

Charles W. Copp To Be Assembly Guest Speaker This Thursday Morning

Mr. Copp, Teacher And Prisoner Of Japanese To Discuss Subject "Japan: Sunrise And Sunset"

Charles Winthrop Copp, who has been a teacher and prisoner of the Japanese, will speak on the subject "Japan: Sunrise and Sunset," in Assembly, Thursday morning, December 13.

For twenty-one years Mr. Copp was in daily contact with the Japanese youth and their teachers, at school and in his home. He has studied the psychology of the people, their strength and weaknesses. He has travelled extensively through Japan, climbed Mount Fuji and visited interior districts.

Mr. Copp, a Vermont, graduated from Oberlin and went to teach English in Japanese Government schools. Near the outbreak of the war the suspicions of the Japanese military authorities were aroused because of Mr. Copp's interest in exploring mountain terrain. Mistaken for a spy, he was suddenly arrested and imprisoned in solitary confinement for four months.

In April, 1942, Mr. Copp was found not guilty of espionage, taken to a small internment camp, and in June, allowed to return home on the exchange ship Gripsholm. Since that time he has been lecturing throughout the United States.

Mr. Copp, a Vermont, graduate whose lectures are full of interesting information, personal experiences and anecdotes. He escaped by only a few minutes the eruption of a dormant volcano.

Mr. Copp knows from past observation that "a hundred years from today all thinking Japanese will be grateful to us for having freed them from their own military machine which is menacing the world today."

Footlight Club Holds Tryouts All This Week

"Everybody has something he can do well, whether it be playing an instrument, writing poetry or driving a truck, and what is more important, everybody has somebody who has faith in his capacities," is the theme stressed by William Saroyan's masterpiece, "My Heart's in the Highlands," according to Prof. C. Duryea Smith, play director.

Chosen as this year's major play production, the beauty of "My Heart's in the Highlands" lies in its meaning—the meaning of reality itself. The music, an integral part of the mood of "My Heart's in the Highlands," was composed by Paul Bowles. The production was scored for Hammond organ, cornet, traps and drums, oboe and English horn.

Prof. Smith welcomes anyone interested in acting and production, including lighting, costume, make-up, properties, building, painting, music and business, to participate in the tryouts. No actual experience is required, the director stressed, merely a curiosity concerning the theatre. Rehearsal and production activities will not interfere with the student's need for time as, during the end of semester rush, the rehearsal schedule will be fairly brief.

Tryouts for casting will be held at Alumni Hall this week. Hours for the tryouts are designated in the Campus Calendar.

Annual Ceramic Guild Sale To Take Place Friday Afternoon

Taking place for the first time since 1943, the Ceramic Guild again sponsors their Annual Christmas Sale in the Lounge of the Ceramic Building.

To acquaint the public with the wares to be sold, and to enable those who may wish to browse and enjoy the work of the students, before everything has been sold, the Ceramic Guild has planned to exhibit the ceramics on Thursday evening, from eight until eleven, with no selling of merchandise.

On Friday, the actual Sale will get under way. The doors will open at 2:15 p.m., and selling will commence at 2:30 p.m., lasting until 5:30 p.m., with the Seniors in the Industrial Ceramic Design course doing the selling. The Juniors, with the aid of some Sophomores will wrap.

The difficult task of pricing the ware will be done by Mr. Charles Harder, chairman of the department; Martha Miner '46 and Jerry Keitel, special student, will act as final financiers.

Carol Service To Be Given Sunday Nite

The traditional Christmas Carol Service of the Union University Church Choir, under the direction of Mrs. S. R. Scholes, will be presented next Sunday night, Dec. 16, in the University Church at 7:30. Prof. Ada Becker Seidlin, organist, will accompany the choir, which will present a program composed of many Yuletide songs.

The Christmas Story will be enacted by the singing of six groups of songs. "He Came All So Still," sung by the Chapel Choir, is the Annunciation Carol; "O Bethlehem," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," characterize The Little Town; "Shepherds on This Hill," a Greek Carol, and "Shepherds Shake Off Your Drowsy Sleep," a Besancon Carol, represent The Shepherds; "Late One Night" and "Golden Carol" represent The Wise Men; and a group of familiar English Carols, including "Away In a Manger," will portray "The Baby". The Christmas Prayer will be sung in the form of Christiansen's "Lullaby" and Dickinson's "Shepherd's Story".

The church will be decorated for the service by Mrs. George Openhym, assisted by Miss Clara Nelson, Miss Marian Fosdick, William Hueg and a committee of the R. F. A.

Winter Sports Club Appoints Officers

At a meeting held last Thursday night in Alumni Hall, Dick Smith '49, was elected president of the new Winter Sports Club. Anne Mitchell '46, was elected vice-president; Jean Keesler, secretary; and Charlotte Albiston, treasurer. Stan Burdick and Anne Huntington are to be co-publicity managers.

