

Faculty Approves ROTC Unit For Alfred Campus By Substantial Majority

Board Of Trustees, ROTC Officials And Students To Vote Before Final Decision; AU Must Provide Buildings

Alfred University faculty today approved "by a substantial majority" the establishment of a Reserve Officers Training Corps unit here.

Dr. M. Ellis Drake, acting president, said after the meeting that the action must be followed by approval by the Board of Trustees, ROTC officials and by the student body before a unit actually is established at the 112-year-old university.

"However, we feel that this is a way in which we can prepare students for greater service in event they are needed," Dr. Drake said. "It will help to make those eligible for the draft better trained or others who are not drafted better prepared to serve in the defense of our country."

The faculty, last May, voted two to one for ROTC "if Congress adopts a Selective Service program of selecting a sufficient number of recruits to fill the established quotas of the Army, Air Corps and Navy." The present vote was taken to give new faculty and administrative personnel a chance to take part in the decision.

Chief among the "hurdles" to be taken before ROTC comes to Alfred is the stipulation that the University must provide buildings and facilities. However, ROTC officials have indicated that the former Alfred town barn bordering Terra Cotta field would be satisfactory and the University is taking steps toward its purchase.

Chest Drive To Include Seven Organizations

Seven organizations will be the recipients of the proceeds collected from this year's Community Chest drive. In order to aid students in deciding upon the size of their contributions to the Community Chest, a brief synopsis of the work of these organizations is presented here.

World Student Service Organization, Aids over eight hundred thousand students of college age to gain an education. It supplies them with much needed food, clothing, education and medical treatment. The W.S.S.F. campaigns only among the students and faculty members of American colleges and universities.

National Student Association—An organization of students which seeks to "maintain academic freedom and to develop better educational standards, facilities and teaching methods." It helps students with such problems as housing and securing employment after they leave school.

Religious Fellowship of Alfred—An organization on our campus that is open to all students. It presents forums every Sunday evening which include discussions of both religious and non-religious nature. It also presents the R.F.A. music hour on Sunday afternoons and an all campus picnic once a year.

Foster Child Plan—Under this plan, a group in America "adopts" children in the various European countries and supports them. These children are either orphans or their parents are unable to support them. Often they have been injured in the war and re-

Religious History Course Replaces Alfred Smokers

Due to a great number of evening meetings held by social organizations on the campus, Chaplain Myron K. Sibley has announced the discontinuance of the Smokers held last year. Chaplain Sibley explained that in place of last year's Smokers a two hour course entitled History of Religion is being given as part of the curriculum.

"This course," the Chaplain said, "purports to show that religion has an essential place in the life of the fully mature individual. College undergraduates are moving in the right direction in their attitude toward religion."

Outing Club Begins Construction Work For New Ski Tow

Construction work on the electric ski tow being erected on the 30 acre site of the Alfred Outing Club will begin this week, announced Jesse B. Shapiro '49, chairman of the ski tow committee.

A bulldozer supplied by A. L. Blades of Hornell, N. Y., has graded off the entire hill and cut new trails up in the woods thus providing an area near the top of the hill for the more advanced skiers and also a run off the bottom for the beginners and novice skiers.

"All we need now is the cooperation of the club members in order to complete the tow construction before the weather gets too cold," said Shapiro.

At 1:00 p.m. Saturday the club is holding a "hill cleanup" with all members invited to pitch in. The day's activities will be concluded with a barbecue for all those who help.

Tonight's meeting will be held at 8:30 in Kenyon Chapel instead of Social Hall. Movies of last year's Winter Carnival will be shown.

Registrar Releases Enrollment Figures

The breakdown figures of the University enrollment released by the Registrar's Office this week show an increase of about 50 students over last year's record enrollment. The number of students enrolled in the University totals 960 students.

Of this number 493 students, including 25 nurses, are enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts, 403 in College of Ceramics, 56 in the American Craft School and 8 in the School of Theology. Only 279 of these students are eligible to become sorority members.

In the College of Liberal Arts there are 324 men and 194 women. In the senior class there are only three more men than women, while in the junior class there are 67 more men. There are 121 Liberal Arts seniors, 133 juniors, 101 sophomores, 138 freshmen, 12 graduates and 13 specials.

The Theology students have a woman class mate and the craft school has 23 women students.

Craft School Plans Masquerade Dance

Tickets for the Halloween Carnival to be held at 8:30 p.m., Friday at the Men's Gym may be obtained from the members of the Craft School. The price of admissions is $.60 per.

A costume party, the dance requires that all attending wear at least a mask. Prizes for the best costumes, judged on the basis of uniqueness and originality, will be presented. In addition, a door prize will be given. Masks will be available at the door.

