

Both Dance and Drama To be Sorority Delights

The Intersorority Council has announced that the annual Intersorority Ball will be held Friday, March 4 at the Hotel Sherwood. The band of Joe Argentieri has been engaged for the ball.

Sue Lindsey, Omicron '62, is serving as dance chairman. Open Houses will be held at each sorority house at 7:45 prior to the dance.

Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid" will be presented on Saturday, March 5, and Monday, March 7, at 8:15 p.m. as part of Intersorority Weekend. The setting for the play is in seventeenth century rococo style, with seventeenth century costuming.

Admission for both the play and the dance is included in the total price of the ticket. Individual tickets for the play may be purchased by people not attending the Intersorority Ball.

Center Board Positions

It's not too late to apply for a position on the Campus Center Board. The Building Council has been reorganized to make several new positions available.

Freshmen and sophomores who wish to work on the Building Committee may apply at the desk.

Destine and His Dance Group To Present "Fiesta in Haiti"

"Fiesta in Haiti", this year's Forum program to be presented on Thursday, March 4 in Alumni Hall at 8:15 p.m., draws its material from the rich and varied folklore of the Haitian Republic.

Jean Leon Destine, the director and star of Fiesta, and his Haitian dance group, have just returned from a successful tour of Europe and the Orient, having also been featured in various cities throughout the United States and Canada, in leading dance festivals, on TV shows and on Broadway.

Destine's program fuses the two cultural traditions of Haiti—the African and the French. The numbers range from the stirring "Revolt of the Slaves", and the voodoo "Witch Doctor Dance", to the gay, light hearted "Creole Mazurka" and "Congo Tropical". The repertoire also includes fire dances, market dances, carnival and court-ship scenes.

The dance of Haiti is unlike that of any other country, combining the aforementioned cultural traditions—the primitive rituals of the African hinterland with the refined and elegant social dances of the eighteenth century French court.

Destine has taken the elemental dances of the Haitian people and transformed them into an exciting theatrical experience while still retaining their authentic flavor.

Conventionally educated and city-dwelling, he was drawn into the rural and superstition-fraught areas of country. At first unaccepted by the peasants, he was eventually initiated into the Voodoo cult and was tutored by a Voodoo priest, absorbing the pulsating music and dance of the ritual. Through his performances, Destine has raised the once-despised music and dance of Haiti to respect.

He was appointed by the Haitian government as director of the Troupe Folklorique Nationale, and was recently awarded the Legion of Honor, the highest honor his country can bestow.

Featured also will be the internationally known percussionist, Alphonse Cimber, who will appear as soloist and accompanist. Mr. Cimber had appeared in many Broadway productions, among them "Showboat."

Sociology Club Hears Houwink

The Sociology Club will meet on Thursday, March 3, in the Campus Center. Guest speaker will be Miss Eda Houwink, Professor at the School of Social Work, Syracuse University.

Miss Houwink will speak on "Careers and Opportunities for Graduate Students in the Field of Social Work." A film will be shown to aid in the presentation.

All Sociology majors and all those considering Sociology as a major are urged to attend.

Anyone interested in seriously working on the Campus Caravan for the remainder of this year and next should please contact Richard Altman, Box 199, Alfred.

"Freedom and Destiny" Is The Subject of Assembly Program

"Freedom and Destiny" is the title of a talk to be given by Rabbi Jerome Malino at the assembly this Thursday morning in Alumni Hall.

The Rabbi, who will be on campus until this Thursday, has already spoken to several University groups. On Sunday morning, Rabbi Malino delivered the sermon at the Union University Church. That evening at the Campus Center, he spoke to a meeting sponsored jointly by the Hillel and the Protestant Forum.

After a dinner at Bartlett last night, Rabbi Malino held a question and answer period with students. The same program will be duplicated at the Brick tonight.

While on campus, Rabbi Malino will be addressing a number of classes in various fields of study. On Wednesday, he will speak to the international relations class at 1:30 on Israel, which he has visited several times. Among the other classes are the philosophy class, a nursing class, a sociology class and the Old Testament class.

Any students who wish to speak with Rabbi Malino on personal problems should contact him for an appointment.

National Nominating Assembly Will be Dr. Crawford's Theme

On Wednesday night Dr. Finla Crawford will address the Political Science Club on the topic of the National Nominating Convention. The meeting will be held at Howell Hall at 8:00 p.m.