A club constitution will be drawn up by the officers before Christmas vacation.

Univ. Officials Attempt To Solve Difficulties Of Housing New Students

Rooms Accommodating Sixty Students Acquired In Housing Space Survey

With approximately 50 inquiries for enrollment arriving per day at the present time, Alfred's serious housing shortage is fast becoming acute, according to the Administration.

Senate Studies Honor System

At the last meeting of the Student Senate the honor system was discussed. The way it is used at Skidmore and Barnard colleges, how it was used here at Alfred, what would be involved in bringing it back to Alfred—these were some of the aspects considered.

System Merits Support of All

Provided that the honor system were again in effect at Alfred, it would probably be used first in the case of exams; that is, the professors would not be present while exams were being taken, for the students themselves would have the responsibility of eliminating any possibility of cheating. In the Senate discussion, the fact was stressed that the honor system will not work unless everyone, professor and student alike, is behind it.

Because of the absence of so many regular members, the discussion was rather brief. It will be considered in greater detail at subsequent meetings. The Senate would appreciate having your opinions on this subject, and suggests that you give them either to your Senate representative or to the Fiat.

Bomb Petition Dropped

The making of arrangements for voting on the Senate constitution was postponed until certain alterations are made. Also, the Senate decided to drop work on the petition concerning the atomic bomb because the members felt that the students were not sufficiently interested.

The Senate was requested to inquire about the chartering of a bus to take the New York students home for Christmas vacation and to bring them back. Those interested are asked to see Mickey Sampson '47.

Mae Barrus '46, Senate president, announces that because of the basketball game on Tuesday night, there will be no Senate meeting.

Public May Buy Serigraph Prints Displayed In Union

Serigraph prints which have been on display in the Campus Union are part of an exhibition currently on tour from the Museum of Modern Art, New York City, Tony Prieto of the Ceramic Guild reports.

Purchase of any of these pictures is possible by request of the interested buyer to the Museum, it was further indicated.

All requests are to include title, painter, and price of the desired serigraph print.

A survey of housing space, including both rooms and apartments which might be available to new students, has been undertaken by a committee of faculty members. The results of this survey have not been too encouraging with reference to apartments. However, the survey showed that additional rooms accommodating about 60 students, could be made available, 30 of which definitely could be used for the second semester. Neighboring communities will next be surveyed to discover what accommodations they might offer to the already-large group which is seeking entrance to the University.

Even Barn In Use

Since every inch of living space, including the well-kept barn of one of the fraternity houses, seems to be in use at present, additional facilities must be found if Alfred is to accept new applicants for the second semester, beginning in February.

A possible solution to the problem, trailer houses, has been only reasonably successful in other schools, according to Pres. Walters. However, they do solve the problem.

President Confers With Agency

Dr. Walters returned last week from New York City, where he conferred with executives of the National Housing Agency concerning the possibility of receiving between 25 and 50 trailers for use in Alfred.

Although final plans have not been made, it is thought that such trailer houses might be obtained. The difficulty lies, according to members of the Federal Housing Agency, in the great demand for these trailers on the part of various universities, also suffering from lack of adequate housing.

Bartlett May Have Neighbor

Possible sites for Alfred's trailers have been suggested. A likely situation at present is the plot at the north side of Bartlett Dormitory. Heating, sewage disposal and other conveniences would be readily accessible to trailers located in this section.

Recent acquisitions of property by the University, made in order to increase the number of students which can be accommodated, include the Wheaton house, located next to Button's Garage on West University. This building was bought by the New York State Agricultural and Technical Institute to be operated as a dormitory.

The Theta Gamma house on Elm Street, not used by the Ag Frat during the war, will be open to students as a dorm, next year. The Sheppard house on Main Street has also recently been acquired by the University, and will be used to house students.

CONSTRUCTION NOT DESTRUCTION

By a Co-Ed

Compulsory peace-time military conscription now, or later—or never? Newspapers and magazines have been printing articles concerning this subject for the past two years, and public interest in it has risen to a high pitch. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion all have spoken in favor of a year's training for all young American males, but some educators, religious leaders and farmers, as well as spokesmen for the AFL and the CIO give an emphatic "No". Public school superintendents, responding to a questionnaire addressed to them by the National Education Association, would like to join the two factions by combining military training with "a program of national service on useful public projects, and camping experiences, which emphasize such things as health, physical fitness, outdoor living, recreation, work experience, leadership training and individual guidance."

