Mr. Carey McWilliams, editor of "Nation" magazine, will be on the Alfred campus Thursday evening, May 9.

McWilliams is former chief of the California Division of Immigration and Housing and has done much work on the history of racial minorities in the United States and the causes of race conflict.

McWilliams, as well as being a lawyer, is also a noted author. Most of his works concern social attitudes, prejudice, minorities and civil liberties questions. Among his books are "Witch Hunt: The Revival of Heresy," "Brothers Under the Skin," "Prejudice," and "Ill Fares the Land."

In 1940, he was president of the Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, and in that same year won the Guggenheim Award for a projected study of agricultural land ownership in Havail. He has also done extensive research on the problem of migratory workers.

Since 1945, he has been connected with the "Nation" magazine, one of America's oldest opinion magazines. He rose to his present position of editorial director of the journal in 1952.

The American Association of University Professors is a national organization of 37,500 members at 1000 accredited colleges and universities.

He will address the third annual joint meeting of the Alfred University and New York State Ag-Tech Institute chapters of the American Association of University Professors, 8:15 p.m. in Howell Hall on the subject of "The American Scene — 1957."

All students, professors, and townfolk are encouraged to attend this open meeting. The fee will be 50c for students and $1.00 subscription rate for all others.

Judy Lerner Wins First Prize In "Mademoiselle" Art Contest

Judy Lerner, senior design student, has won the first prize in the annual Mademoiselle Art Contest.

The contest is held specifically to discover talent which would otherwise remain unknown. Anyone under 26 years of age may enter. Two winners are chosen, their drawings illustrating the two winning stories in the Mademoiselle fiction contest. For the publication of their work the winners each receive $500 and photostatic copies of their work are kept on file.

Miss Lerner, a resident of Queens, N. Y., submitted five samples of lithographs and drawings. She plans to do graduate work in the Institute of Design in Chicago.

Earlier this semester, Miss Lerner was represented in an exhibition at the Glidden Galleries. Judy is past president of Phi Sigma Gamma and is presently art editor of the Alfred Review.

Library Committee Sponsors Student Bookplate Contest

A contest for a new bookplate design for use in the future acquisitions of the library when it moves to its new location has been opened to students of the university.

Any contestant may submit as many designs as he chooses. All designs must have an overall size of 6½ inches in width and 9 inches in height, to be reduced to bookplate size for reproduction. A space in the lower half of at least 5½ inches wide and 3 inches high must be entirely free of design for use of the call number.

The design should definitely be suggestive of books and reading, may make use of any part of the new building, must be done in black and white, and must include the following: Herrick Memorial Library, Alfred University. Designs must be submitted to the librarian on or before May 10.

The library committee will act as judges, and their decisions will be final. The committee will reserve the right to reject all entries if none, in their judgment, seems appropriate.

A prize consisting of an art book with a list value of $15 will be awarded to the student whose design is chosen by the committee.

With ninety percent of the returns in, a total of $7,025.52 has been collected for the ambulance drive. The cash amounted to over $5,426.52, and the remaining money will be underwritten by the Crandall Hook and Ladder Co., on pledges.

Since the ambulance drive has considerably exceeded its $5000 goal, a better ambulance will be purchased than originally planned. It was decided to purchase a 1957 dover white Buick.

It is expected that there will be enough funds available to purchase a two-tank resuscitator after all the reports on funds are made.

Time to Give Blood

The Rochester Bloodmobile will be in Alfred tomorrow at the Student Union, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Those who have received polio shots are requested to wait two weeks before making a blood contribution.

Of the 150 pints quota, 50 pints are to be stock-piled for national defense purposes.

From the Editor . . .

All That Glitters . . .

It has been suggested in some circles that a new type of "Moving-Up Day" be inaugurated — one which would signify the advancement of an institution of higher learning rather than the mere mechanical movement of classes. On a local level, the questions seem to be: "Is the University advancing at all, as a university, or are certain individuals taking it upon themselves to progress in a very personal manner? Can the University be considered as a unit with its own personality, thus taking advantage of checks and balances to avoid the bias of individual members, or is it an oval for cyclic frustration on the part of sincerely interested persons?"

We must answer truthfully that we're not sure. There seems to be a fair share of faculty members and students on campus for whom education has taken on real meaning. On the other hand, the University, as a personality itself, seems to be devoid of any such interest.

We see where a University panel will outline the qualifications a student must possess for admission to AU, on a television program from WRGB in Schenectady. Perhaps another phase of the program should clarify what the University expects from the graduating student.

The University has a right to expect and demand adherence to certain standards of participation and improvement, and we feel that a majority of students would fulfill such expectations. Up to now, however, Alfred, as a unit, has shown no demand or expectation for its enrollees to be students. Negativism, when pushed to its limit, can appear to the outsider to be something else.

