

Parents' Day Develops; JOHN HERRICK SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS Folks to Have Their Day

According to an announcement made on October 17 by President M. Ellis Drake, the University is planning an official parents' group to be known as the Alfred University Parents' Association.

The new organization will include the mothers and fathers of all students now enrolled in the University. Parents will serve as officers on an executive committee and will work closely with University officials in carrying out the functions of the association. This is a direct result of the recently held Parents' Day luncheon.

Plans for the formal organization of the group are now being made. Handling the arrangements is Dr. Lyman Judson, Assistant to the president.

"The development of the Alfred University Parents' Association," explained Dr. Drake, "will help to establish much closer ties between parents of University students and the University itself."

Dr. Drake also declared that as a result of "the tremendous success" of AU's first Parents' Day, the program will become an annual affair.

Dr. Allen Discusses Increasing Enrollment

Dr. James Allen Jr., President of the University of the State of New York and State Commissioner of Education, was guest speaker at the Founders' Day assembly last Thursday. Dr. Allen spoke about today's greater demands for higher education and how the colleges and universities are to meet those demands.

The speaker cited the advantages of a college education in preparing young people to live in today's increasingly complex society and in enabling them to compete in life's ever expanding fields.

He then predicted that within a few years the number of students completing high school will be double what it is today and that furthermore, a greater percentage of these students will wish to continue their education in college. "This tidal wave must not engulf our schools," he warned. In addition to the greater number of students completing high school, Dr. Allen gave two other reasons for the predicted increase in college enrollment:

1. The newly realized need for education.

2. The demand for education created by current conditions.

"The only way to meet the obvious problem this is creating," he said, "is to expand our educational facilities." He went on, "Now is the time to plan. We must develop a system that will serve all those who would profit by its existence. Our educational system should be flexible to meet the needs of the changing world."

According to the speaker, if well planned, the extension of the state educational program need not be a threat to the privately-owned institutions. Using Alfred as an example, Dr. Allen noted that, in fact, in many cases state schools have actually aided the growth of private institutions.

Later in the program, President Drake presented Dr. Allen with an honorary degree conferring upon him the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

Through the generosity of John P. Herrick of Olean, scholarships for students in the Alfred University area, who have demonstrated traits of scholarship and citizenship, have been established.

President M. Ellis Drake poses with the Herrick scholarship holders for 1956-57. The front row finds Jay Abbott, Bernita Behrens, Joyce Harrington, Brenda Johnson, Lucy Smith, Dianna Graessle, Maryellen Harrington and Joseph Vollers.

Ceramics Association Meets

The twenty-third annual meeting of the Ceramic Association of New York was held on October 20 in Binns-Merrill Hall.

The morning session began at 10:00 a.m. with a brief welcome by the President of the Ceramic Association of New York, Vincent Young. He introduced President M. Ellis Drake who formally welcomed the group. Dr. Drake cited the importance of the Ceramic Association in the development of the ceramic program at the University and expressed his hope for continued cooperation with the Association.

He then apologized for the appearance of the campus due to the construction of the Herrick Memorial Library and the Science Building, and mentioned that people often overlook the fact that the Ceramic College is one of the units of the University and that data on the University is appropriate.

He informed the group that the total enrollment for this year is 1,213. 423 of these are enrolled in the Ceramic College, 27 of which are graduate students.

The next speaker, Dr. W. G. Lawrence, reported on research activities at the Ceramic College. Dr. Lawrence stated that the College received $168,000 from the government for research and $75,000 from the state. With other research grants included, the total for research activities approximates $320,000.

Dr. Lawrence spoke about the different research projects now in progress and cited that the research department also does teaching work. Last year, he stated, six hundred teaching hours were put in by nine members of the research department.

The last speaker was Dean John McMahon, who spoke about his summer trip to Europe. He visited various Ceramic Societies in Ireland, England, Holland, Germany, France, and Italy. While in these countries, the Dean visited brick works in Switzerland and Holland, and the Institute of Refractory Research in Germany. He also attend-

Defense Alert

The Allegany County Office of Civil Defense has announced a public exercise for this coming Saturday.

The alert will begin at 12:45 p.m., with a steady blast of three to five minutes duration on the fire siren. At 1:15 p.m., a three minute warbling tone will signal the public to take cover. The all clear will be sounded at 1:25 p.m., with another three to five minute blast.