The stress which the public school group places on the individual in its concern over his training is, unfortunately, not generally shared by the military. Civilian advocates of conscription stress its physical and disciplinary benefits to young men, for to them that is one of the important arguments in favor of such a national project. Opponents of the program claim that it would retard rather than further health programs, which should have been begun in elementary schools anyway, as well as arrest the cultural and educational development of youth. Here again the emphasis is on the effect on America's young men, on individuals.

But the main reason for America's adopting a system of compulsory training for each young man, perhaps taking a year of his life at its most impressionable stage, is to "provide for the common defense". And would a large body of soldiers with a year of elementary military training behind them assure us of a position any more secure than the one which we held immediately preceding World War II? If military training had been introduced at the end of World War I, would we have been better equipped to cope with Pearl Harbor, or would we have been weighted down with antiquated equipment and personnel?

Extremely pertinent to the question is a statement made by Gen. Fred C. Fuller: "Conscription is the military expression of an agricultural democracy and when natives cease to depend on agriculture—conscription rapidly becomes a burden—Military power today depends on the numbers of skilled mechanics to manufacture war machines and to fight them; the trend of the future is toward smaller armies in which quality replaces quantity". For an argument to the claim that national military conscription would provide a well-disciplined force which could be handled more easily by its officers, we need only take a fleeting glance at the young Nazi, trained with ruthless efficiency, who was forced to bow before the American's assurance and quick-thinking in an unexpected situation in the field.

As a substitution for compulsory training for all, why not have government subsidization of scientific research so that the U. S. may be a leader in a scientific progress which is constructive rather than destructive? Why not train young men who are really interested in that type of work to become the skilled mechanics which General Fuller says would be necessary for protection? Why not continue giving sound training for leadership to those of officer caliber at schools like West Point and Annapolis? Above all, why not train the remainder of our young men to fight a different kind of war—the war of housing, racial relations, economy, and the adjusting of science to our needs instead of to our destruction? And, lastly, why not place our attention on the setting-up of the United Nations Organization, and strengthen it through our participation?

UNPREPARED—CONQUERED

By a Veteran

It is of paramount importance to this country and the whole world to maintain an effective military strength in the post-war world, asserted War Secretary Patterson in the annual edition of the Army and Navy Journal.

"Postwar reaction in a democracy tends to reduce its military establishment to impotency. In the past the error has been remediable when attack threatened. In the future, it will be irreparable. If there is another war, the unready will be conquered."

Secretary Patterson's fore-warning cannot be taken too seriously. Army and Navy top officials agree that voluntary enlistments alone are not likely to keep our military strength at a minimum required to protect us from possible aggressors.

The Pearl Harbor Investigation reveals that we were unprepared. Even the first inductees under the Selective Service Act were not considered sufficiently skilled in military warfare to be of use at the time of the Pearl Harbor Incident. The war revealed that months of training were required to convert civilians into soldiers; to take their place in a carefully timed military machine; and to learn the science of modern warfare. Fortunately the time was available.

Development of faster implements of war such as the atomic bomb and jet propelled planes, leads to the conclusion that there will be no time for preparedness after an attack. If voluntary enlistments will not keep our military strength at a minimum required for national protection, compulsory military training is essential.

Editor, Fiat Lux: "Nestled away mid the Empire State hills. . . ."

How apt an illustration this is of Alfred's campus! That realization was made startlingly clear to me when I heard that student interest and concern over the future of the atomic bomb was so slight as to warrant discontinuation of any further action on the question by the Student Senate.

Must it continue to be, after four years of a terrible war which has influenced, in some way, the lives of every individual in communities large and small, that these individuals still cannot see their place in relation to the rest of humanity? It seems a pitiful condition indeed when college communities, allegedly the leaders in the foundation of a better society, can ignore or be unconcerned of the challenge and opportunity they have in affecting the control of atomic power.

Surely no one on this campus can be completely unaware of the nation-wide discussion of the atomic bomb. The realization of the total destructive power of the bomb has led Britain, Canada, and the United States to take steps toward the control of such a weapon. The results of their actions will affect the life of every student on this campus, as future workers in a world community; and, therefore, each student should, by a cooperative effort with others, state his opinion clearly, through the means of a petition or a personal letter directed to President Truman and/or the individual's Congressional representative. This action, insignificant as it appears to the individual, when coupled with that of other Universities and organizations throughout the country will exert pressure that cannot be disregarded.

Is Alfred to lose this opportunity of making a worth-while contribution to the most dynamic problem of today because her students haven't the time or interest to learn something about the situation, and fail to see of what value their opinion could be?

Students Hear Discussion Of War Training

In Political Science 21 last Thursday, two members of the faculty discussed the problem of Compulsory Military Training in Peace-time. Dr. Willard J. Sutton spoke in favor of the project, and Mr. Clarence M. Mitchell, librarian, spoke against it.

