

Senate Names Committee To Study Revision Of Constitution

First move toward revising the constitution of the Alfred University Student's Association, of which every Alfred student is a member, was taken by the Student Senate at its first meeting of the year. A committee was appointed by President Raymond Baschnagel to sound out campus sentiment and make an early report indicating which parts of the constitution the students want revised.

Members of the committee are Leonard Lernowitz, Roy Dunbar, Martha Kyle, and Marjorie MacIntosh. Baschnagel automatically is a member of all committees.

The revision question came up when, under the heading of old business, the Senate considered a petition submitted last May by residents of "The Brick" protesting the method of holding campus elections, on the ground that freshmen women in particular are not given sufficient opportunity to participate in nominating campus officers.

Meanwhile a volunteer committee of Fiat Lux reporters undertook an independent survey of election methods of other colleges. Adrienne Owe '40, acting as chairman of the committee, said a report would be ready within a few weeks.

The Student Senate at its meeting also elected Metro Mickritz, Kappa Psi Upsilon, vice-president to replace Robert Eiseline, same fraternity, who is no longer in school.

Leonard Lernowitz, treasurer, was appointed chairman of the finance committee, which has for its other members, Edward Creagh, Nelda Randall, and Alberta Heidel.

The Senate voted to lend $55 to the "Saxonian" to defray past printing and engraving bills, after receiving assurance that the magazine would have more than enough advertising to pay its own way during the current school year.

President Baschnagel reminded the group that the rule against students smoking on the campus was not repealed along with most freshman rules last year, and urged that freshmen be reminded to wear their identification buttons—and freshmen men their green caps—until Thanksgiving.

Hallenbeck New Mag Co-Editor

Leonard Lernowitz and Rosemary Hallenbeck will be co-editors of the Saxonian, storm child of Alfred's literary world, this year. Miss Hallenbeck succeeds Robert Bennett.

The first issue, devoted to freshmen, will leave the press October 29, Lernowitz said today.

At a meeting last Wednesday, the following staff members were named: Joseph Utter, business manager; William Maroney, art; Elizabeth Benz, makeup; Betty Whiting and Nellie Bond, proof and copyreaders; Awny Ohmitie, styles for men; Cecil Whitmore, drama and book reviews; Edward Creagh, poetry.

The Saxonian will be entering its third year with the appearance of the Freshman issue, the sixth since the quarterly magazine was born in May, 1936.

Dance Class Series Begins Wednesday

Dancing on the Alfred campus is going to receive an added impetus, aided by the advent of a weekly instruction period to be held in Social Hall every Wednesday evening.

Beginning tomorrow night the dancing class will be in progress from seven to nine o'clock. The whole series of lessons will last six weeks, one per week.

Men wishing to avail themselves of this course will be required to pay $1.50, one dollar of which will be returned to them at the end of the series, if they have attended all the sessions. Women may substitute the classes for regular gym work for the six weeks.

First Forum Lecturer

Lord Marley, deputy speaker of the British House of Lords and noted labor leader, will speak on the Far Eastern situation Monday, October 11, at Alumni Hall.

State Ceramists To Pick Research Problems At Meeting Friday

The New York State Ceramic Association will hold its meeting in Alfred on Friday, Oct. 8. Research reports by the staff of the new Ceramic Experiment Station and Ceramic College faculty, and a discussion led by the Board of Directors of the New York Ceramic Association to determine what research should be included in the coming year's program to be of most interest to the various branches of the ceramic industry, will make up the program.

A summary of the program is as follows:

- 9:30 A. M.—Greeting by Clarence Austin, President, Ceramic Association of New York
 - 9:45 A. M.—Technical reports by the Ceramic College staff:
 1. Some Drying Properties of Clays H. G. Schurecht
 2. The Ability of Some Underslips and Glazes to cover Surface Imperfections J. F. McMahon
 3. Influence of Compositions of Underslips, Glazes and Bodies on Blistering and Other Glaze Defects H. G. Schurecht
 4. Flow of Glazes on Flat and Inclined Surfaces C. M. Lampman
 5. The Effect of Different Bodies on Some Fluid and Wetting Characteristics of Glazes C. M. Lampman
 6. Some Salt Glazing Experiments with New York Clays J. E. McMahon
 7. Service Tests on Pottery Plasters J. F. McMahon
 8. Experiments in Zinc Flashing of Brick C. M. Lampman
 9. Metal Coatings Sprayed on Brick and Tile H. G. Schurecht
 10. Field Work of the Ceramic Experiment Station J. E. McMahon
 11. The Use of New York State Clays as Slip Clays C. M. Lampman
 12. Synthetic Resins as Glazes on Ceramic Wares H. G. Schurecht
 13. Colors for Soft Mud Brick F. E. Lobaugh
 14. The Use of New York State Clays as Tensile Court Surfacing Materials C. M. Lampman
 15. The Effect of Aluminum Coatings on the Resistance of Refractories to Glass and Cement Clinker Corrosion H. G. Schurecht
 - 12:30 P. M.—Complimentary Luncheon by the students of the New York State College of Ceramics
 - 1:30 P. M.—Continuation of the forenoon program:
 16. A Possible New Process for Making Light Weight Brick J. F. McMahon
 17. Engobes for Producing Colored Brick H. G. Schurecht
 18. Thermal Endurance of Glass S. R. Scholes
 19. The Electrical Caustic Soda Process for Cleaning Metals for Enameling C. R. Amberg
 20. The Use of New York Clays in Masonry Mortar H. G. Schurecht
 - 2:00 P. M.—Address—Research
 - 2:30 P. M.—Discussion of the Research Program for the coming year:
 1. Report of the Secretary-Treasurer
 2. Election of officers
 3. General Business
- Anyone interested, whether a member of the Association or not, is welcome to attend.

