Some 'splaining' to do

A-A superintendent addresses community on sub hiring policy

By DAVID L. SNYDER
Editor, Publisher and Janitor

ALMOND—A report early last week of a Wellsville man charged with felony sex crimes involving a child left Alfred-Almond Central School District Superintendent Rich Calkins with "a whole lot of 'splaining' to do."

Seems that the perpetrator had been listed as a substitute teacher at Alfred-Almond Central School. He isn't anymore.

Peter L. Shoughrue, 43, of Wellsville was charged by Bath-based New York State Police with first-degree disseminating indecent materials to minors and attempted use of a child in a sexual performance, both felonies. He's also charged with attempting to lure a child, attempted third-degree criminal sexual act and endangering the welfare of a child, all misdemeanors.

Shoughrue was arraigned before Town of Avoca Justice Pat McMahon, and remanded to the Steuben County Jail in lieu of $20,000 cash bail, or $40,000 property bond. He is scheduled to reappear in the Town of Avoca Court at 11 a.m. Wednesday, April 12.

In a letter addressed to Alfred-Almond Central School parents and the community, Calkins explained:

Recently, I have had several community members inquire about our hiring policy for substitute teachers. I welcomed this question and would like to outline the district's process. All substitute teaching applicants are required to:

1.Fill out an application which includes their address, education and professional training, teaching experience, certification areas, references, personal history and criminal background, if any.

2.Include letters of recommendation.

3.Provide proof of fingerprint clearance and criminal background check through the New York State Education Department (NYSED).

4.Be interviewed by a building principal.

In Mr. Shoughrue's case, the district followed this exact protocol and his references were called for verification. Unfortunately, nothing contained within his application, or letters of recommendation, indicated that he could not perform his duties as a substitute teacher nor gave any insight to his future actions that are now in question.

In addition, another question that has been asked is "Did you know that there was an investigation in progress?" The answer is unequivocally, "no." Today, however, I did inquire with the New York State Chief Investigator, Tom Khork, as to why our district was not notified. His answers were as follows:

1.Notifying the school could alert the suspect and jeopardize the investigation.

2.Under our judicial system, you are innocent until proven guilty.

Again, if anyone has any information regarding this investigation, please contact Investigator Khork at 607-776-6866.

I will continue to keep the community updated as more information is released. Please do not hesitate to call with further questions.

Sincerely,
Rich Calkins

ELIZABETH B. BURDICK
Long-time Alfred resident
 COLORADO SPRINGS, CO - Elizabeth B. Burdick, 95, formerly of Alfred, went home to be with her Lord and Savior on Tuesday, March 21, 2017 at Penrose Hospital in Colorado Springs, CO, with her family at her side.

Mrs. Burdick ("Betty") was born on December 18, 1921 in Hornell to William B. and Louise M. (Roosa) Miller. in 1940. Thereafter she attended Crittenden School of Business in Olean. On April 13, 1946, she married Richard L. Burdick. After raising her family, Betty attended Alfred State College part-time, earning her Associate of Science in 1990.

Betty worked as a secretary for Alfred State College from 1945 until her retirement in 1992.

Betty is survived by two daughters, Carol D. (James) Dombeck of Webster, and Dr. Brenda J. (Grant H. Waldref) Burdick of Guffey, Colorado; one son, John F. Burdick of Manvel, Texas; one sister, Velma Wesche-Guild of Wellsville; one daughter-in-law, Denise L. Burdick of Friendswood, Texas; and one sister-in-law, Onalee Miller of Clarence.

In addition to her husband of 57 years, she was predeceased by one brother, Myron A. Miller.

Betty enjoyed many passions. As a Christian, she loved to read The Bible, share her faith and walk with the Lord. She was very active in the Hornell-Wellsville Christian Women's Club and was elected the first Chairperson of the Hornell-Wellsville Christian Business and Professional Women's Council in 1972. Until her recent relocation to Colorado she attended Alfred-Almond Bible Church for many years. Betty had a lifelong love for music, and played the harmonica, chromonica and cello. She was cellist for many local groups including The Wellsville Musical Club and The Wellsville Civic Symphony Orchestra. Betty was thrilled to attend Colorado Springs Philharmonic 90th Season Gala Concert with cellist Yo Yo Ma just a few weeks ago.

Betty loved to correspond and encourage others by enclosing interesting newspaper articles in her thoughtful and sweet letters. She combined her love of nature, wildlife and exercise by enjoying daily walks. She enjoyed scenic drives and traveling with her family, taking vacations throughout much of the United States and Canada. Her family has many fond memories of these trips.

Additionally, Betty was an active member of the Catherine Schuyler Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution and was instrumental in her daughters and two granddaughters also joining. DAR dovetailed nicely with Betty's passion for reading history and other non-fiction books.

Per Betty's wishes, there was no prior visitation. A memorial service will be held at The Union University Church Center in Alfred at 2 p.m. Sunday May 7. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery in Wellsville.

AAUW hears historian on women's suffrage

WELLSVILLE—The Alfred-Hornell branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) was honored to have Dr. Rusty Tobin as guest speaker at the Beef Haus in Wellsville.

Dr. Tobin is a local historian whose career was mainly in Human Services and teaching for Empire State College. Her research focus is early twentieth century women's political history in New York State.

Rusty Tobin gave a Power-Point presentation on the New York State women's suffrage movement from 1893 through 1920 with a particular emphasis on Allegany County.

Women in New York State gained full suffrage in 1917, three years before the Constitutional amendment in 1920 that gave all women in the country the right to vote. The New York State victory was the result of a statewide referendum of male voters.

While most history books mention the contribution of New York City to the successful passage of the referendum, upstate rural communities were equally important to the victory.

Two rural organizations, the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the New York State Grange, were strong supporters of women's suffrage. The suffragists across New York State created a strong organization modeled on political party structure that led to the victory in 1917.

The Allegany County Woman Suffrage Party was successful in convincing 56% of the male voters in the county to grant women full suffrage.

'Backyard Birding' program topic of Bird Club meeting

WELLSVILLE—The April meeting of the Allegany County Bird Club will be held beginning at 7 p.m. Friday night, April 7 at the First Congregational/Christian Temple Church on North Main Street in Wellsville.

The program will be presented by club president Craig Braack on "The Basics Of Backyard Birding in Allegany County." Topics to be covered include identifying the different species of birds by shape, size, color and song commonly found in our backyards.

