Alexander Baker, b. London, England 1606/7; father of eleven children; only one child, Joshua 2, b. 1642 is carried forward. Joshua 2, b. Boston, MA, father of nine children; only three are carried forward, Alexander 3, Joshua 3 and John 3. My research centered on the above mentioned names, with large families -- leaves many Bakers not included.

The migration pattern are is as follows: Alexander 1, b. England removed to Gloucester, MA, later to Boston, MA; Joshua 2, b. Boston, MA removed to New London, CT; other followed and branched out and located at Haughton's Cove, CT; North Parish, CT; Montville, CT; Woodbury, CT; Groton, CT; and Upper Lisle, CT. Joshua 6 and brother, Gideon 6, removed to Broome Co., NY 1804. Joshua 6 removed in 1832 to West Almond, Allegany Co., NY. Others branched out to places like Triangle, NY; Andover, NY and Coudersport, Potter Co., PA.
INTRODUCTION

The following will help you to understand the New England numbering system which is used in this genealogy.

The raised Arabic numbers at the end of most names are generation numbers (blood relatives); for example, on page 6, #14, Ephraim Baker, son of John, John son of Joshua, Joshua son of Alexander.

The names with the Arabic and Roman numerals are carried forward, using the same Arabic number in the left-hand margin in consecutive order. Example: p. 4, #23, Roman numeral I, Gideon, b. 3 July 1738, will be found on p. 8, #23.

The names with only the Roman numerals are not carried forward. Example: p. 8, #39, iii Rhoda, all available information is stated there.

The Biography numbers are the same numbers assigned to each person. Example: p. 8, #23, Gideon Baker has Biography #23.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Alexander Baker descendants researched by myself and others which I give credit to their records and their efforts to find, and record family history.

I may not be related to the Alexander line, but while doing research on William Baker line, I made a record of all Bakers, thinking I may find a connection.

A special thanks to Elvin Baker of Baltimore, MD, who had records and biographies which had been sent to me and the Potter County Historical Library, Coudersport, PA.

A thanks to many individuals. With the information, I have compiled this to help others in their family research.

Sincerely,
Merl. F. Baker

Erroneous Pedigree

In Colonial Farm of the U.S. Vol. 5, page 27 and 8 is a Baker pedigree wherein is claimed that Alexander Baker, Rope-maker who sailed from London for New England in spring of 1635 and settled in Boston was identical with Alexander, Jr. son of Alexander Baker, Esq. of Westminster and London who entered his pedigree and coat of Arms in the Visitation of London in 1634. Erroneous Alex Baker the emigrant, aged 28 with wife Elizabeth, aged 23 and 2 children embarked at London for New England 17 April 1635. He was therefore born about 1606. He settled in Boston where he died in 1685, leaving a large farm. He was a rope-maker. Nothing is really known of his ancestry or even county of his birth, but there is not the slightest reason to believe him of armorial descent. Alex Baker, Esq. of Westminster and London entered his pedigree and Coat of Arms in the Visitation of London in 1634 showing he had three sons. John, Alexander, them of Cliffords Inn, London and married to Elizabeth Tarror. and Henry and 4 married daughters (see Harleian Soc. Publications Vol. 15, p. 39). The parish register shows several entries relating to his family among them the marriage records of two of his daughters and bap. records of his sons, Alex. on 25 July 1611, and Henry on 22 Sept. 1614. Alex Baker Jr. of Cliffords Inn was there for 5 years, younger than Alex Baker emigrant. Furthermore the will of Alex Baker, Esq. of St. Margarets Westminster was proved by his three sons; John, Alex and Henry on 2 Oct. 1635. (See Matthews printed Probate Acts of the P.C.C. 1635-39, page 8) It is indicated that as Alex Baker of Cliffords Inn was thus in London on 2 October 1635, it is clear he was not the emigrant who sailed for New England the previous spring. Moreover Mr. Alex Baker of Cliffords Inn, London, Gent. is mentioned in the will of Rose Raysings dated 1 December 1654 indicating that he was living in London as late as 1654. Lastly Alex. Baker, Jr. of Cliffords Inn was a lawyer (Cliffords Inn was one of the Inns of Court and so of entirely different social position from the emigrant Alex Baker who was a mechanic following the trade of a rope-maker) (See Waters Genealogical Gleanings in Eng. page 183)