The music will be by the Canisteo Tune Twisters and there will be round and square dancing.

Walter Hinkle Succeeds AT Director Orvis

Paul B. Orvis has announced that he has been granted a two-year leave as director of Ag-Tech here to accept the position as chief of the food section in the office of U.S. Special Representative Averell Harriman in Paris.

Walter C. Hinkle has been appointed acting director of the institute by the State Board of Regents to take effect immediately. Presently, he is head of the rural engineering department and was co-director with Truman A. Parish from July 1943 to November 1945 while Mr. Orvis was serving in the Army Military Government for France and Germany.

Mr. Orvis' leave is effective immediately and he said he probably would accept this week the $15,000 Economic Cooperation Post which will put him in charge of food allocation for all of the 17 countries outside the Iron Curtain.

Mr. Orvis was called into U. S. Army AMGOT in July 1943. He trained at Ann Arbor, Mich., and served in North Africa and Palermo, Sicily. For 18 months he studied in England the food production proterid and requirements of France and Germany and later supervised the supplying of food to these countries.

He was released in Nov. 1945 and now holds commission as a major in the Army Reserves.

CS Student Enters Work In Art Exhibit

Roland Nadeau of the School for American Craftsmen will exhibit two items in a decorative arts exhibition opening Nov. 4 at the Newark, N. J., Museum. He will be represented by a large bronze bowl and two silver candlesticks.

Stating that Mr. Nadeau, was a "superior craftsman," Director Harold Brennan, of the craft school, pointed out that the metal student's silver candlesticks were on exhibition at American House in New York where they were seen by Alice W. Kendall, director of the Newark Museum, who asked for them to be entered along with the bowl in the small decorative arts exhibition.

Mr. Nadeau, a 31-year-old ex-Marine from Waterville, Me., currently is represented in two other exhibitions. He has matched enamel trays at a display entitled "Contemporary Metalcrafts," arranged by the Philadelphia Art Alliance and pewter and enamels in an exhibit called "Modern Wallpapers" which was arranged by the American Federation of Arts for a showing at the Galleries of the Architectural League of New York. The last exhibition will tour the country after the New York show.

Dr. Roland L. Warren and Dean Samuel R. Scholes Sr., have accepted invitations to participate in the faculty panel to be held in assembly on Nov. 4 according to Dean of Men, Edward L. Hawthorne. These faculty members, along with Dr. Ellsworth Barnard, Treasurer E. K. Lebohner, Athletic Director J. A. McLane and Dean Joseph Seidlin, will answer questions submitted to them by the student body.

These questions may be placed in boxes in the Fiat Office or on the Union porch. Students may mail questions if they prefer, to Dean Edward L. Hawthorne, Box 141. The deadline for questions is Thursday, October 28. Questions should relate to the University or the village.

"The purpose of this panel," said Dean Hawthorne, "is to assist in developing mutual understanding and constructive attitudes. The goal is enlightenment, rather than mere criticism."

A.U. Trustees Meet Today In New York

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees is being held today at the Broad St. Club, New York City. Representing the administration at the meeting were Dr. M. Ellis Drake, acting president, E. K. Lebohner, treasurer and Harold Reid, director of finance.

The budget for the year 1948-49 will be presented by the treasurer. The subject of ROTC and other matters pertaining to the University are to be submitted by Dr. Drake.

Dr. Frechette Picks Miss Limerick '48

Dr. Van Derck Frechette, College of Ceramics professor who just returned from a 25-day European jaunt to inspect ceramic plants and laboratories, ended up by judging a beauty contest on his last night in England.

"It was a big Red Cross benefit dance with Lady Adare on the committee at Limerick. We picked "Miss Limerick of 1948," briefly said the young scientist who seemed more concerned about the status of ceramic research in jet engine refractories than in the dimensions of a beauty queen.

He also was only mildly elated because he was allowed to pass through the Paris customs when entering France with only a minimum of scrutiny "because the workers were watching for some boxing champion I never heard of."

Dr. Frechette attended a colloquium on solid state reactions at the Sorbonne in Paris and the International Congress on Vitreous Enamels in London.

AT Library Decorating, Painting Nearly Completed

The decoration of the new Ag-Tech library located in the Ag-Tech building was completed this week. In addition to the painting which was completed this July, several new book cases have been added and four red leather davenport purchased. The new drapes have not yet arrived.

With the purchase of 60 fiction books, the total number of books in the library was brought to over 4,000. A display commemorating the birth of Theodore Roosevelt is being exhib-

Plans have been made to give every student on the campus a chance to contribute. Each University student will receive a pledge card, either through the mail or from solicitors in the larger residences. Ag-Tech students will be reached through the various departments of their school. Solicitors will include members of the Senate in addition to other students.