With election time fast approaching, the topic should prove of great interest to both the student body and the residents of Alfred.

Dr. Crawford is a highly qualified speaker, having been, for some time, active in local and state politics. This year, he attended several of the Democratic fundraising dinners and will attend the Democratic National Convention later in the year. Dr. Crawford is also a trustee of Alfred University and a retired Vice-Chancellor of Syracuse University.

All letters to the editor should be submitted to one of the co-editors or mailed to them by the Thursday preceding the issue of the paper.

These letters must be signed if printing is desired, but the signer's name may be withheld if he so requests.

'Me and My Prof' to Be Subject of Coffee Talk

A second student-faculty coffee hour will be held on Wednesday night at 9:15 in the Campus Center.

The topic for the evening will be "Me and My Prof". The emphasis of the discussion will be on the relationship between the student and his professor in and out of the classroom.

Guests for the evening will be Dean McMahon, Dr. Rodriguez-Diaz, Major Davis, Mr. Beauchesne, and Mr. McKenzie.

All students and members of the faculty are invited to come and give their opinions on this issue in the informal discussion.

Coffee will be provided by the Campus Center.

This coffee hour is the second in a series sponsored by the Campus Center Board. Their purpose is to promote better student-faculty relationships on an out-of-class basis, as well as to discuss problems in Alfred and possible ways of alleviating them.

A Rosy Future Seen for Center

The Campus Center Board met last Tuesday, February 23. Two members of the Ag-Tech Union Board were present at the meeting to discuss with the University Board some of the problems they have encountered in running their Union.

An area conference of college Union Boards will be held on March 13 at Geneseo. Delegates attending will consider the common problems and interests of their respective Centers.

A new Campus Center Board will be formed at the end of March or April. A meeting to plan the reorganization of the Board will be held in the near future.

The Center Board is pleased with the success of the functions it has held thus far and hopes that the Center will continue to gain student support. The Dining Committee is at present doing research on how to achieve greater efficiency and convenience in the Center cafeteria.

'La Semaine Francaise' Is To Have Many French Functions

On Sunday, March 6, the twenty-third annual French Week will open on the Alfred campus. "La Semaine Francaise", the French Club's major activity of the year, has as its purpose the establishment of a closer contact between Alfred and "La Belle France." This will be done through special programs and exhibits which have been planned to familiarize the general public with some of the aspects of life in present-day France.

French Week, this year, has as its theme "A Holiday In France." To carry this out, exhibits will be set up in Herrick Memorial Library and the Campus Center, which will present to the public some of the attractions France has to offer to travellers.

The opening activity of French Week will be on Sunday evening, at 7:30 p.m. in the Campus Center. At this time Wendy Schoenbach will give a talk, illustrated by slides, on her visit to France last summer.

Several short educational films on France will be shown in the Campus Center on Monday night, beginning at 7:30 p.m. On Tuesday night, the Campus Theatre will present two showings of a French feature movie, "Rouge et Noir", which stars Gerard Philippe and Danielle Darrieux.

For Wednesday night, a special program has been arranged. Monsieur Jean Blachere, of France, a graduate student in the College of Ceramics, will speak on the educational system and student life in France. Mr. Blachere will be open to questions from the audience, on these topics and any others concerning life in modern France. This event, to begin at 7:30 p.m., will take place in the Campus Center.

The twenty-fifth annual Banquet de la Saint Charlemagne will be held in Howell Hall on Thursday evening. The banquet is open only to members of the French Club, "A" students in French, and invited guests.

A tradition of French Week, "Gouter", will take place in the Campus Center from 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday. During these times, several students from the various French classes, dressed in provincial French costumes, will be selling "petit pains au chocolate", a type of French pastry.

The members of the French Club hope that all students will find something of interest in the various activities of French Week. Notices will be posted around the campus as reminders of time and place of the scheduled events.

A.C.S. to Hear Talk On Colors

The American Ceramic Society will meet tomorrow at 7:15 p.m. in Binns-Merrill Hall.

Speaker for the evening will be Mr. T.D. Carnahan of the B.S. Drakenfeld Company, Inc. He will talk briefly on the functions of the American Ceramic Society, and will then deliver an illustrated lecture on the manufacture of ceramic colors.