"Fiat Lux"

Letters to the Editor

MOVEMENT QUESTIONED

Dear Editor:

Just to keep myself straight on the Alfred University development plans recently summarized by President Drake, I would like to ask a few questions. The contest is open to anyone on the Alfred campus, but you have to be pretty smart to answer them, right?

How much for example, will alumni and friends have to contribute before the administration breaks ground on some new, sensible policies. Will the cornerstone ever be laid on an Alfred Hall of Non-Sectarianism? Perhaps the school is waiting for the proceeds of the sale of Merrill Field football lights before they venture into such new fields.

Would an Honor System for Alfred academic and social lives cost even this much? Or is the thing which is so "dear" the "Old Alfred System?"

Why "Of particular interest to students is physical plant," or why does the president think so? Is it too much for students to expect a faculty with active interest in its teaching and its pupils? Perhaps we should be satisfied with a faculty which substitutes a passive acceptance of a job well undone.

It will take a lot of 35c basketball games to sponsor to prof or administration with the honest interest and honest attempt, as well as the school with the Honor System. Finally, if the students have to reach in their pockets for this Cause as well, how many would even try?

Sincerely,
Daniel Gurney

WRONG IMPRESSION?

Dear Editor:

I am under the impression that the $10 which each participating softball team pays into the treasury of the Intramural League is for the purpose of paying for both umpires and equipment for the game.

If this is the case, then why were there no umpires for the RATS' first game and only one umpire for the second game? Incidentally, the League didn't even supply a softball for that second game.

Huh?

The main speakers at the three plenary sessions were Mr. William L. Holland, Prof. Harlan Cleveland, and Prof. Ahmed Bokhari.

Art Fete Moves Friday To "Doll's House" at Gym

by Bonnie Gross

"'A Doll's House' has been in rehearsal virtually only three weeks, and I have never really seen a play progress in that time as this one has," commented director Ronald Brown when asked how the play was progressing.

He continued, "The play is an easy one to produce, but we are working now to give it finesse, which is difficult because 'A Doll's House' has no unusual stage effects to depend on, only actors, acting, and direction."

See:

Men's Gym

In viewing the "Doll's House" ment becomes quite apparent, for the Victorian set, designed by John Emery, is a completely non-symbolic, wholly functional and naturalistic one.

The stage itself is a rectangular platform not quite five inches high; it is cut diagonally in half by a couch and a table, and on its outer rim are various chairs, tables, and a phonograph, all of which create the desired illusion of a slightly shabby bourgeois apartment of the late Victorian era.

The darkness of the set serves two purposes: it helps create the mood of the period, and it also enables the actors to dominate the set instead of vice versa, as often happens in amateur productions.

Seating begins four feet from the edges of the platform. The seats which are placed on three sides of the stage, are on a slight outward angle for visual and psychological reasons that become obvious during the course of the play. Approximately three hundred people will be able to be accommodated.

In keeping with the set, the lighting is moderately realistic. The two Alumni Hall switchboards have been moved down into the gym. It is interesting to note that in the performance of "A Doll's House" the Footlight Club will use a couple of spotlights designed by Norman Emden, former director of lighting for the Footlight Club. The spots were sent as a gift from Mr. Emden, who is currently in Seattle.

Most of the costumes have been rented from Van Horns in Philadelphia. The sound department has no major problems in this play; one of its most technically fascinating effects, however, is the creation of a second floor over the Helmers' apartment by means of sound.

The makeup will be as natural as possible, especially since the audience will view the actors at such close range.

To review the major cast members and technicians: Judy Koshetz, Warren Mintz, John Emery, John Kelley, and Carol Rosen are the most important characters. Ronald Brown, director; C. Duryc Smith is technical director; Mira Rubenstein, assistant to the director; and Paul Wright, production manager.

All male students who wish Alfred University to file their Selective Service Boards on form SS109, should see Dean Gertz. This form is needed for any male student who plans to continue his education here or elsewhere.

"Elijah" Oratorio To Be Presented

On Sunday evening, May 12, at 8 p.m., Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be presented in the Seventh Day Baptist Church.

This will be the Music Department's annual Spring Concert and features the combined voices of the University Chorus and Chapel Choir. Admission will not be charged and the performance is open to the public.

Soloists performing in the oratorio are all from the University, except one, who is a recent Alfred graduate. The participating soloists are: Carolyn Simpson, soprano; Gwen Whiting, contralto; Paul Green, tenor; John Peck, bass. John is presently from Rochester and was a recent soloist in the Brahms "Requiem" presented by the Rochester Oratorio Society. David Johnson, head of the music department, will conduct the group while accompanying them on the organ.