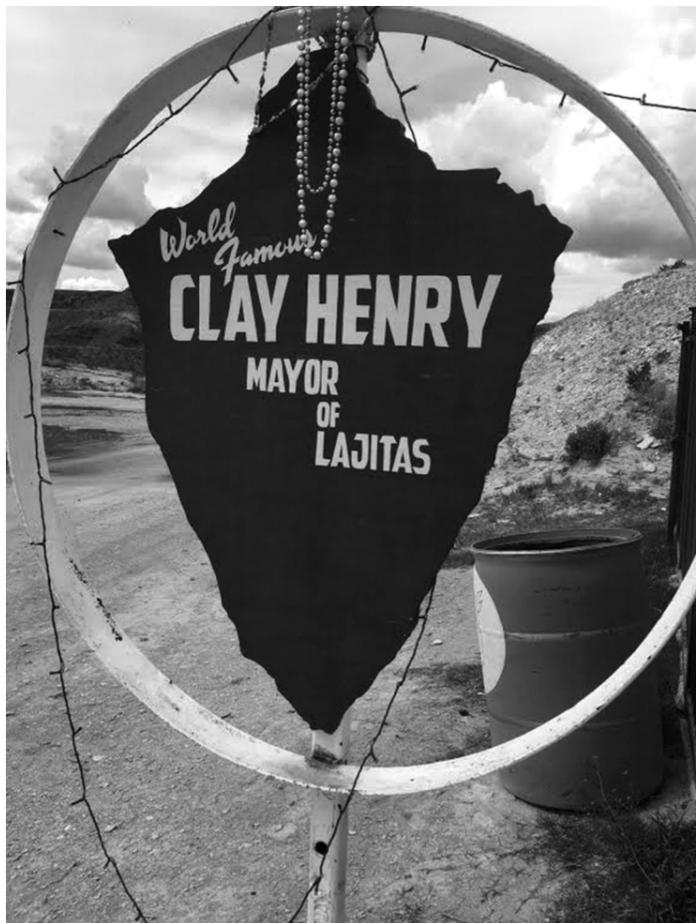

The program will also cover the use of binoculars and bird guide books. The meeting is free and open to the public.

Scene About Alfred

Every area has quirky, "Only in..." events and traditions, and historical artifacts. Maybe being an outsider makes them seem more quirky, but probably not, in this case. At the Starlight Theater, a local restaurant in Terlingua Ghost Town, on stage right, is this critter. The inscription on the wooden sign at its feet announces, "Honorable Clay Henry, Mayor, Lajitas (Texas)." On a recent visit to nearby (by Texas standards) Lajitas, the next town west of where we stay, 18 miles distant, we found a sign declaring something similar, at a large, shaded cage containing two live goats; not exactly sure which one was Clay...

SUNNY SIDE UP

By ELLEN SHULTZ
Alfred Sun Columnist

Ellen always loved her Vidalia Onions!

[Editor's Note: Like most of the recipes she shared with our readers over the past couple of decades, Ellen Shultz's Sunny Side Up columns are worth repeating.]

Hooray! Wegmans is once again advertising my favorite onions-Vidalias. Other onions may advertise they are "sweet," but only Vidalias truly are. I am absolutely addicted to them and hate the winter months when I can't get them. Other people return from Florida with string bags of oranges and grapefruit. I return with bags of Vidalia onions.

Here is one of my favorite onion recipes which was given to me years ago by my sister-in-law, one of the really great cooks.

Onions Au Gratin

- 5 c. cooked onions, drained and chopped
- 5 c. grated cheddar cheese
- 6 T. butter
- 1/2 c. flour
- 1/4 tsp. black pepper
- 1/2 tsp. salt

Mix onions, 4 cups of the cheese and remaining ingredients. Pour into large baking dish. Sprinkle 1 cup grated cheese on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serve 10 to 12.

(Note: I'd like to hear from more of my former students. How about sending me a recipe and telling me where you are and what you're doing.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Peg's last gift to community

Dear Editor,

I consider myself to be fairly good at writing, but find myself practically wordless in my appreciation of Peg Rase's last gift to the Alfred community.

My heart swelled with joy to hear the instrument her father played so well, made to soar under the fingers of Dr. Judy Congdon from Houghton College. Yes, the organ is feeling its age, but she coaxed every last nuance from it, reminding us all of what Peggy felt so strongly - that music is an essential part of our lives, which needs the love and patronage of an appreciative audience.

I wouldn't dream of trying to chronicle all the things Mrs. Rase did in her time in our lives. I only want to say a heartfelt "Thank You" to her and her dear family for all their gifts to us. And may I suggest that a great way to thank Peggy for everything she did, would be to help save this magnificent organ for the generations to come. I think she'd like that.

Verissimo sincerely,
Jude Frechette
Alfred

Welcome immigrants

To the Editor:

The most recognizable verse on a plaque at the base of the Statue of Liberty is from one of Emma Lazarus' poems, "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to be free."

Yet the reality of the immigrant experience has often been very different. Throughout the stark history of the U.S., immigrants and refugees have not been accepted with open arms by those who had come before them. From the "slovenly, drunken Irish" who, on top of everything else, were also Catholics, God forbid, to the "Krauts" who just had to be Keiser sympathizers during World War I, to the "little yellow menace Japanese," even if they were born in the U.S., to the Vietnamese refugees in the 1970s, Americans have looked upon immigrants with suspicion, dislike and distrust.

Why, immigrants were even blamed for the Johnstown, Pennsylvania flood. It is, therefore, no surprise that the Trumpkins of today are so dead-set against new immigrants. Whipped up by the Bannon-Trump ticket of hateful rhetoric, refugees from war-torn Middle Eastern countries or poor migrant workers from Central and South America are now blamed for our nation's ills.

Yet, these are the people who are willing to do the kinds of work that are beneath most Americans and they are eager to make their ascent the economic ladder.

I used to think that Ronald Reagan was the worst president in modern history. I don't think that any more, thanks to Hairball Trump and his miserable cadre of cabinet choices. Even Reagan was in favor of removing barriers when he said to the Soviets, "Tear down this wall, Mr. Gorbachev," referring to the wall separating East and West Berlin.

So, we don't have a few million dollars for Meals-on-Wheels, but Congress is willing to authorize 14 billion dollars to build a wall along the Mexican border? For what? To keep out people, who are just like the Italian, German, Polish, Scotch, Irish, and other nationalities who have come before them?

Shame on us, as a country, if we are willing to go along with this corrosive policy. Shame on us, as a country, if we are now looking at the Russian dictatorship as a model that we would like to emulate.

Thank you,
Steven R. Jakobi

Snyde Remarks

By DAVID L. SNYDER
Editor, Publisher and Janitor

The arrival a few weeks back of our second grandson, Austin Karl Snyder, has us excited about the April 13 issue when we publish our annual Easter Parade of Little People.

Entries have been coming in at a snail's pace. Deadline for submissions of photos of your loved ones is approaching. They are due by 4 p.m. Friday, April 7. Here's your chance to show off your kids and/or grandkids!

It's been a while since I shared some of our readers' comments on their subscription renewal forms. So here goes:

"I like obituaries and For the Birds. What I do is cut out what I think my brother would like and send it to him in Rochester."

"Jude Frechette's and Alan Littell's articles are highlights."

"...Alan's articles, photos of travelers, Ellen's recipes, Moonlighter, 50-25-10 Years Ago."

"We are well served. We like the obits, Betsy Brooks, M.L. Wells, Jude's column, movie notices and Kelly's forecast."

Immigration - Done Right!

Immigration is a "hot topic" right now. Unfortunately, many of the issues focus on a negative aspect of immigration. There are currently thousands of illegal immigrants in our country, and some of them pose safety hazards for the rest of us. That is a complex issue, and certainly deserves attention. However, there is another side of immigration that is often overlooked by the media. Legal immigration represents much of what is best about America.