The meeting will be preceded by a dinner to be held in honor of Mr. Carnahan. The dinner will take place at 5:45 p.m. in the Campus Center.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

A healthy discussion has begun to take place on our campus concerning the purpose of education at Alfred. The discussion was manifested in two meetings recently: One sponsored by the Campus Center Board and one organized by the Protestant Forum.

Such relatively insignificant events as semester indices and the institution of a stiffer cut system have undoubtedly been precipitating factors, but what is important is not what caused the discussion but the fact that creative thinking is taking place.

In hopes that this sorely needed evaluation and creativity will continue, may I cite a recent article in "Fellowship" magazine concerning a campus where criticism resulted in positive action:

"A resolution making ROTC voluntary at Michigan State University received a majority vote of 400 to 248 by the school's faculty senate last month. Supporters of the voluntary program argued that the university's first obligation was "to seek the truth" and that it could better contribute to national defense by educating engineers, mathematicians, teachers, and others."

Perhaps this will stimulate discussion of another facet of our evaluation of education at Alfred.

The FIAT has received a letter from an American in Germany who states that students in European universities are interested in corresponding with American college students in order to create better understanding and to discuss similar problems, experiences, etc.

All students interested in corresponding with students in Paris, London, Frankfurt, Copenhagen, Vienna, or Rome should contact the FIAT, Box 754 and mention the country they are interested in if they have a preference.

Class Platforms Announced

Class of '61

Dick Gross

This platform will not be lengthy, for it is my belief that the merits of the candidates speak louder than any platform ever could.

The class of 1961 is now in its third year on campus, and undoubtedly knows the qualifications of each of the candidates. For this reason, I have not presented any definite "planks" in my platform. However, if elected, I believe I have the experience, ability, and desire to adequately serve as president of the Senior Class.

Ray Pardon

Our class elections are unfortunately popularity contests since the students have no intelligent information on which to base their choices. These platforms are an inadequate means of providing the students with this necessary information, as these articles are only partisan statements of qualifications and future policy which are very difficult to evaluate. There is also a lack of opportunity for discussion of any issues raised. The main work of the class President take place in the Student Senate with the average student having only a vague notion of the work being done. As your representative in the Senate, I served last year on the Moving Up Day Committee, and I am now Chairman of the Special Activities Committee and a member of the Elections Committee.

If I am re-elected, I will continue my committee work as well as become Chairman of the Elections Committee. As in the past year, I will give careful consideration to your suggestions for improving our class and will continue to serve what I believe to be your interests in the Senate. I am ready to assume the increased responsibilities of Senior Class President.

Susan Rhodes

I feel that it is time for the members of the Class of 1961 to get up from their chairs and DO something. I am running for President of the Senior Class because I feel I would be able to squelch Alfred Apathy and promote senior spirit.

I feel qualified to do this because I have been active in campus affairs. During my sophomore year I was Women's vice-president of our class. I have worked on the W.S.G. Council and I am presently a member of the Women's Athletic Governing Board and the Chapel Choir.

Our Senior year will be our most important year at Alfred. There are many functions that must be carefully planned and organized. If I am elected, I will do my best to insure the success of these functions and I will try to make the Class of 1961 the best class Alfred has ever seen.

I ask each of you to go to the polls and vote. When you do, vote for the person whom you feel will do the best job and whom you feel will be the best representative of our class. But regardless of which candidate wins the forthcoming election, let's all work together to make our senior year a successful one.

Class of '62

Duncan Stanton

Before presenting by platform for president of next year's Junior Class, I would like to thank those members of the class who took an active part in the frosh hazing program last fall. This was the first time such an organization of sophomores as the "Vigilantes" had been formed and it was certainly a contributing factor to the rise of freshman and school spirit in evidence around campus. It is hoped that the "Vigilantes" will become a tradition at Alfred and a lasting memento to the class of '62.

If elected as president, I intend to represent the Junior Class to the best of my ability in all matters concerned. As an active member of the Student Senate and of the Moving-up Day, Functional Service, and Elections committees (wherein, I feel that I am best capable of conveying the opinion of the class to that organization. I believe, also, that my past experience in student governing activities has given me a broad scope and a better understanding of student-faculty relations.

As far as class activities are concerned, the ball has already started rolling, under the present administration, to thoroughly examine the possibilities of a Junior Class spring picnic. If re-elected, it will be my privilege to sponsor the traditional class party and to carry through any other activities desired by the class.

