Group, at a closely contested election, was elected to the position of football's in the Kave window. All tickets are sold to benefit the new organ and Mrs. Ada Becker Seidell, of the Village Church. The chorus, under the direction of Prof. William H. Fiedler, is directing the program. He is assisted by Edward Lebohner, treasurer for Alfred, who resigned from office last spring, said that there is a need for closer understanding and cooperation among the students on campus and to support the parking situation on Main Street.

He added that he was in favor of the parking situation.

Mayor John Jones, who conducted the meeting, also voiced the opinion that the meters would be installed on a year's trial period, as no one was interested in the proposal of collecting 25 cents from each car.

By Whom The Bells Toll, Or There's Music In Them Hills

There is a particular subspecies of bells in Alfred. There are bells that are nothing but bells, like those in Alumni Hall. There are bells for Delta Sigma Pi. The most obvious example is the Davis Memorial Carillon. At the University, the bells have a special meaning. They are a way of maintaining a sense of tradition and continuity. In Alfred, the bell ringers are a club, and the bell tower is an iconic symbol of the university. The bell tower is the only thing that remains of the old Alfred University. The bells are rung every day at 5:00 PM, and are a reminder of the university's history and tradition.

There's Music In Them Hills

There are several organizations that are interested in the music problem on campus. Among them are the Student Senate, the University Choir, and the AORC. It is important to note that the university is doing its best to provide a high quality of music education for its students. The university has recently received a grant to develop the music department, and this will help to improve the quality of music instruction on campus. Perhaps there could even be a music department on campus. We should all work together to make this happen.

The decision of the American people to elect Dwight D. Eisenhower as president has been met with mixed opinions all over the world. Here at Alfred we have representatives from many nations eager to express their opinions. Some students at Alfred: “What drastic change, if any, will the election of General Eisenhower have on America? I don’t know. I think that things will stay the same, and that America will continue to be a great country.”

Ferris Says Olympics Is No Ladies' Day For U.S.

Girl's schools and 20-colleges today were urged to cooperate in the development of girls athletes in track and field events so that Uncle Sam's chances in the 1956 Olympic Games will be strengthened.

The plea came from Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union. Ferris has been the leader for forty years and has seen this development from the start. He was a veteran in the Olympics himself.
