

Teachers Needed Most

Peace Corps Official To Visit Alfred Friday

Robert Chase, a Program Officer for the Peace Corps will visit Alfred University Friday at 2 p.m., to outline the agency's program for the future of prospective volunteers and faculty members.

Chase, a graduate of Wesleyan University in Connecticut, received a Master's degree in Public Administration from Maxwell School at Syracuse University.

The Peace Corps official is particularly interested in talking with senior students who might qualify for Peace Corps projects which will be manned in January and June.

More than 4,000 volunteers are already at work or in training for projects in Africa, Asia, and Latin America. Plans call for nearly 15,000 volunteers to be at work in more than 40 countries by the end of next year.

A major emphasis during next year will be the community development projects in Latin America. These programs call for volunteers with farm backgrounds, nurses, social workers, teachers, health workers, engineers, physical education workers, etc.

Dr. Martin Staiman To Speak On 'Projective Techniques'

Dr. Martin Staiman will speak on 'Projective Techniques' tonight at 8 p.m. in the faculty dining room of the Campus Center. The program is being sponsored by the Psychology Club.

Dr. Staiman is chief clinical psychologist at the Puerto Rican Administration Hospital in Buffalo. He also teaches a graduate course in the Interdepartmental Psychology tests and projective techniques at the University of Rochester. A graduate of Alfred, Dr. Staiman was a brother of Kappa Nu.

This is the first of several programs planned by the psychology club. Field trips to Willard State Hospital and Creed College in Somers are being planned.

Hal Kupman, president of the Psychology Club, is working to establish a chapter of Psi Chi, the national honorary psychology fraternity, on the Alfred campus.

Who Will Be Queen Of Military Ball?

Here is an opportunity for Alfred students to prove that they possess the maturity which is essential in any effective system of student government.

Dr. John W. Gustad, Dean of Liberal Arts: "I hope very much that it will be possible to institute an honor system at Alfred. In order to do this the student leadership must assure itself that the vast majority of students will practice the ideals of such a system.

It is true that there is a great difference between accepting an honor system and practicing one. The faculty will certainly agree to an honor system if they are convinced the students mean it, and this will take some convincing.

Prof. Michael McPherson, Dean of the College of Commerce: "This is really the way we should run an institution. We should be mature enough to avoid policing. It is wonderful to talk to students.

(Continued on Page 6)

Honorary System Is Possible? Committee Will Investigate

A student senate committee has been formed and has met with faculty and administration representatives in the first step of a current movement for investigating the possibility of an honor system at Alfred University.

The student committee, nominated by Senate President Fob Silverstein at last week's meeting and approved by a vote of the representatives, first met with members of the faculty and administration last Saturday. The initial step taken by the students will be to discuss an honor system in all of the campus residences. These discussions were planned to provide the students with the opportunity to answer questions posed by the faculty and to obtain a feeling about general student attitude towards an honor system.

The joint student-faculty committee formed for the discussions have been completed at the residences and plans for the type of honor system that might be established at Alfred.

Discussion last Saturday explored not only a "right step but also the question of student responsibility. This theme of student responsibility was a major component of an honor system, which was supported by committees chairman Allan Mandel, Dr. Martin Staiman, and Dr. Michael Bernstein. President Silverstein spoke of the "social honor system" that was set up by the student-faculty committee. The students receive the "social honor system" of the campus,

The student-faculty committee, which the students accept the corresponding responsibilities. The students will be "a sense of integrity the basic principle of the adoption." Dr. Bernstein made it clear that the students are willing to accept the corresponding responsibilities.

The students are willing to accept the corresponding responsibilities. The students are willing to accept the corresponding responsibilities.

The students are willing to accept the corresponding responsibilities.

President M. Ellis Drake: "I am very much pleased that students are actively interested in establishing an honor system at Alfred University in examinations and I hope that a workable plan can be developed which will have the support of all members of our university community.

It must be recognized at the very beginning of our discussions that the crux of the matter is the acceptance of responsibility by students for the support of such a program. I wish to point out that the term, 'honor system,' is a misnomer. We are actually talking about 'student government' in the conduct of examinations. Under such a system people are talking about reporting those who violate the code of honesty and the trial and punishment of those who are guilty.

 Freedoms in the university and throughout our country can only be enjoyed if there is an acceptance of the corresponding responsibilities which make them possible.

Here is an opportunity for Alfred students to prove that they possess the maturity which is essential in any effective system of student government. Interviews

The following companies and graduate schools will interview interested Liberal Arts students in the Campus Center:

- Social Security: Nov. 19 at 10 a.m.
- University of Pittsburgh Graduate School: Nov. 21 at 6 p.m.
- Atlantic Refining Company: Nov. 20, 10 a.m. and Nov. 27, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.
- Students must sign up for interviews with Dean Paul P. Powers.

