Freshmen Now Eligible For Pilot Training

Freshmen may now take the final and preliminary courses of the Civil Pilot Training program, organized by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, as a part of the regular course of study. Every student who is eligible may register for these courses, which are free of charge. The courses will cover the fundamentals of aviation and prepare students for the Civil Pilot's License exam. The training is designed to prepare students for a career in the aviation industry, and it is an excellent opportunity for those interested in pursuing a career in flight operations.

Post-war Education

"Will they return to graduate?" is the question college authorities are asking now, as more and more classes are promoting the idea of curtailment in order to become soldiers. This question was too often answered negatively in the last war.

To meet the challenge of this question positively, the University of Iowa has established its "Joda Plan," through which financial aid is given to returning students. Further, the U. S. government has offered six-months' service at U. S. armed forces, attendance at the University from October 1, 1940, to the time of induction or discharge, and free tuition for the duration.

In addition to aiding returning students, this plan offers those who have demonstrated a high degree of promise in their education the opportunity of taking a part in the development of a post-war rehabilitation program for those who are fighting the war.

Walk, Don't Drive

The physical education program has been expanded to insure better health among the students. The department has planned physical exercises on cars and tires, and still there are students who insist on driving. The purpose of this drive is to demonstrate to the students what happens when they drive and what happens when they walk. By walking, they would give themselves needed fresh air and exercise and also prevent tire and gas shortages.

Be Alert, Cautions

The recent arrest of Laura Ingalls as an unlicensed agent of the Central Intelligence Agency, the of the New York Times and the Washington Post, who are connected with espionage activities, is a warning to all college students. The Chinese figure that if it wasn’t the food, it was the money given to the Chinese by the U. S. government.

Greatest changes in communist areas are in education, where the radio may be used as an espionage tool of the enemy. Quiji pro-partment, the enemy agents can devise fine codes to send across the air and exercise and also conserve on cars, tires and gasoline.

The Chinese are supposed to do things in reverse. In many cases it is true and they know the whole business is bunk. The ceremonies are done at funerals. To a great extent this is true there are many cases. The boy is not patted on the back for having such a son. The father, but our hero’s father is patted on the head for having such a son.

When he is able. The boy that evades this duty is not very popular. When a man fails in business, another China-failed. It is a Chinese custom that, when a man dies, there is a ceremony kept its members in line and served as a form of propaganda to keep the members in line and served as a form of propaganda. It did a pretty good job of keeping its members in line.

Fiat Reporting Of World War I Reveals Similarities To Present

We went downstairs in the library yesterday and roamed through some old editions of the Fiat. We were anxious to see if the war started in 1917 was revealed by our predecessors and here are our findings:

The Presidential Election of 1916 is a notable exception. The war had been going on for eight years before America went to the polls to elect Woodrow Wilson. Somewhere in the middle of a small paragraph in a story about Dr. Dean Furby, America is for Wilson. A picture accompanied the story with the headline: "THE SUBMARINE A MAN UNDER ARMS."

The first mention of the war, however, was in an Oct. 21, 1915, story. The headline: "THE PICTURE OF THE DEEP." Various pictures were shown which kept the nation's interest. The last mention before America's entry into the war was in the first paragraph of a story on Nov. 19, 1917, when it was sunk by a German submarine. The text reads: "The Fiat reported that the ship was a military transport, carefully camouflaged to avoid the detecting of the nation's secret, but had reached no conclusion. Also the paper stated that football was not back on the calendar.

Snowball Record Set By Week-end Storm

The snowfall over the weekend of February 7 was the biggest fall of the war. A total of 10.1 inches fell in Alfred. On the 1st of February an observer in Alfred said it had snowed much harder than it had in years. On the 2nd of February snowfall of 9 inches and there was a record for the month of February. In March there was almost as much snowfall as for the entire winter. By the end of the month the winter had been 1.6 inches higher than the average for the time of year.

Two Injured Seriously

In Toboggan Crack-Up

Edward Lore '22 and Robert Garwood, the "Fiat's" first football player, were injured last week in a toboggan crack-up. At 6:15 a.m. on Thursday morning a snowstorm was making its way to Alfred. The snowfall over the weekend was 10.1 inches higher than the average for the time of year.

Nightly Catholic Prayer Service

Although the ominous sounds of war were expected to stay in the school and let the government know of our presence, no one knew for sure what would happen if needed. The nightly Catholic prayer service held in the Student Union Building was a meeting place for all Catholics. It was held every night at 9:00 p.m. and was open to all students.

Junior Class Meeting

The junior class met on Saturday, March 7, at 11 o'clock. It will be a special service for the community. The topics covered included the importance of prayer and the role of the Catholic Church in our lives.

To Aid Africans

By the looks of the Fiat in the past couple weeks, one would think that we are "going out of business." By inches. Probably the only reason the pages will run is that there are too many people who would be thrown out of work if the paper folded, including yours truly.

A huge number of African students have been injured in the war. Many have lost limbs or have been killed. The African students who have joined the Allied forces have been greatly missed. They are a very sensitive race of people.

The best way to prevent war is to have better education. It seems that on each occasion that war breaks out, the people are not prepared for it.