Daniel Kane '49, chairman of the drive wished to stress the fact that the money contributed will be divided as the student designates on the pledge card. If the student does not state how the money should be distributed, it will be divided according to the quota on the card. Thus the quota applies only to those cards which do not state how the donation should be distributed.

Kane reminded the student body that the committee was not asking for a specific amount from each student. "All we ask," he said "is that you give as much as you can, but every one give! Ask yourself how much you would give to each organization, if they were holding separate drives."

Senate members, who have not turned in lists of members of their residence, are requested to bring them to the Fiat office as soon as possible in order that the solicitors will be prepared to begin work on the day the drive begins.

ACS Members Elect St. Pat's Board Seniors

The senior members of the St Pat's Board were elected at the first meeting of the American Ceramics Society, Thursday. The six members of the junior class on the Board will be elected by the senior members at 5 p.m. today in Binns Hall.

The fourteen seniors on the Board include: Herbert Anderson, Willis Breitsman, Joseph Crispino, Charles Deignan, Edward Dick, Michael Humenik, Jr., John Kane, Michael Orzano, George Reuning, Charles Schane, Edward Schane, William Stetson, Leroy Weaver and Robert Whitford.

Before the elections, over one hundred ceramic faculty and students saw a color film on the Sewer Pipe Plant of the Robinson Clay Products Company.

Research Increases In England, France

"Chemistry and ceramic research in France and England is becoming more important than ever," Dr. VanDerck Frechette, of the College of Ceramics, said Monday upon returning from a 25-day trip to Europe where he attended a series of lectures at the Sorbonne University in Paris.

He said the two countries have a different objective, however. "In England, scientists are expending a great deal of effort in an attempt to gain world markets," he noted, "but the French simply are trying to get back on their feet."

"Another striking factor was the way in which research is undertaken," said Dr. Frechette who visited Europe as a naval technician. "The French are intensely interested in automatic machines and instruments.

"They want everything done as neatly and elegantly as possible. However, the English are more like us in that they weigh carefully the cost and use manpower whenever it is cheaper."

The Drive Needs Your Support

Those of us who remember the times when individual drives for contributions were held on campus, welcome the Community Chest plan. The main value of this drive is that students are not constantly being asked to give money for one thing or another.

Perhaps some of you are undecided as to how much to pledge or contribute. It seems to us the best way to figure it out is to make a list of the organizations and the amount you want to give to each, and pledge the total to the Community Chest.

However, do not take an "all-or-nothing" attitude. If you consider the total to be too far beyond your means, give somewhat less. But the main point is to give something—or at least pledge it if you do not have the money at the time cards are sent out.

If you have any preference as to what organizations you would rather support, you may indicate which ones, and the Community Chest Committee will consider your request.

No specific goal has been set this year, and no specified amount asked for from each student, so the success or failure of the drive depends upon how many students get in back of it.

Assembly Speeches

When students heard that the assembly schedule this year would start with four consecutive speeches (not including President Drake's welcoming speech), they were probably not looking forward to Thursday mornings. They must have felt somewhat better, however, when it was announced that three of these would be a series of speeches explaining the positions of the Republican, Democratic, and Progressive parties. As a matter of fact, we expected these talks to be rather valuable.

We are not sure how valuable they were, but we agree it was a good idea. It was no fault of the assembly committee's if the Republican constantly derided the other parties, the Democrat had nothing new to offer, and the Progressive side-stepped the questions asked.

We hope that later assemblies, if not more varied, turn out better than those so far. Compulsory attendance is just one of the factors that cause students to go to assembly grudgingly. Of course, the quality of the programs has a great deal to do with it.

But we will reserve any definite opinion on the work of the assembly committee until later on in the year, when we see the results of their work.

THE RAVING REPORTER

By Douglas Grever

There has been a great deal of controversy over the amount appropriated to the World Student Service Fund in the Community Chest drive. Since the drive begins next Monday, the Raving Reporter became a prying poller and attempted to get a cross section of student opinion on the subject. First of all we asked the point blank question, do you know anything about the organization called the World Student Service Fund?

Only 41% of those polled had even a vague idea of what the organization is. The remainder frankly admitted that they had no notion of what the purposes of the organization are. Obviously there has either been a lack of publicity, or a lethargy on the part of the students.

Last year the WSSF received 60% of the total amount that the students of Alfred contributed to the Community Chest. This year, they are receiving 20% of the proceeds, still more than any other organization. Therefore the students were asked: Do you think that this percentage is too high, just right or too low in relation to the other organizations?

Too high—44%
Too low—20%
Those that said that the percentage was still too high felt for the most part that other better-known organizations such as the cancer fund and the infantile paralysis foundation deserved at least an equal percentage. Others felt that charity begins at home and that the organizations having more to do with Allegany county or village of Alfred should be given the most consideration.