1. ALEXANDER1BAKER was born in England (?) about 1607 and came to America in the Ship Elizabeth and Ann in 1635 at the age of 28 years with his wife, ELIZABETH, age 23 years and two children - Elizabeth, age 2 years and Christian, age 1 year. London shipping register of 1635; He is styled "Rope Maker", "Collarmaker". He sailed from London April 18, 1635. He was at Gloucester where he settled on his first coming and on land granted in 1642 to Rev. Richard Blinman. The children, Elizabeth and Christian, were born and baptized in England. The remainder of the children are recorded in Boston town records and five children were baptized in the First Church, Boston, Mass., October 5, 1645. The remainder of the children were baptized soon after their birth. He and his wife were admitted to the church, Boston, October 5, 1645. Four children, Alexander, Samuel, Joseph and Benjamin did not survive for they are not in their father's will of 1685.

Alexander1Baker came to Boston from Gloucester about 1645 and his children born in New England were baptized 1st Church, Boston. Sometime early in his Boston residence he bought a homestead on Blott's Lane, which became the Winter street of today. The widow of Alexander Baker sold, 1688, the homestead to her son-in-law, John Alger, who before 1700 disposed of the property and removed to Bristol, Rhode Island. It was a long, narrow estate but sufficient for homestead and a work shop, fronting on Blott's Lane, and was the rear bounds of John Wampass, the Indian, which today is the site of St. Paul's Cathedral, Tremont Street, Boston. Perhaps a fair plat and description of the property can be made at some future time. Today it is in the heart of the most valuable estates of Boston. Two hundred and fifty years ago it was practically on the outskirts of the settlement. Robert Blott possessed property at the corner of present Winter Street and Washington Street. From perhaps as early as 1642 when Mr. Blott made his will, in 1662, he called upon his neighbor, Alexander Baker to be witness to it with Robert Sanderson, Probate in 1665. Alexander Baker, William Parsons and the children.

Alexander Baker, the common ancestor of a numerous progeny, was born in London, England, about 1607. He sailed from London in the ship Elizabeth and Ann, in 1635, at the age of twenty-eight years, with his wife, Elizabeth, aged 23 years, and two children, Elizabeth, aged 2 years, and Christian, aged one year. They landed at or near Boston. It appears that for a short time he lived at Gloucester, Mass., and afterwards settled in Boston, where he became a permanent resident. His occupation was a ropemaker. Before their departure from London, he obtained a certificate from a minister of the established church of England, as to his standing in the church, and before two justices of the peace took the oath of allegiance.

2. From History of Montville, pp. 153-4

JOSHUA BAKER, the fourth son, b. 30 April, 1642, was the ancestor of the Baker families in Montville. He removed from Boston and settled at New London, Conn., about 1670. He received shares in the town plot and became a large landholder. About the year 1700 he received a deed from Owaneco, the Chief of the Mohegans for a large tract of land in Mohegan, on which his sons afterwards settled. A portion of the same tract of land was located in the vicinity of the famous "Cochegan Rock". He married, 13 Sept., 1674, Hannah Tongue Mintern, relict of Tristram Mintern of New London. She was a daughter of George Tongue, b. 20 July, 1654. A sister of hers married Gov. John Fitz Winthrop. He died at New London, 27 Dec., 1717, aged 75 years.
On September 7, 1845 he married Celena Hawes who was born August 1, 1820; died March 18, 1905. Both are interred in the cemetery south of Triangle.

The first ten years of their married life was lived in the vicinity where they were born, some of it in the house of the Hawes' where an infant daughter was born and died and is buried in the Hawes' cemetery.

They accumulated some property in that locality and in 1855 sold 34 acres to Alex Hedges. Later the same year they bought 188 acres on the west border of the village of Triangle for $5500. The farm was bought from Dexter Whitney and Stephen Losee and was one of the many tracts originally owned in that locality by Dan and Timothy Clark. The farm was the best in that locality and in Smith's History of Broome Co. is called the Guy Baker Estate.

At the age of 35 years, Guy E. Baker and his wife, Celena, bought the above mentioned farm and there was no mortgage given. Legal records and family tradition show that Celena received a gift of $2000 from her people which she put into the farm and the 50 acres north of the road was deeded to her. The next few years evidently were prosperous ones. Prices were rising -- her only daughter, Nancy, was sent away to school and the three boys, as was customary in those days, worked at home when needed.