Frosh-Soph Play Tryouts This Week, Performance November 2

Tryouts for the four Frosh-Soph Plays to be presented Nov. 2, will be held on Thursday and Friday afternoons of this week from two-forty-five until six o'clock in Alumni Hall.

Students will be under the direction of C. Duryea Smith. Anyone unable to make connections with the play directors at the scheduled times may make arrangements with Barbara Corsaw, president of Footlight Club and Theta Alpha Phi.

Tryouts will be for the departments of design, costuming, staging, makeup, lighting, and properties as well as for acting.

Heads of departments already assigned are:
Makeup—Mary McCarthy
Lighting—John Norwood
Staging—Frank Park
Costumes—Josephine Sill
Properties—Aileen Davis
Design—David Veit and Rene Richtmeyer

Lord Marley Is First Lecturer On Forum Slate Monday Night

While the bloody ghost of war continues to haunt central Europe and the Far East, a noted authority on international affairs will speak in Alfred next week, touching upon the dynamite-loaded war situation.

No less of an authority than the Right Honorable Lord Marley, Deputy Speaker of the House of Lords, and a member of the British General Staff, will address the Forum audience at Alumni Hall next Monday night.

To open the 1937-38 Forum Series, the committee has selected this leading British statesman, who is visiting in the United States for a few weeks now.

It was Lord Marley, holder of a Distinguished Service Cross for front-line action under shell-fire, who was invited to cut short his recent visit in Japan because of his alleged pacifist leanings.

Last year, Lord Marley spent several months conferring with high officials of central Europe and Russia on the war situation.

Despite his official appointment in the British Labor Party, many American newspapers recently branded the prominent British statesman as a Communist.

Lord Marley, whose official title is First Baron of Marley, is leader of the opposition in the House of Lords. The career of the British statesman has been an active one since his graduation from Marlborough Royal Naval College in 1902.

After serving in both home and Mediterranean fleets of Great Britain, he was put in command of artillery in France during the war. It was in this capacity that he was wounded while in front-line action, and given the D.S.C.

Lord Marley has been a constant contender in British elections on the Labor Party platform since 1919. His most recent official capacity was that of Undersecretary of State for War in 1930-31.

In his authoritative position, Lord Marley has written many articles on Russia, the Far East, Fascism, and related subjects.

He has also served as chairman of the Rent Restriction Committee, chairman of the Parliamentary Advisory Committee of the O.R.T., and J.P. from Hampshire and Sussex, and D.L. from Hampshire.

In a notification from representatives of the visiting British statesman, Forum committee members have received reaffirmation of the date and schedule for Lord Marley's appearance here.

Following through the Fall and Winter season, the Forum committee is bringing here a series of five other noted persons in many fields.

Committee members are this year conducting an active campaign to bring in an audience from surrounding towns and cities. Plans for 200 outside visitors at the Forum Series are being made.

VEIT NEW KAPPA NU HEAD

David Veit was elected president of Kappa Nu fraternity last week, succeeding Robert Sloane, who failed to return this year. Other officers elected were Barnett Friedman, vice-president; Irving Hirschfeld, secretary; George Kaplan, treasurer; Lennie Rubenstein, interfraternity council representative.

Blue Key Plans Extensive Program For Homecoming

The welcome sign will be hung out Saturday for an expected influx of alumni attracted to the annual Homecoming Day by the hope of seeing new victories in football and cross country added to Alfred's recent list of athletic triumphs.

Final plans for entertainment of several hundred former students were made Sunday night by the Blue Key, Alfred service fraternity. Bert Lynn was appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Highlights of Homecoming will be a dance following the Thiel game. The gym will be decorated in purple and gold, with the numerals of past classes strongly in evidence.

An out-of-town orchestra will play but owing to the unusually large crowd of dancers expected, the admission price will be the same as at other Blue Key dances, fifty cents.

Late permission has been granted to all college women attending the dance.

Homecoming activities begin at 1:30 p. m. Saturday with open house at all fraternities and sororities. Every house on the campus expects to entertain former members.

The Alfred-Colgate cross country meet takes place at 3 p. m., followed by an informal alumni dinner in the Alfred Coffee Shop.

Saturday night the currently victorious football team is expected to attract the largest crowd of the season to Merrill Field, and the Blue Key estimates that several hundred couples will attend the dance afterward.

Plans for registering alumni, for decorating the town, and for providing guides and signs for any visitors who may require them, were being perfected today.

Kanakadea Staff Selected Tonight

According to a recent announcement by Helen Ehrhrent and Marion Bemis, co-editors of the 1938 Kanakadea, junior pictures will be taken in the near future, and production will begin immediately.

A meeting to select the staff of the Kanakadea will be held in the Publications Office, first floor of Burdick Hall Tuesday, at 8 p. m. Candidates from all four classes are invited, especially those interested in photography.

Main positions will be given to juniors and seniors only. Freshmen and sophomores will have the opportunity to work up into higher divisions.

Juniors must pay $1.50 for class pictures for the yearbook this year. This amount will be deducted from the bills for any individual photographs which are ordered.

No Chapel Thursdays, Assembly At 11 A. M.

Assembly will be held at 11 a. m. Thursday, with chapel eliminated on that day, until further notice, Dean M. Ellis Drake said today.

The dean urged that students be more careful of decorum during assemblies than they have been on certain occasions in the past.

He said the assembly committee is doing its best to provide programs of sufficient variety to please a majority of students.