Freedom Panel To Meet Today

All interested persons are cordially invited to attend a panel discussion of "Our Heritage of Freedom" on Tuesday, October 23, sponsored by the Alfred-Hornell Branch of the American Association of University Women. The discussion will be held in Room 357-8 of the Ag-Tech Industrial Building at 8 p.m.

Participants will be Mrs. Donald Biehl, Mr. Ronald Brown, Mrs. Carol Champlin, Mrs. Helen Cottrell, Mrs. Andrew Hritz and Mr. Nathan Platt.

The panelists will discuss the background of the concept of freedom of the individual and the dignity of man, covering three periods of American history: the Constitution to the Civil War; the Civil War to World War I; World War I to the present.

The meeting will be highlighted by the use of music and significant quotations which show the development of the concept of freedom.

PREVIEW OF HAPPY DAY . . .

The seniors will have the robes on again for Moving Up Day and then in their final week as undergraduates for Baccalaureate services and for the Commencement on June 9.

Shaggy Brown

At the opening of school a collarless dog appeared in Alfred. Shaggy brown coat, white muzzle, female. If the property of a student, she should wear a collar, be regularly fed (which apparently she is not), and be out at night only when accompanied by her owner. Otherwise a humane society will have to "take over."

Hazel Humphreys, SPCA

Kanakadea

Seniors are asked to pick up proofs of their pictures on Friday at Howell Hall between the hours of 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Any senior whose picture was not taken for this year's Kanakadea is requested to contact Mr. James Grimm at Memory Studio in Hornell immediately. The phone number is Hornell 2456.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor of the Fiat Lux:
Your editorial in the Fiat Lux of October 16, "Something of Value?" has brought to light an interesting question: that of whether campus tradition should completely give way to the apathy and discontent of a few. The particular situation in question is that of frosh hazing on the Alfred campus.

Hazing of freshman has been a standard tradition on this and other campuses throughout the country for generations. It is, in essence, a means whereby the upper classes demonstrate that they are an integral part of the college community, and that the frosh have yet to learn the customs and mores of the campus. It is not meant as a means of persecuting certain individuals!

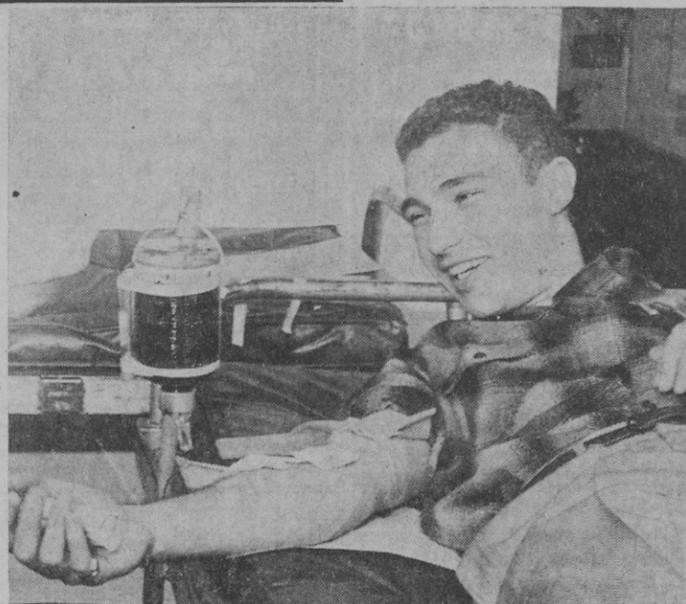

This year, as in other years, there are a few freshmen who feel that they have been personally affronted; to this we can only say that you are wrong. The organizations that administer frosh hazing and other campus functions must rely upon the cooperation, integrity and sincerity of the entire student body. With this in mind, it is possible that the person or persons who "turned you in" did so with malice; if so, you would do better to accept the situation as such and not go about campus tearing asunder all that you may find slightly uncomfortable. We live in a collegiate society, and as in all societies, those who derive the most benefits and pleasures from community living are those that give of themselves for the community. The "griper" will find neither satisfaction for himself nor will he earn the respect of his fellow students.