On March 16th I attended a "Naturalization Ceremony" at West Seneca West Senior High School. At that ceremony my son-in-law, Valeriu "Vali" Ciobanu, was sworn in as an American citizen. It was a wonderful experience for him and our family. He was one of 51 individuals sworn in as naturalized American citizens. They came from more than 30 different countries, including Canada, Brazil, Panama, Great Britian, Bhutan, Thailand, Yemen, Sweden, Italy and Moldova. Each of these individuals had reasons to leave their country of birth. Each viewed America as a land of opportunity. For most of these people, this ceremony was "a dream come true."

Vali was born in Moldova when it was one of the "Soviet Socialist Republics," and was essentially a colony of Russia. Everything was controlled by the Communist Party. Vali's father was a Christian pastor and their family experienced persecution and harassment because of their faith. Things improved somewhat for Vali's family after the "Iron Curtain" fell in the early 1990s. However, Moldova was still a very poor and corrupt country. It was (and is) a difficult place to live.

His family managed to get by with help from American Christians who visited to help build churches and encourage fellow Christians who had experienced persecution. One American family offered Vali an opportunity to come to America for a college education. With their help he attended Kent State University in Ohio. This was a challenging experience since he wasn't yet fluent in English. (Imagine trying to attend college in a foreign country when you don't know the language.) He persevered and was able to graduate with a bachelor's degree. After graduating from college Vali obtained a work visa and remained in America (legally).

It was during this period that he met and courted my daughter, Elizabeth. They got married in 2013. Today they live in Allegany County with their two children, Anna and Zoe. After their marriage, Vali applied for a "Green Card" as a permanent resident alien. This involved screening, testing, and sponsorship. Elizabeth and I sponsored Vali, which was basically a guarantee that he wouldn't become a burden or problem for America. He is a devoted husband and father, and has worked to support and provide for his family. For him America represented a place to come for freedom and opportunity.

I believe America is better and stronger when immigrants, like Vali, come here and become citizens. They bring their strengths, abilities, dreams, visions and vitality. This is a very different experience from that of "illegal" immigrants. They come here without any screening, testing, or sponsorship. Ironically, most of the amnesty programs that have been proposed excluded those who came here legally and were pursuing citizenship. It was almost as though we were punishing those who came here legally, and were doing it right.

For me the highlight of the naturalization ceremony was the "Oath of Allegiance" that every naturalized citizen recites. That oath is: "I hereby declare, on oath, that I absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, of whom or which I have heretofore been a subject or citizen; that I will support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States of America against all enemies, foreign or domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I will bear arms on behalf of the United States when required by the law; that I will perform noncombatant service in the Armed Forces of the United States when required by the law; that I will perform work of national importance under civilian direction when required by the law; and that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; so help me God." Perhaps it would be good for all citizens (not just naturalized citizens) to take this oath.

I wish to take this opportunity to welcome Vali and his fellow naturalized citizens to America. This is now your home, just as much as it is mine. WELCOME.

PERFORMING ARTS

AU will stage 'As You Like It' April 6-8

ALFRED—Alfred University will present three performances of William Shakespeare's As You Like It from April 6 through April 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Miller Theater of the Miller Performing Arts Center on the University campus. Tickets are $10 for general admission, $5 for senior citizens and area students, and $2 for Alfred University students with ID. Reservations are recommended and available at perform@alfred.edu, or by calling 607-871-2828.

Additional students and faculty will provide additional support, including Natalie Robin, visiting professor of performance design technology; Anne Simon, guest artist costume designer, and Adam Saldberg, guest artist sound engineer.

As You Like It, one of Shakespeare's most popular comedies, is set in the Forest of Arden, where a host of young lovers wander, many in love-stricken confusion that is further muddled by disguises and roles the characters assume within the larger story. Memorable characters include the melancholy Jaques, who delivers the famous "All the world's a stage" speech, and the dynamic Rosalind, the heroine of the play and one of Shakespeare's most formidable creations.

With a wicked duke lurking in the background, As You Like It always contains an element of danger that threatens to upend the comic story. But as a comedy, it resolves its many conflicts with multiple weddings and peacemaking – just as you like it.

The Wisdom of Non-Discrimination

DISCRIMINATING WISDOM

Imagine, if you will, that you are standing in the Dental Needs aisle of your local supermarket, shopping for floss. Fifty varieties, in bright, colorful packages, tempt you with their charms. Your options include Top Care Reach, Oral-B Glide, Listerine Cool Mint, Oral-B Essential, Listerine Gentle Gum Care Woven, and, not least, Tom's of Maine Natural Antiplaque Floss. You don't have all day; you must choose. How will you do so? And of your many mental faculties, which will you employ?

In Zen teachings, the mental faculty that enables us to compare "this" to "that" is known as "discriminating mind." Beyond the act of comparison, this faculty also allows us to distinguish between the good and the not-so-good, the beautiful and the ugly, the authentic and the bogus. Like food, medicine, and shelter, critical thinking is essential to our physical survival, our emotional well-being, and our conduct as responsible adults. In the ethical sphere, our powers of discrimination allow us to distinguish between thoughts, speech, and actions that may be harmful to ourselves and others and those that are wholesome and beneficial. In the aesthetic sphere, they permit us to tell a good painting from a bad one and an elegant phrase from a vulgar expression. And in the political sphere, they empower us to differentiate between fact and opinion, honest reporting and partisan propaganda, truthful statements and shameless prevarication. Little wonder that the training and refinement of the critical faculty has been—and, I hope, continues to be—an integral part of traditional education.

Yet, as some of us have found, our powers of criticism and analysis can also take over our daily lives. If conceptual thinking becomes our dominant way of perceiving the world, usurping every other way, it can prevent us from being present and seeing clearly. "Alike in ignorance, his reason such /," wrote the poet Alexander Pope in his Essay on Man, "Whether he thinks too little or too much." By its nature, conceptual thought is dualistic: it divides subject from object, body from mind, and, most crucially, "self" from "other." Embodied in language, it slashes reality into words and phrases, leaving fragments in its wake. As Zen teacher Genjo Marinello Osho observes, our discriminating consciousness, if left unchecked, can come to resemble a hammer, which we obsessively wield and cannot put down, irrespective of the task at hand. As Marinello puts it, we can spend our waking hours "hammering everything," leaving little space for intuition, contemplation, and other avenues to understanding.

To counterbalance that destructive tendency, and to help us see the world in a more balanced way, Zen teachings admonish us to cultivate an attitude known as upeksha, or "the mind of non-discrimination." Often translated as "equanimity," the word upeksha derives from a root meaning "to look over," as if from a high elevation. Practicing upeksha, we endeavor, in Matthew Arnold's famous phrase, to "see life steadily and see it whole." We no longer divide the world into parts or regard one part as superior to another. Nor do we take sides, rejecting one side's interests in favor of the other's. In his public lectures, Zen master Thich Nhat Hanh often explained the principle of upeksha by holding his two hands in front of him, as though they were hand puppets, their palms facing each other. His right hand, he noted, had written hundreds of songs and poems; his left had no such record of achievement. But his right did not claim superiority over his left, knowing as it did that the two hands were parts of the one body. And if the left hand were to be injured while the right was hammering a nail, the latter would hasten to treat the injury. Such is the nature of upeksha.