Those that felt that the organization was receiving too little said that because the W.S.S.F. solicited only the colleges of the country while other organizations solicited everyone, we should feel obliged to give more to this organization. Typical opinions of students are expressed below:

Richard Noble '51—The idea of the W.S.S.F. is a very good one and the amount we give should be as much as possible, but the results are too intangible and remote.

Florence Gluszek AT—With the much higher level of education we have in our country, I think we should give a much higher percentage to the students abroad.

NIGHT and DAY

By Barbara LaVan

Homecoming!!! Everywhere you look, people you never saw before, who throw their arms around you and screech, "Oh, I'm so glad to see you agin." Alumni, dates, fur coats, football games, open-houses, it's all homecoming and it's great stuff. But it's a good thing it only happens once a year, so some bright individual said.

All the fraternities and the Brick held open-houses after the Hartwick game Saturday night. A profusion and confusion of alumni with students was evidence during the course of a very enjoyable weekend for all.

Mr. and Mrs. Brinson Byington and daughter Lee were guests of Bruce Byington and Kappa Delta last Sunday.

Theta Chi recently entertained Miss Erma Hewitt at dinner. Last Monday evening Klan initiated four new members; Prof. Kurt Ekdahl, John Barnes AT, Peter Dahoda '51 and James Quackenbush '51. During the past week Klan also pledged four men; John Anderson '51, Earl Beechard '51, Jack Goodwin '50, and Dale Thompson '51.

Kappa Psi entertained Sigma Chi at dinner Wednesday evening.

Jane Lemlien was a weekend guest of Joan Rossell at Wheaton House. Theta Chi has recently entertained Lillian Lombardi '49, Patricia Fulton '51 and Lucille Ebner of East Rochester.

Last weekend Emily Nicholl '49 and Mary Eagle '49 attended a conference of the Women's Cooperative Government Association at Keuka College.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wightman were Sunday dinner guests of Kappa Psi.

Miss Vera Howe of Johnson City was a weekend guest of Doreen Newton AT at Sigma Chi.

Prof. Manola Rodriguez and Eugene Driscoll '51 were guests of Klan Tuesday evening.

Beverly Button '49 and M. E. Van Norman '49 attended the William and Mary game at St. Bonaventure on Saturday.

Lambda Chi entertained Bill Brown at dinner a week ago Thursday. Last Thursday Olin Johnson, band director, and Douglas Taylor '42, were guests.

Mrs. M. J. Rice, an honorary of Pi Alpha, was a guest at last Monday's meeting.

Mrs. A. M. O'Connor of East Rochester visited her daughter Eleanor Pettit at Sigma Chi last Sunday.

Prof. John Tagliabue Reviews Margaret Webster's 'Macbeth'

Margaret Webster's Company of traveling actors stopped here Tuesday night and gave their version of "Macbeth." It was fast and furious, colorful and melodramatic but in many ways it was not good.

"Macbeth" is a story of crime and punishment. It is a story of terrific vividness and concentration and, when put on, the problem is to prevent the vividness from becoming gaudiness, the concentration from becoming confusion.

Margaret Webster's production was not able to do that. Often there seemed to be no space between the actors, no design in their arrangement, and no feeling from which the poetry and the action grew. The minor actors ran around and muffled their lines; the major ones committed worse crimes. Macbeth and Lady Macbeth were not able to reveal in a subtle and tragic way what Shakespeare's poetry wants them to reveal—the storm within them. Macbeth was too bellicose and overacted; Lady Macbeth was too feeble. Consequently, the play had no depth and little meaning.

Shakespeare's poetry indicated that the hero of his play is a man of great conscience, of sensitivity, a man capable of visions and of great speech. The acting of Joseph Holland was not able to indicate that. Macbeth has a great capacity for suffering, which indicates that he was once noble and his imagination is still great. If we do not see Macbeth's nobility, he is only a melodramatic puppet or a pathetic boy.

Macbeth's ambition and what is always beneath that—his feeling of weakness, a fear that he is not quite man enough to satisfy his wife and himself—lead him on to the crime and his catastrophe. He is always his wife's boy.

The drama up to the blood-letting of the crime is all obvious. But the drama after the murder of Duncan is largely internal and psychological; it is the drama of Macbeth's punishment. The storm within him begins.

After the crime, the actor who plays Macbeth must be able somehow to externalize this storm which is taking place. Fear, guilt, Banguo's ghost, the whole storm breaks within him until he is broken. By the time he is brought the news of his wife's death, nothing is alive for him. He cannot feel; "life is a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Joseph Holland was not able to show this any more than Margaret Webster was able to create the atmosphere of secrecy and suspense which the play requires. The play must be both psychological and melodramatic. If it is one at the expense of the other, half of its great power is lost.

