

Palestinian journalist to speak on 'Prospects for Peace in the Middle East'

4/29/02

Rami Khouri, a Palestinian journalist who is now a Nieman Fellow at Harvard University and a specialist on Mid-East affairs and politics, will speak at 6 p.m. Saturday, May 4, in Room 114, Seidlin Hall, on the Alfred University campus. His presentation is the second in a series, "Prospects of Peace in the Middle East," sponsored by the Alfred University International Student and Scholar Organization, Hillel and Alfred State College. It is open to the public free of charge.