As Thich Nhat Hanh's analogy suggests, the "mind of non-discrimination" should not be confused with mere indifference. Upeksha is better understood as the capacity to remain balanced, present, and compassionate when faced with such reversals as pleasure and pain, gain and loss, praise and blame, fame and disrepute. Nor is upeksha synonymous with a culpable neutrality. There are situations when it is necessary to take sides and to act accordingly. But if our ability to discriminate, criticize, and judge can be balanced with our capacity to let go of our critical judgments, step back from our habits of mind, and question our fixed ideas, we can learn to meet our experience with a mind that is at once all-embracing and undecieved. In Buddhist teachings, this synthesis of a critical mind and an open heart is known as "discriminating wisdom." A powerful antidote to prejudicial thinking, it is also a central aim of Zen practice.

Ben Howard leads the Falling Leaf Sangha (www.fallingleavesangha.blogspot.com), a Zen practice group in Alfred. His books include Entering Zen, The Backward Step, and Immovable Awareness: The Intimate Practice of Zen.

Our Book to Movie Book Club will be reading The Dinner

by Herman Koch. The movie version of this book is scheduled to be released in May. You can check out your copy of the book at the library! And don't forget to tell us what you thought of the March selection, The Circle by Dave Eggers.

The Dinner is "an internationally bestselling phenomenon, the darkly suspenseful, highly controversial tale of two families struggling to make the hardest decision of their lives—all over the course of one meal. It's a summer's evening in Amsterdam, and two couples meet at a fashionable restaurant for dinner. Between mouthfuls of food and over the scrapings of cutlery, the conversation remains a gentle hum of polite discourse. But behind the empty words, terrible things need to be said, and with every forced smile and every new course, the knives are being sharpened.

"Each couple has a fifteen-year-old son. The two boys are united by their accountability for a single horrific act; an act that has triggered a police investigation and shattered the comfortable, insulated worlds of their families. As the dinner reaches its culinary climax, the conversation finally touches on their children. As civility and friendship disintegrate, each couple show just how far they are prepared to go to protect those they love.

"Skewering everything from parenting values to pretentious menus to political convictions, this novel reveals the dark side of genteel society and asks what each of us would do in the face of unimaginable tragedy."

What's Happening at Almond Library
By ELIZABETH CALL
Almond Library Director

I have been thinking a lot about the value of the library and its place in our community lately. As the library director, it has been my pleasure to serve the greater Alfred-Almond area for over a year. In that time, I have gotten to know many of you, as you have come in to use our services, and it has been my pleasure to help each and every one of you. Those of you who use the library can attest to what a great value it provides to you. If you have not been in the library in a "long time", perhaps it is time for you to stop in and see what it's all about!

Don't forget about Lego Club for your kids! Every week there's a new set of projects to build! This is a drop-in program, so everyone may join in the fun! I post pictures of the projects on Facebook for everyone to admire!

Art and Coffee for Seniors: We will be making Easter decorations! There will be a couple of projects for you to choose from, or you can do it all! As always, all art materials are provided, and the coffee and company are free! What qualifies you for a senior? If AARP has been sending you letters, you can join us!

Feel free to contact the library with any questions you might have about our upcoming programs or anything else, and don't forget to check our website and our facebook page for the most up-to-date information: www.almondlibrary.org.

DIY Yogurt Zucchini Bread

DIY YOGURT ZUCCHINI BREAD

April is almost here so it's time for me to use everything I have been storing frozen as quick as I possibly can to make room for this summer's harvest! Zucchini anyone? This recipe is one of our favorites. It's super moist and has the added benefit of yummy yogurt.

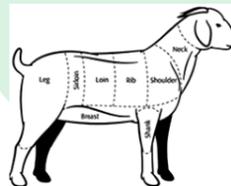

What You Need:

- *1c chopped walnuts (optional)
- *2c sprouted grain flour
- *1/2t powder
- *1/2t soda
- *1/2t salt
- *3/4 c maple syrup
- *1/2c melted coconut oil or lard
- *1c greek yogurt
- *1c grated zucchini

Preheat oven to 325degrees. Whisk together flour, powder, soda and salt. In another bowl stir together syrup, coconut oil, yogurt and zucchini. Incorporate into the flour mixture. Pour into greased bread pan and bake for 1 hour. Enjoy with fresh butter or jam!

Jazz great Dave Frank to make two-day visit at AU

ALFRED—Alfred University's Honors Program will host Dave Frank, founder of the Dave Frank School of Jazz, in New York City, for a two-day visit April 12-13 that will include a jazz piano performance, a workshop for local musicians on jazz improvisation, a Bergren Forum and a meeting and talk with Honors Program students called "Pursuing Your Passions."

Frank's visit is also possible through the generous support of the David and Elizabeth Miller Performing Arts Fund.

Frank will meet with Honors Program students for tea at the Honors House at 4 p.m. April 12, then direct an improvisation workshop at 8 p.m. in the Miller Performing Arts Center. Frank's Bergren Forum will be held at 12:10 p.m. April 13 in Howell Hall, and he will perform at 7:30 p.m. on the evening of April 13 in Miller Performing Arts Center.

The improvisation workshop,

Bergren Forum, and performance are free and open to the public.

Frank is a renowned music educator in the field of jazz improvisation. He co-authored (with John Amaral) The Joy of Improv, a two-part guide published by Hal Leonard Books, and has produced dozens of popular on-line jazz video classes. From 1987 to 2014, he served as Associate Professor of Piano at the Berklee College of Music, in Boston, then moved to New York City and formed the Dave Frank School of Jazz, which provides in-house and on-line instruction to musicians around the world.

As an educator, Frank has insisted jazz improvisation is a musical craft that can be taught just as any other craft, passed from a practicing master to an aspiring apprentice. "It is an absolute subject that can anybody can learn," he says.

Not that it's easy. Frank breaks jazz improvisation into two basic areas of study, including what he calls "the nuts and bolts" of musicianship that require hundreds of hours of practice. The second area, which he calls "improv concepts," involves "how you take those raw materials and make music out of them. ... These are specific concepts that can be taught and learned by anyone," he maintains.

Frank will elaborate on that belief in his Bergren Forum, "Fifteen Elements for the Advanced Jazz Pianist; Analysis of a Solo Jazz Performance," held in Howell Hall instead of the customary Nevins Theater venue on the Alfred University campus.

Frank has presented solo jazz concerts and master classes in numerous countries in Europe, Africa and South America and has performed as a featured artist and clinician at major jazz festivals including the 2012 Jazzheads Jazz Festival and the 2001 and 2003 Montreux Jazz Festivals. He has been featured in articles in the Boston Globe, Keyboard Magazine and The Chronicle of Higher Learning, and he was recently the featured guest on the National Public Radio program Jazz Inspired with Judy Carmichael.

His four critically acclaimed solo piano CD's - Portrait of New York, Turning It Loose, Ballads and Burners, and Power of the Piano - have been released under the Jazzheads label.

