Human relations topic seen as 'sanest solution'

ALFRED ALDROD WELCOMES victory octave leaders to its campus for the fourth Annual Human Relations Conference, a one-day program of talks and studies which has become recognized as the ideal of a World Federal Government.

"Union Now," the idea of its host, has been presented by Grace R. Brown. It is the modern expression by a newspaperman of an age-old dream. Others have lately taken this to make a movement for the bettering of nature's world. After the war, a United States of Central Europe was held by many as being the solution to the European problem.

Many retain the view that "entangling alliances" is the isolation principle, "Union Now" is a dynamic plan which you would do well to consider.

Leader of this year's conference and forum is Dr. Vernon Noah, a noted speaker. He is the director of Planned Mathematics. He is coming here to make the plan for democratic world government understandable to you, and you may see how you will bear sinsome workable ideals expressed. —A.P.

Unseasonable Snows Hamper Tracksters in Penn Relay Preparations

Squad Leaves Thursday For Meet

Unseasonable winter weather during the past week has hampered the Saxons considerably in their preparation for the forty-ninth annual University of Pennsylvania Relays to be held Friday and Saturday at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Penn.

In spite of the fact that an inch of snow has fallen and a half of snow covered the track at Franklin Field, Coach McLane has entered teams to cover this year's relay. But Field, Coach James A. McColl, hasn't given up hope that the Saxon hurlers will be able to leave Philadelphia on Thursday afternoon. The team will leave at 4:45 o'clock on Friday afternoon, April 25th, for Washington, the largest party in the Anti-Dodger camp.

Captain-elect Walter Murphy, the largest squad to leave for the east, will leave Philadelphia on Thursday morning at eight o'clock.

The Saxons are expected to attract approximately forty others from the city, with approximately one from the colleges to compete in a program of seventy events.

Football squads have ended their practices for the year.

Coach McLane intends to use the week-end to cover this year's awards. He has been giving the awards out to the men returning from last season's successful squad of Johnson, Eade, Burke, and others.

Preseason Grid Bids Go to 47

Forty-seven prospectuses received invitations last week to report for the full session of pre-season football practices.

Of this number sixteen men will be vying for backfield posts, sixteen will be guard candidates, six will bid for the tackle seats, four will divide the line, and twelve will fight for a berth as varsity center.

Outside are the men returning from last season's successful squad of Johnson, Eade, Burke, and others.

Action Seen Looming in Tournament

The COMING of spring forecasts the cancellation of some of the last games in the men's intra-varsity basketball league.