Singers to Perform "Messiah"; Concert Will Be Given Dec. 2

The Alfred University Singers conducted by Dr. Melvin LeMon, Chairman of the Music Dept., will present Handel's "Messiah" Tuesday, Dec. 19, in the Music's Gymnasium. The program will be presented free to all University students and the general public.

The University Singers, 110 voices strong, will be assisted by a 10 piece University Orchestra, and mented by several professional musicians from the Rochester and Buf falo Symphony Orchestra. The program will last about an hour and a half.

Performing soloists will be Professor Paul Gills, bass; Mrs. Betty Gills, soprano; and Mr. Herbert B. Sorey, tenor. The concert will be conducted by Dr. LeMon.

This traditional oratorio has been performed at Alfred University for several years. The "Messiah," Handel's most famous cantata, was composed in the year 1741. First performed at a concert given for charitable purposes in Dublin, Ireland, it has since become world famous.
Alumni Hall Represents Alfred's Pioneer Spirit

by Rhode Feinberg

"Alumni Hall symbolizes the simple plainness and austere spirit of the pioneer Alfred." Thus spoke a faithful architect of this former campus building back in 1926. And even today, 36 years later, six dozen at Alfred are still fond of the structure where their eyes lectured and English classes are held, and favorite movies are shown.

Formerly named Chapel Hall and Assembly Hall, Alumni Hall as it is now known was the chief result of a compact in 1896. In its simple, yet rustic construction, an interesting feature of Alumni Hall is the weather vane above the bell in the form of quill pen, designed by D. R. Ford and born out of a 12 foot pine rail.

At the time of its original construction, Alumni Hall contained a 500 seat auditorium and 25 lecture, recitation, library, and lounge rooms. It had been the scene of convocation, commencements, and social affairs. As one of the most beautiful and revered structures on campus, it personified the simple, yet rustic construction, an interesting feature of Alumni Hall.

Alumni Hall Represents Alfred's Pioneer Spirit

Alumni Hall symbolizes the simple plainness and austere spirit of the pioneer Alfred. Thus spoke a faithful architect of this former campus building back in 1926. And even today, 36 years later, six dozen at Alfred are still fond of the structure where their eyes lectured and English classes are held, and favorite movies are shown.

Formerly named Chapel Hall and Assembly Hall, Alumni Hall as it is now known was the chief result of a compact in 1896. In its simple, yet rustic construction, an interesting feature of Alumni Hall is the weather vane above the bell in the form of quill pen, designed by D. R. Ford and born out of a 12 foot pine rail.

At the time of its original construction, Alumni Hall contained a 500 seat auditorium and 25 lecture, recitation, library, and lounge rooms. It had been the scene of convocation, commencements, and social affairs. As one of the most beautiful and revered structures on campus, it personified the simple, yet rustic construction, an interesting feature of Alumni Hall.

Alumni Hall Represents Alfred's Pioneer Spirit

Alumni Hall symbolizes the simple plainness and austere spirit of the pioneer Alfred. Thus spoke a faithful architect of this former campus building back in 1926. And even today, 36 years later, six dozen at Alfred are still fond of the structure where their eyes lectured and English classes are held, and favorite movies are shown.

Formerly named Chapel Hall and Assembly Hall, Alumni Hall as it is now known was the chief result of a compact in 1896. In its simple, yet rustic construction, an interesting feature of Alumni Hall is the weather vane above the bell in the form of quill pen, designed by D. R. Ford and born out of a 12 foot pine rail.

At the time of its original construction, Alumni Hall contained a 500 seat auditorium and 25 lecture, recitation, library, and lounge rooms. It had been the scene of convocation, commencements, and social affairs. As one of the most beautiful and revered structures on campus, it personified the simple, yet rustic construction, an interesting feature of Alumni Hall.

Alumni Hall Represents Alfred's Pioneer Spirit

Alumni Hall symbolizes the simple plainness and austere spirit of the pioneer Alfred. Thus spoke a faithful architect of this former campus building back in 1926. And even today, 36 years later, six dozen at Alfred are still fond of the structure where their eyes lectured and English classes are held, and favorite movies are shown.

Formerly named Chapel Hall and Assembly Hall, Alumni Hall as it is now known was the chief result of a compact in 1896. In its simple, yet rustic construction, an interesting feature of Alumni Hall is the weather vane above the bell in the form of quill pen, designed by D. R. Ford and born out of a 12 foot pine rail.

At the time of its original construction, Alumni Hall contained a 500 seat auditorium and 25 lecture, recitation, library, and lounge rooms. It had been the scene of convocation, commencements, and social affairs. As one of the most beautiful and revered structures on campus, it personified the simple, yet rustic construction, an interesting feature of Alumni Hall.
New Sociology Professor Spent 25 Years in Middle East by Anne Bailey

Becoming “reacquainted with the American society” is the main aim of Dr. George H. Gardner new associate professor of sociology. Dr. Gardner just returned to the United States after spending 25 years in the Middle East.

Dr. Gardner said he and his family feel that the small, intimate community of Alfred is the ideal place to complete this reorientation. He feels that this smallness of teaching is greater and more stimulating at Alfred than they would be at a larger institution.