AAUW members hear review of book, 'The Widow's War'

ALFRED—The Alfred-Hornell branch of the American Association of University Women recently met at the home of member Debbie Sullivan. After a dish-to-pass dinner, member Sally Hopkins led a review of Sally Gunning's historical novel, The Widow's War. Hopkins began by reading articles from the current issue of The National Geographic, which dealt with issues and plights of widows in today's world. We were heartened to learn that laws are changing in some countries where it had previously been forbidden for widows to keep their children and/or property.

The setting of The Widow's War, a pre-revolutionary war novel, is in what is now Brewster, Massachusetts on Cape Cod. The author lives in Brewster, and has had family ties to Brewster for over two centuries. Actual streets, roads, waterways, even historic homes are included in the book.

To help us better visualize the setting, member Joan Bowden, who often visits this area, showed maps of The Cape, pointing out areas mentioned in the book. Hopkins also distributed pictures of the type of homes built here during this period, explaining how the saltbox leant itself to a lean-to addition for a growing family and a roof design to best withstand high winds.

The daily survival struggles of the main character, Lyddie, who must fend for herself over long periods of time while her husband is at sea, becomes faced with even more trials as she becomes a widow when her husband dies while whale hunting. Lyddie's heartless, overbearing son-in-law is the closest male relative, so he gains control over Lyddie and her property.

After living with him becomes unbearable, Lyddie fights the customs and laws of the time to live her life on her own terms. We learn of the punishable acts of the Puritans, the whaling industry, the scorned Sauquoit Indians, the fight for survival due to illnesses and childbirth, as well as gender and class dynamics.

Lyddie is helped to press forward through her many struggles as she hears about the beginnings of James Otis' talks concerning the natural rights of all men. Otis was a lawyer who quit his position for England because he didn't believe in the Parliament Writs of Assistance imposed on the colonists. The Writs actually had to do with trade, search and seizure but Otis interpreted them as violations of fundamental liberties and rights of man.

John Adams was in the audience of Otis's speech and later declared that was when "the child Independence was born". These principles were the basis of the soon to be revolutionary war activity.

Members discussed aspects of this novel. We were impressed with the character development, historic accuracy and the story itself. Many were interested to learn that the author has two other books in this series.

The Alfred-Hornell branch is always open to new members. For further information please contact our president Dr. Patricia Soper-Oakes at 607-382-2949 or membership chair Anne Acton at 607-587-9119.

You've seen the blue signs. You've noticed that there's some groups in the area "adopting" highways. But what does one do with the highway once it is adopted? New York State's Adopt-A-Highway Program is in answer to the problem of blight on the landscape of the Empire State's endless trail of beautiful vistas and historic back roads. Along thousands of miles of state highway roadsides, the natural beauty of New York has been blemished by litter dumped from passing vehicles. This persistent and preventable problem has become more acute in recent years, not only in New York but across the country... The Adopt-A-Highway concept began in Texas in 1985 as an effort by a single district to respond to its increasing roadside litter problem. The concept was simple. Allow private citizens to support the state's litter pickup program by letting groups "adopt" two-mile sections of highways...

(Photo) Alfred's Rod and Gun Club is one of the growing number of area groups adopting two or three miles of local state highways for the purpose of clearing litter and improving appearances. The adoption does not, however, involve snow removal.

Sunbeams—"It's a small town when you miss a Sunday at church and get two get-well cards."... Mario Prisco of 10 Randolph Road, Alfred, joined 17 other artists and educators to judge the 50th Annual Scholastic Art and Photography Competition of Central-Western New York at R.I.T.'s Bevier Gallery... Area 4-Hers chosen to compete in this year's Evie Karn Memorial Public Speaking Contest, held annually at the Allegany County Fair, include Michele Freeman in the junior division and Gena Simon, Kelly Wilcox and Robbie Wilson in the senior division... Wallace "Pete" MacDonald of Vandermark Road served as a judge for the Allegany County 4-H Public Presentations held recently at Fillmore and Scio... H. Alan Dirlam and Esther shared a picnic lunch with nearly 200 current and former Allegany County residents in Lakeland, FL on March 6. Then, the following Sunday, Alan and Esther joined alumni and friends of Alfred University at an alumni luncheon in Orlando. President Coll was the main speaker. The luncheon also availed an opportunity to view the new video of Alumni Weekend at Alfred University... Sue Beckhorn and daughter Spring explained the maple syrup industry at the Mather Homestead Museum in Wellsville, where trees have been tapped this year, the first time in a century. The exhibit at the museum features "The Buck Stops Here" in honor of Eugene McCarthy's recent visit to Buffalo...

Notes from Palmiter Hill (Be Rev. Albert N. Rogers) Our bird feeders are very popular these days with the continued snow falling. The cardinal, our prima donna, came back briefly this week. The chickadees seem to think we put the food out just for them. They are welcome to it! ... It was good to see the church filled last week saying farewell to Ruth Crandall who was a devoted wife, mother and piano teacher. She expected hard work from her pupils and they tried not to disappoint her. The service was a solemn celebration... Television is to some extent like the old party line telephone. Some of us remember the old East Valley line. The same room that once housed the telephone switchboard is now the nursery for the Union University Church. That would make old Sheff Bassett laugh if he could know it.

(Photos) Alfred's Idea of a 'Spring Fling' Just when we were enjoying the warmer temperatures, Old Man Winter blew us into "Spring" with a severe snow-storm that closed all of the schools in the area on March 11-12. The area received up to a foot of fresh snow and area residents, for the first time this winter, were called on to get serious about using their manually-operated snow throwers. Flinging the white stuff around became good sport, with some folks, such as Ollene Smith of Alfred braving the storm to "keep ahead" of the accumulation, while others wisted until the snowfall subsided to address the issue of snow removal. (Photos of Ollene Smith, Herb Waite, Jamie Mansfield all flinging snow, while Clyde Lewis of the Alfred Village Streets Crew drove the village's snow thrower.

10 Years Ago, March 29, 2007

The people of Alfred own a wonderful resource that most of them know nothing about. In June 1930, a three manual, 23 rank pipe organ, built by the M.P. Moller Organ Company of Hagerstown, Maryland, was given to the people of the community of Alfred. For want of a better place to put it and because the church's old organ had burned in a fire, the new organ was installed in the First Alfred Seventh Day Baptist Church. This church, which holds services on Saturday, and the Union University Church, which holds services on Sundays, have been the loving caretakers of the organ ever since. The following is a speech given by Agnes Bond for the dedication service: "Sara Burdick Rosebush. It seems very appropriate that the church trustees voted to dedicate this beautiful new organ to which we are listening this evening with much interest and pleasure to Mrs. Sara Burdick Rosebush, the talented woman and musician who was so largely instrumental in the purchase and installation of the former first pipe organ in this church..."

Huber S. Watson of Rochester died Thursday, February 1, 2007 at the age of 88. A native Alfredian, he was predeceased by his wife, Margaret Deane Watson, and a brother, Lloyd Sherman Watson... Huber graduated from Alfred University in 1941. He was a retiree of Eastman Kodak Company and a Navy Veteran of World War II...