From the Fiat editorial it is readily discerned that the question of immediate interest is whether the freshmen "were ill-equipped to face a new situation" or did "the members of the Blue Key mishandle the proceedings badly." To this there is only one answer: the freshmen were very definitely ill-equipped. Frosh hazing and Frosh Court have been carefully planned and executed with the knowledge and consent of the university administration. If these traditions were a "possible evil" there can be no doubt that they would be discontinued, and justifiably so.

Perhaps the best advice that can be given to those who gripe and cry "persecution" would be for them to visit other campuses during frosh hazing and then come back to AU and decide for themselves if their cries are warranted.

The bodies were there, 156 to be exact, but 23 potential donors were rejected because of colds.

Canadians Give "Gynt" For Brilliant First Forum

by Gene Lane

Six hundred gintian trolls saw a brilliant performance of the master builder's "Peer Gynt," last Thursday, as the first Forum presentation.

The Canadian Players Ltd. under the direction of George McCowan used little more than "two boards and a passion" to put across "Gynt." Actually what they used were seventeen actors, the Alumni Hall stage, twelve 500 watt fresnels, two eight-foot ladders, one ten-foot ladder and a variety of barrels.

"Peer Gynt" was originally designed and directed by Douglas Campbell, and along with "Hamlet," is the repertoire for this group of the Canadian Players Ltd. from Stratford, Ontario. The ladders previously alluded to, with a plank between them, represented mountains, houses, ships' decks, or whatever the occasion called for.

All the actors took more than one role and the mise-en-scene was largely left for the audience to recreate. Throughout the almost three and one-half hour performance the element of audience re-creation, as well as the generally sensitive acting, choreography and design, kept the viewer well within the realm of belief.

Using the Norman Ginsbury translation, the cast worked with a minimum of props in an effort to present the religious, sexual and psychological nuances and bold symbology in the text.

"Peer Gynt" is not an easy play to do. One of Ibsen's early plays, it symbolically and almost allegorically represents the duality of the nature of man and the impossibility of the resolution of this duality on a physical level. The stage is Gynt. The characters are Gynt. And Gynt is Everyman reliving the history of man; and at the same time Peer Gynt is Peer Gynt.

Bruno Gerussi strikingly unravels the complexity of the role in his physicalised awareness of the implications of a single word or gesture.

In the physical-spiritual polarity of the play the satanic characters are equated with the physical. Gynt is bestial. He fantasises and one of the offspring of his fantasies is the Troll princess whom he desires. By her he has an offspring: a swine delivered by Satan.

The Troll King, played by George McCowan, explains to Gynt the trollian nature which, unlike the human "to thine own self be true," says "to thine own self be enough." And Peer Gynt who is forever being "himself" by satiating one lust after another is tormented by the children of his fantasies.

Solveig, played by Frances Hyland, Saint Joan of last year's performance, is the spiritual in Gynt's nature. She stands outside of him in an idealised abstracted conception of the good, the mother, the wife and the Virgin.

After passing the seven circles of depravation Gynt finds that he is truly trollian and is neither so great a sinner as he thought nor so great an individualist to warrant not being thrown into a common soul-pile to be melted down for Satan's purposes.

And yet the play ends on a fierce note of affirmation. One finds one's identity through love in another. The mother who is at the same time untouched by sin, a mother who can be at the same time the Virgin is the salvation for Gynt who will be judged not at any of the three crossroads but only at the final one.

The play is essentially moral and although it is evident that Ibsen cares little for the men of the church, Christian dogma is the basis for a great deal of the symbology. At the same time, the play is as Director McCowan said, "terribly witty."

It was only in the very occasional lapses in unity of impression seen in some of the farcical scenes that the play failed; but picking at the parts of a play is done afterward. The essential point is whether the play works or not; whether the play is dramatically and artistically successful.

"Peer Gynt" was.

Survival Transcends Political Wrangling

A speech by Dr. Melvin Bernstein highlighted "Democratic Night," the third in a series of political science election debates, held October 16 in Kanakadea Hall.

Orators Marvin Lipper, Maxene Gorewitz and Ann Bergman preceded the featured talk.

Dr. Bernstein initiated his speech with a discussion of Adlai Stevenson's H-bomb and draft proposals. He pointed out that survival transcends election-year wrangling, and the H-bomb issue places us squarely in the arena of public opinion. Concerning the draft, the speaker maintained that people throughout the country are questioning the fairness of its administration. Dr. Bernstein held that the draft is democratically diffused, but not equally distributed.