Of particular interest to Dr. Gardner is the Herrick Memorial Library, which he feels has excellent facilities and great possibilities for the intellectual growth of University students as well as faculty members.

Overseas Work

A native of Mercersberg, Pa., Dr. Gardner has worked overseas most of the time since receiving his Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Union Theological Seminary in 1935. He speaks and reads French, Greek and Arabic and has studied British and Jewish and German languages. Devoid of facilities from American University, he completed graduate work at Princeton University, he earned his M.A. in clinical neurology in 1941.

Dr. Gardner began his apprenticeship in foreign work in 1938 when he joined the staff of the American Farm School near Salonica, Greece, as assistant to the director. Before the German invasion of the country, he had charge of developing a plan of advanced studies for the staff. During this assignment, he studied Greek, the needs of Greece, and the country itself.

Returning to the United States in October, 1939, he served as program director for the Red Bank U.S.O. Club in New Jersey for nearly two years. He then worked with the Near East Foundation of New York gathering material for use in educational, health, social, and vocational programs for Greek youth following the war.

He served for six months as administrative assistant in the military and foreign division at the American Red Cross Headquarters in Washington.

Greek Missions

Appointed to the Balkan Missions of UNRRA, he served from July, 1944 through June, 1947, as regional Director for Central Greece. As the UNRRA program neared its conclusion, he was retained as Inspector of all of North and Central Greece with responsibility for Italian and pillaged and Greek government officials, field reporting, distribution supervision, administration and program coordination. Following termination of the UNRRA program in Greece he attached to the Near East Foundation of New York.

Britain Faces Home, Commonwealth Problems in Joining Common Market

by Howard Wiener

A bigger power, thus Napoleon's, . . . on the United States . . . We cannot have a part in directing it or be one of its first officers. . . . offshores Islands" were the words used by British Labor Party leader Anthony Wedgwood Brown to express the feelings of an increasing segment of the British population toward Great Britain's entry into the European Economic Community, better known as the Common Market.

Recent polls show public opinion shifting in support of the pro-market view, as expressed by Conservative Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. General feeling is that only one internal political event would still keep Britain out of the Common Market — Labor Party victory in a general election held before Britain signs the pact.

Britain's main problem in joining the EEC is economic. Questions on national prestige and sovereignty underlie the entire debate. Market is eagerly looking at spokesmen voicing the Common Market the 10 per cent per year growth in the industrial output of the member countries is a strange coalition of right-wing Conservatives and labor Party leaders. The stand of the ostrich reflection is desire to retain as much as possible of Britain's past imperial authority, sometimes expressed by slogans such as "We are already married to the Common Market. Does Mr. Macmillan suggest that we commit bigamy?"

Alpha Lambda Delta Fellowships

The National Council of Alpha Lambda Delta will award three fellowships for graduate study for the 1963-64 academic year. Applicants for the scholarship must be members of the Alpha Lambda Delta fraternity. Any member of Alpha Lambda Delta who graduated in 1959 or 1960 and who maintained the scholastic average of 3.5 through out his college career is eligible. Graduating seniors may apply if they have maintained this average to the end of the first semester of this year.

Any member of Alpha Lambda Delta who at present may be a chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta. The application must be submitted to the National Scholarship Chairman by Feb. 15, 1963.

Gardner’s Body Shop

• Complete Refinishing
• General Collision Work
• Free Estimates
• 24-Hour Wrecker Service

Tel. Alfred 5335

8 lbs. of DRYCLEANING 99c
A Regular $2.00 Value
Special This Week at:
SHORTS
norge equipped laundry and cleaning village
Phone 8056

Page Three
North America's future leaders will improve upon that, and make a mistake, especially while the other nations of the world on the other hand, discovered that the U.S. could not be ex-most every conceivable topic, especially those dealing with each country thought the way they did, did lead to an appreciational trade, disarmament, nuclear testing, Red China, and Russia, internal communism and "subversive" groups, interna-ian and American students held widely divergent views on al-

Canada (particularly with respect to the Canadian economy) institutions because of it. It will be interesting to see if Alfred can also.

Togetherness

The old saying that togetherness breeds understanding was proven last week in Montreal, Canada, as over one hundred delegates from the U.S. and Canadian colleges and universities gathered to participate in Sir George Williams University's Seminar on International Affairs. It became obvious at the outset of the seminar that Canadian and American students would have no difficulty deriving points of common interest from almost any conceivable topic, especially those dealing with American national policies. Washington's treatment of Cuba, Russia, internal communism and "subversive" groups, international trade, disarmament, nuclear testing, Red China, and Canada (particularly with respect to the Canadian economy) came in for some sharp blows, and in some cases they could not withstand the attack.