THETA NU ELECTS JEWETT

At a special meeting on September 23, Roger Jewett, a senior, was elected president of Theta Kappa Nu fraternity in place of Charles Mourhess, who will not return this year. Other officers are vice-president, Robert Molyneux; secretary, Robert Woodruff; treasurer, Marion Straeter; and rushing chairman, James Morse.

Johnson Stars As Saxons Bury Eagles 38-0; Thiel Tomcats Loom In Homecoming Day Tilt

Riding the wings of victory, Alfred University's conquering sophomores who smothered Ashland College under a 38-0 avalanche last Saturday night, will tackle the Lutherans of Thiel College here Saturday evening before an expected Homecoming Day crowd of 3,000. The Saxons will seek their third consecutive victory and will be out to maintain a 1937 record of not being scored upon.

729 Students Here, 310 New Ones, Registrar Says

There are now 310 new faces on the campus of Alfred University, Registrar Waldo A. Titsworth said today. Eighty-seven of these belong to freshmen in the State School of Agriculture, 30 are transfers and the other 193 are freshmen in the Ceramics and Liberal Arts colleges. In the two colleges there are 155 sophomores, 140 juniors, and 55 seniors. In all, Alfred has 127 students of agriculture, 329 students in ceramics, and 273 in liberal arts, 23 special students and four unclassified students bringing the total enrollment to 729 students.

White List Exempts High-Index Students

Dr. M. Ellis Drake, dean of men, called attention today to a change in regulations for the "White List," and recommended that freshmen and sophomores study the new rule so as to be able to benefit by it when they become upperclassmen.

The rule reads as follows: "Seniors and Juniors who have a cumulative index of 1.25 or better and have not been previously disciplined for violation of rules limiting absences shall have the privilege of voluntary attendance at classes on days other than those which immediately precede or follow any college recess. Seniors or Juniors with a cumulative index above 2.00 shall have the privilege of voluntary attendance regardless of previous disciplinary action. If in the opinion of the Dean this privilege is detrimental to the welfare of any student, that student shall forfeit this privilege."

Faculty Studies Business Courses

A faculty committee is working on further curricular changes designed to prepare students for business careers, Dean A. E. Whitford of the College of Liberal Arts said today, as well as for teaching and other professions as at present.

Dean Whitford said the survey would take two or three years to complete.

Hodnett Greek Council President, Rushing Begins In Four Weeks

Election of officers and plans for the Interfraternity Ball have been the chief accomplishments of the Interfraternity Council in two recent meetings.

At the first meeting of the council on September 24, James Hodnett of Delta Sig was elected president, Roger Jewett of Theta Nu, vice-president; and John Albright of Kappa Psi, secretary. Plans were discussed for the Interfraternity Ball. It is the council's intention this year to spend most of the allotted money for a "name" band. It was also decided that senior members of the council should receive their council key at the beginning of this year. At the second meeting on September 27, the members inspected sample programs for the ball, but none was decided on.

The men's rushing rules, instituted last year, were again appraised by the Council. According to these new rules, rushing does not start until Ashland College Eagles, strong in offensive power but unable to halt the passing and running attack of the Saxons, fell under the spell of Alfred strategy which got under way with a surprise 45-yard pass from Walter (Bo) Johnson to Dick Brownell on the first play of the game.

Johnson Scores Thrice
The powerful negro halfback was the offensive star of the game, scoring three times, intercepting two passes, and passing seven completed forwards out of eight attempts. Bob Glynn, speedy right half, came in for a share of the honors on several pass receptions and long runs, and Larry Bizet at safety position and Walt Gardner at blocking back were strong on the offense.

The Saxon line showed much improvement in blocking, and held Ashland to 69 yards gain by rushing.

Before the crowd had settled in the stands, Johnson heaved the long pass to Brownell which carried the Saxons to the 10-yard line. Glynn sprinted around left end to the three-yard line, and Johnson went inside end for a yard and the touchdown three plays later. Glynn kicked the conversion, for a score of Alfred 7, Ashland 0, in the first two minutes of play.

After the Eagles scored two first downs on reverses and passes, Bizet took an Ashland punt on his own 32 and the second Saxon march began. Johnson went 17 yards inside end, Johnson passed to Glynn for a 23-yard gain, Glynn picked up 16 yards, and Gardner plowed through center to the five-yard line. Johnson went around right end for the second touchdown. Score Alfred 13, Ashland 0.

Score Twice in Third Stanza
The Saxons made several long gains on passes from Johnson to Glynn and runs by Glynn in the second period, but the half ended as Alfred lost 48 yards on three successive plays—a smeared run, an attempted pass, and a bad pass from center. Johnson cut the Ashland rally short as he intercepted an Ashland pass just before the whistle blew.

The husky Johnson snagged an Ashland pass early in the second half and dashed 43 yards down the sidelines for another touchdown. A few minutes later, Glynn sprinted 39 yards around left end to the two-yard stripe. He carried the ball over on the third play. Score Alfred 25, Ashland 0.

four weeks of school have elapsed. During this time no freshmen are allowed in any of the houses. Each house is limited to 17 frosh preferentials, and no more than 17 members from each class. Silent period will be from 12 a. m. Friday Nov. 19, to 6 p. m., Saturday, Nov. 20. A man eligible for pledging is one who has never been connected with a fraternity and has been through one closed period, or one previously connected with a fraternity who has been through one closed period since depledging. Each fraternity must charge at least nine dollars pledge fee and as much more as deemed necessary. Members of the Interfraternity Council are Roger Jewett and Donald Bissell of Theta Nu; James Hodnett and Henry Bangert of Delta Sig; John Albright and Martin Dykeman of Kappa Psi; Alfred Cohen and Leonard Rubenstein of Kappa Nu; and George Batley and Philo Dudley of Kappa Alpha.