The "Acafellas" will present a benefit concert for the Alfred volunteer fire and ambulance companies... The idea of the benefit concert came from AU senior Chris Broderick who is also a member of AU Rescue Squad and A.E. Crandall Hook & Ladder Company. Broderick, along with seniro John Kalish founded the group three years ago. The other a capaella singers include Jaimie Lain, Greg Badger, Phil Dickerson, Adam Fiegl, Jarod Gagnon, Ben Hendel, Jeremy Smith and Nate Smith...

Sunbeams—Former Alfredians Dick and Sandy Weeks, now of Holtwood, PA were recent winners of a MyBestYears.com Gift Card Giveaway... Dr. Steven M. Pilgrim, professor of materials science and engineering at AU, has just reviewed a book, "Principles of Polymer Processing"... Early in February Leigh Ann Schon moved from the Rochester area to Durham, NC... Lindsey Moretti, daughter of Jim and Sue Moretti of Alfred, an A-A grad and junior majoring in finance at Susquehanna University, has been named to the Middle Atlantic Conference All-Academic Team for 2006-07...

Islam and Christianity. In this text we find Christianity's claim to Abraham as the "Father of those who experience righteousness through faith." Genesis 15 reveals "Abraham believed God and it was accounted to him as righteousness." In the Genesis 15 event we have a "protoevangelium," prototype of the Gospel, righteousness through belief/faith.

It is faith not works of legalism that brings a declaration of righteousness with God. (Chronologically, Genesis 15, according to the Bible, occurred some 430 years before the giving of the Law at Mount Sinai.)

As Faith is exercised in Christ Jesus another Abrahamic promise is complete in Abraham's descendants "all the nations of the world would be blessed." Dr. Luther in his commentary on Galatians says that this is fulfilled through Abraham's descendants through "begetting and believing."

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, March 30

When the Puritans and Pilgrims experienced a natural calamity--a prolonged drought, a plague of grasshoppers--their response was to search their souls collectively as well as individually in a day of fasting and repentance. On this day in 1863, with the war news progressively worsening, Abraham Lincoln followed their example:

"It is the duty of nations as well as of men to own their dependence upon the overruling power of God, to confess their sins and transgressions in humble sorrow yet with assured hope that genuine repentance will lead to mercy and pardon....Those nations only are blessed whose God is the Lord."

ALLEGANY COUNTY NEWS

By KATHY BENZAQUIN

Alfred Lions Club Past President

ALFRED—For the March meeting of the Alfred Lions Club, Wellsville Lions were invited to share information about one of their community service programs, the Diabetes Center at Jones Memorial Hospital.

Past Lions President Roger Moyer, who serves on the center's board, brought clinic staff with him as well. Erika Zerkowski, MS, RD, CDE, CDN is the dietician among other roles and Brenda Torrey, RN, CDE helps with medical testing. Both are Certified Diabetes Educators.

Roger shared that Wellsville Lion Fred Easton visited a Diabetes Clinic in Pennsylvania in 2003 and brought the project idea back to his local club. The Lions worked with Jones Memorial Hospital who agreed to provide the facility and staff. The club received a $54,000 grant from the Lions International Foundation as seed money to start the program.

Located on the first floor of the hospital, the clinic was seeing around 200 individuals a year. Roger reported that there are 2000 known diabetics in Allegany County with 1000 more who remain undiagnosed. There is an obvious need for services such as this for our community. Much education about the clinic as well as the disease is still needed.

Unfortunately the clinic has not had the success they once did. They don't get the referrals from the doctors and there is a co-pay that many patients do not want to pay. This is extremely disturbing as the rise in diabetes, especially among children, continues to be a national concern.

For Type II diabetes, the kind of testing provided by the clinic is the primary way for the disease to be discovered. Type I diabetics need insulin to survive; about 10% of the diabetic population falls into this category. There is no screening done in schools so the work of the clinic is even more crucial in identifying children with diabetes.

Erika shared other statistics; 1 in 3 people are either diabetic or pre-diabetic. Only 5% of Medicare diabetics make use of the diabetic services available to them. Diabetes is known to kill more people than stroke and cancer together as it causes so many other illnesses when left untreated. As Erika indicated, once you are diabetic you will always be diabetic but you can decide to control it or not. The clinic helps people to change their lifestyle behaviors in a healthy way. The staff works with doctors as well from referrals.

The staff is eager to assist people through testing, education and referrals. Diabetes is a manageable disease through healthy eating, physical activity, monitoring the condition, taking medication, and reducing one's risk for complications. The clinic at Jones Memorial is open Monday to Friday with appointments with the Registered Nurse on Mondays and Thursdays.

This is a great program supported by the Wellsville Lions as part of the Lions Club International principle to serve your community. The Alfred Lions were pleased to host this group and share the important services they provide for Allegany County residents.

ALLEGANY ARTS ASSOCIATION

Allegany Arts Association to sponsor 'Poetry Slam' April 20

WELLSVILLE—The Allegany Arts Association will sponsor its 10th Annual Poetry "Slam" during April, National Poetry Month.

Beginning at 6 p.m. Thursday, April 20, in the Monday Club Room at David A. Howe Library in Wellsville, writers of poetry, free verse, song lyrics, haiku, limericks and other poetic offerings are invited to share their work with like-minded friends.

Prizes of $50 for first, $25 for second and $15 for third place will be awarded. Winners are determined by the audience members who receive one ballot for each $2 admission. Runners-up receive certificates and non-cash prizes of poetry books.

Each writer/poet may read three selections of her/his own recent work. Submissions should be suitable for all ages. No critics will be present, just other lovers of the infinite possibilities of written and spoken language. Allegany Arts Association Board members will act as vote counters and final judges.

First prize winner in 2016 was newcomer Vicki Grant, who arrived with a notebook full of excellent poetry written over many years. Second prize was won by Jasmine Schumacher of Almond (a repeat performer) and Chuck Wisner (another first timer). Adam B. Gayhart, a most loyal poet and writer, again won Third Prize. Adam has won every prize over the years. A new Fourth Prize went to Daniel Fox (also new to the Slam). Honorable Mention went to Ronnie Schenkein, who won 2nd Prize in 2015 with her animal and nature poems.

JASMINE SCHUMACHER of Almond was 2nd last year.

Poets are not required to sign up in advance, but it is helpful to bring an extra printed copy of your poems. Light refreshments will follow the awarding of prizes, at which time everyone is encouraged to read a favorite poem or limerick. Bring a poem or sonnet to celebrate our 10th Anniversary!

The Poetry Slam is open to the public. The $2 admission fee gives each person a vote for those you believe to be the best poets. Questions? Call Joanne Allen, 585-593-5705. Family, friends and visitors are most welcome.

Emma Tyme in April 6 concert

ALFRED UNIVERSITY SPORTS ROUNDUP

Lynch sets record, earns E8 Player of the Week

ALFRED—Junior captain Jake Lynch (Whitney Point) was selected as the Empire 8 Athletic Conference Men's Lacrosse Player of the Week on Monday afternoon.