The first legal indication of a collapse is shown when a two year mortgage for $2500 is recorded in 1868, given on his portion of the farm.

In 1870 mortgages for $4000 for a 5 year period are recorded, on the whole farm, perhaps partly to pay up the first one and at the end of the 5 year period they were sold out, and he went to work by the day.

His death three years later at the age of 59 is described by my father as that of "a broken hearted, white haired old man".

There was plenty of criticism of his business judgment but never a word against his character, and it was a well known fact that grandmother could have saved their home, but rather allowed him to mortgage it and so lost it. I found his name signed on legal papers as justice of the peace, and out in the country where everyone is known, any office given is pretty sure to show the respect and confidence of the people of the locality.
Joshua Baker, b. April 30, 1642 (son of Alexander Baker) removed from Boston and settled in Montville, Conn. about 1670. He received shares in the town plot in 1704 and became a large land owner. About the year 1700 he received a deed from Owamesco, Chief of the Mehegans, for a large tract of land in Mohegan on which his son afterward settled. There are many records of gifts or purchases from this Indian Chieftan to settlers in that area, and later many of them were contested by Commissioner in charge of Indian affairs, but there is no record that this one was.

A portion of this tract was still occupied by some of the descendants in 1896. A famous landmark "Mehegan Rock" is located near by. On September 13, 1674 he married Hannah Tongue Mintern, widow of Tristman Mintern of New London. She was born July 20, 1654, daughter of George Tongue. A sister was the wife of Gov. Winthrop. He dies in New London, December 27, 1717, aged 75 years.

4. Joshua Baker, b. Jan. 5, 1677 (son of Joshua Baker) married Marian Hurlburt, March 27, 1705, daughter of Samuel Hurlburt. He settled in the South Parish of New London where he was a carpenter and farmer. He died May 26, 1740, and his will was admitted to probate July 8, 1740.

The will reads as follows:

In the name of God Amen this 25th day of May in the year of our Lord God 1740, I Joshua Baker of New London in the county of New London, and Colony of Conn., carpenter being very sick and weak in body, but of perfect mind and memory, thanks be to God. Therefore calling to mind the mortality of my body and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament: that is to say principally and first of all I give and recommend my soul into the hands of God that gave it and for my body I recommend it to the earth to be buried in a Christian like manner at the direction of my executors nothing doubting, but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God."

The will mentions all members of the family and condensed, is as follows:
"Joshua as oldest son receives the farm on which he lives which is a double portion."

Two other sons receive farms but the one receiving the home farm is to pay his other younger brothers $300.00 each and his sisters $150.00 and care for 4 cows and a saddle horse for his mother who has all household goods and a room in the house.

JOSHUA³, b. 5 Jan. 1677, son of Joshua² Baker and Hannah (Tongue) Mintern; m. 27 March, 1705, Marion Hurlburt, dau. of Stephen. He settled in the North Parish of New London, where he was a farmer and carpenter. He died in 1740. His will was admitted to probate at New London, 8 July, 1740. His widow married John Vibber, 8 May 1754. He was an active member of the society, and his wife, a member of the church. In his will, dated 25 May, 1740, he names each of his ten children, and gives a portion to each. The will reads as follows:

"In the name of God, Amen. The 25th day of May, in the year of our Lord God, 1740, I Joshua Baker of New London, in the County of New London, and Colony of Connecticut, carpenter, being very sick and weak in body, but of perfect mind and memory, thanks be given unto God.

"Therefore, calling to mind the mortality of my body, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and obtain this my last will and testament; that is to say, principally and first of all, I give and recommend my soul into the hands of God that gave it, and for my body, I recommend it to the earth to be buried in a Christian-like manner, at the direction of my executors, nothing doubting, but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life,

"I give, bequeath, and dispose of the same in manner and form following:"
"Item: I give and bequeath unto my well-beloved son, Joshua, all that my tract he now lives upon, and is bounded as follows: Beginning at James Greenfield's southerly corner and running westerly to a great heap of stones about twenty rods northerly of my dwelling-house, and from thence running to Mr. Mirick's bound, being a little white oak staddle standing upon a little island in the swamp; from thence to a crotch of the brook to Greenfield's land, to the first-mentioned bound, with the fencing and buildings thereon, and all the privileges thereof, which is his full share, and double portion, of my estate.