Alex Zoldan

In organization there is unity. In unity: spirit. In two and half years, we, as a class, will appear side by side in the year book and we will sit side by side at the graduation ceremony. How many members of the class will you recognize? How many members do you know now?

It is time to organize ourselves into a spirited unit. With an eye toward class unity, I propose the following projects, not merely as projects but as activities which will bind us together in a class.

During the fall, I propose to hold a class coffee hour. At this time, we will be able to meet in a group and discuss various problems and to organize various committees. I have also considered for the fall semester a Junior Class Talent Assembly, with the hope that it will not only bring spirit to the class of 1962 but from the other classes.

I feel that class spirit would be fostered by a class project, which could continue in our Senior year. The money could be put forward toward the purchase of a class gift. For a class project, I would like to introduce a spring dance to be given by the Juniors in honor of graduating Seniors. This dance would be open to all classes and would be a fitting tribute to our graduating Fraternity brothers and sorority sisters and to our Senior classmates.

I also intend to carry on the traditional Junior Class picnic. With these projects I feel that our class will obtain the unity necessary for us to assume the role of leadership in our Senior year.

Class of '63

Henry Landman

At this year's freshman banquet Dean Seidl stated that our class was considered to be the finest entering freshman class in Alfred University history. I feel that our class has done little to back this statement up.

If I didn't feel that our class had the spirit and leadership ability to excel, I would not be running for president. A few in our class have taken the lead, but without the support of all of us the results amount to little.

One of my main objectives will be to promote activities for independents. I also hope to promote class spirit, class activities, and school activities. If elected I shall attempt to further these stated aims and your desires.

Al Newman

This year as freshmen our class has shown more spirit than previous freshman classes. Our tremendous support at pep rallies and football games really added to the spirit of Alfred University. We had our run-ins with upperclassmen and took our "lumps" together as classmates at a Frosh Court.

Now we're somewhat adjusted to college life and as we glance back at our first days here at Alfred it's hard to realize how our class united so quickly and formed so well. I personally feel that our class has the makings of being one of the greatest to come out of Alfred University, and I'd like to tell you it has truly been an honor to serve as class president for this past year.

Next year as sophomores we'll be setting the examples for the freshmen, we will occupy more offices in organizations on campus, and our class will have gained tremendous prestige. Since we'll be living apart in fraternities, sororities, and dorms, our class officers will be faced with a big challenge in keeping the class united and functioning as a unit.

I've been renominated for the office of president and because of the experience I've gained this year, I feel that I'm well qualified. Having served on the Student Senate, I have become familiar with the operation of this body. We have a very efficient system of government on this campus and I feel that we'll need a person with experience to guide our class next year.

Whether I'm re-elected for class president or not, I'd like to ask all of you to vote for the person you feel is best qualified for the job. Once more I thank you for the privilege of serving as your class president this past year.

John Nunes

What happened? We started out with a spirit never before seen in Alfred. We had unity but then it deteriorated. I, if elected hope to relight this spirit.

In the spring, I will hold a class picnic. This is something that has never before been done at Alfred. This will certainly help all of us to meet all of our classmates and hold us together as a unit. I propose to hold class meetings regularly.

I also hope to help the Student Union realize its potentialities through our endeavors. I will endeavor to make the officers of our class become more than figure-heads.

Let's make this a real election and not a popularity contest. Pick the person who you thing will be best qualified for the position of president.

Robert Seider

Too often, a platform is something politicians construct which eventually forces them to go back on their word and thus cause ill feeling. I do not wish to be unable to fulfill any promises. Therefore, I have no platform; I make no promises. I do not need to construct a platform. The Class of '63 is my platform. Their wishes are my duties.

To relieve myself of the platform I mistakenly stepped onto, let me state that their wishes, within reason, are my duties.

The Problems of Alfred Are Cited By Students

by Gary Gallup

In a recent student poll on the question, "What's wrong with Alfred?" some of the following comments were made. It is hoped they will become the basis of fruitful discussion, and perhaps action to remedy certain problems.

Stephen Chaleff, Junior, Bronx. "One of the greatest problems of Alfred, where student enrollment is small, is the lack of small and informal classes. Every introductory course is overcrowded, as well as many of the advanced courses. Particularly representative of this fact is the situation in the history and political science department, where courses given only every other year often have an enrollment of over two dozen."

