cornell at Alfred

Oct. 23—Syracuse at Syracuse

Oct. 30—Open

Nov. 6—Open

Nov. 15—I. C. A. A. A. at N. Y. C.

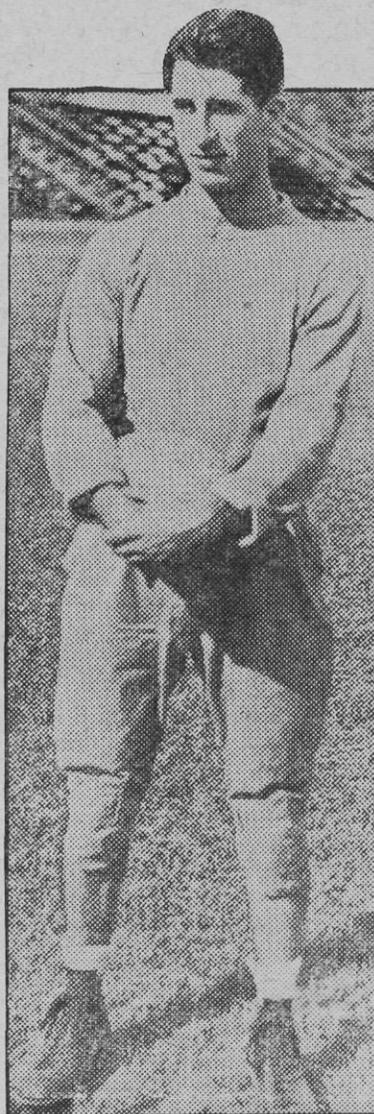

Eugene Keefe, Cliff Snow, Les Doy and Chris Pallotta. Any and all of these men must be up in the running if Alfred is to be successful against Manhattan.

But Manhattan is not the only team on Alfred's schedule this year. Cornell, Syracuse, and Army are not to be sneezed at, the I.C.4A is tough, and Colgate may spring a surprise.

This should make Alfred's harrier coach and fans happy—several promising high school runners are entering as freshmen. They include Ed Lagassee of Nott Terrace, Schenectady, Leahy of Syracuse.

And, surprise of surprises, we understand that Bradley Rendell, Falconer boy and national mile champion in high school a couple of years ago, is entering the agriculture school. Which brings to mind the days when Alfred had Ag men on football and basketball teams. Perhaps this can be done again. There certainly should be material in the school.

Assistant Coach

DAN MINNICK

Daniel Minnick, former Alfred University student and athlete, will be assistant coach of freshman and varsity football this fall. Minnick, co-captain of basketball and captain-elect of crosscountry while at Alfred, was coach of the Ag School basketball team last winter. This year he will be head coach of freshman basketball and assistant track coach.

McLeod Trains Strong Squad For Colgate Meet Oct. 9

By Goldie

Facing the most difficult schedule ever essayed by an Alfred cross-country team, 10 hill and dalers answered Coach James C. McLeod's call for pre-season training.

Returning for practice are six veteran lettermen of last year's highly successful team and also four promising sophomore runners from the freshman team of last year which placed third in the I.C.A.A.A. at New York City.

The veterans are Captain Robert Hughes, Lyle Perkins, Eugene Keefe, Walter Scott, Alvah Dorn and Russell Barreca. The newcomers include Lennie Dauenhauer, Clifford Snow, Leslie Doy and Christopher Pallota.

With two work-outs daily planned until the opening of school, the men are rounding into competitive shape rapidly in preparation for their first meet of the 1937 season with Colgate on October 9.

The schedule includes Colgate, Syracuse, Cornell, Army and Manhattan, with the I.C.A.A.A. winding up the season. The only dual meet new-comer is Manhattan, which replaces Toronto. Manhattan on its record of the last few years, appears as the most formidable opponent.

The schedule:

Oct. 9—Colgate at Alfred (Homecoming)

Oct. 16—Cornell at Alfred

Oct. 23—Syracuse at Syracuse

Oct. 30—Manhattan at Alfred

Nov. 3—Army at West Point

Nov. 15—I.C.A.A.A. at New York City

PIGSKIN POINTERS

By The Observer

When football fandom gets comfortably settled in the stand for that opening kickoff it should be aware of the first change in rules for the season of 1937, for the application of that rule may take place at the outset. Should the opening kickoff (or any subsequent kick-off) go out of bounds, the ball is immediately put in play at the point where the ball went beyond the sideline stripe or on the receiving team's thirty-five-yard line.