Why Not A Whispering Section ?

All credit to the staff of the university library for its zeal in enforcing the rigid QUIET! rule; rules are valuable only when enforced, and no one can complain that there is any laxity in the enforcement of this rule, since the slightest murmur in any corner of the reading room elicits an admonitory shush from the desk.

But is the rule a good one? Or rather, couldn't the rule be improved? Granted, many students come to the library to study without interruption. But at least as many want to confer with their neighbors about one thing and another. Isn't there a way to accommodate both groups?

We think there is. Why couldn't one side of the reading room—say the north wing, which contains most of the reference books—be kept in the grave-like silence which is now supposed to prevail throughout the reading room, with conversation in low tones permitted in the other wing?

Then the police duties of the librarians would be confined to re-directing students who might get their wings mixed. The saving of nervous energy on the part of librarians and of inhibitions on the part of students would be, no doubt, enormous.

Outside The Classroom

The "frosch bible" urges all students to take part in some extra-curricular activity, a practice that has been followed by some, abused by others, and disregarded by many.

It appears that a comparatively small group of students takes part in most of the campus activity. We find the same names popping up in dramatics, debate, newspaper, astronomy, and the like. Obviously these students can taste only a bit of each activity, without concentrating on one. Both organization and student suffer.

On the other extreme we have many students who avoid extra-curricular activities altogether. To these we point out that half of the college life is being missed. The rich socializing value and the great personal satisfaction which such activities give make them a vital part of college life.

We urge all organizations to plan a really active program this year, providing ample publicity so that the whole campus can benefit. We suggest that students take part in at least one activity, but not too many activities, in order that they may derive full benefits.

Better Conduct, Better Assemblies

The "art of being bored" has been brought before us as one of the marks of an educated person, with particular reference to the attitude shown by some students toward assembly speakers in the past. Assembly speakers should of course be shown every courtesy. No intelligent person approves of heckling.

However we also believe that in arranging the assembly schedule for the year, much attention should be given to seeing that the speakers represent varied political, religious, and economic views. Otherwise the assembly will not attract many of the students who do not need credit for attending, and the temptation to express boredom will be unmitigated.

We feel that the Student Senate's resolution last spring expressing dissatisfaction with certain past assembly programs is justified. We hope the assembly committee will act on its recommendations.

Write Your Own Ticket

When Doctor Seidlin was a mathematician he used to say that one of the nice things about mathematics was the absence of "authorities"; two and two are four no matter what some Ph.D. may allege to the contrary. In the field of social science, however, there is no such direct test of a theory; those of us who are not experts must rely to a considerable extent on the opinions of those who are.

So in reading the day's news we note comments on a certain problem by two college administrators. We quote:

"Through proper education of American youth, and only through such means, will this country be able to ward off the menace of Fascism and Communism."—Dr. Allan Wilson Hobbs, dean of the college of arts and sciences of the University of North Carolina.

"Democracy would be wise if it would curb the education of thousands of our present school population."—Pres. James L. McConaughy of Wesleyan University.

We are still in the dark. We wonder what that word "curb" means in Dean Hobbs' statement, and we bridle at that word "curb" in President McConaughy's. What we would like to know is what kind of education is proper to save democracy, and whether "guide" is not a better word than "curb".... "Curb" sounds a little too much like the language of present-day Italy, Germany, and Russia.

Social Notes

Containing News and Comments on Dances, Parties and Such. By Kathryn Borman

Welcoming the campus to the second of its fall dances, the Blue Key again offered an hour and a half of music by the Palmer Sound System, Saturday evening after the game.

Homecoming, October 9, will bring the largest crowd in recent years said Bert Lynn, football man and chairman of the affair. Another Blue Key dance with an imported orchestra—we hear it's from Olean or Corning—will finish the evening. And we understand proceeds are for the winter sports program.

Did we hear someone say ice skating? Well, a man has already been hired to flood the rink, weather permitting.

Klan Alpine fraternity had the honor of entertaining at the first open house of Alfred's social season last Friday. Faculty guests were Prof. and Mrs. Charles Harder and Mr. and Mrs. Major Lampman.

The seniors of Sigma Chi Nu gave a tea, Sunday afternoon, in honor of Miss Ruth Stanton of Bath, their new house hostess. All honorary and active members and pledges attended.

An Outing Club supper and hike on Pine Hill, Sunday afternoon, was included in the day's activities of most of the women on the campus.

Introductions were in order last Tuesday evening at the annual faculty reception in Social Hall.

President J. Nelson Norwood, President-emeritus and Mrs. Boothe C. Davis, Dr. M. Ellis Drake, dean of men, Mrs. Dora K. Degen, dean of women, Dr. A. E. Whitford, dean of Liberal Arts College, and Dr. M. E. Holmes, dean of College of Ceramic Arts, headed the receiving line, with the following honor guests:

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Lounsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Lowenstein, Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Lund, Alfred T. Goble, W. Varick Nevins, C. Durvea Smith, Raymond L. Alty, Daniel Minnick, and Coach and Mrs. Alex Yunevich of the College of Liberal Arts; The Rev. Sylvester S. Powell of the School of Theology; Richard Cragg of the College of Ceramic Arts; Albert E. French, William Harrison, Walter Hinkle and Philip Post of the School of Agriculture; and Miss Ruth Stanton, hostess of Sigma Chi Nu sorority.

Clubs slowly come to order, but have little to say of their plans.

The Newman Club president, Robert Hughes, told the freshmen that this year's program would include speakers from St. Bonaventure College, a journalist from the Catholic Worker in New York, and the return engagement, after three years, of the Glee Club of St. Bonaventure.