Dr. Sutton started his discussion by stating that twice in 30 years our country has been unprepared when war broke out and after a year has taken part. Three times the United States Navy has been the most powerful in the world: after the Civil War, World War I and World War II. And our ships have been scrapped each time.

Arguments Favor

The speaker then set forth 13 arguments in favor of peace-time conscription:

1. Our national security demands such a step. There are three alternatives; first, a small standing army, or reserve; second, a very large perpetual standing army; and third, nothing.
2. In 1917 and 1941 we had to depend on our allies for a long time before we could enter the conflict.
3. In 1916 and 1940, very small attempts were made at preparation.
4. Future attacks are apt to be speedily decisive.
5. We cannot create an army over-night.
6. The only safe alternative to war threats is military training.
7. There will never be a substitute for manpower.
8. Universal training costs less than frantic mobilization.
9. We must avoid a false sense of security, which is apt to occur since we have always come out on top in wars. We must not be led into a false sense of security such as the Maginot Line led France into.
10. International military training is the best proof that we are not off-guard again. World War II really began on Sept. 18, 1931, with the Japanese invasion of Manchuria, when the rest of the world was off-guard.
11. Compulsory military training is proof that we are no longer isolationists.
12. If we have a good, powerful force, we would be prepared to enforce peace.
13. Nations with the greatest strength must accept the greatest responsibility to maintain peace.

Men taking military training profit by developing physically. Dr. Sutton ended his speech by stating that in general the veterans are for conscription in peace-time.

Mr. Mitchell, at the very beginning of his discussion stated that the advocates of conscription are trying to rush through laws while we are still war-minded. Also, since the United States is one of the most powerful nations in the world, what we do will greatly influence others.

Librarian Against

Mr. Mitchell divided his arguments into five major parts. First, he stated that the proposition is decidedly un-American. The constitution does not give Congress the power to establish such a system. Hitler and Mussolini would have been powerless if their countries hadn't had a system of training. Conscription is not the democratic way; it is the totalitarian way. No nation is inherently warlike; they have been made warlike nations by training.

Second, military conscription has not prevented wars. Germany had military conscription, as did Japan and Italy, but it did not keep the Nazis or the Fascists out of war. Also, conscription has never stopped war or made war less frequent. Mr. Mitchell went on to say that the advocates of conscription claim we need it for protection. "For protection against whom?" the speaker asked. "For protection against our defeated enemies or our war-weary allies?"

Learn These Songs For Tonight's Game

"Song of The Cities," "Oh, Here We Are," "On Saxon Warriors." These are the names of three traditional Alfred songs which will be sung at the Brockport game Tuesday night, and in Assembly, Thursday. Clip these and learn the words.

SONG OF CITIES

Sing a song of cities, roll dem cotton bale, Nigger ne'er so appy as wen he's out of jail. Norfolk for its oysters, Boston for baked beans, Alfred for pretty girls, but for niggers New Orleans.

— Chorus —

I've been working on the railroad, all the live long day, I've been working on the railroad just to pass the time away. Don't you hear the cap'n shouting; rise up so early in the morn. Don't you hear the darkies calling, Oh Dinah, blow your horn?

Sing a song of colleges, tell you where to go, Harvard for its knowledge, Cornell for a row, Princeton's wealth, or Amherst's pride, for them naught do we care, For old A. U. is the strong and true, and for her we'll do and dare.

— Chorus —

OH, HERE WE ARE

Oh, here we are! Oh, here we are! You see us marching down the street. We have the team that can't be beat. We have!" (shouted) So give a cheer, a lusty cheer, And let the echoes carry true, With a tramp, tramp, tramp, And a stamp, stamp, stamp, For the team of old A. U.!

ON SAXON WARRIORS

On Saxon warriors, The Purple and the Gold defend; On Saxon warriors, Ever on like men. Crash thru the opponent's line And victory will come our way Fight, Fight for Alfred, And she will win the day.

Alfred Welcomes New Student From India

Satyapal Varma, of Punjab, is the first of a contingent of special students from India to arrive on campus.

Twenty-four years old, "Pal" is large, with an engaging grin, and a friendly type of humor that has made him immediately popular with the men at Burdick Hall.

Already possessing a Master's degree in Technical Chemistry, received at Punjab University, "Pal", sponsored by his government, is starting a two-year course in Glass Technology. On his return to India in 1947, he will be affiliated with the Department of Industries.

A music enthusiast, he is dubious of his liking for American music.

"The music of India and of Spain relies on pure melody, American music is nothing but rhythm," he said, as snatches of "Dig These Blues" drifted up to his room from the Union.

Another novelty is snow, the first he has ever seen. About this "Pal" said:

"The campus is so beautiful, all covered with white, but it is so wet, and so very cold."