Sam Hulbert, Grad student, Adams Center. "There is nothing seriously wrong with Alfred, but there are many idiosyncrosities that could be worked upon, such as a more diversified and cultural program. If the university lacks anything material, it is a cocktail lounge in the library."

Peter Barron, Sophomore, Scarsdale. "The students seem to lack originality, rather preferring to utilize old ideas than add suggestions of their own. Classes should be small, especially in conjunction with the civilization course and subsequent discussion courses."

Evelyn Gross, Freshman, Brooklyn. "Lack of culture. Lack of sufficient library facilities. Many professors not stimulating enough. The school is too small. Dormitory food should be of better quality. The college newspaper does not cover all topics of interest. Library hours should be extended and the number of volumes should be increased."

Peggy Balint, Junior, Woodbridge. "Aside from any major problems, i.e. new labs which can't be immediately remedied due to lack of funds, I feel the general lack of culture and intellectual stimulation among the student body comprise the foremost fault. The Protestant Forum as well as regular forums, Footlight Club productions, and organized "bull sessions" are available, but not taken advantage of by those attending the school. I doubt whether this problem is peculiar to Alfred."

Richard Ottman, Junior, Cobleskill. "Many students don't put enough study into their subjects—their failures can mainly be attributed to their own attitudes. Also, the problem of transportation in and around the village is serious, resulting in inconvenience for travel to outside areas."

Eric Harrison, Brooklyn, Freshman. "Coming up to Alfred from a high school in which the spirit of the student body was at a very low ebb, I expected to find the students enthusiastic and willing to work together. After all, this is college, the path to maturity! Yet I found the same apathy and lack of unity that characterized the lower grades. Only a few seem to have the desire to work, not so much for themselves, but to join together and do something for Alfred."

Sally Boyd, Senior, Buffalo. "There is a general apathy among the students—they need outside interests to spark their curiosities. No interest seems to generate from the students themselves; ultimately, it is really only superficial interest in campus events. And when spirit does show, it is oftentimes stifled by the administrations."

Joel Wechsler, Junior, Yonkers. "Compulsory ROTC is objectionable. The three-cut system resembles a high school attendance program. Weekend library hours are ridiculous (such as open only three hours on Saturday.) There should be smaller and more informal classes in advanced courses. Lastly, there seems to be a general anti-intellectual attitude on the part of the students themselves, as illustrated by the poor attendance at forums."

Delta Sig held their Pledge Dance on Friday night at their house. The Raady band supplied the music. New pledges are Jeff Lebowitz '63 and Dave Henry '63.

On Friday night Kappa Psi tapped three new pledges. Tom Mix '63, Pete Blackstock '63 and Joe Yount '63. Mr. Harder, Asst. to the Admissions Director was tapped as an honorary.

A party was held at Lambda Chi Saturday night. Joe Nemoth '62 is pinned. Lambda Chi's new pledges are Dart Everell, Tom Burns, Rick Dickens, Gordy Griffin and Stan Miles, all class of '63.

Tau Delta's pledge dance was held in Howell Hall on Friday night. Entertainment was provided by J. E. Ellis. On Saturday night they held an informal dance. Robert Corwin '62 was pledged on Friday.

Kappa Nu gave an African Voodoo party. Ira Rubenstein and Jay Schein were made brothers on Saturday night.

Carol Bieber '60 was serenaded by Lambda Chi last week. Judy Mohr '62 was back for the weekend.

An NCAA-bound University of Buffalo team met a fired up Saxon five last Thursday night here at Alfred. The Purple and Gold came out on the short end of a 72-65 score, as poor foul shooting caused the downfall of the Saxon squad.

The Buffalo sharpshooters jumped to a 13-2 lead early in the first half. But with 7 minutes remaining in the half the Saxons closed the gap to seven points on the merits of their alert ball-handling. With four minutes to go Steinberg hit two straight jump shots, followed by a 3-point play by McLarney, and four successive 14 skets by Bresnick and Steinberg. This brought the Saxons to within one point of the Buffs as the half ended.