Most of the Canadian delegates were surprised and even shocked to find their traditional, common beliefs and attitudes challenged. Yet they were forced to admit that all of what the Canadians had to say was not pure nonsense, although most Americans still found the Canadian ideas alien and unaccept-

Agreement, of course, was not reached on these issues. But a greater understanding of how and why the delegates from each country thought the way they did, did lead to an appreciation of their nation's respective positions. The Americans went home knowing that their friendly neighbors to the north did to view the United States with 100% affection. The Canadians found out that when the Red Sea could not be expected to bear the world's burdens on its shoulders and never make a mistake, especially while the other nations of the world (including Canada) sat back and did nothing.

One Canadian student summed up her country's attitude this way: "We like Americans individually, but we don't like their policies." Perhaps with their newly-found understanding, North America's future leaders will improve upon that, and come to respect each other's positions.

The Honor System

A most significant event in the history of Alfred, the establishment of the Honor System, was brought closer to reality last week as the Student Senate-formed honor system committee met with a faculty committee to consider the steps to be taken to determine if the system is feasible and desirable for Alfred University.

As significant as this step is, however, a great deal of specific planning, explanation, and organization must proceed the actual inauguration of an honor system. This will call for here-

In other words, the Honor System would be expanded in stages until it finally encompassed the total academic and social atmosphere of the campus. This, we think would regard as a sterling achievement.

We fully realize that there are obstacles in its way; we must find the right answers to the questions that Dr. Sibley raises in his letter to the editor; we must instill a deep respect for "honor" in the minds of those who will live under the sys-

Every single especially a college student, dislikes the concept of an honor system; yet, I fail to see a better answer to such an important prob-
An honor system would not (including Canada) sit back and do nothing.

An honor system would not (including Canada) sit back and do nothing. It's up to us to learn the material and pass the courses. We are asking the students to be "men" and "women," and should be able to assume the responsibilities for the course, we pay to learn, and it's our prerogative whether we can.

Dave Mitter, Great Neck, L.I., Fr., LA

A college student's life is not as simple and is not as ma-ible the problem and to share it. The truth is that they will not go to class and when not to. If he doesn't go to class, he'll event-

Ed Zeiger, Norristown, Pa., Soph., Cere.

I don't like the cut system. It's up to us to learn the ma-

An honor system would try to make the students feel that it's up to us to learn the material and pass the courses. We are asking the students to be "men" and "women," and should be able to assume the responsibilities for the course, we pay to learn, and it's our prerogative whether we can.

Cary Friedman, New York, Jr., Jr., LA

It's unnecessary to have the system. Students just wouldn't come. Students just wouldn't come. The system is bene-

That is the reason I think that an unlimited cut system acts as a challenge to professors as well as to the stu-

Fred's cut system?

Barbara Smith, Ridgewood, N.J., Soph. I think that an unlimited cut system acts as a challenge to professors as well as to the students. If a pro-

If the above were infallibly true, professors wouldn't be necessary for exams. An unlimited cut system would not (including Canada) sit back and do nothing.

If the above were infallibly true, professors wouldn't be necessary for exams. An unlimited cut system would not (including Canada) sit back and do nothing.

For "honor" in the minds of those who will live under the sys-

The importance of establishing such a system should make it of interest to every student on campus. Its institution would affect all members of our university and thus deserves some thought by all concerned. When a student attends college, it is assumed that he is seeking an academic education. If one makes a more educated person and prepare him for his profession or job. But as important as this, if not more important, college should encourage the student to continue his self-education after college in order that he be a better member of society.

In order to obtain this objective, the college curriculum includes courses that are taught to instill the values of a free society and give him a chance to show the professor that he has done homework and has put some thought into it. I attempted to convey this to the freshmen during orientation week so that they could move out of their college in order that he be a better member of society.

The importance of establishing such a system should make it of interest to every student on campus. Its institution would affect all members of our university and thus deserves some thought by all concerned. When a student attends college, it is assumed that he is seeking an academic education. If one makes a more educated person and prepare him for his profession or job. But as important as this, if not more important, college should encourage the student to continue his self-education after college in order that he be a better member of society.

The importance of establishing such a system should make it of interest to every student on campus. Its institution would affect all members of our university and thus deserves some thought by all concerned. When a student attends college, it is assumed that he is seeking an academic education. If one makes a more educated person and prepare him for his profession or job. But as important as this, if not more important, college should encourage the student to continue his self-education after college in order that he be a better member of society.

The importance of establishing such a system should make it of interest to every student on campus. Its institution would affect all members of our university and thus deserves some thought by all concerned. When a student attends college, it is assumed that he is seeking an academic education. If one makes a more educated person and prepare him for his profession or job. But as important as this, if not more important, college should encourage the student to continue his self-education after college in order that he be a better member of society.

The importance of establishing such a system should make it of interest to every student on campus. Its institution would affect all members of our university and thus deserves some thought by all concerned. When a student attends college, it is assumed that he is seeking an academic education. If one makes a more educated person and prepare him for his profession or job. But as important as this, if not more important, college should encourage the student to continue his self-education after college in order that he be a better member of society.