Even if it is played as straight melodrama, it should be gloomy, fast, terrifying. As it was, it was gaudy, noisy and often funny. This failure was conspicuous in the Banquo ghost scene, in the Macduff-Macbeth battle and in the "tomorrow and tomorrow" soliloquy.

I have not mentioned Lady Macbeth yet and her acting was so feeble that perhaps she should not be mentioned. Shakespeare makes the queen a fiendish force. She is needed to push Macbeth beyond his human limits into a state of evil which should terrify us as well as ruin him. Her evil did not seem to grow out of her body, out of deep feelings. There was nothing physical about it.

Lady Macbeth's negligee and her raven-like hair (was it real?) made her look more like "La Belle Dame Sans Merci" than the fiendish queen. She was flimsy, pale and sleek. She recited her lines poorly. She was so feeble, she was almost not there. A "Macbeth" without Lady Macbeth is like "Hamlet" without Hamlet.

The best thing about the production the other night was the audience. It was lively, responsive; it realized when the tragedy became a farce.

Letters To The Editor—

Band Leader Thanks Bill Brown

Dear Editor:
I want to express the appreciation of myself and of the members of the Band to Bill Brown, who pressed the uniforms which were badly mused in the University of Buffalo game. Bill not only refused to accept payment for the work, but made sure that the uniforms were ready before the Homecoming game.

I am sure the students and townspeople will be as pleased as I was when I learned of this loyal act.

quire a great deal of hospital care. American Cancer Society—Aims to establish a Cancer Detection Center in Wellsville. Allegany County, unlike most counties, does not have one of these centers. This Cancer Detection Center would be available to everyone. Cancer examinations would either prove that cancer was not present or would help catch it before it had advanced too far.

National Infantile Paralysis Foundation—Some of the money donated to this organization goes to the National foundation and some stays in the county. Money is used to carry on research and to help polio victims. Polio victims are sent to the St. James Hospital in Hornell and from there they are transported to Ithaca or Haverstraw for treatment, all without any expense on their part.

The Allegany County Tuberculosis Association—Conducts X-ray survey at Alfred each year. This survey determines whether students have tuberculosis or dormant tuberculosis germs in the body. Some of the money donated goes to the national foundation.

Miscellaneous—Pays for expenses of Chest drive, and is used to supply any other smaller charities that may wish to solicitate students.

The breakdown by classes of the University is 193 seniors, 234 juniors, 189 sophomores and 239 freshmen.

Infirmary Plans To Keep Plasma For Emergencies

The staff of the Clawson Infirmary is planning to stock the infirmary with blood plasma to be used for emergencies. The plasma will be obtained from the Rochester Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Response to the influenza injection offer has been very poor. All students have been urged to take the precaution.

Barbara LaVan and Mrs. Connie Quirk were confined to the infirmary for a few days last week.

Memo

TO: THE BOSSLADY
FROM: JERRYSMITH

The only thing missing from the Forum program the other night was "The Sabre Dance" in the second act. Nevertheless, it was the first time we ever saw the gymnasium that full of people. And despite what Prof. Tagliabue said about the quality of drama, that probably was the first time 90 percent of the audience ever saw a Shakespeare play on the stage. That alone should commend the Forum Committee for the usually thankless work they do.

There is just one question: Were all those strangers there on complimentary tickets and if so why? We know of at least two students who left because they were forced to sit so far back that appreciation of the play was almost impossible.

You know how easy it is to get pre-speech interviews with professional speakers? All you do is tell him you want a paragraph or a dozen paragraphs and, if the gentleman is a speaker of any experience, he will succinctly summarize his speech for you or, in some cases, hand you a copy of the speech. Sometimes they go so far as to point out the highlights.

Well, let us tell you how difficult it can be! We went with Prof. Snyder to meet Neil Brant, the Progressive Party plugger, who came Thursday for assembly. Here's a quote by quote description of the interview:

Mr. Memo: "Mr. Brant, would you like to summarize your remarks for the local papers?"

That Charlie Chaplin mustache bobbed up and down a couple of times. Mr. Brant: "I'm going to speak on our foreign policy."

Mr. Memo: "Well, would you want to summarize your remarks on the foreign policy?"

Mr. Brant: "What I'll say is all in our platform here." He handed us an 18-page, illustrated "summary" of the Progressive Party platform.

Mr. Memo: "Well, you probably won't give the whole platform. Would you want to indicate the parts you will repeat?"

Out flew a mechanical pencil loaded with red lead (you can make anything you want out of that) and he indicates at least a column on every page.