Lynch and the Saxons had a 1-1 week with a road win over Oswego State, 16-12, and a 21-9 home loss to Stevens. At Oswego, Lynch scored his first two goals within four minutes of each other in the first quarter. His second score (at 5:11 and unassisted) broke the school record in career goals with 128. The previous was 127 held by Dylan Macro (2001-04). Lynch totaled five goals in the outing and added one assist for six points. He scored the game-winner in the contest and posted a season-high two man-up goals. His weekly total was seven goals and one assist for eight points. Defensively, Lynch caused a turnover in both contests as well as retrieve three ground balls in both events.

Monday's announcement marks the third time in the 2017 season that the preseason All-American was selected as the Empire 8 Player of the Week. The first of the season was when he scored nine goals in a game against SUNY Canton which tied the school record for most in a game. Lynch then earned Player of the Week for his performance during the Saxons' spring training trip to Maryland and Virginia where he totaled 11 points from six assists and five goals.

Lynch and the Saxons will next take on Empire 8 foe Hartwick College at 1 p.m. Saturday, April 1 at Oneonta.

Men's tennis gets first win

The Alfred University men's tennis team earned its first win of the 2016-17 season Tuesday evening, defeating host Pitt-Bradford, 5-4, on St. Bonaventure University's indoor courts in Olean.

AU (1-2) split six singles matches with the Panthers. Sophomore Peter Smock (Prattsburgh) took second singles, 8-2; sophomore Kyle Kemper (Oswego) won fifth singles, 9-7; and freshman Jacob Nordin (Ann Arbor, MI/Rudolf Steiner) claimed sixth singles, 9-7.

The Saxons took two of three matches in doubles play. Smock and junior Mike Wisniewski (Buffalo/Williamsville East) won second doubles, 8-2, while Nordin and freshman Aaron Vit (Canandaigua) took third doubles, 9-7.

AU is in action next on Thursday, March 30, at 1 p.m., when the Saxons visit Houghton College in their Empire 8 Conference opener.

Gilbert nets five goals in loss

Junior Miranda Gilbert (Watertown) was able to find the back of the net five times as the Alfred University women's lacrosse team lost 18-7 against SUNY Poly Sunday afternoon at Yunevich Stadium.

Senior Megan Wendt (Grand Island) rounded out the scoring for the Saxons (1-4, 0-0 Empire 8) as she scored two goals.

The Saxons were down 5-2 with 6:39 remaining in the first half before Gilbert took over the game. She scored four unanswered goals, closing out the first half and opening the second, to put Alfred on top with 25:48 remaining in regulation. This was Alfred's only lead of the game with the 6-5 advantage.

Senior Dana Ganley (Syracuse/Westhill) led the Saxons in ground balls with five and in caused turnovers with three. Gilbert and junior Shannon Gray (Rochester/Churchville-Chili) had three ground balls apiece.

Gray went the distance in net making 15 saves (a season-high) on 33 shots on goal as she picked up the loss. The Saxons were back in action Wednesday, March 29th, as they hosted Hilbert College at 4 p.m.

Lady Laxers net first win

The women's lacrosse team won its first game of the season by defeating Wells College, 12-9 Thursday, March 23 at Yunevich Stadium.

The Saxons (1-2, 0-0 Empire 8) were paced by junior Miranda Gilbert (Watertown) as she finished with five goals and two assists. The senior trio of Tracy Johnston (Akron), Megan Wendt (Grand Island), and Hayley Katz (Bridgewater, NJ) each had two goals in the contest.

Wells College got the scoring going early as Maloney scored just 27 seconds into the game. Alfred came back scoring the game's next three goals. The Saxons took a 7-5 lead at half-time as Johnston created some distance scoring with 1:16 remaining in the frame.

The Express came close on many occasions as it was a one-goal game with 7:41 remaining in regulation before Katz and Gilbert put the game out of reach.

Gilbert also had a busy night on the defensive end as she caused five turnovers and came away with seven groundballs. Senior Leah Ellithorpe (Camilus/West Genesee) added four groundballs, going along with her first goal of the season.

Junior Shannon Gray (Rochester/Churchville-Chili) went the distance in net picking up the win while making 10 saves.

Perry Athlete of the Week

First year long and triple jumper Danielle Perry (Leicester/York Central) was named the Empire 8 Athletic Conference Women's Outdoor Field Athlete of the Week on Monday afternoon.

Perry competed in her first collegiate outdoor track and field meet at California University of Pennsylvania on Saturday. In the meet, she finished fourth in the triple jump with a distance of 10.70m (35'-1.25"). The distance broke the school record of 10.57m (34'-8.25") set by Corine Pettit in 2013. Perry also led the Saxon jumpers in the long jump with a distance of 4.76m (15'-7.5"). That distance is .02m from besting her indoor personal best in the event.

Perry had earned an Indoor Field Athlete of the Week when she broke the AU indoor triple jump record at the Brockport Golden Eagle Invitational.

The Dugout

By DOUG LOROW
Alfred Sun Sports Columnist
dugout2@gmail.com

It was off to the Amway Center in beautiful downtown Orlando last Friday to see an NBA game featuring the visiting Detroit Pistons and the host Magic. Both teams out of the playoff picture so the pre-game "buzz" wasn't all that exciting. It didn't disappoint that way.

Took in the game with fellow A-A grads Our Man Frank, Jake Taft and Mr. Timmer as I was attending my first NBA outing since a Buffalo Braves game at the Buffalo Aud ... many moons ago! Those three have been to a few NBA games, as Florida residents now and with tix from Coach Beyer (AU). Many "thanks" from the four of us to Boo!

Had a pre-game cold one at a place called Buffalo Harry's, just down the street from the really sharp Amway Center. Bills fans gather at this place during the NFL season to cheer on the AFC team. Met a couple of young ladies there, from Tampa, and would surprisingly "see" them later. See them on the Amway big screen!

Waiting in line for the gates to open, happened to look around and see Coach Bill Van Gundy right behind us! The former men's hoop coach at Brockport and Genesee CC, plus the father of Stan and Jeff. Stan, of course, now the Pistons head coach and Jeff an analyst with ABC/ESPN. Chatted with him before the game, told him we were all from Alfred and he good naturedly said "he'd have security keep an eye on us." At least I think he was kidding around?

Remember him being at G C C but never really had a chance to talk to him before. Good guy!

Got inside, finally a n d then had to wait longer to get down to area to see Coach Beyer. Scummer ... "should've got wings at Harry's. Finally work our way down, almost to floor level, and see Van Gundy already chatting with Coach Beyer. Of course he was. The former Alfred State assistant coach breaks away and comes over to talk to us.

Haven't seen Coach Beyer since he was an assistant with the Dayton Flyers and they were at Bona in A-10 play. Years ago. Stay in touch with him via text/emails but hadn't actually seen in quite some time. Daughter Lauren and I sat with Spanny (Cortland) at that game. Have come "close" to seeing Beyer in Saratoga at Druthers, but not quite.

Had a great and longer than expected chat with the Alfred University graduate, talking basketball and catching up on other things. Most enjoyable!