The importance of establishing such a system should make it of interest to every student on campus. Its institution would affect all members of our university and thus deserves some thought by all concerned. When a student attends college, it is assumed that he is seeking an academic education. If one makes a more educated person and prepare him for his profession or job. But as important as this, if not more important, college should encourage the student to continue his self-education after college in order that he be a better member of society.

The importance of establishing such a system should make it of interest to every student on campus. Its institution would affect all members of our university and thus deserves some thought by all concerned. When a student attends college, it is assumed that he is seeking an academic education. If one makes a more educated person and prepare him for his profession or job. But as important as this, if not more important, college should encourage the student to continue his self-education after college in order that he be a better member of society.

The importance of establishing such a system should make it of interest to every student on campus. Its institution would affect all members of our university and thus deserves some thought by all concerned. When a student attends college, it is assumed that he is seeking an academic education. If one makes a more educated person and prepare him for his profession or job. But as important as this, if not more important, college should encourage the student to continue his self-education after college in order that he be a better member of society.

The importance of establishing such a system should make it of interest to every student on campus. Its institution would affect all members of our university and thus deserves some thought by all concerned. When a student attends college, it is assumed that he is seeking an academic education. If one makes a more educated person and prepare him for his profession or job. But as important as this, if not more important, college should encourage the student to continue his self-education after college in order that he be a better member of society.
Letters

Dear Editor,

Your recent article stated in last week's FIAT LUX that Richard Haeil did well in the final Wave Dance of "A ThArter Chasmical." If he, the reviewer, will recall the line, it went like this: "Love is blind, but good-damn good-damn." Here he compliments Haeil not on his acting but on his ability to recite a hilariously line. But what the reviewer did not complement Haeil on is his acting. I am sure that "The Night the Bed Fell" and "Pipe and Purgit" for which Haeil did exceedingly well, are drama cir- tic, if I do feel qualified to say that I am distinguishable between good and bad acting itself is not with Richard Haeil's lines, but with his acting.

As per last week's review, it indicated a nusance way to establish a theater in this community. I am sure that many students are much when concentrating on getting through school so they can find a job that will give them enough money to feed their mouths five years from now.

"Student dissent seems to be a fad on other campuses, similar to stuffing telephone booths, "meaning," swallowing golden, and civil liberty groups. It seems to be a way of gaining public attention."

"If the reality of the world is a sort of hysteria and if college students tend to capitalize on this hysteria by forming peace groups, then it is probably good that there is a wall separating the rest of the big bad world from us and sparing us the worry of any direct collisions.

"There is really nothing students can do to alleviate the world situation and it seems doubtful to us that many students ever want things to change."

"It seems strange that this college should be so blessed. Might this not also apply to Alfred?"

Dear Editor,

I am writing to see the general interest in the hope of an honor system at Alfred, but we have to have the control of the dorms before we can consider such a system. We would be better sure we know what honors are. How to do we know the following honors?

Do we feel any remorse when we exchange self-respect for whatever advantage we gain in the short time we want? Did not Haeil give the play a tremendous lift and added to his enjoyment. Per- haps we should find suitable lines not with Richard Haeil's lines, but with the reviewer himself.

Thank you,

Barry J. Lee, Editor

Committees:

COMMITTEES:

AN AGONIZING RE-APPRAISAL

To those of you who stay out of your student government because you believe the committee system is just an excuse for inaction, let me cite an example of properly led and directed, can be a great force for good.

Last week the Student Council met at the Dalkeath College of Veterinary Medicine and Belles Letters to discuss purchases for a new doormat for the students union. It, I assume, a desperate problem because Sevich, K. Sigafoos, junior of the students union, threatened flattly to quit unless a new doormat was installed immediately. "I'm sick and tired of stepping on dirty old floor," said Mr. Sigafoos, sobbing convulsively. "I'm sure that some one is going to slip and fall —a tiny lady falls with a slippery floor."

But I digress. The Student Council met, discussed the doo-"Rite for eight or ten hours, and then referred it to a committee. But I digress. The Student Council met, discussed the door-"Rite for eight or ten hours, and then referred it to a committee.

"But the only time we ever hear mention made that there may be a world somewhere beyond the faculty dining room or in the not-too-distant future."

"There are students outside Hofstra who are very worried that the world may be blown to bits any minute. And there are persons outside Hofstra who send us all kinds of propaganda advocating World Constitution Coordinating Committee and a host of other things."

"It is probably good that there is a wall in the not-too-distant future."

"But the only time we ever hear mention made that there may be a world somewhere beyond the faculty dining room or in the not-too-distant future."

"There are students outside Hofstra who are very worried that the world may be blown to bits any minute. And there are persons outside Hofstra who send us all kinds of propaganda advocating World Constitution Coordinating Committee and a host of other things."

"It is probably good that there is a wall in the not-too-distant future."

"But the only time we ever hear mention made that there may be a world somewhere beyond the faculty dining room or in the not-too-distant future."