Third, military conscription is dangerous in establishing a permanent peace. Have we absolutely no faith in the United Nations Organization? And would nations sit by idly and watch us build an army?

Fourth, the arguments that conscription increases the physical, educational, moral, and citizenship values of the individual is only sugar-coating to make people advocate the project. In the first place, only the physically fit are accepted for training; secondly, it is not the army's job to educate, and in the army no initiative could be developed; thirdly, the morals of an army are not uplifting, but just the contrary; fourthly, there is nothing in military training to develop citizenship; men are taught how to kill other men. Conscription does not develop citizenship as it is possible that, after military training, young men may feel that they have done their duty for the state. Fifthly, the people who advocate conscription are those who would stand to gain from the program.

Mr. Mitchell closed his discussion by stressing the fact that the main purpose of an army is to teach men how to kill.

Alfred Saxons Bow To St. Bonaventure By Close 34-31 Score

Purple And Gold Quintet Lead At Half, Score 17-16

By Fred Clark

The Alfred University basketball team was defeated by the St. Bonaventure quintet at Allegany, Saturday night, by a score of 34-31. Latham was high scorer for the Alfred team with ten points.

This was a much smoother working combination that Coach Minnick sent onto the court in contrast with the same group pitted against the University of Rochester a week ago. The pass work was quicker, with more snap to it, and the defense was a man-to-man, instead of the zone used in the first game.

Again, as in last week's game, there were altogether too many fouls. In fact, St. Bona scored 16 of their total of 34 points via foul shots. Alfred scored seven points through foul shots.

[This writer is a bit doubtful as to the ability of the referee, who seemingly permitted frequent substitutions on St. Bona's part without having the players report to him. Somewhere in the rule book something is mentioned whereby any player, substituting for a player on the floor, must report to the referee before the game resumes, or the opposing team gets a foul shot via the technical route. I did not see this happen! Toward the end of the game the St. Bona's coach substituted too frequently and nothing was done about it. Of course he executed this strategy to confuse our man-to-man defense.]

Our offense still has not acquired the sharpness that it will eventually attain, but it is improving. Latham was high scorer for Alfred, in this Bona game, by tossing in four field goals and two fouls for a total of ten. Lavolulo tossed in 11 points for Bonas to take scoring honors for the night.

St. Bona had a scrappy team but, with any luck on A. U.'s part would have been beaten. The A. U. ball handling was of a superior nature.

Ed Latham is beginning to hit the hoop and within a game or two will find the mark more regularly.

At the half the Purple and Gold was ahead by one point 17-16. Near the close of the game, with the score 30-24 in favor of Bonaventure, the A. U. quintet began to fight desperately and brought the score to 32-31, but lost out when Bona scored one more basket.

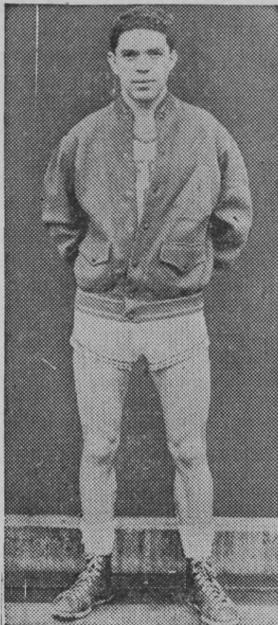

Tuesday, Dec. 11, Brockport State Teachers will come to Alfred and engage the Purple and Gold. This writer has received no advance publicity on the Teachers' quintet and can therefore not mention anything about their ability.

This is to be on our home court and the Purple and Gold should feel more at ease in familiar surroundings. Of course, every basketball fan in the student body and faculty should be on hand to cheer the A. U. quintet "on to victory". Incidentally, if the students do not already know some of the cheers and songs, it would be a good idea to do something about it before game time.

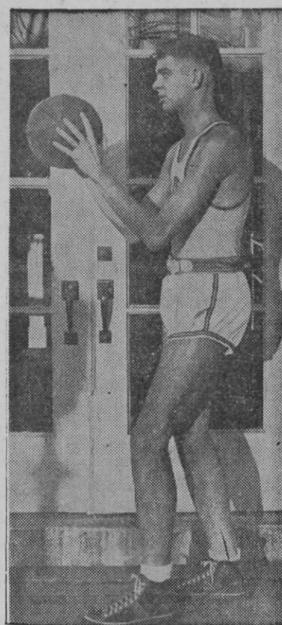

On the following Monday, Dec. 17, the University of Buffalo will play the Purple and Gold on the local court. So, this gives the local supporters two chances to witness and cheer our team on to victory. Be on hand all of you loyal supporters.

