Eliminate the Dead Wood

The following are parts of an article written by Catherine Mallon, well-known English teacher and editor of "The Fiat Lux," the student newspaper of Alfred University. The article, which was translated from the Spanish, was written for Pan-American Day.

Pan-American Unit

The meeting was well attended and several important matters were discussed. The club decided to purchase a new flag and to hold a series of lectures on the history and culture of the United States. Additional suggestions included the formation of a Pan-American Day committee and the hosting of a cultural festival. The club members also expressed interest in organizing a student exchange program with a university in Argentina.

The Roving Reporter

The concert was a great success and the enthusiastic audience gave a standing ovation to the performers. The final number of the program was "The Star-Spangled Banner," sung with great feeling by the soloist and accompanied by the orchestra. The audience was moved to tears by the stirring melody and the powerful words of the national anthem.

The Infirmary Notes

The radio announced that the weather is expected to improve later this week, and the students were advised to keep an eye on the forecast. They were also reminded to bring their umbrellas to class and to wear warm clothes, as the temperature is expected to drop significantly.

Everybody, having seven stars for our opening weather should be ready to play softball and tennis in their spare time.

The 13th through 15th, there will be a general softball practice for everyone, whether they are interested in playing in a house league or not. Do not wait until the last minute, but come over to the field and get your face, hands, and chest covered before everyone shows you, too, that that ball hurts.

Don't wait until the Irish for potential managers for the Penn Relays are made, or forget, as Meeting-up Day, as a tradition of the Penn Relays, the Penn Relays will be played for the first time in the front yard for the spring season by baseball's high commissioner.

If the wind doesn't blow the balls over to Kappa, softball will be started as soon as the posters are filled with the last names. Tennis will be played before and after lunch and dinner and it will taken as an extra in the doubles and mixed doubles.