"There are students outside Hofstra who are very worried that the world may be blown to bits any minute. And there are persons outside Hofstra who send us all kinds of propaganda advocating World Constitution Coordinating Committee and a host of other things."

"It is probably good that there is a wall in the not-to
The following is the first in a series of articles by editor Steve Histoire, which he presents on behalf of Alfred, the world, and stuff like that.

A couple of weeks ago I had this certain image. I don't remember what the story was going with this girl. I believe it extended from one college to another. Anyway, I didn't have much anything I wanted to say to her, and she was a designer, so I decided to take her to a movie. I always like to take designers to the movies. They never too ever prepared to do something like . . . well, sneak into the movie.

Well, anyway, we went to the movie. It was a good movie. I really don't remember what the story was about. But I do remember that it was in color, wide screened, and had a lot of well-known stars in it. I guess that's all that's really important in movies today.

Now that I think about it, I can remember a bit more of what the movie was about. It was one of those that fall in the newest of Hollywood. You know, the kind in which the movie takes on one of those old plots, base it on the Bible and center up with what was the religious and spiritual. The waste products, such as religion, are probably stored. What he terms a religious spectacular. (The waste products, such as religion, are probably stored.)

In my opinion, this is the wrong way to judge. To show you what I mean, let us say that we put religion in a plain white package. On the other hand, we have this opposite which comes in much more interesting wrappings, such as Lisa T. (No full names of film stars are given in my findings.) Now if a man were given a choice of either of these, and only judged externally, which one would be picked up? (Of course in this case we are treating these as non-religious objects which have little to say about this. This is almost true anyway.) But if he really thought about it, his choice would probably be different. This is my point. It's like with females. Externally they're nice. But this becomes a bore if they have nothing else to offer.

The establishment of this committee follows a four part series in the IFAT devoted to honor systems. This series was concluded last week and an editorials urged, "the Student Senate and the Women's Student Government to fully consider the idea of an honor system at Alfred."

There has been a long history of concern over an honor system at Alfred. President M. Ellis Drake has noted that there was an honor system in effect at Alfred while he was a student during the 1920's. According to the book, "The Four by former President John Nelson Norwood, the honor system that President Drake's debate was instituted in 1916, after a student was suspended for cheating on mid-year examination. After this, the student body voted overwhelmingly to adopt an honor system that required students to report any questionable actions on the part of other students in exams. During the 1930's, this system was catalyzed by a list editorial that "promoted" honest C's and discouraged this criticism of what President Norwood regarded as 'frequent objection' to the honor system. The main objection then, as it is now, was the student's reluctance to report violations of the honor code by other students. In 1951 a vote by the student body indicated that the honor system was in fact not effective. A faculty committee then voted to suspend the system indefinitely.

Staff Discusses Honor System (continued from Page 1) about an honor system. I'd hate to think it is an impossibility. However, there is nothing to stop students from acting in an honorable manner right now.

Barbara A. Bechtel, Dean of Women: "It is time for a campus-wide student opinion of the proposed honor system. Students should now be prepared to make an intelligent decision in view of the discussions of the topic during the past two years. I favor the current measures now being taken by the Student Senate.

Myron K. Sibley, Associate Professor of Philosophy: "That I am ready to work is evidence of my interest in the possibility of establishing such a system."

Robert M. Campbell, Chairman, Dept. of Ceramic Engineering: "We can and should establish an honor system at Alfred, because college gentlemen have to have honor. It is inherent in a professional man to take care of his internal affairs and conduct himself in an ethical manner.

Dr. Melvin Bernstein, Professor of English: "An honor system should be tried; ideally, it's good, practically it's difficult, but not impossible. The opportunities for self-discipline under an honor system are both burdensome and wonderful.

Dr. C. Everett Rhodes, Professor of Mathematics: "As long as students feel that turning in a cheater is worse than cheating, it will never work and this is the attitude of the students now. It should not be adopted unless people are serious enough and the possibilities will be made to stick."

Dr. Samuel Scholes, Jr., Professor of Chemistry: "Rotary International has established what they call the four way rule, The rules are: (1) Is it the truth? (2) Is it fair to all concerned? (4) Will it build good will and better friendships? (4) Will it be helpful to all concerned? If members of Alfred University feel that with the institution of an honor system, these four points can be realized, the sooner we have an honor system the better."

The winners may select any one of the four Gibbs schools for their training—Boston, New York, Montreal, or Providence.

Available From Katharine Gibbs 'Two national scholarships are college center girls are offered for training at the Katharine Gibbs School. Each scholarship consists of full tuition ($935) for the secretarial training—Boston, New York, Montreal, or Providence.

Winners are chosen by the Scholarship Committee on the basis of college academic record, personal and character qualifications, financial need, and potentialities for success in business. Each college or university may recommend two candidates and each candidate must have this official recommendation. Students who may be interested in competing for one of these Katharine Gibbs scholarships may obtain full information from the Personal Dean's office.

Dr. Myron K. Sibley, Associate Professor of Philosophy: 'That I am ready to work is evidence of my interest in the possibility of establishing such a system."