"Elijah" is Mendelssohn's most famous oratorio and this is believed to be its first performance at Alfred. It was chosen because none of Mendelssohn's works have been represented on campus.

The work is based on the powerful and dramatic story of the famous Biblical prophet. It tells of the Israelites under the rule of wicked King Ahab who are warned by Elijah that God will send drought and famine unless they repent of their sins.

Review Coming Soon

Dean McMahon Honored Twice

The Society presidency is the highest ceramic office which can be attained in the United States. Founded in 1899, the Ceramic organization now has more than 6,200 members and subscribers in 47 countries.

The new president has been dean of the College of Ceramics at Alfred University since 1949. He joined the American Ceramic Society in 1925 and was made a Fellow in 1937. He served as Society Vice-President in 1954-55 and as President-elect in 1955-56.

Dean McMahon was born in Cohoes, N. Y., on Oct. 1, 1900. He attended Alfred University, receiving the B.S. degree from the Department of Ceramic Engineering in 1923. After a year at Alfred as an instructor, Dean McMahon was employed by the Queen's Run Refractory Co., Lock Haven, Pa. Journal of Politics to Publish Engelmann Article on Parties

by Judy Zeiger

"A Critique of Recent Writings on Political Parties," an article written by Dr. Frederick C. Engelmann, has been accepted for publication in the Journal of Politics published by the Southern Political Science Association.

This article is the result of three years study conducted by Dr. Engelmann through the Alfred University Research Foundation. The information was compiled from sources in the libraries of Yale University, Cornell University, and the University of Rochester.

Dr. Engelmann made a critical analysis of writings on political parties with democratic aims, in the western world. This study included Europe and North America. Emphasis was placed on writings published in the period since the end of World War II.

The political works were analyzed in terms of the positions they dealt with. Dr. Engelmann paid special attention to questions on party structure, which includes the group's organization, membership and leadership, and also the nature of the party system. Questions about the group's history and policies, and the electoral history of the political party were also considered.

Colgate Trackmen Top A. U.; Alfred-Ithaca Meet Tomorrow

Kelley High Man for Alfred Trackmen Picking Up 10 Points in Field Events

The Alfred track team journeyed up to Hamilton on Saturday to meet the Red Raiders of Colgate. The cindermen were looking for their second dual meet victory of the season, but the big-time Maroon team led all the way to defeat the fast-closing Saxon squad, 71½ to 59½.

The tracksters get another shot at win number two tomorrow when they meet Ithaca at Terra Cotta Field. The meet opens at 3:30 with field events, while the track contests start at 4:00.

Led by junior Ted Bocuzzi, Colgate started well both in track and field events. Frank Schuerholz registered a 4:31.6 mile victory, while Larry Sweet led the Alfred milers in second. Frank Finnerty, who picked up an easy 4:24.7 mile victory last Wednesday against Buffalo, did not compete.

Slim Steve Kelley was the big producer for Alfred, picking up points in three field events. He tied for first with team-mate Steve Cohen in the near-sweep high jump finale. Kelley took second in both the pole vault and broad jump, behind Colgate's Bill Williams and Bob Lewis.

Bocuzzi, captain-elect of the Raiders winter track team, took first place in each event he entered. He took the javelin throw as well as the 100 and 220 yard dashes, which he clocked in at 10.0 and 21.4.

The other Saxon firsts went to Sweet in an easy 2 mile victory and Bill Clark who breezed through the 220 yard low hurdles at 25.4. Clark was upset in the 120 highs as he took second after hitting a track hole and tripping three successive hurdles.

Mile — Schuerholz (C), Sweet (A), Chesire (C), 4:31.6
440 — Donahue (C), Brownell (C), Ulmer (A), 51.2

120 High Hurdles — Skels (C), W. Clark (A), Wilkinson (C), 16.6

2 Mile — Sweet (A), DiCamillo (A), Haskell (C), 10:11.6
Low Hurdles — Clark (A), Skeels (C), Welch (C), 25.4
Shot — DeGeeter (C), Pierce (A), DeChristopher (A), 40 ft. 8 in.

Saxons Best UB, As Four Runners Take Double Wins

Perhaps the Saxon trackmen aren't to blame for the hot weather out on Terra Cotta Field last Wednesday, but their blazing romp over the University of Buffalo certainly didn't cool things down. The opening dual meet saw Alfred breeze to a 99-13 to 31-23 victory.

Frank Finnerty, Willy Clark, Steve Kelley and Dick Kappus led the way with double wins, as Saxons took every running event on the card.

Finnerty was never threatened as he clipped off a 4:24.7 time in the mile run. He came back later to take the two mile as well.

Clark won both hurdles events, while Kelley took both the broad jump and the high jump.