Personalities in the campaigns, such as Nixon, Stassen, Brownell, Dulles, Wilson, Humphrey and Benson were cited by Dr. Bernstein. He described Dulles as "a most expert airman of diplomacy," and characterized Humphrey by one of Mr. Humphrey's statements about "Old man and the Sea." "Who would want to read a book about a man who is a failure?" The speaker grouped Wilson, Dulles, and Benson together as the "inept phrasemakers of American idealism."

Dr. Bernstein pointed to the Democrats and Republicans as being different in the methods whereby each would achieve such things as peace, prosperity and progress. He cited the tax bill of 1952, in which corporations were granted income tax reductions eight times larger per taxable dollar than families with incomes of less than $5000 a

In summary, Dr. Bernstein emphasized that the coming election is more than a contest between two men's smiles. He mentioned that Adlai Stevenson has turned our attention to the drifting tendency of American political decision makers.

Mr. Lipper's talk dealt with foreign policy, including the Israeli-Arab conflict, Secretary of State Dulles' blunders, and the problem of Western trade with the East. The speaker contended that an absence of warfare does not indicate world peace. He concluded by suggesting that perhaps the present administration does not comprehend foreign affairs.

A "New America" program dealing with health, education and old age was presented by the next speaker, Miss Gorewitz. The plan calls for a comprehensive health insurance plan available on a volunteer basis to all Americans, the establishment of a Department of Education, with Cabinet status, and the initiation of training programs for older people, along with the establishment of an office concerned with older people's welfare.

Miss Bergman, the fourth speaker of the evening dealt with the issues of "big business" and Mr. Nixon.

The speaker discussed "big business" tactics of the present administration, such as the Tidelands and Hell's Canyon Dam giveaways. Miss Bergman focused attention on Mr. Nixon's "telephone" and "pink sheet" campaigns when he ran for the Senate against Jerry Voorhis and Helen Douglas. Mr. Nixon's record in Congress also came in for severe criticism.

"History of Military" Is Theme Of Fifth Annual R.O.T.C. Ball

Sponsored by the Eyes Right Club, Alfred's fifth annual Military Ball was held Friday night, October 19, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Men's Gym.

This year for the first time, decorations centered around a main theme, "The History of the Military from the Revolution to Present Day." Carrying out the theme, black silhouettes of soldiers from the Revolutionary War through World War II were placed against a blue background. Also used were the usual tent and revolving colored lights which flared against a glass centerpiece suspended from the ceiling.

Al Cileski was master of ceremonies and music was provided by Syl Novelli and his orchestra. During the course of the evening the Goon Platoon gave a demonstration followed by the entrance of the sponsors and their escorts to the platform where the sponsors received their honorary commissions and flowers.

Miss Rosemary Bracker, sponsored by Company A, was escorted by Cadet Captain Marvin Krinsky. Cadet Captain Phil Bailey escorted Miss Dianna Graesse for Company B. For Company C Cadet Captain David Erwin escorted Miss Dotty Ormsby. Company D's sponsor, Miss Nancy Cashimere was escorted by Cadet Captain Ronald Webb. For Company E Cadet Captain Garry

Childs escorted Miss Dotty Baxter. Ann Hopkins was escorted by Battalion Commander Donald Harris.

Responsible for the ball were Captain H. C. Day, advisor; Donald Harris, chairman; Dave Rochford, printing; Dave Laktasich, refreshments; Lee Sobon, decorations; Duke Rodemoyer, publicity; Bill Rhodes, ceremonies; and Melvin Cognowski, general activities.

Faculty members of the design department have been attending conventions and exhibitions these past few weeks.

Two weeks ago, Professor Rhodes traveled to Syracuse to serve on the final jury in judging selections for the Syracuse National Ceramic Exhibition.

During the weekend of the 13th, Professor Harder, chairman of the design department, accompanied by Professor Randall and Dr. Klitzke, attended the Convention of National Associations of Design Schools. The meetings were held at Cooper Union, Pratt Institute, and Parsons School of Design. On October 30 four members of the Ceramic College staff will attend a meeting of the Basic Science Division of the American Ceramic Society at Clemson Agricultural College in Clemson, South Carolina. MAIL MOB

In an attempt to ease the traffic problem in the Post Office, and to provide space for new mail boxes, the lobby has undergone several changes.