As the second half opened with the Saxons trailing 33-32, Bob McDonald scored a jump shot to put Alfred ahead for the first time in the game. No more than 2 points separated the teams at any time through the first ten minutes of the second half. At this point a jump shot by Bresnick put the Saxons ahead 51-47, but this lead was short lived as the Buffs, sparked by Dick Dompkowski's jump shot-ing, evened the score at 58-58. The score again seesawed until 1:50 was left in the game. Bob Myszewski hit 2 foul shots that put Buffalo in the lead, a lead which they never relinquished.

After the game, Buffalo coach Serfustini said, "Alfred did a wonderful job; we were very proud to play such a fine ball club."

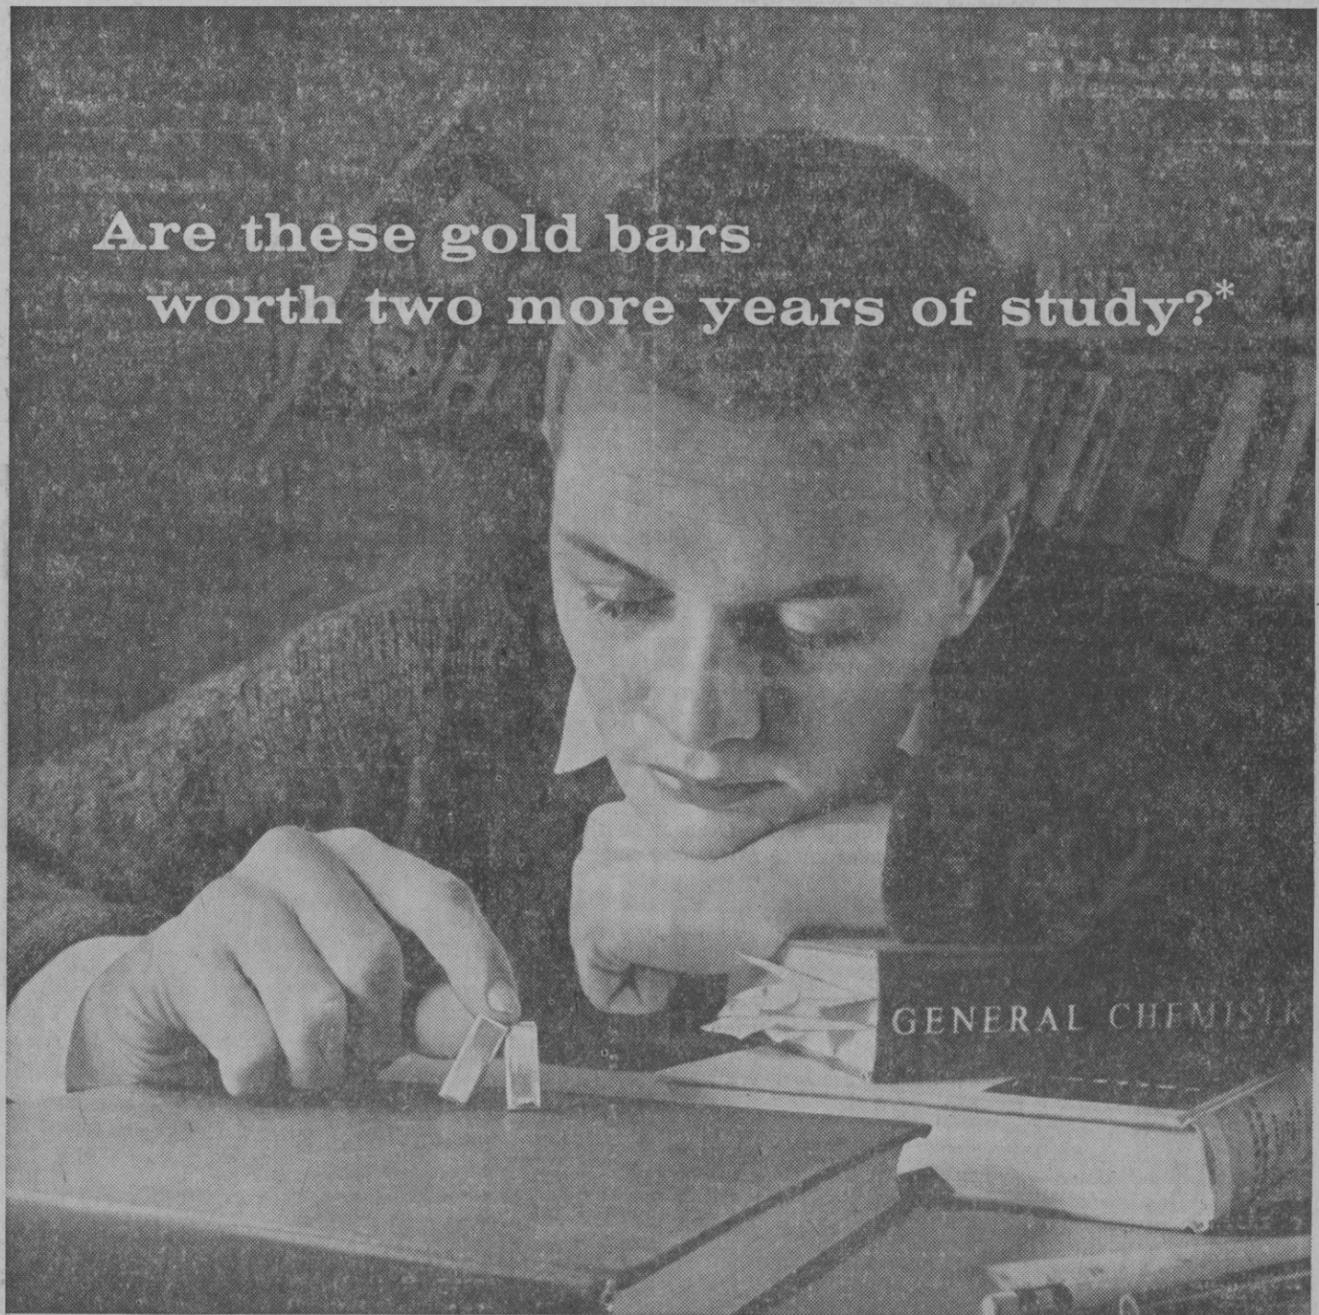

The Alfred Frosh also dropped a close seesaw battle to Buffalo by a 59-55 score. Mishkin was high scorer with 16, Landman dumped in 15, and Focazio scored 14.

International Club

The Alfred International Club will meet on Sunday, March 6, at 2:30 p.m. in Howell Hall.

The meeting will feature a discussion on the topic of "Distribution of World Resources." This subject will be discussed in relationship to the underdeveloped countries of the world, and United States and Russian aid to these nations.

Drive Carefully!

Are these gold bars worth two more years of study?*

As a college sophomore, you're nearing the mid-point. Halfway through college—halfway through Army ROTC. Now you face a major decision: Are the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant worth two additional years of study in advanced ROTC?

That question is yours to answer now—before you register for your junior year. As you explore the facts, carefully weigh the traditional responsibilities and rewards of serving as an Army officer . . .