Pointers on Alfred's opponents: Hartwick, at Oneonta, N. Y., a United Lutheran college of about four hundred students, and coed. They play freshman on varsity teams.

Ashland: Small college of five hundred students, coed, at Ashland, Ohio. A new foe about which little is known.

Kenyon: A men's college at Gambier, Ohio. A well endowed college of high academic ranking, founded by the Episcopal church. With a student body of three hundred they have had some fine teams in the past, and should be a formidable opponent.

Thiel, a small (350) coed college at Greenville, Pa. A worthy opponent of Alfred in the days of Bob Campbell and Bob McMann. In the midst of staging a come back in the gridiron sport.

Our other opponents are well known to all at Alfred.

The most important pointer for all Alfred students is this: ATTEND THE GAME; SIT IN THE CHEERING SECTION; AND CHEER THAT TEAM EVERY MINUTE—Win, Lose or Draw.

In no sport does the element of chance play so large a part as in the great American game of football. Think back on last season and recall come of the upsets, before you join the experts who pick "winners".

Ag School Gets New Electrical Course

Enrollment To Be 225, Largest In 20 Years

A two-year course in technical electricity, designed to train students for work with electrical machinery manufacturers, public utilities and household appliance service, will begin November 1, at the New York State School of Agriculture.

The new course, bringing 60 additional students and three new instructors to the Ag School, was made possible by a state grant of $40,000 for salaries, equipment and repairs, Director Paul B. Orvis said today.

An additional course, which will attract another 40 students, will be announced in November and will begin Jan. 1.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture courses will open September 27, with an enrollment of 125 students. Two new courses, Farm Machinery Sales and Service and Floriculture and Greenhouse Management, will be added and the Agriculture business course will be expanded.

The total enrollment of 225 students will be the largest in 20 years, Mr. Orvis said.

The electrical course will include both theory and actual practice, with four hours daily in the laboratory and four hours in related technical work including pure and applied drafting, electrical science, physics, public speaking and business training.

The entire basement of the Ag School will be devoted to shops, and the third floor to laboratories and drafting rooms, for the new course.

New faculty members include Albert E. French, graduate of Rochester Mechanics Institute and Clarkson Tech, now Electrical Engineer with Eastman Kodak in Rochester, who will teach construction work and research. William Harrison, R. P. I. graduate, now with Course-Hines Electrical Company of Syracuse, will direct laboratory practice.

Herman Siker, Buffalo State Teachers College graduate, who has been working on air conditioning with Pullman, New York Central Railroad and New York Central Electric, will direct appliance work, heating and air conditioning study.

New teachers in the Agriculture department are Walter C. Hinkle, University of Kansas graduate in Agriculture Engineering, who will teach Farm Machinery; and Phillip Post, Syracuse University graduate in landscape gardening and Cornell graduate in Greenhouse management, who will teach floriculture and greenhouse management.

The faculty will include 15 members.

Alfred-Hartwick

nell and Phillips (Blip) Greenman will be placed.

Brownell, Thomas and Gardner are the only three lettermen likely to start for the Saxons. Jud Gustin and Phil Corbman, both seniors and lettermen, are fighting hard for starting positions.

Yunevich will have a few likely reserves. Besides his three fullback candidates, Winton Green, John Halpin and Sam Fossaceca are out for halfback berths, and Addison (Red) Scholes is playing reserve quarterback.

On the line, George Batley, Carl Jones, Dighton Polan and Ken Tracey are end reserves, with Halpin and Green always ready for end positions. At tackles, Corbman, Fred Schmidt are on deck. At center, Bert Lynn is understudying Edleson and Rouff. At guards are Angelo Bosco and Gustin.

Hartwick Uses Freshmen

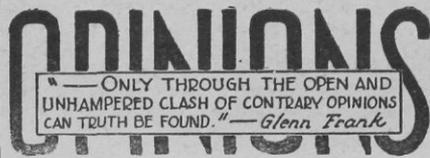

This, then, is the squad with which Alfred tomorrow will plunge into a seven-game schedule, including several tough nuts like Buffalo and Clarkson, and several teams which may pull surprises on the Saxons.