Spring and fall dances are also included in the club's activities. Eugene Keefe, vice-president; Ray Buckley, second vice-president; Sam Repsher, treasurer; Barbara Suter, secretary; and Herbert Mossein, historian; are the officers for the coming year.

"The German Club invites all German students to attend its monthly meetings," announced Marie Zubiller, president. There will be slides, lectures, new German songs, and nature walks.

The dates of the meetings will be announced. Ira Stark is vice-president and Alberta Heidel, secretary-treasurer.

For the third successive year, the editors of Vogue are announcing a career competition open to members of the senior classes of accredited colleges and universities throughout the country.

As in the past two years, there will be two major prizes, each offering a position, with salary, on the staff of Vogue magazine. The winner of the first prize will be awarded one full year's employment with Vogue, six months of which will be spent in the New York office, the remaining six months in Vogue's Paris office.

A second prize of six months on Vogue's New York editorial staff will be awarded the runner-up. Both the first prize winner and runner-up will be eligible for permanent positions on Vogue's staff after completion of their trial periods.

The average Southern college girl spends $579 a year exclusive of college charges, the largest item of which ($270) is for clothes, a study at Hollins College, Virginia, reveals.

Greek Not 'Dead' Says Theologian, Former Editor

Greek is far from a "dead" language in the opinion of the Rev. Sylvester S. Powell, who is to teach Greek New Testament and Hebrew Old Testament in the School of Theology.

And the Rev. Mr. Powell should know, because he has edited a magazine in the Greek language and several times has addressed groups of Greeks in their own tongue.

The magazine he edited was called "Pharos" (The Light-house). It had a wide circulation among Greeks in this country. Much of the material in it was written by the editor.

"It is easier," says the Rev. Mr. Powell, "for a modern Greek to read Homer than for a modern American to read Chaucer."

OPINIONS

To the Editor:

This year, freshman hats are conspicuous by their absence. That they are no longer forced upon the freshman is due to the rebellion of the class of forty. That they are not willingly worn is a matter of 75 cents.

Seventy-five cents is important to most freshmen, but just as important is the novelty of being a frosh. Is their freshman year to be no different than their sophomore, junior, and senior years?

The freshmen girls have offered a solution to their own problems. Why not wear green calats (feminine of skull-caps) which sell for 10c in most five and dime stores?

The freshman class has nothing to bone about. They have no "frosch" restrictions that are theirs alone. They feel the lack of this tradition which sets them apart from the other classes. Wouldn't they really prefer the "indignity" of being a frosh?

The 1937 college graduate's life ambitions are: (a) world travel, (b) listening to swing band, according to a survey made by Bruce Bliven, Jr., of Harvard.

From interviewing fellow graduates from coast to coast he gathered the impression that they believe in working as little as possible, getting paid as much as possible, retiring as early as possible, and spending the rest of their lives listening to Benny Goodman's records and traveling around the world.

Bliven also found his interviewees were (1) not radicals, liberals or progressives, (2) not Communists or Fascists, (3) were instead, conservative, critical and hardheaded.

Book of the Week

Of all the dark horses and the old old faithfuls that we have read, the most readable book of the month which we recommend for your particular attention is "The Citadel" by A. J. Cronin, the story of Andrew Manson from the time he gets his first job, as assistant to Dr. Page in a little Welsh mining town, to the day he faces trial for unethical practices.

The plot, if there is one, is Andrew's temptation and eventual triumph—but this book doesn't need a plot! Books about doctors are always fascinating when they are well done, and this is very well done. From the time we began reading about Andrew till the time we finished the book, he was a living, breathing, utterly absorbing man.

He gets grouches, he acts like a spoiled child, he performs acts of quiet nobility without realizing it, he slips and stumbles and almost falls. He is the most real doctor we remember—even more real than Martin Arrowsmith—and for that reason one of the most interesting characters in current fiction.

But don't think the book is just Andrew; it has plenty of other people, just as real; it has scenes of terrific dramatic intensity as well as scenes of homely charm. It is straight-forward, cheerful—never gruesome or morbid in spite of one scene in the operating room that is almost without parallel for sheer horror.

This is that rare combination—a book that deserves to be a best seller and will be. It's the "tops".—Ruth Greene, Librarian.

It is against our policy to record the bright sayings of associate editors, but—

Doctor Russell was lecturing about the incredibly low wages and prices in England during the early Tudor period—beer a cent a gallon, chickens a few cents apiece, and the like.

Voice from the third row: "Wonder how much history books cost then?"

The text in English History costs $4.60.

Best definition we know: "Love is a season pass on the shuttle between heaven and hell."

A shortage of football shoes will apparently force a large portion of the Gooding College football team to play barefooted. The "large portion" being George Blankley, who stands 6 feet 3 inches barefooted—barefooted because he needs a size 14 football shoe.

Dr. Robert H. Goddard, Clark University physics professor seeking to develop a rocket plane which can be sent up 100 miles or more, has succeeded in driving his test rocket to a height of 7,500 feet at a speed of 700 miles an hour.

College Town

In Which the Staff Of The Fiat Lux Speaks Off the Record. By the Editors

Suggestion has been made that, in the absence of freshman rules for men, the O.M.A. be revived. The O.M.A., be it known, was a wholly unofficial organization which with paddles and straps used to enforce its own freshman regulations back in the days when it was a wise co-ed who knew her own boy-friend—when the O.M.A. got through with him.

Of course the O. M. A. was not thorough enough. It broke freshmen's bones from time to time and left scars, but we can not recall a single death resulting from an O.M.A. manhandling; there were not even lynchings, and so far as we know not even a few whippings at a post.