Dr. C. Everett Rhodes, Professor of Mathematics: 'As long as students feel that turning in a cheater is worse than cheating, it will never work and this is the attitude of the students now. It should not be adopted unless people are serious enough and the possibilities will be made to stick."

Dr. Melvin Bernstein, Professor of English: 'An honor system should be tried; ideally, it's good, practically it's difficult, but not impossible. The opportunities for self-discipline under an honor system are both burdensome and wonderful.

Dr. C. Everett Rhodes, Professor of Mathematics: 'As long as students feel that turning in a cheater is worse than cheating, it will never work and this is the attitude of the students now. It should not be adopted unless people are serious enough and the possibilities will be made to stick."

The winners may select any one of the four Gibbs schools for their training—Boston, New York, Montreal, or Providence.

Winners are chosen by the Scholarship Committee on the basis of college academic record, personal and character qualifications, financial need, and potentialities for success in business. Each college or university may recommend two candidates and each candidate must have this official recommendation. Students who may be interested in competing for one of these Katharine Gibbs scholarships may obtain full information from the Personal Dean's office.

MATTY'S Barber Shop
wishes you
Happy Thanksgiving
Harriers Fourth at State Meet
Fresh Grown Third Place

Alfred University's Cross Country team, defending its title as New York State small college champions, ran into stiff opposition from both the weather and opposition teams.

INTRAMURALS

In what may prove to be the critically advantageous move to have placed the intramural season under the direction of Coach Lamb, Lambda Chi is still at the top with a 16-1 mark. Picked as a pre-season favorite, the team, now expected to be a Cinderella favorite for the Keiger Trophy. Close behind however, are the Rebels and the Trojans. It is too soon to predict a winner as these teams have not yet met. Statistically, the advantage goes to the Trojans.

After a week's play in volleyball, as the perennial favorites have fallen by the wayside in favor of the spirited new team, Davis, T. D. played a defensive game, frustrating their opponents throughout. The Trojans, a well-organized independent team, defeated 15-12 Lambda Chi. Jim Graham, a transfer student from the West, dominated the net upsetting Lambda Chi server, Mike Adelman's spikes attempts.

Three weeks hence, the Intramural season begins. All athletic teams are already preparing for its commencement with regular daily practices. The junior and senior basketball tournaments are set for December 6th. There may be several surprises in this year's competition as the Trojan claim to dominate the scene. T. D. has a strong junior varsity, and the independents will maintain their usual strength. Lambda Chi and Kappa could be tough as ever.

Successful Thanksgiving Vacation

All students planning to stay in AU during Thanksgiving Vacation should get in touch with their personal deans to arrange for accommodations and for the holiday dinner.

Gardner

(Continued from Page 3)

American Embassy at Athens as one of three free officers assigned to inspection and control required under the U.S. Foreign Relief Program for Greece.

In 1948 he served as deputy to the Privy Chief of Mission with responsibility for developing and controlling the relief projects to which a total of $1,500,000 had been assigned.

He then returned to the United States and completed a year of graduate study at Princeton before joining the faculty at Colby in July, 1949.
Upsala Downs Saxons 21-0; End Season With 4-4 Record

An exhausted Alfred football team traveled 300 miles to nowhere last Saturday as they dropped a 21-0 game to the Vikings of Upsala. The Saxons, worn out by a tough season, played on spirit alone. But that spirit was not enough to gain victory and a winning season.

Upsala gained its first touchdown early in the second quarter on an 18 yard pass play from Ross Barker to halfback Frank Dorothy. The conversion was good and the score was 7-0. Up until the first score the Saxons had been able to contain the Viking threats; but the Alfred offense was going nowhere except backwards. The A.U. forward wall which had withstood the heavier lines of Grove City and Ithaca, could not hold out any longer and Upsala, a team no better than Brockport or Hobart, scored two more easy touchdowns in the half.

Three minutes after he threw the scoring aerial, Barker connected with end Lou Borrelli on a 36 yard play to the 12. Bob Smith scampered into the end zone on the next play. The conversion attempt was muffed and the Vikings led 13-0.

The Blue and Grey picked up their final tally with two minutes to go. Tom Quinn went around the left end for the last T.D. for the Vikings. Barker found a hole off tackle to chalk up 13-0.

The small Saxon squad was no lift to Ithaca. Nearly every player on the starting team was in for a long day. The Saxons were physically exhausted after playing two teams which had the services of two or three plantees as compared to the Purple and Gold's one. Nevertheless the team held its own in all but this final game.

The Blue and Grey's Bast Orange team to blank A.U. The last time Upsala, a team no better than Brockport or Hobart, scored two touchdowns in the last four plays and never again threatened to break the shutout. Oddly enough the Vikings were the last team to blank A.U. The last time the two teams faced each other at the Blue and Grey's East Orange gridiron they played an unusually close game.