The partition containing the mail window has been moved back four feet so that three sections of boxes can be installed, increasing the total number of boxes to 994 from 664. A new parcel post window has been added to facilitate service during the rush hours.

Several sections of boxes were placed along the left wall to split up the "mail-getting mob," said Mr. Gould, postmaster.

12 O'CLOCKS

The possibility of having 12 o'clocks every Sunday night was discussed at the regular meeting of the Women's Student Government last Tuesday.

Each W.S.G. representative will discuss the matter with the girls in her house and a representative vote will be taken.

FILMS

Three films sponsored by the design department will be shown on November 8, at 4:30 p.m. in Binns-Merrill Hall.

The first film, "John Martin," depicts the life of the "dean" of American watercolorists, describing how he transposes the world about him into expressive paintings. The second, "Chartres Cathedral," is an architectural study. The last film, entitled "Spanish Gypsies," offers an opportunity to witness exciting flamenco folk dances and to hear songs at a gypsy festival.

Exhibit Augments Tech's "Our Town"

Augmenting the Ag-Tech Drama Department's presentation of the popular Thornton Wilder play "Our Town" on two evenings, November 7 and 8, will be an exhibit at Glidden Galleries scheduled for Sunday, October 28, through Saturday, November 9.

Helen Cottrell, assisted by many townspeople, is preparing the display of artifacts and documents from early-day Alfred, which will be installed October 27 under the direction of Mortimer Clark and Glidden Parker.

While doing the research necessary to assemble such an exhibit, Mrs. Cottrell discovered that the building now occupied by Glidden, in addition to having been the Woolworth Building, was once a station of the Underground Railway. Escaping slaves were fed and sheltered there on their journey to Canada and freedom. Further details are related in documents which will be included in the display.

Immediately following the final performance of "Our Town" on November 8, a reception will be held for the cast and production staff. Refreshments will be served and the public is cordially invited.

Big, rough, tough Buffalo pits its grid strength against Alfred's Saxons Saturday at UB with all prospects showing a jarring, close battle.

Sportscasters and writers in and around the Lake City seem to be counting up the winning margin for the Buffalo squad. Only last Saturday one TV commentator just shrugged off the Alfred-Buffalo clash saying that UB is too strong and will win by about two or three touchdowns.

Having traveled with the footballers for all of their games since this record streak began I can't see shrugging this club off. It will take a good ballclub to knock them off. Buffalo could be the team to do it, but to get the win they'll have a fight on their hands.

A team that is used to winning doesn't give up easily. Albright found this out during the last two years. Hobart and the nineteen game undefeated streak fell before the Warriors last year and this same Buffalo club came into Alfred for the kill last year.

The Bulls limped out of town a 26-14 loser. Cortland was to have been rough this year. The result of the game was an easy 24-6 romp. Buffalo could be the team to topple the Yunevichmen. They have more than enough talent and manpower on the 35 man squad which boasts of 14 lettermen.

Someone is going to topple the Saxons but this writting off of AU just because the opposition is the University of Buffalo just doesn't make sense.

This Purple and Gold team has the talent and the desire to win football games and I believe the many spectators who will be making the trip to Rotary Field on the Buffalo campus will see another victory go into the record books for Alfred.

SOME NOTES ON THE SPORTS SCENE — Reports from the eyewitnesses at the cross country match against Syracuse show that Frank Finnerty was leading the field when a "guide" misled him on a turn on the Drumlins golf course. The only thing that kept him in the race was a call from one of the Syracuse runners to get him back on the course. The time lost cost him the race.

This isn't the first time that things like this have happened at Syracuse. Frank Gilbert and a few other Saxons were lost two years ago and the same thing happened to Cornell last year.

The Orange have one of the best squads in the nation. Why do things like this have to happen? It doesn't happen at Alfred.

Tinklepaugh Home Guted by Fire

The home of James Tinklepaugh 22 Park Street, was gutted last Wednesday by the worst house fire here in ten years. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Tinklepaugh who turned in the alarm at 10:15 a.m.

Under the direction of Fire Chief Sam Scholes Jr., the Alfred Fire Department and the Alfred Station Fire Department brought the flames under control by 11 a.m.