Hartwick College, still operating under the four-year ruling of intercollegiate competition, uses freshmen on its team, including about 20 newcomers who are reported to be top-notchers. Glenn Johnson, coach of the Indians, will be seeking the Saxon scalp because of the 0-0 tie which was the result of the 1936 Alfred-Hartwick contest.

The schedule of the 1937 season follows:

- Sept. 25—Hartwick at Alfred
- Oct. 2—Ashland at Alfred
- Oct. 9—Thiel at Alfred
- Oct. 16—Buffalo at Tonawanda
- Oct. 23—Kenyon at Alfred
- Oct. 30—R. P. I. at Troy
- Nov. 6—Clarkson at Potsdam

The pep rally tonight will be held under the auspices of the Blue Key and the Alfred University Christian Association.

To the editor:

Alfred has progressed greatly since the closing of school last spring. The sound of the bells of the recently installed carillon on Pine Hill, the multitude of new faces in the streets, more of them even than arrived last year, the gleam of new paint and furniture; all of these show that Alfred is expanding and making a bid for a more prominent place among the colleges and universities of the East. And this is only just, for we feel—all of us that return to Alfred this year—that Alfred deserves ranking with the best.

But there is one thing missing from the scene this year. The green caps and berets of "the frosh". This lack is regretted by almost everyone, even the incoming freshmen themselves. Last year Frosh-Soph fights were banned both classes abided by the ruling, but when Campus Court was dissolved the majority of the freshman men voluntarily continued to

Ten Faculty Members Added, Others Shifted

Seidlin In Education Department, Minnick Assistant Coach

Largest number of faculty changes in some years has been announced by President J. Nelson Norwood. Ten new names appear on the faculty directory and several changes have been made in the positions of professors here before.

The new names and principal changes:

Department of Biology: Everett E. Lund, assistant professor biology—replacing Austin D. Bond, Training: Iowa State College, B.S.; University California M.A., Ph.D.

Experience: 1932 adjunct professor of biology, American University of Beirut, Syria; 1935-37, Associate Professor of Biology, American University of Beirut, Syria, Chairman of department of biology.

Department of Economics: Raymond H. Lounsbury, professor of economics, head of department.

Training: Wesleyan University, A.B., M. A., Cornell Ph.D.

Experience: 1937-29, Cornell University, instructor in economics; 1928-30, Lawrence College; 1930-37, University of Illinois.

(Replacing Prof. B. B. Crandall, who has gone into the treasurer's office at Alfred)

Department of Education: Joseph Seidlin, professor of education, head of department. (Changing from department of mathematics).

Training: Columbia University, M.S., M. A., Ph.D.

Experience: 1915-18, Rhodes School, New York City, instructor in mathematics and science; 1919-20, Lincoln School and Clark School, N. Y. C., instructor; 1920-25, professor of physics, Alfred; 1925-37, professor of mathematics, Alfred; 1929, associate at Teachers College, Columbia (summer).

Department of Mathematics: Lloyd L. Lowenstein, assistant professor of mathematics.

Training: Cornell, A.B., candidate for Ph. D., Sept. 1937.

Experience: 1927-33, instructor in mathematics, Cornell; 1933-34, auditor milk control board, Albany; 1934-36, accountant, U. S. Dept. Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; 1936-37, instructor in mathematics, Cornell.

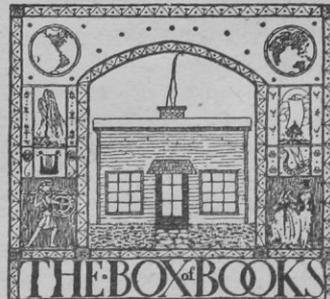

Department of Physics: Alfred T. Goble, assistant professor of physics.

Experience: 1929-33, assistant in physics, University Wisconsin; 1930 (summer) instructor in physics, Fall Rivers, T. C.; 1933-34, Post-doctorate research associate, wear the caps. This, I think, shows clearly the way freshmen regard this mild form of hazing.

There is also the fact to be considered that most well-established colleges have some tradition of this kind. They know that tradition is one of the best possible ways of building up school spirit. Therefore, why should we lose one of our stronger and more established traditions, especially in a year when we have a varsity football team that gives good promise of consistently "bringing home the bacon"?

A Junior

University Wisconsin; 1934-36, instructor in physics, University Tulsa, Okla.; 1936-37, assistant professor physics, University Tulsa.

Raymond T. Alty, graduate assistant in physics.