1. Traditional responsibilities. To meet the command responsibilities of an Army officer, you apply the leadership principles absorbed during advanced ROTC training. And your executive potential grows as you gather leadership experience. That's why employers often prefer men who served as commissioned officers. These men already have proven their capacity to shoulder executive responsibility.

2. Traditional rewards. In every organization, greater responsibilities mean greater rewards. Thus the traditional responsibilities and prestige of an Army officer are matched by material advantages. For example, if you plan to marry soon after graduation—an officer's salary can be a distinct advantage. A married 2nd Lieutenant earns a minimum of $355.68 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits.

Need more information? Check with the Professor of Military Science and Tactics at your college or university. He'll be glad to discuss your decision with you.

*Last year, 14,436 sophomores answered "yes" to this question—and entered advanced Army ROTC.

Saxons Tripped By R.I.T. 68-66; Bresnick Tanks 29

In the Alfred University Homecoming basketball game last Saturday, the Saxon quintet bowed to a weak R.I.T. squad, 68-66.

Paced by the fine play of Archie Bresnick and Don Campos, the Purple and Gold pulled to an early lead. But by halftime Rochester had whittled the margin down to a precarious 3 points.

R.I.T. gained the lead early in the second half. Led by the rebounding and scoring of 6'7" Harry Beardsley, Tech stayed in front until the closing minutes.

With 1:08 left, Archie Bresnick evened the score at 66-66. Beardsley sank a short jump shot with 28 seconds remaining to put Rochester out in front 68-66. After an unsuccessful attempt to even the score, the Purple and Gold restole the ball with only two seconds left. Coach Pete Smith had Steinberg take the last shot. Slimmo's long one-hander was just inches too long.