The cause of the blaze was of an undetermined origin, but it is believed to have started under the back porch.

The entire back of the house was demolished, while the rest of the structure received severe smoke and water damage.

Mr. Tinklepaugh, who is director of the Air Force Research Project, his wife and their two daughters lived downstairs in the house while the upstairs apartment was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Monroe.

Following the fire the Tinklepaughs stayed with the Brownson Martins and are now living in Saxon Heights. The Monroes are staying with the Ed Soxman family on Ford Street.

Chief Scholes commenting on the fire stated "I hope that during my lifetime there is no other fire which is as bad as this one was."

Joan Snyder, president of WAGB, has announced that on the 27th there will be a playday between the Alfred girls and Keuka College at Keuka.

American International College has Gold and White as its colors and is nicknamed the Aces.

Alfred's game at Brockport State will be the first time the Saxons have played at BST since State had its field fixed. AU hasn't played in Brockpot in the last ten years.

The Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference consists of 105 member schools of which Alfred is a member. The conference started in 1938.

Twenty-three teams went through last year without winning a football game. The leader was Alabama with 0-10-0.

been elected as the new president of the Intramural Board after the resignation of Stan Ren. Don Wilklow of Lambda Chi now fills the treasurer's position vacated by Luhrs.

Nice to see all of the alumni and all of the enthusiasm shown during the Homecoming weekend. The final home game should also have a big crowd with lots of good football action.

Hoopsters in Action; Cutting Time Near

Saxon basketball practice started for both the varsity and the freshman squads last week in the Men's Gym with more than fifty candidates reporting.

Leading the group working out with Coach McWilliams are four men who earned their varsity letters last year. They are John McNamara, Bob Greene, Harry Bunnack and Ted Olson. Coach McWilliams is expected to cut his squad down at the end of this week.

The freshmen, coached by Lennie Rapkin will be cut tomorrow night after practice. The only other additions to the squads will be made after the football season when some of the football players are expected to report.

Managing the squads again this year is Allen Siegel. The openers for the two teams will be December 1 against Brockport State in the Men's Gym.

It's Now or Never

Rotary Field in Buffalo has a section reserved for Alfred students for Saturday's game. Students from AU are requested to enter the Bailey Avenue entrance of the field. Director of Athletics McLane informed the FIAT that Buffalo has completely sold out the park for the game and that the only seats left were for the Alfred section to be sold at the park. Game time is set for 2:00 p.m.

Four teams finished with ties to mar their perfect seasons last year.

Alfred seemed to be bursting at the seams with alumni last weekend. I don't think you could've found an empty bed, couch or piece of floor at any of the houses on Friday night. The Military Ball, the Ithaca game and other festivities attracted quite a mob.

At Delta Sig, the party started Saturday afternoon at three, with a party, and a buffet dinner after that. After the game, there was an open house. Car parking service this weekend was conducted by Al Bush. Delta Sig is starting a new alumni association to help to bring the alumni closer together. Plans for the program were discussed over the weekend. A few of the boys and their dates went to Dead Dog Gulch for a picnic Sunday afternoon, the fourteenth.

Kappa Nu had a stag party at the house Friday night for the alumni. There was a buffet dinner at five Saturday, and a party after the game.

Kappa Psi had a buffet dinner starting at one. The alumni organization had a meeting at three, and after that, there was a party. Open house was held after the game.

Klan had Kappa Psi at the house for a joint party Friday night after the Military Ball. Klan's Civilian Ball was held the same night at the Hotel Wellsville. There was a buffet before, and a party after the game.

Lambda Chi had a punch party before the Military Ball, and party afterwards. Saturday, there was a buffet in the afternoon, and a party after the game. Paul Messner (Class of '55) became engaged last Friday night to Janet McChesney of Sigma.

"The Rats" have new outposts at Buffalo, Cornell and N.Y.U.

Tau Delt's piano finally got moved upstairs in time for the after-game party. Congratulations to Jerry Kreichman and Shelley Fuchs, on being engaged.

Jenny Gobert was married Saturday to Lou Krevolin.

Pi Alpha had a punch party Saturday afternoon from two to four for the alumnae. Correction: Carol Steinberg and Eddie Kleban will not be married until December.

Sigma had open house for the alumnae Saturday.