The small Saxon squad was no lift to Ithaca. Nearly every player on the starting team was in for a long day. The Saxons were physically exhausted after playing teams which had the services of two or three plantees as compared to the Purple and Gold's one. Nevertheless the team held its own in all but this final game.

Season Wrap-up

Although this was a rebuilding year for the Saxons, they still provided some very exciting moments of football. After dropping the opening game to Cortland 19-12 and injuring MacVittie, Ron Pagan, Tom Quinn, Bob Smith, Paul Yunevich his hundredth victory in 34 seasons for the Alfredans. The Saxons shared in 18 scoring games was broken on the takeout. Oddly enough the Vikings were the last team to blank A.U. The last time

The small Saxon squad was no lift to Ithaca. Nearly every player on the starting team was in for a long day. The Saxons were physically exhausted after playing teams which had the services of two or three plantees as compared to the Purple and Gold's one. Nevertheless the team held its own in all but this final game.

The Blue and Grey's Bast Orange team to blank A.U. The last time Upsala, a team no better than Brockport or Hobart, scored two touchdowns in the last four plays and never again threatened to break the shutout. Oddly enough the Vikings were the last team to blank A.U. The last time the two teams faced each other at the Blue and Grey's East Orange gridiron they played an unusually close game.

The small Saxon squad was no lift to Ithaca. Nearly every player on the starting team was in for a long day. The Saxons were physically exhausted after playing teams which had the services of two or three plantees as compared to the Purple and Gold's one. Nevertheless the team held its own in all but this final game.

Season Wrap-up

Although this was a rebuilding year for the Saxons, they still provided some very exciting moments of football. After dropping the opening game to Cortland 19-12 and injuring MacVittie, Ron Pagan, Tom Quinn, Bob Smith, Paul Yunevich his hundredth victory in 34 seasons for the Alfredans. The Saxons shared in 18 scoring games was broken on the takeout. Oddly enough the Vikings were the last team to blank A.U. The last time

The small Saxon squad was no lift to Ithaca. Nearly every player on the starting team was in for a long day. The Saxons were physically exhausted after playing teams which had the services of two or three plantees as compared to the Purple and Gold's one. Nevertheless the team held its own in all but this final game.

Season Wrap-up

Although this was a rebuilding year for the Saxons, they still provided some very exciting moments of football. After dropping the opening game to Cortland 19-12 and injuring MacVittie, Ron Pagan, Tom Quinn, Bob Smith, Paul Yunevich his hundredth victory in 34 seasons for the Alfredans. The Saxons shared in 18 scoring games was broken on the takeout. Oddly enough the Vikings were the last team to blank A.U. The last time the two teams faced each other at the Blue and Grey's East Orange gridiron they played an unusually close game.

The small Saxon squad was no lift to Ithaca. Nearly every player on the starting team was in for a long day. The Saxons were physically exhausted after playing teams which had the services of two or three plantees as compared to the Purple and Gold's one. Nevertheless the team held its own in all but this final game.

Season Wrap-up

Although this was a rebuilding year for the Saxons, they still provided some very exciting moments of football. After dropping the opening game to Cortland 19-12 and injuring MacVittie, Ron Pagan, Tom Quinn, Bob Smith, Paul Yunevich his hundredth victory in 34 seasons for the Alfredans. The Saxons shared in 18 scoring games was broken on the takeout. Oddly enough the Vikings were the last team to blank A.U. The last time the two teams faced each other at the Blue and Grey's East Orange gridiron they played an unusually close game.

The small Saxon squad was no lift to Ithaca. Nearly every player on the starting team was in for a long day. The Saxons were physically exhausted after playing teams which had the services of two or three plantees as compared to the Purple and Gold's one. Nevertheless the team held its own in all but this final game.

Season Wrap-up

Although this was a rebuilding year for the Saxons, they still provided some very exciting moments of football. After dropping the opening game to Cortland 19-12 and injuring MacVittie, Ron Pagan, Tom Quinn, Bob Smith, Paul Yunevich his hundredth victory in 34 seasons for the Alfredans. The Saxons shared in 18 scoring games was broken on the takeout. Oddly enough the Vikings were the last team to blank A.U. The last time the two teams faced each other at the Blue and Grey's East Orange gridiron they played an unusually close game.

The small Saxon squad was no lift to Ithaca. Nearly every player on the starting team was in for a long day. The Saxons were physically exhausted after playing teams which had the services of two or three plantees as compared to the Purple and Gold's one. Nevertheless the team held its own in all but this final game.

Season Wrap-up

Although this was a rebuilding year for the Saxons, they still provided some very exciting moments of football. After dropping the opening game to Cortland 19-12 and injuring MacVittie, Ron Pagan, Tom Quinn, Bob Smith, Paul Yunevich his hundredth victory in 34 seasons for the Alfredans. The Saxons shared in 18 scoring games was broken on the takeout. Oddly enough the Vikings were the last team to blank A.U. The last time the two teams faced each other at the Blue and Grey's East Orange gridiron they played an unusually close game.