Steve was again stopped by a "box and one defense" but his 12 tallies were enough to pull him over the 500 mark with 509 points. Bresnick's 29 points paced Alfred.

In the preliminary game, Alfred's freshmen won their second straight contest by downing the R.I.T. frosh, 76-57.

The Saxon frosh pulled out to an early 10-0 lead led by Mike Mishkin and Hank Landman. After the first few minutes it became apparent that the lil' Saxons only had to toy with the Tech squad to notch another victory. Alfred had racked up a 34 point margin by the opening minutes of the second half.

With the win assured, mentor Ed Post let the bench have a try at the R.I.T. "five" The second stringers weren't as successful as the starting team but they hung on for a 19 point win.

Mike Mishkin led Alfred for the second time in a row with 17 points. His 14 rebounds paced the Alfred frosh for the fifth straight game. Ron Focazio is finally in the groove. His 16 tallies was this third straight "big" game. Hank Landman hooped 12 points and John Commons hit for 10 to put four cagers in double figures.

Next Tuesday the Saxons play host to a strong Ithaca five in the last game of the season.

Grapplers Trim Clarkson 17-13 Finish Season With 5-3 Record

by Eric Harrison

Alfred closed out its wrestling season last Saturday afternoon with a come-from-behind 17-13 victory over Clarkson's Golden Knights in the Men's Gym. Dave Daignault pinned the visitors' George Putnam in the unlimited division to ice the win.

In the opening match of the day Johnny Gutierrez decisioned Ron Sorrol on "ridin time" in the 123lb class to give Alfred a 3-0 lead; Gutierrez had suffered a shoulder separation earlier in the week. He finished the year losing only one match.

Clarkson grabbed the lead in the 130lb class as the Green and Gold's Jim Hill pinned the Saxons' Herb Oliver at the 2:28 mark of the final period. In the 137lb and 147lb divisions Clarkson opened up a 10 point lead. Morris Knapp decisioned Dave Frey on points 3-0, and John Babcock pinned Al Buch at 2:37 of the third period respectively.

Then the Purple and Gold went to work. Larry Wander won a decision from Don Toomey in the 157 lb. class, 7-4 on points. Ron Carmichael brought Alfred to within 4 points of the lead by decisioning Van Valkenberg. Dick Gross set the stage for the climactic heavyweight match by winning a 5-0 decision over Clarkson's Bill Meyer.

Trailing 13-12, Daignault took a quick lead in points, and 46 seconds deep in the third period pinned Putnam for the match. Alfred finished out the season with a 5-3 record while Clarkson closed 2-7.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by Neal Gantcher

Tonight's basketball game with Ithaca College will be the 8th consecutive game in which Archie Bresnick has participated. It will also be his last one in a purple and gold uniform, for tonight Archie ends his collegiate playing career.

During his three years of varsity competition he has amassed over 700 points. This accomplishment ranks him fourth in all-time Alfred scoring. For the past two years he has led the Saxons in field goal percentage while currently he is first in rebounding and second in scoring with a 15-point-per-game average.

Last year Bresnick received an honorable mention on the ECAC's All-East Team. This accumulation of accomplishments is even more noteworthy when one considers the fact that Bresnick never played high school basketball.

Archie learned his basketball and developed his skills in the aggressive and competitive Brooklyn schoolyards and playgrounds. It was in the give and go type of game that was played there that he learned how to drive in for the score. His fellow teammates have indicated the respect they have for him beyond his playing capacity by naming him captain of the team for the past two years.

A pre-law student, the personable and likeable athlete plans to use the commission in the United States Infantry that he earned under the E.O.T.C. program when he goes on active duty next September. After his tour of duty he hopes to attend law school. A member of Kappa Nu and Blue Key fraternities, he has also served as president of the Intramural league for the past two years.

Basketball is not the only varsity sport to which he has contributed his time and effort. He is also a two-letter man in tennis. Reliable and courteous on, as well as off the court, Archie is a gentlemen's gentlemen and a ballplayer's ballplayer.

Attendance at tonight's game will give the Alfred student a chance to express his appreciation to Archie Bresnick — an athlete who has contributed much to the spirit and tradition that is Alfred University.