Bombers Toppled 46-12 In Homecoming Event

by Allen Siegel

Every once in a while a team starts to read their press clippings and they think they are the top club around.

This seemed to be the Saxon Warriors trouble last Saturday before one of the biggest Homecoming crowd's in Alfred's history. Merrill Field played host to better than 5500 fans as the Warriors scored their twelfth consecutive win with a 46-12 drubbing of Ithaca.

The score may seem impressive but the game was far from it. Only one star flickered brightly over Merrill Field and this was the Warriors' little 165 pounds of dynamite named Jimmy Ryan who put on quite a show for the fans.

Jimmy scored three touchdowns on runs of 40, 34 and 38 yards. He kicked two extra points, caught a pass that netted 21 yards and picked up 158 yards on the ground out of the teams' 383.

While Jim was doing most of the work and putting on the show an Ithaca College team that hadn't scored a point all year got two touchdowns, held Alfred to a 7-0 margin at the quarter and a 21-7 lead at the half.

The lead was cut even more on the first running play of the second half when a flashy back named LeRoy Prettyman raced past the Saxon defense for 76 yards and a TD that had the scoreboard showing Alfred's margin at only 21-12.

After Jimmy Ryan had tallied 14 points for AU, freshman Ralph Talarico scored the final TD of the first half for the Purple and Gold. Ralph came in from the 2 yard line after a 32 yard run by Johnny Zluchoski, another Saxon bright light, had set up the score.

Ithaca scored its first touchdown of the year on the last play of the half when end Carlo Vieni caught a 13 yard pass.

Ryan's third TD got the score to 27-12 and near the middle of the period Al Moresco climaxed a 59 yard drive when he scored from 5 yards out.

The second play of the fourth quarter gave the Homecoming fans another Saxon score when Al Moresco tossed a 15 yard pass into the arms of Tom Cechini. A 29 yard pass play from Moresco to Pokorney had set this tally up. Moresco then ran for the extra point.

The final score came when Louie Thrasher flipped a 13 yard pass to Bob McEnroe for the TD.

If the Alfred team looked unimpressive in winning, Ithaca looked even worse, especially on pass plays which saw the Bombers dropping about 5 perfect passes in the clear. Alfred hit on 7 of 23 airials while IC hit for 7 of 21. The total AU offense was 523 yards to gray clad Ithaca's 295.

The twelfth straight Saxon win sets the stage for the game that could make or break AU in its bid for a second undefeated and untied season. Saturday the University of Buffalo and the Yunevichmen will tangle in the renewal of their fifty-four year old series at Buffalo's Rotary Field.

The Bulls are 3 and 1 on the year with wins over Cortland, Carnegie Tech and St. Lawrence and a one TD loss to Western Reserve marring their season.

For Alfred to get win number thirteen they will have to play a lot better ball than what was demonstrated Saturday. Maybe this was the one bad game that they were entitled to. They got it out of the way at a most opportune time and now the big one is coming up

Ithaca Extra Points

Starting line for clash was Shultz, Farnan, DeSantis, Carlin, Cranston, Teta and DeChristopher. — Wales did not dress due to an injury. — Don Carlin was the captain.

Special guests at the game were members of Alfred's 1916 team that won five of six starts taking decisions from Lancaster, Rochester, Theil, Hobart and the famous Carlisle Indians while losing to St. Bonaventure.

Saxon end Charlie Shultz gained new honors last week when he was named on the All-East team of the week by press box balloting at the 43 games in the ECAC.

Others picked for this award included: Lloyd, Lafayette; Kurker, Tufts; Lorely, Boston U; Chilbert, Westchester; Radakovich, Penn State and backs Banham, Columbia; Brown, Syracuse; Call, Colgate and King, Connecticut.

Halftime saw a salute to Victor Herbert by the All Campus Band.

The afternoon pep rally drew about 250-300 people to the Brick lawn with the cheerleaders, band, football players, Coach McLane and University Treasurer and former manager Lebohner present. Dick Phelps was the MC.

Brick, Sigma Chi Tops in Volleyball

At the halfway mark of the women's volleyball season the Brick has a half game advantage over defending champions Sigma Chi. The frosh are 4-0 while the Sigma girls are 3-0.