Obviously there was nothing new for any paper in that platform. Our only hope was to go to assembly and listen for baited questions. There, although a few students made a valiant attempt, it was the same old routine, one, two, step-to-the-side, close; one, two, step-to-the-side, close. That's why you don't have a story on the assembly.

Our gripe of the week is relatively minor. It only bothers us on rainy days. However, did you ever walk in front of Burdick Hall and get a collar full of rain from the leaky eaves? Or do you take the precaution of stepping around the puddle from having had the experience before?

Mrs. York, after spending a hard night with the adding machine, told us that the University receives $1.53 and one-third cents per day to feed students eating in dormitory dining halls. Then she added;

"We're having a hard time keeping the per-student costs down to that. Some days we run over. When you figure in all those things that don't go on the table, such as overhead, perhaps you will see what I mean."

Crowd Of 5000 Sees Saxon Warriors Beat Hartwick 25-7

Before a Homecoming crowd of 5,000, Hartwick College was subdued, 25-7, by the Alfred University gridgers, Saturday evening under the lights of Merrill Field.

The game was marked by clean playing and few injuries. Dale Thompson was badly cut up, but he was the only one really hurt.

The contest marked the final home game of several Alfred regulars—Hal Brown, Art LaSalle, Sid Schweitzer, George Reuning, Iggy Scott, Rags Sutherland, Charley Clark, and Bill Argenti. Jim Boule, a reserve quarterback, also played encouraging ball, as did Thompson.

The first Saxon touchdown came three minutes after the game started, when a series of plays brought the ball deep into Hartwick territory. Hal Brown slipped around left end for 20 yards for the touchdown. His try for the extra point was blocked. Alfred's second touchdown came when Bill Argenti recovered an Alfred fumble in Hartwick's end zone. This time Brown's extra point try was wide.

That ended Alfred's conquests for a time, as Hartwick's Larry Sant Angelo scored from the two yard line, after a long drive. Stan Wilski's point after touchdown was good.

Alfred scored another touchdown in the second quarter on a pass from John Barnes to Joe Reilly for 27 yards and a touchdown. Brown passed to Argenti for the extra point.

The second half was the scene of one more touchdown for Alfred. It came soon after Argenti intercepted a Hartwick pass on his own 38 yard stripe. Five plays later Clark went over to make the count 27-7.

Alfred gained 226 yards to 46 for Hartwick; 16 first downs to Hartwick's four.

The lineups:

Argenti	LE	Kamanski
LaSalle	LT	Noppa
Schweitzer	LG	Black
Buzak	C	Cardillo
Scott	RG	Pierson
Thompson	RT	Wilski
Lester	RE	Palmucci
Barnes	QB	Longo
Brown	HB	Footo
Reuning	HB	Synal
Reilly	FB	Sant Angelo

Statistics: (Alfred first) — first downs, 16-4; yards gained rushing, 226-46; yards gained passing, 93-34; passes attempted, 12-11; passes completed, 6-3; passes intercepted by, 4-0; punts, 5-7; average distance of punts, 31.6-29; runback of punts, 46-50; kick-offs, 4-2; fumbles, 8-2; ball lost fumbles, 3-0; penalties, 7-4; yards lost penalties, 85-28.

Food Technicians To Meet

Joseph Pellegrino, head of Frozen Foods department will attend the meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists at Syracuse, Oct. 30. He will represent Alfred's food department.

Flurschutz, O'Neil, Wightman Run Dead Heat As Saxons Win

Bob Wightman, Dick O'Neil and Paul Flurschutz, matching strides through the greater part of the race, crossed the finish line abreast in the record equaling time of 24:51, as the varsity cross country smeared Niagara 17-49 last Saturday.

Reagan of Niagara, who captured fourth place, trailed the victorious trio by thirty-two seconds and was closely followed by Paul Betlem and Don Rosser of Alfred. Hoar of Niagara placed seventh; John Anderson, Earl Bechard, Tom Myers, and Frank Schroeder, the rest of the Saxon squad, took the next four places.

Our aggressive squad made its characteristic, speedy start and by the end of the first half mile, five Saxon harriers led the pack. At about the three mile mark, however, just before the course turns into the cemetery, Reagan passed Betlem and Rosser to take over fourth place. Though he finished strongly, he was never a threat to the three leaders.

Their second one-sided victory in two weeks, the varsity team meets their big test against highly touted Colgate this Saturday at Hamilton.

Morgan Establishes New Track Record

John Morgan again lowered the record for our 2.5 mile freshman cross country course last Saturday in leading the undefeated yearlings to a 19-42 victory over a strong Buffalo Y. M. C. A. team. Morgan shattered by forty one seconds the mark he set the week previous, reducing it from 14:08.3 to 13:21.5.