THREE ALFRED SAXON WARRIORS

John Costa from Teaneck, N. J., played basketball for two years at Teaneck High School. He's also a veteran of three years service, having been with the Fifth Bomber Group, 394th Squadron, 13th AAF, in the Pacific theatre. He plays Forward.

Capt. Ellsworth Hawth, the only Alfred letterman on the squad, received basketball awards at A. U. in 1940-41 and 1941-42. A native of Niagara Falls, he has just returned from three years as a Staff Weather Officer with the 91st Bomber Group.

Edgar Latham, four-year letterman for Portville Central School with two years in the service as a Staff Sergeant in the Army Quartermaster Corps behind him, plays Center for the Saxons. He is six feet, six inches tall.

Teams Compete In Basketball Intramurals

The A. U. Intramural Basketball League is off to a good start. Under the direction of President Sam Guarino the teams have participated in six games and are now entering the third week of competition.

The eight teams that are competing are made up of men from all the schools. The teams are: Burdick Hall, Delta Sig, Eagles, Ellis Manor, Kappa Psi, Klan Alpine, Impromptu and Rural Engineering.

At present Ellis Manor is on top of the league with two wins, the other teams that are "batting around 1000" are Burdick Hall and Delta Sig, who each have one win.

Last week's action saw Klan Alpine fall to Ellis Manor, 32-22; the Rural Engineers forfeited to the Eagles because of the absence of players, but then with outside help they gave the Eagles competition, with the final score being 20-15 in favor of the Eagles; and in the last game Delta Sig triumphed over Kappa Psi, 21-11.

A close game ensued during the first half the teams battled on equal terms. The Burdick five began to roll during the third quarter, as they built up a sizeable lead and held it. Pedu and Turner led the victors with eight points each, while the individual scoring honors for the Impromptu squad was on an equal basis.

On Tuesday night the pre-game favorites, the Eagles, lost to a fast Ellis Manor quintet, 22-11. During the second half the Manor men tallied fourteen points to their opponents three. Any resemblance between this game and a football contest was purely coincidental. From the appearance of the floor play, Alfred will definitely not be without football material when spring comes. Schroder was the big gun for the winners, while the Manor captain, Barnes, and Miosgoo each scored six points for the losers.

Klan Alpine gave warning to future opponents by overpowering the Rural Engineers 36-22 as the week ended. The fast breaking Klan outfit was led by Jamison, who came through with 20 points, followed by Gardner and Melmer with six and seven, respectively. The hapless Engineers, who suffered their second loss in as many games, were led by Keith Folts with 12 points and their lanky center Zogmont with six markers.

Rabbi Schatz, Cornell Gives Sermon Here

Last Friday evening, Rabbi Schatz of Cornell University, held services in Kenyon Chapel for all Jewish students on campus. Chaplain B. Davie Napier introduced the Rabbi to the congregation.

In his sermon, Rabbi Schatz discussed the lack of faith in pre-war times and expressed the fervent hope that the world would not forget to include religion in its blueprint for the future. Rabbi Schatz explained that we must fight for faith as we do for more material comforts.

After services Rabbi Schatz held a reception in Social Hall. Here he answered questions and led a discussion on Reformed Judaism. Mrs. Napier, Carol Sampson '47, and Lois Berlinger '48, took charge of refreshments.

Joan Ehrens '48, made all arrangements for the service and in the weeks to follow there will be various guest speakers. This coming Friday evening at 7:15, services will again be held in Kenyon Chapel. Everyone is welcome.

Employment Service Open

An employment service for the benefit of those students who may wish to work for a part of their tuition or extra money has long been an outstanding need on the Alfred campus.

The governing board at the Campus Union has taken the responsibility for providing such an employment service. All those students who want work are requested to call or apply in person to the Fiat Lux office, located in Kenyon Hall.

The employment office will remain open on Thursdays and Fridays from 1:30-3:30 p.m., and on Saturday mornings from 10-12.

Brick I Leads In Volleyball Tourney

The climax of the '45 volleyball season was the game played last Thursday night in which Brick I defeated Sigma Chi. These two teams held top places in the interhouse competition, Brick I having won five and tied one game, and Sigma Chi having lost only one of six games.

The game Thursday night was extremely fast, and the volleying clearly showed the superiority of both teams. Hard well-placed serving by Lois Mutch, Connie Coon, and Pru Hall built up the score for Brick I.

Kappa Delta nearly upset the Brick I winning streak when they tied that team 39-39 last week. But the winning streak continued when Pi Alpha bowed 41-34 to the undefeated Brick girls.

Sigma Chi ran away with a 59-19 victory over Pi Alpha on Monday of last week and did almost as complete a job on Tuesday, when they defeated Kappa Delta 49-33.