Some of the scores of last week's games were Kruson 52 — Theta 25, the Brick 52 — Pi 28 while the Castle forfeited to the Sigma girls 1-0. Kruson fell to the Brick 53-26 and Omicron took the Castle with a forfeit win.

The standings show the Brick and Sigma followed by Pi, Omicron, Kruson, Theta and the Castle.

Saturday the Brick will be playing the upperclassmen in field hockey on the South Hall lawn.

Finnerty Sets Record As Harriers Top State

by Mike Alexander

Sparked by the record shattering performances of Frank Finnerty and freshman Larry Sweet, Coach Milton Tuttle's harriers drubbed the visiting Cortland squad 20 to 41, last Saturday afternoon.

Finnerty, the Saxon cross country ace, turned in an outstanding performance as he bettered the existing record of 22:17.5 which he set two weeks ago against Colgate. Frank topped his previous mark by a good 36 seconds. Following Finnerty across the finish line was Larry Sweet, who surpassed the old record time for the 4.3 mile course by three seconds. Sweet's time was a fast 22:14.5.

Cortland's Paul Gigliotti was the third man to finish, coming in a minute behind the two fleet Saxon pace setters. The State runner edged Dave Wilcox of the Purple and Gold by a scant three seconds.

The placings between the third man and the eighth were extremely close, with all six men being clocked between 23 and 24 minutes. The six closely bunched runners finished in this order: Gigliotti of Cortland, Wilcox, Clendennen of Cortland, Frank Gilbert, Carl Blanchard and Joe DiCamillo.

Rounding out the top ten was the Purple and Gold's Doug Smith and Dick Todd of the visitors.

Alfred Varsities Head for Buffalo

Both the football and the cross country teams will be in Buffalo this weekend.

The footballers will be playing at Rotary Field against the University of Buffalo with game time slated for 2 p.m. Stands have been reserved for an Alfred rooting section and the Bailey Avenue side of the field entrance should be used for admission. The Blue and White seat 6000 at the field.

While the football contest is going on the harriers of Dr. Tuttle will be running on the Canisius College course for the second time this year.

The harriers shut out Canisius in a dual meet to open the season and on Saturday they pay a return visit to compete against a large field in the Canisius College Invitational Meet.

After this meet the harriers will take on Union at Schenectady on the third of November and they will conclude dual competition with Buffalo at Alfred on the sixteenth.

The squad will also compete in the NY State Meet at Clinton, the ICAAAA Run in New York City and the NCAA Meet in East Lansing, Michigan.

Salem College Tops A. U. 19-0; Dean Percy Held Responsible

by Howard Rosenstein

Many people on the Alfred campus know Evert Percy as line coach of the Saxon football squad while others know him as Dean of Men at the Agricultural and Technical Institute.

How many people know that back in 1932, he was a standout guard on a Salem College football squad that came up to Merrill Field and defeated Alfred 19-0.

Salem had a pretty good ballclub that year and Alfred was just mediocre, so the game couldn't really be called an upset. The crowd that night would have been quite surprised to know that the hard fighting starting guard named Percy some day would be coaching the team that he had helped beat.

Coach Percy was born in Ohio and went to school in Harrisville, West Virginia. His biggest thrill came while at high school when the three Percy brothers teamed up to score his school's entire total of 26 points in a shutout win.

A graduate of high school in '30 he then enrolled in Salem College, which is in West Virginia. While at Salem he played both varsity football and baseball, starting in left field for the nine. His sophomore year saw a switchover from back to the guard position and Mr. Percy has been working with lines ever since.

The Ag-Tech Dean of Men earned his masters in physical education. After graduation he coached high school football in West Virginia and then at Mansfield State Teachers College in Pennsylvania. Alfred became home for Coach Percy in '50 when he came to the Ag-Tech school, which at that time was connected with the University.

When asked about the football squad representing AU this year he thought the club shaped up pretty well and that there was a possibility of the club going undefeated, but he added that none of our remaining opponents would be pushovers, and that the club could be upset by any one of them. He named Buffalo as the team most likely to cause trouble.

Since '50, when Coach Percy arrived at AU Coach Yunevich's teams have had an impressive record of 36-6-2. Unfortunately Coach Percy's alma mater didn't fare as well and last year the Salem team had a record of three wins and five defeats. It looks like Evert Percy, Saxon line coach, always surrounds himself with winning teams.