At the start of the race Walter of Buffalo sprinted out to take a twenty yard lead Morgan, running his usual steady race, gradually closed the gap. He passed Walter at the 2 1/4 mile mark and won driving to beat the

Sports Sidelights

Despite Alfred's large margin of victory in their 27-7 victory over Hartwick, they acted as if football was a new word in their vocabulary. They played a sloppy, uninvolving game throughout the contest. A game marked by a definite lack of interest. Hartwick gained 40 yards rushing. How they gained this is something that should be looked into. Hartwick, a team which has very little in the line of football talent, must also have put the curse on the Purple and Gold, because they looked as if they had little more.

If football is a new word in their vocabulary, we're glad it was finally defined. We might now see some football, let's hope so.

Concerning the Alfred-Hartwick clash, we think the most well-liked occurrence of the evening was the half-time festivities. For the first time this year Alfred's band was in full dress, the fraternities were well represented, Dan McGrew was shot, and to top it off, "Little Alf" showed up and demonstrated his great strength. It was an entirely enjoyable half-time, but it should be a once-a-week affair, rather than once a month during the football season. So let's see more of it in the years to come.

Zeno Club To Hear Talk By Student On 'Normal'

"Why the Normal?" will be the title of a talk by H. Stanley Graf '49, at tonight's meeting of the Zeno club, according to Joan Berkman '49, club president. Following the talk and a question and answer period, refreshments will be served. Miss Berkman urged all members to attend, since several important motions will be discussed and voted upon. The meeting will be held at 8:15 p.m. in room 20 of Physics Hall.

Buffalo ace by eight seconds. Nick Berg, Herb Shindler, captain for this meet, Bill Cordes and Sammie Fame finished in a group thirty seconds later to give Alfred five of the first six places. Riemer, Caldwell, Clark, White, Fisher and Boulton crossed the line in that order to complete the scoring for Alfred.

The team will meet the Cornell frosh this Saturday at Ithaca.

Archery Tourney Ends Saturday With Swain High Scorer

Janice Swain was high scorer at the Women's Fall Outdoor Archery Tournament held on Saturday. Carla Dohm was highest scorer at the 40 yard target with 167 points. Barbara Hurlburt and Judy Leondar tied on the 30 yard target with 132 points each. Louise Nelson, a beginner, shot 149 points on the 20 yard, and Janice Swain, advanced, shot 212 points on the 20 yard target. The women archers could choose their targets and received prizes for high scoring.

The sophomore-junior team has won the interclass softball trophy, losing no games. The tournament ended Saturday with the senior team defeating the freshmen 17 to 3. Ruth Macaulay pitched for the winning team.

Three cheers for the cheerleaders. They have done a fine job and worked hard under the able management of Carolyn Thomas. A cheerleading practice for men and women was held last night in the Men's Gym, and another is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 27 at 7 p.m. Tryouts will be held on Nov. 3 at 7 p.m. in the Men's Gym. If those trying out need additional practices, contact Carolyn Thomas (phone 74).

Sign-up slips for the all-campus badminton tournament to be held on Nov. 7 will be placed in the residences soon. Those interested are asked to sign up before November 2.

Participants in the Women's Fall Tennis Tournament are asked to play off their matches as soon as possible before snow has to be cleared from the courts for them.

Bartlett Holds Klan To One Touchdown

In the weekend's intramural football games, no high scores were reached, even by Klan, indicating that the teams are well matched.

The Bartlett team proved their gaining in power by holding the unbeaten Klan to one touchdown. The final score was 6-0. Lambda Chi suffered its third defeat, 7-0; this time at the hands of Delta Sig.

Kappa Psi bowled over Kappa Nu 6-0. The Klan won by a forfeit from Kappa Nu earlier in the week. Kappa

Alfred To Meet St. Lawrence Gridmen At Canton Saturday

Alfred University will travel to Canton, Saturday, to oppose St. Lawrence University in what should prove to be an excellent contest.

Alfred is way behind in the series with St. Lawrence which started back in 1929. St. Lawrence has copped seven victories to Alfred's two. Last year the Saxons defeated St. Lawrence 20-7, the largest margin over the Larries in their nine meetings.

Buffalo Edges Out Saxon Frosh 13-7

Last Friday night Little Alf's frosh eleven lost to the Buffalo U. freshmen, 13-6. The first half was a seesaw battle in which neither team scored. Belmer's kicking held Buffalo at bay throughout the first half.

The first score of the game came in the third quarter when Alfred recovered a Buffalo fumble on Buffalo's 24 yard line. From there they advanced the ball to the 12 yard line for a first down. On the next play Buffalo was penalized to their own one yard line, and from there Dan Biro carried it for a touchdown on a quarter back sneak. The conversion failed, making the score 6-0.