The surprise of the week was the sudden collapse of the Brick II team which lost each of its three games last week. They were handi-capped, however, by the lack of

Eli Foss '49 Wins Fencing Tourney

Winner of the Beginners' Fencing Tournament held last Saturday afternoon in South Hall, was Eli Fass '49, who won all of the six bouts in which he fenced.

Stanley Graf '49, placed second in the tournament with five bouts to his credit; and Jeanne Morgan '48, who won four of her six bouts, took third place. These three fencers were awarded gold fencing pins as prizes.

The judges for the event were Stanley Burdick, Millicent Albert and Roxanne Roberts. All are advanced fencers. Ann Mitchell and Dick Peck acted as referees.

The competing fencers and their standings are listed below.

|                     | Won | Lost |

players. The team lost to Omicron 35-30, to Theta Chi 37-26, and to Pi Alpha 46-30.

The one other game of the week which matched Pi against the cellar team, Bartlett, ended in a 46-32 victory for Pi Alpha.

Judges Choose Cheering Squad

From thirty-one contestants, a cheerleading squad of sixteen girls was picked recently, announced Carolyn Torrey '46, manager.

The girls chosen are Annette Argana AT, Betty Banks '46, Iona Bohl '49, Neysa Jean Dixon '48, Mary Ann Goodrich '48, Anne Huntington '48, Jane Lytle '49, Jane McQuillon AT, Joan McQuillon AT, Joyce Sherwood '49, Marilyn Schneider '48, Billie Stetson '46, Carolyn Thomas '49, Virginia Reitz AT, Brenda Wilson '48, and Betsy Winegard '49.

This group will later be separated into a Varsity and Junior Varsity squad when the judges decide how the girls work together.

The decision was made by Miss Lavinia Creighton, Coach James McLane, Dr. and Mrs. S. R. Scholes, Ann Scholes, Fran Bovee '46, Taffy Macaulay '49, Carolyn Torrey, Arthur Kagan '49 and Fred Clark '47.

Betty Banks, Joyce Sherwood, Joan McQuillon and Brenda Wilson conducted the first of a series of pep rallies in assembly, Thursday, Dec. 6, to acquaint the students with the cheers.

The squad is hoping to obtain purple and gold cheering outfits

Girls' Basketball Teams To Compete

By the looks of the turnout for basketball practice last Friday and Saturday, the interclass games promise to be very exciting, according to Fran Bovee, Basketball manager.

The experienced senior team, minus a few regular players, and a quite new, but eager, junior team appeared at first. Later, came a fast sophomore team with several experienced players, who look very promising, and a frosh team, comparatively new but making up with their enthusiasm what they lack in experience at playing together.

The managers of these teams, as announced by Fran, are as follows: Senior Manager, Billie Stetson; Junior Manager, Connie Brennan; Soph Manager, Helena M. Bayko; Frosh Manager, Joan Slough.

Interclass games will start Monday, Jan. 7, with the following schedule:

Language Clubs Present Annual Christmas Event

Students To Portray Customs Of France, Spain, Germany, Rome

Thursday night, December 13, Social Hall will be the scene of the annual joint Christmas party for all language groups on campus. Representing their various countries, the Latin, Spanish, French and German Clubs will portray characteristic Christmas customs.

French Club Plans Simple Service

L' Offrande des bergers de Provence, (Offering of the Lamb), a simple ceremony which has taken place at the old church at Baux in Provence since the sixteenth century, will be presented by the French Club. As the title suggests, it consists of the offering of the lamb to the Christ Child by various peasants. Those taking part are Spike Rodies '47, Dr. Nease, Ann Seely '48, Robert Donario '49, Nora Utal '48, Olyce Mitchell, Annjeanette Mitchell and Barbara Crandall. The ceremony will be preceded by informal singing of two provençal Christmas carols and Minuit Chretien, the French carol which opens the Christmas mass in France, to be sung by Arthur Kagan '49.

Jean Camagni '46, Beverly Large '47, Carol Sampson '47, Ruth Macaulay '49, Edna Jane McBride '46, will sing in a French choir directed by Bruce Angell '49. Costume and properties are under the direction of Joan Ehrens '48.

The Latin Club presentation will open with the song Quis Desiderio. Carl Byers '48 will read Latin scriptures following which a pantomime of the Roman Saturnalia and an explanation of the connection of the Saturnalia with our Christmas will be given. A sextet composed of Jean Camagni, Maisie Barrus '46, Kalope Giopulos '46, Carl Byers '48, Victor Burdick '48, and Edna Jane McBride '46, plan to sing O Parve Vice Bethlehem.

Mexican Will Present Ceremony

The Spanish Club's presentation will consist of the Villancico from Galicia, a description of the Mexican ceremony of Las Posadas presented by Jorge Friedman, and a dramatization of Las Posadas. Las Posadas is the traditional pilgrimage of Mexican peasants from inn to inn singing their request for entrance. They are refused entrance until the last inn, which they enter and there hold a celebration around the Nacimiento.