Now who would expect such an emasculated process to bring lasting results? If the O.M.A. is revived, surely it must be run along the lines of those two brother organizations which have the same philosophy—the Black Legion and the K.K.K. The Student Senate no doubt would be glad to appropriate funds for hoods, whips, and ammunition. Perhaps Mr. Justice Black would consent to become an honorary member.

The Poet

He tears apart his aching heart And shows his soul to view. Of tragic years, in blood and tears He writes, as he must do. He tells of hope unrealized, Of sorrow hard to bear, And sells it to a magazine To buy some underwear.—C. A.

"What we need," said the Eldest Senior, peeling another grape, "is more rules and less freshmen. When I think of how I slunk around my first year—"

"Slunk!" exclaimed the second Eldest. "I'll never forget the time I was caught on the street with no frosh cap, by a W. S. G. member, and tried to disguise myself as a leaky radiator."

"What happened?" asked a flowered house coat, putting on ten more curlers.

"It turned out to be her car." Oh!

"Grass!" exclaimed the disillusioned blond.

"Grass!" echoed the still hopeful brunette. "I used to dream about it. I even envied the cows. I still think I ought to roll it up and take it home for a souvenir."

"We might just as well be freshmen," said the grape-peeler, starting in on a can of pea soup. "Did we have a smoking room? By the way, is the rug still over that crack under the floor?"

"What we need is more respect! Down with insubordination! When I go out of a room full of frosh do you suppose they open the door for me?"

"They use it for a stretcher to carry you out on," said the curler-putter-ener.

"Sh'no use" said someone into a bottle of ginger ale, "Girlish is girlish and rulsh are rulsh only when they aren't and never the twain shall go on a blind date."

"To the frosh!" said the Eldest Senior, raising the empty soup can.

"To the frosh!" echoed all the others except the burnette who was telephoning fraternity houses.

"May the cigarette smoke choke 'em, the grass trip 'em, and all of them catch colds from going hatless."

Up on the second floor of Burdick Hall, where scholarly discussions of the relative merits of democracy and other forms of government are the rule, there is a unique pool in operation.

To heckle a resident whose sympathies are reported to be pro-Stalin, the boys place bets on whether an even or an odd number of Russians will be executed for "counter-revolutionary agitation" on a given day.

"Nothing much doing today in the U.S.S.R.," someone announced when we went in to find out about the pool. "Only 31 faced firing squads."

We asked what became of the pool on days when no Russians bit the dust.

"Oh, then we divide the number of Spaniards killed by the number of Chinese killed," was the ready explanation.

From the Cozy Kitchen, which surprised everyone with spaghetti and meatballs the other day, comes the suggestion that somebody can make a young fortune by sticking forks in the ground and growing spaghetti around them.

SIDE LINES

By John Dougherty

Alfred fans saw a more experienced football team on the field in the game with Ashland College Saturday night. The Hartwick game gave the Saxon sophomores the test of varsity fire which they needed, for Ashland appeared much stronger on offense and defense than the Indians. The biggest feature of the game from our viewpoint was the innovation of a powerful Saxon passing attack—from Johnson to Brownell and Johnson to Glynn.

And also, ladies and gentlemen, count the points that Alfred has scored this season. Sixty-five in two games, while their opponents have never come closer to a score than the 10-yard line.

Alfred has one of the greatest backfields this year that we have ever seen in Saxon uniform. We rate Glynn, Johnson and Bizet with any trio of backs in this section of the state—east of the surprising Cornellians, of course, and those bulls of the woods from Canisius.

Homecoming Day should bring one of the biggest crowds in years to Alfred. The Saxons have won two straight, will meet a well-balanced opponent in Thiel. Alumni who helped to make this team possible will be anxious to see their proteges in action; and may these friends of Alfred football help us to greater football teams in the future.

Surprising and interesting things about the football season this year: Coach Alex Yunevich sending an entire second eleven in against Hartwick, and again in the Ashland game—the first time we recall such an occurrence in recent football seasons... Smiling Sam Fossececa going off tackle in the Hartwick game and finding such a large hole he almost lost his footing... Bert Lynn, pseudo-counselor of the rough and toughers in Burdick Hall, intercepting four passes against Ashland... Harold ((Stufflebaum) Edleson getting blamed by the fans for some bad center passes he didn't pass... Alfred's cheering section actually cheering... The Hartwick defense playing so far out of position that Alfred's interference couldn't find the men to block... A humorous sign, "The End of Ashland," blossoming from one of our fraternity houses Saturday night... Alfred scoring 17 first downs to Hartwick's none in the first game of the season, and Alfred gaining 312 yards by rushes against Ashland... The football players eating cold spaghetti in Burdick after the Hartwick contest... One of the Endicott boys' guests at the Hartwick game getting slugged on the chin while sound asleep in somebody else's fraternity house bed—a case of mistaken identity and a practical joke.

The harriers open against the Red Raiders of the Chenango Valley Saturday afternoon, in the start of Homecoming Day's athletic activity. Lyle Perkins, Lennie Dauenhauer—now suffering from a carbuncle, Bob Hughes, are looked upon as Alfred's big hopes for victory. They will be supported by veterans Russ Barreca, Buzz Keefe, Walt Scott, Jake Dorn, Metro Mickritz, and sophomores Chris Palotta, Cliff Snow and Les Doy.

The rumblings from Manhattan have yet to be heard—but Manhattan is always good on the hill and dale. Manhattan comes here the 30th of October, and the eyes of Alfred and the East will be on that meet. Can a good Alfred team whip a great Manhattan team on the Alfred course?