Buffalo's first tally came in the next few plays after the Alfred kickoff with Dinnorenzio running to the 38 yard line. From there Hollands passed to Markey for the tying touchdown. The conversion was successful, pushing Buffalo ahead 7-6.

Another Buffalo score came in the fourth quarter when the Bulls intercepted an intended Alfred pass on our 36 and ran to the 26. Hollands again passed to Markey for the score. The conversion was unsuccessful and the score was 13-6. Alfred's attempts to tie the score were unsuccessful.

Delta stepped up the ladder by defeating Ellis Manor 8-6, and Saxon Heights 7-0. The Aces gave the Schmoos a 6-0 victory.

This year, St. Lawrence has not shown up well at all, while Alfred has been hot and cold. This contest should be a very close affair, with Alfred a slight favorite.

Although the quarterback assignment is still in doubt, the rest of the starting lineup will be as follows: Bill Hayden and Vic Saccoff Astoria, will play halfback; George Costaregni of Greenwich, Conn., is slated for fullback; Pete Keck of Pittsford, Vt. will be at center; guards will be Jack Barron of Tarrytown and Paul Haley of Watertown; Roy Last of New Rochelle and John Shakshober of Manhasset will be at the tackle positions, and ends will be Jim Maley of Kenmore and John Moro of North Tarrytown.

Clyde Burke To Sing With Blue Barron's Orchestra At Festival

Clyde Burke will be the featured vocalist, Nov. 12, when Blue Barron and his orchestra play for the Harvest Ball from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. in the Men's Gym.

In addition to Clyde Burke, Blue will have two female vocalists singing with his 14-piece orchestra which will play without intermission during the entire evening.

Blue began his career by playing in the various college outfits while at attend Ohio University. The tendency of most bands to blare their way through melodies caused him to formulate his own style, a cross between Sammy Kaye and Guy Lombardo.

After graduation, Blue started his own business in Cleveland but decided to organize his own orchestra. Once the nucleus was formed, he worked to organize a musical library.

Soon after the band's appearance, Blue received a call from the owner of the Edison and Lincoln Hotel in New York City and received a long term contract.

From that time Blue and his band have made successful appearances throughout many parts of the country. He came here from the Tea Gardens in New York City.

Registrar's Office Holds Lost, Found Department

An official Lost and Found Department has been set up in the Registrar's office in Kanakadea Hall to climate the constant confusion of reporting to other places on campus, particularly the Union.

Articles turned in since last September include black suede woman's gloves, black rosary beads, a black Sheaffer fountain pen, a black mechanical pencil, and a silver cap to a "BB" ball point pen.

Numerous items held over from last year include a man's Wittnauer wrist watch, eye glasses, opera glasses, a slide rule, keys, and bracelets. Owners are urged to contact the Registrar at once.

The Managing Editor has in her desk drawer (upper left hand, the one that you steal cigarettes from) a Benjamin Franklin Memorial Coin which was found on campus several weeks ago. Owner may have same if he can tell whose picture is engraved upon it.

Wives Should Have Student Rates: SAC

Wives of students on campus should be allowed to attend Forums and all athletic events at student rates, it was decided Wednesday evening by the Student Affairs Committee. The organization plans to consult Forum officials about the University undertaking this expense.

Congestion in the post office at noontime was also brought before the committee. There cannot be house-to-house deliveries in Alfred because the post office lacks a first class rating. The committee suggested that each residence house send a person for mail to relieve the congestion each noon. No decision was reached but John Pitcher of the committee will confer with the postmaster for further suggestions.

The SAC heard a report that the platform in the Men's gym is too low for play productions since the audience in the back cannot see well. Katherine Lecakes '49, committee secretary, will investigate.

Anyone who has a pertinent problem which he wishes to bring before the committee is urged to contact any of the following: Daniel Kane '49, Jack Jones AT, William Greeley CS, John Pitcher AT, Emily Nicholl '49, John Magrino AT, Paul Baker, Spec., Phyllis Wetherby '50 or Katherine Lecakes '49.

Footlight Club Work On Sets Nears End

The set for the Footlight Club production, "The Far-off Hills," is nearly complete according to James Hall '50, the designer.

"The setting, which is an interior, is made up of stationary flat and dyed burlap drapery," said Hall, "and all the work must be done in spare time."

When asked the first step in designing a play set, the designer replied, "First, I read the play and make a set of drawings adequate for the mood of the play. Simplicity is the keynote of design," he added.

Hall designed the set for last year's production of "Antigone," and previously assisted in the design of "Green Grow the Lilacs." He is assisted by Richard Tracy '49, construction head and Sergio dello Strologo '51 and Michael Lax '51 of the construction staff.