Almost game time and not sure the Pistons were quite ready to play in Orlando. Yikes. A week or so ago Detroit was holding down the eighth and last playoff slot in the NBA East. Not anymore. Crummy game and it was over at halftime. Penny Hardaway and Nick Anderson weren't on the floor for the Magic but the Pistons helped to make others look like them this nite.

We departed sooner than planned and headed to Ferg's Depot on Church Street to watch some NCAA action. Specifically UCLA and Kentucky. Good time at a great new place on Church Street. There is a Ferg's in St. Pete's that Jake-Frank-Scum head to before Tampa Bay Rays games. The Depot is really sharp. Solid evening out in Orlando.

Scene at the Amway Center.

ALFRED STATE

Relay for Life Saturday, April 8

ALFRED—Come join hundreds of Alfred State students next month as they raise money and awareness for the American Cancer Society during the college's annual Relay for Life event.

Held in the Orvis Activities Center gymnasium, the event will take place from noon until midnight April 8. The public is invited to join a team or put their own team together by visiting relay.acevents.org.

The theme of this year's Relay is "Decades." Participants are encouraged to dress up in clothing worn during different decades from the 1920s until present, with outfits changing on an hourly basis.

"Anyone who attends is encouraged to dress up, but may wear casual clothes or whatever is comfortable," said Relay for Life Committee public relations rep Jacob Allen, a construction management major from Palmyra. "There will be mini-games every hour to keep everyone involved and active."

Allen noted that in the past, the Alfred State Relay has been able to raise more than $20,000 in just one year for the American Cancer Society, and that the committee is attempting to set a new record this year, in terms of fundraising and participation.

"Every penny will help," he said, "so please come down to see what Alfred State is really about, and what we can accomplish together as a community in the fight against cancer."

FREE CLEAN-UP! Saturday, April 8

10:00 A.M. to 12:30 P.M.

The Alfred University Saxon Football Team would like to volunteer to help clean up your yard, home or garage, etc. The team will be available starting at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 8. Call the football office at 871-2889 to make arrangements for members of the team to help clean up your home/yard.

HITS AND MISSES:

Orlando would end up stopping Detroit, 115-87. Elfred Payton of the Magic would shine this nite. He of (perhaps) the goofiest hair- do in the NBA.

We watched Kentucky stop UCLA in the basketball regionals as the one-year college "career" of Lonzo Ball came to an end. Now if dad, LaVar Ball would end his talking career!

Archie Miller, formerly of the previously mentioned Dayton Flyers, is the new head coach of the Indiana Hoosiers. Brother Sean Miller is head coach of the Arizona Wildcats.

Was a tough weekend for UCLA basketball in the NCAA's as the men lost to UK and the women dropped a tough game against defending champ, UConn. 86-75 and 86-71 losses, respectively.

The NIT had it's "Final Four" for the men in hoops this week as TCU ... with Coach Jamie Dixon (Pitt) now leading the charge, taking on upstart UCF with Coach Johnny Dawkins at the helm. Dawkins won NIT titles at Stanford in 2012 and 2015. Also, CS Bakersfield played Georgia Tech.

"Coach in Waiting" Mike Hopkins has left Syracuse and is now the new men's cage coach at the University of Washington. He will not have national Gatorade Player of the Year, Michael Porter, Jr. on his roster this year as he was released from his prior commitment.

Oh yes, the NCAA's ... in men's basketball, am sticking with my pre-tourney pick in this space of North Carolina ... unfortunately.

In the women's tourney, Mississippi State stunned Baylor and Stanford nipped Notre Dame to advance to the "Final Four" on Sunday past. Expect UConn and South Carolina to have joined them as they played Monday nite. Still think UConn will win (again) but a South Carolina challenge to that title?

The Alfred Saxons men's lax team (4-3) topped Oswego last week before falling to Stevens in E8 action.

Coach Longman's Ithaca Bombers (8-0) were ranked third last week in the D3 lax poll.

The Walsh Cavs baseball team of Coach Tim Mead are rolling along at 14-4, having seven-straight wins along the way.

At Genesee CC, the baseball team is 3-6 as Coach Skip Sherman's (A-A) squad has been battling bad weather of late.

MLB starts this weekend and my "expert" predictions of division winners will be: Washington, Chicago and San Francisco in the NL and Boston, Cleveland and Houston in the AL. Wildcards ... the Dodgers and Cardinals plus the Yanks (I hope!) and Rangers. Cubs and Red Sox in the World Series. Cubs and Indians will be popular pick, of course, and could happen, but will go slightly off "chalk." Two in row for Chicago Cubs? Chicago tops Nationals in NL, BoSox over Hair's "Tribe in the AL to advance.

Bob and Pat Codispoti took in a New York Yankees spring training game versus Tampa Bay last week in Port Charlotte.

John and Colleen Baker took in a spring training game in Lakeland the next day, Braves - Tigers.

The Minnesota Twins, the parent team of the Rochester Red Wings, released OF Drew Stubbs over the weekend ... much to the chagrin of Our Man Frank.

The Milwaukee Brewers released former Yanks reliever, Joba Chamberlain.

First-sacker Greg Bird of the NY Yanks has indeed switched to uniform #33 this year.

Team USA wins the World Baseball Classic and without Kris Bryant, Mike Trout and Bryce Harper on the roster.

Gary "Doc" Moore and Mike Coughlin took in NYS boys basketball action last week in the Binghamton area.

Savo, Matt Green and Mortimer Green ... plus Smitty(?) off on a golf trip last week in Myrtle Beach.

Geno Smith with the Giants and Josh McCown with the Jets inked one-year QB deals last week. NFL hurting at that position!

Former Buffalo Bills CB Stephon Gilmore landed a whopping 5-year/$65 million dollar deal with the champion NE Patriots.

Rush-Henrietta track standout, Sammy Watson in the current issue of Sports Illustrated, "Faces in the Crowd."

Daughter Lauren ran in the Philly Love Run half-marathon on Sunday past with a time of 1:57:28.

Time to name the track at Alfred-Almond ... the Ernie Moore and Jim "Dynasty" McEvoy Memorial Track!

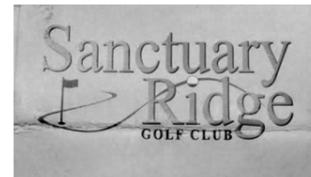

Small World time as I saw a FB post with Jeff Long in it from Irondequoit, along with Jim Dellavilla. 3L played soccer with and against Dellavilla daughters in Webster.

Tiger Woods in the Masters golf tournament this year? Doubt that right now. Can anyone stop Dustin Johnson?

Busy week past in Florida ... mom doctor appointment, off to see latest KONG movie, Molokai golf league, golfed Sanctuary Ridge in Clermont with Bob & John Baker (tough course), a Firestone oil change appointment and the NBA game.

This week ... my last outing in the Molokai league and "thanks" to Jim Weisse, nephew Josh Fischer coming over to Leesburg and we are golfing with Scummer on Saturday, then off to St. Pete's on Sunday to take in Yanks-Rays season opener with Taft, Stubb, Scum and maybe Bruce Emery. No Syracuse Dave.

No fooling ... back to NYS soon.