Tom Curtin, trainer for Alfred athletic teams, has been asked to write an article on athletic massage for "Training News" a monthly publication for trainers throughout the country.

Curtin will be starting his fourth year as Saxon trainer next September.

(FIAT Photo by Lyons) Steve Kelley demonstrates the form which enabled him to cop the high jump event at the recent Alfred dual meets with Buffalo and Colgate. The slender freshman from Avon has also placed in the pole vault and the broad jump in both meets.

Golf and Tennis Return for Full Home Schedule This Week

Five home dates are scheduled this week in spring sports, as the tennis and golf teams return from their opening road matches.

The golfmen meet Rochester for the second time this season at their home course, the Wellsville Country Club. Thursday, Jay McWilliams' tennis squad faces the Brockport Eagles in their first Alfred encounter.

Other matches on the card for the two teams are May 11 and 13, the netmen against RIT and Rochester, and Friday, May 10, when the men of Yunevich meet Brockport on the links.

The golf team has already met both the Rochester and Brockport squads on their opponents' courses. Individual wins by seniors Ron An-

Disa and Data

Tackle by number 38, Shultz . . . These words, echoed through the hills of Western New York, and sites played by the Saxon footballers during the past four years, have gone hand in hand with top flight football.

As a freshman Chuck Shultz showed promise of being a top flight end . . . Today he is a two-time All-American end and has a signed contract with the Baltimore Colts of the NFL for 1959.

It's a long way from Turtle Creek, Pennsylvania, to Alfred University, to professional football, but one Charles H. Shultz has made the transition.

As a result of his play for Coach Yunevich's twice-in-a-row undefeated and untied Warriors, both the Saxons and Shultz have received national attention.

Because of his play the members of the University's Varsity "A" Club have named Shultz the recipient of the first annual Senior Athlete of the Year Award . . .

This year the decision was not hard to make, because of the outstanding calibre of one fine athlete, gentleman and scholar, Chuck Shultz. The ovation he received at the Moving-Up Day assembly clearly shows that Saxon fans agree with the Club's selection.

NIGHT BEAT NOTES — All three Saxon squads are at home this week . . . Golfers are at local links this afternoon against the UR while RIT opens the home campaign against the netmen on Thursday at the Kruson courts.

The cindermen will compete in the final home track meet of the season when they encounter the Bombers of Ithaca College on Terra Cotta Field tomorrow afternoon.

This meet will find four letterman, Frank Gilbert, competing on the home cinders for the last time. Intramural softball is now underway once again and there are the usual problems . . . poor publicity . . . poor scheduling . . . no officials . . . no equipment . . . and in many cases good old Alfred Apathy . . . Any questions???

Shultz Award

For Shultz, this is the highest possible award that his school can offer. However, honors are nothing new for the Turtle Creek, Pa., athlete. Chuck was elected to the first team Little All American for two consecutive years by an Associated Press poll.

However, when questioned about his biggest moments or honors, the Saxon star said that it was the opportunity of playing on a team with two unblemished seasons. In his opinion, his biggest thrill was the year's upset victory over the strong Buffalo squad.

An Offer, and a Decision

This game probably figures as a turning point in Chuck's career. Several pro scouts were in attendance and his performance at Rotary Field as well as glowing reports of his past accomplishments led to the Baltimore offer.

Because Charlie plans eventually to go into teaching history and doing a little coaching in high school, he could not arrive at the decision immediately. A few days after he accepted the Baltimore bid, Shultz was contacted by the Pittsburgh Steelers with an offer.

The Alfred griddler will not see service in the football league until 1959. His immediate plans are for graduate work here, next year in education. Chuck will enter the army in 1958 for a six-months tour and then report to the Colts.

The Reason Why

Shultz prefers to give most of the credit for his success to his coaches, both in high school and college. However, he singled out Yunevich as the "best coach I've seen or had anything to do with." Chuck figures the success of the head football coach as coming from that intangible asset of getting the maximum output from any player.

Ron Anderson is the only senior on this year's Saxon golf squad.

IT'S FOR REAL! by Chester Field

OUR LAWLESS LANGUAGE*

The laws that govern plural words
I think are strictly for the birds.
If goose in plural comes out geese
Why are not two of moose then meese?
If two of mouse comes out as mice
Should not the plural house be hice?
If we say he, and his, and him
Then why not she, and shis, and shim?
No wonder kids flunk out of schools
. . . English doesn't follow rules!

MORAL: The singularly plural pleasures of Chesterfield King make a man feel tall as a hice. So don't be a geese! Take your pleasure BIG. Take Chesterfield King. Big length . . . big flavor . . . the smoothest natural tobacco filter. Try 'em.

Chesterfield King gives you more of what you're smoking for!