Those taking part in the ceremony are: Gloria Woodward '46, Elvira Monacelli '46, Peggy Knight '46, Edna Jane McBride '46, Maria Becerra '46, Corinne Herrick '47, Spike Rodies '47, Robin Cochrane '47, Jean Martin '48, Mary Belfi '48, Marilyn Schneider '48, Grace Congdon '48, Carl Byers '48, Dorris Weaver '48, Jeanne Morgan '48, Neysa Jean Dixon '48, Lois Sutton '48, Janet Matson '48, Lois Berlinger '48, Edith Fagan '48, Phyllis Hurlbert Basch '49, Claire Weiner '49, Lucille Riccio '49, Katherine Lecakes '48, Marie Burnett '49, Adele '49, Sandra Rubin '49, Eli Fass '49, Sarah Conant '49, Cecil Podposki '49, and Joyce Sherwood '49.

again in Bartlett, and girls in various University-owned houses around campus, in the Brick, and in other houses owned or operated by the University," the President remarked.

Veterans Applying

An interesting sidelight on the situation is that, of the group applying for enrollment in Alfred, the majority of the applicants are veterans, about one-third of whom are married.

Though some doubt has been expressed as to the warmth of the trailers during the winter, they seem to present the most satisfactory solution to the problem thus far discovered. Although prefabricated "knock-down" houses are readily available, Dr. Walters pointed out that according to law such houses could not be used after four years, in order to eliminate competition for the building industry. Such an expensive project, providing, as it would, only a temporary solution, does not seem wise to the members of the Administration. The trailers, however, being leased can easily be turned back to the government.

Trials of Other Schools

Alfred's situation is in no way unique. According to a survey conducted by the American Council on Education, Indiana University veterans are sleeping in corridors and on cots in the gymnasium. Penn State students are occupying 105 trailers, and veterans at the University of New Hampshire are quartered on an annex campus, nine miles from the University, at a Federal Public Housing Authority project, originally built for shipyard workers.

Alfred Alumni Perform Varied Notable Duties

Many of Alfred's alumni and other associates are people who have been or are doing things of importance.

Dr. Galen Jones was recently appointed to the United States Office of Education. During the summer of 1938, Alfred became acquainted with this teacher. He taught in the graduate division of summer school, Department of Education. The two courses under his guidance were high school administration and supervision and educational and vocational guidance.

Private First Class Russell L. Langworthy, another former A. U. student, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Langworthy of Alfred, is now enrolled in Swansea College Wales, where he is studying liberal arts. Overseas since August, 1943, "Russ" has served in Iceland, England, France and Belgium with the 29th Infantry Division, earning the Combat Infantryman's Badge, the European Theatre Ribbon with two battle participation stars, and the Good Conduct Ribbon.

The course which this Alfredian is taking is made possible, according to an Army release, as a part of the Army Education program being conducted in Europe through the Information and Education Division, TSFET, headed by Brig. Gen. Paul W. Thompson. Similar courses are offered soldier-students at the Sorbonne, University of Paris, the Cite Universitaire at Dijon, and numerous other universities open to allotted quotas of army personnel.

Another of our alumni is Lt. Com. Leman W. Pottet '36, who has served in the Medical Corp of the Navy since May, 1942.

He is now on terminal leave awaiting final discharge in January. While he served in both of the Ocean areas, most of his time was spent in the Pacific. During the early part of the war he served for many months as Surgeon on a destroyer. Later he was assigned to bases at Pensacola and Alameda. His last service was as Flight Surgeon on a carrier. At present he and Mrs. Potter, Margaret Barvian '36, are living in

State Division Is Available For Vets

Services of New York State's Division of Veterans' Affairs are available to veterans attending Alfred University and the New York State Agricultural-Technical Institute at Alfred, it was pointed out today by Jack Moore.

An office is maintained in his home by Mr. Moore, State Veterans' Counselor for Allegany County, to aid veteran-students in any of the many problems which confront them. Mr. Moore, who resides at 56 South Main Street in Alfred, will be at home on Saturday mornings and on week-day evenings. His telephone number Drake is the educational adviser for veterans in the university.

The State Division of Veterans' Affairs was created to serve the veteran and aid him in re-establishing himself in civilian life, Mr. Moore, a vet himself and former Alfred student, explained. The Allegany County Veterans' Service Agency in the Courthouse at Belmont is also associated with the Division. C. C. Demmer is director there.

The Fiat meeting scheduled for tonight has been cancelled due to the game and the newspaper's party Wednesday night at 7:30 in Social Hall.