Nick lost a bet, but he's happy. The genial proprietor of the Collegiate Restaurant fed the football team before the Hartwick game and didn't charge the boys—saying the meal was free if Alfred won, but the men would

The name, ladies and gentlemen, is Thiel, pronounced "Teel". The college is in Greenville, Pa., 40 miles west of Meadville, where Allegheny College hails from. Incidentally, Buffalo beat Allegheny 13-0 last Saturday. Buffalo will be one of Alfred's biggest rivals, under the lights at Tonawanda October 16. HARRIERS PREPARING FOR MEET

'Heave 'Em Bo!'

"Bo" JOHNSON

Connecting on seven out of eight passes, Bo Johnson, Saxon halfback, led the Purple and Gold to a smashing 38-0 win for Alfred's second straight, last Saturday night. His first pass, a forty-five yard heave, on the very first play of the game, was the beginning of the Saxons' first goal thrust.

Frosh Harriers Would Maintain Alfred's "Rep"

Many Outstanding Prospects Vie For Posts; First Meet Saturday

Trying to maintain the reputation that has always belonged to Alfred in the field of cross country, the freshman harriers got off to a good start last week.

Outstanding prospects for the frosh team are: Ed Lagasse, who did considerable running for Nott Terrace in Schenectady; Gene Burgess from Port Jarvis; Morley from Middletown; Daggert from Hamburg; Heaky, Morales, and Cole, all from Syracuse; Frank Cronyn of Buffalo.

Coach James C. McLeod seems very optimistic, but points out the boys have but two weeks to prepare for the Cornell freshmen, and but three weeks to get ready for the always-strong Syracuse yearlings. Alfred has long done more than hold its own in cross country. This crop of newcomers bids fair to continue the tradition.

The freshman schedule is as follows:

- Oct. 9—Cornell at Alfred
- Oct. 16—Syracuse at Syracuse
- Oct. 23—Open
- Oct. 30—Open
- Nov. 15—I.C.A.A.A.A. at New York City

Thiel Expected To Give Saxons A "Real Test"

Tomcats, Playing First Game, Have Veteran Line; Alfred To Have Weight Advantage

The Saxon eleven get their first real test Saturday night when the Thiel College gridders invade Merrill Field for the Saxons' third home game of the season. The Tomcats from Greenville, Pa., an unknown quantity at Alfred, open their season with this game, and come from a state famous for its excellent small college teams.

The Pennsylvanians, showing a last year's record of three wins and three losses, are coached by J. B. Stroeber, Springfield College tackle for four years, 1931-1925, coach at Thiel since then. Coach Stroeber enjoys the enviable reputation of being able to spirit a team from thin air, his charges having surprised some of the big ones.

However, the Tomcats are not without their worries. In the line, which is composed mainly of veteran material, there is no substitute for "Iron man" Mike Jacobs, senior center and acting captain. The major problem is in the backfield where the fullback berth stands open, vacated by Chuck Snyder via the diploma route.

With Thiel has the more experienced team, the Saxons will put a slightly heavier outfit on the field. Alfred also has the advantage of two previous encounters this season. The Saxon line averages 174 pounds against Thiel's 168 pound forward wall and the two backfields tally 168 and 150 pounds respectively.

Outstanding for Thiel is Mike Jacobs, 165 pound center from Butler, Pa., who played a full sixty minutes in every game last year. Sophomore end Ted Davis is perhaps one of the best ball players ever seen at Thiel and is considered the team's most valuable player.

Against this array Alfred will probably use a line composed of Halpin and Brownell at end, Thomas and Eschbach, tackles, Rouff and Callista, guards, with Edleson centering. In the backfield will be Johnson, Bizet and Glynn with Rollery and Gardner fighting for the fourth position.

Football 'Essential To Governmental Functioning?'

Washington, D. C.—(ACP)—A new definition of football has appeared.

It is a "function essential to governmental functioning" and appears in the protest of a number of colleges against the federal admission taxes on sports events.

The colleges contend that by this definition, the 10 percent tax is unconstitutional.

With the football season upon him Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau prepares to take the issue to the Supreme Court.

Varsity Team Meets Colgate Saturday; Five Men Ready

With only four days remaining in which to condition themselves for the first meet of the season, the Alfred harriers are climaxing their training by running time-trials. Coach McLeod held the first time-trial Saturday afternoon over the "C" course, the course which is generally run in varsity meets.

Many Out For Frosh Football

Greenies First Game October 16 Against Buffalo Frosh; High Hopes Held For Season

A large freshman football squad of 37 men reported at Merrill Field for practice last week. This year's eleven looms up with high hopes for a successful season, due to the many players out for positions. The freshmen will be out fighting to uphold the fine record set by last year's team.

Although many of the players lack experience, they will be assured of excellent tutelage by Coach Frank E. Lobaugh and Daniel Minnick. All the boys have been training seriously to round into shape in time for their first game of the season. They will meet Buffalo October 16, at Merrill Field. Also on their schedule are games with:

- Cook Academy at home—Oct. 22
- Seranton-Keystone, at home—Oct. 30
- Dickinson (tentative), away—Nov. 6

Following is a list of the freshmen and positions which they are out for: Centers—Al Katz, Brooklyn; Ernie Brice, Skaneateles; Lloyd Mason, Oakfield.

Ends—George Ploetz, Ellicottville; Bill Landis, Niagara Falls; John Casamo, Brewster; Cranson Shelley, East Syracuse; Walter Flocken, Floral Park.

Guards, Tackles—Carl Kahn, Newburg; Al Robbins, Hornell; Bob Robinson, Cohoes; Al Nutter, New York; Ed Gehrke, Floral Park; William Lawton, Skaneateles.

Intersorority Rules Corrections Made

The Intersorority Council rules changed last June are as follows: A closed season with no rushing first semester will be in effect. There will be a two weeks "open rushing season" beginning second semester. This statement is to correct a misprint in the handbook about the rules.

Running in the trials were the veterans Captain Robert Hughes, Lyle Perkins, "Buzzy" Keefe, Russell Barreca, and Alvah Dorn. All these men displayed their usual good form in doing the run in fine time. Missing from the starters were Lennie Dauenhauer, Clifford Snow, Metro Mickritz, and Walter Scott.

Dauenhauer was unable to run in the trials and his participation in the Colgate meet is doubtful. His idleness is caused by a bad carbuncle.

Mickritz had not yet reached competitive condition after his lay-off from running for one year.

Clifford Snow, sophomore hill and daler, has improved greatly and is expected to give a good accounting for himself in the meet Saturday. Scott is gradually working into shape.

Lyle Perkins, mainstay of Alfred's cross country outfit last season, is expected to go a long way in repeating his feat of last year—that of leading the Saxons to a win over the Colgate crew.

Last year Perkins led the Saxons to a 19-36 win over the upstate harriers, breezing over the 4.7 mile course in 27.48, bettering his own Alfred record for the course, set two weeks previous, by two seconds.

Dick Hancock of Colgate was second to the finish tape, spoiling Alfred's chance for a perfect score. Captain Bob Hughes, Alfred, took third, with 28.36 then came Barreca and Keefe for third in 29.05. Ross Dawson took sixth with a time of 29.17. Alvah Dorn, Walt Scott, Harold Meyers and Lee Hodge were among other Saxon finishers.

194 Freshmen Enrolled In Two Colleges; Near Record Number

Although the number of freshmen rolled in both the Ceramic and the Liberal Arts Colleges exceeds the number last year, the class of '41 is not the largest Alfred has known. There are 194 freshmen this year, but in 1932 there were over 200. 119 of the fresh are Ceramic students; the remaining 75, Liberal Arts.

Y.W.C.A. Discusses Schedule For Year

Planning the programs for the future was the main business of the YWCA meeting at Social Hall, Sunday night, Sept. 26.

The purpose of this organization is to give service to the College. Among the plans which are expected to meet this purpose are the printing of programs for the University Church, the collecting of silk material to send to Greenland for weaving, the exhibiting of best religious books of the year, and the distribution of Peace literature. The organization also will raise money to send delegates to the Silver Bay Conference next summer. Ogareta Ehret was elected Chairman of Membership Committee.

Plans for Chapel services to be conducted by the different classes were discussed. The service on Wednesday is to be led by the Freshman Class headed by Eleanor Driscoll. This includes both men and women. The theme will be disclosed at the time of the service and will be woven around a song which the group will chose. These programs will be continued throughout the year and will include different types of worship which have arisen in America.

All of these services are in charge of Alberta Heidel and Mildred Wesp of the Chapel Committee. All Chapel attendants are requested to be silent when entering the Chapel. A partial program follows:
Sunday, Oct. 10—Talk by Professor Smith.
Sunday, Oct. 17—Meeting of Exchange Colleges. Talk by Chaplain McLeod. Supper at Social Hall.

Wadsworth Raps Class Warfare

"Everyone is an 'economic royalist,' considered such by someone who has less," declared James J. "Perry" Wadsworth, Jr., State Assemblyman from Livingston County, when he addressed the annual joint meeting of the Hornell and Wellsville Chambers of Commerce here last week.

Relative to the State College of Ceramics, Wadsworth said, "What I saw was not only a surprise, but a revelation." He averred that the vast majority of people do not know the great service that the school is doing those industries throughout the country which manufacture products out of earthen materials. He declared that the college was deserving of all the support that the state could give it.

Wadsworth's address featured two important points in discussion. The first was relative to lobbyists and organized minorities; the second he pointed out was the difficulty in obtaining a true value of ideas. He did not berate the New Deal, but rather urged "more practical government, instead of a hodgepodge of theories, catchwords or slogans."

"In many cases of big principals, no lobbyists are needed," said the Livingston County Assemblyman "Where big principals are concerned, the vast majority of the people know and make known their wishes, either by floods of correspondence or at the polls the next election."

"Let's not fool ourselves," said Wadsworth. "We know now that we can't have secure government upon foundations of falsehood and fallacy of economics and utter disregard of its never varying laws."

Wadsworth declared that there is no campaign now; that there is no need for one. Going back to his opening discussion of main principles, he declared that the people through bitter experience had begun to open their eyes, were beginning to see the true light, and since early this year were making known what they feel, to cause the open strife and dismay among Washington legislators, whose allegiance should be to the people.

Drama Contest Ends Nov. 1

Announcement of the postponement of the closing date of the College Playwriting Contest to Nov. 1, has more than doubled the number of scripts entered, according to the joint sponsors, the WPA Federal Theatre Project and its National Collegiate Advisory Committee.

Entries received thus far indicate a preference for "poetic drama" of the type that Maxwell Anderson brought into prominence. Plays dealing with social problems, both on the campus and off, seem to predominate. Scripts from every region of the country and from colleges of all types are being read by the judges.

Originally scheduled to close on Sept. 1, the contest period was extended two months to enable student playwrights to rework their scripts on the advice of their drama professors after the opening of college this fall.

Any regularly enrolled student in an American college may submit an original full-length script. There is no restriction of theme but the direct observation of contemporary American life will be preferred.

The WPA Federal Theatre guarantees a production of the prize winning play for at least one week. However, if attendance warrants, the run will be extended. The usual WPA Federal Theatre rental rate of fifty dollars a week will be paid the winning playwright.