"Item: I give my well-beloved son, Gideon, all that my tract of land in the North Parish aforesaid which he now lives upon, and is bounded as follows: Beginning at Peter Wickwire's south corner of a certain piece of land which he bought of his brother Christopher, and so running a west line until it comes to Samson Haughton's northwest corner, from thence the same corner about twenty rods to a heap of stones, and from thence by said Wickwire's land about thirty rods, and from thence a northeast line to a black oak stump standing by a brook, and from thence to the above-named Wickwire's land to the first boundary, being about twenty-five acres, with the buildings thereon, and all the privileges and appurtenances thereof.

"Item: I give to my beloved son, James, all my land, fencing and buildings not above disposed of to him and his heirs forever, and I do hereby order him to pay out of what I give him, sixty pounds money to Samuel, his brother; sixty pounds money to Stephen, his brother; sixty pounds money to Asa, his brother; and sixty pounds money to his brother John. To said Samuel to be paid at my decease, and Asa and John to be paid at lawful age.

"I give to my beloved daughter, Elizabeth, thirty pounds money, besides what she hath already had. I do hereby order my executor hereafter named; to make my daughter Sarah equal with her two sisters in what they have already had, and then to give her thirty pounds in money.

"I also give to my beloved wife my riding horse and four cows, and I do hereby order my son, James, to keep the four cows and horse well, and to take proper care of them during his mother's widowhood for her own use and benefit, and also she is to have the use and improvement of my household stuff, and one room in my house that I give and bequeath to my son, James, whom I likewise constitute, make, and ordain my only and sole executor of this, my last will and testament, and I do hereby utterly disallow, revoke and disannul all and every other former testament, will, legacy, requests and executors by me made before this time named, willed and bequeathed, ratifying and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament."

"In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year above written or mentioned."

23. GIDEON⁵BAKER, b. July 3, 1738, (son of Gideon⁴Baker and Lois Rogers), was born at or near New London, Conn., m. Rhoda Crocker in May 1763 or 1764. She was born May 14, 1744. She was the daughter of Jabez Crocker and Experience Fox. In 1779 he moved to Lebanon, N.H. where he is listed among the "desirable" persons moving into the town and becoming prominent in town affairs and also in another list naming those seeing service in the Revolution before settling there. But have been unable to find any other record of Revolutionary service. He was for many years Clerk of the Town and historians make mention of the fine condition of the records. History of Lebanon

32. CAPTAIN REMEMBER⁵BAKER, b. Woodbury, Connecticut, m. June 1737. He enlisted in the Green Mountain Volunteers, which captured Crown Point from the British on 12th May, 1775. He was killed by Indians in August, 1775, on the border of Lake Champlain, while on a reconnoitering party. His head, right hand and toes were cut off, and carried as trophies to Quebec, where they were exposed to public gaze on a stake, placed on the walls. His slayers also took the gold brooches, which he wore, and delivered them, with the head, to the Commandant at Quebec, who afterwards, having discovered on them some Masonic emblems, caused the head and hand to be taken away and buried. A reward of £50 had been offered for his head and the reason for carrying the head to Quebec, was to claim the reward; he m. Faber Warner.

39. GIDEON⁶BAKER, b. March 1, 1765 (son of Gideon Baker and Rhoda Crocker) was born near New London, Conn. He died July 15, 1839. Married Lydia Griswold August 24, 1785 or 86. She was the daughter of Major John and Ruth Hewitt. Lydia Griswold was born May 11, 1763, and died April 27, 1844. Gideon Baker moved with his family to Lebanon, New Hampshire in 1779, in 1804 he moved to Broome Co. N.Y.

Gideon⁶ commission papers; as Lieutenant in New Hampshire Militia in 1801; as Captain in 1803. Very soon after the close of the Revolutionary War the state adopted the following system of opening up land for settlement. The surveyor general would cause the tract to be surveyed into townships numbered, named and recorded in the State Office. There is no relationship between a township and what we now know as a town. A township was an area varying from six to ten miles square, as conditions seemed to warrant, and its boundaries. The method of making the sale is unknown but land seemed to all get into hands of speculators in the form of grants, of from a few thousand up to ninety thousand acres in the Chenango Triangle in which we are interested. Some of these land grant sales were made at the rate of $25.00 an acre. The area described at that time as Ticknor Brook Chenango Triangle, County of Tioga, N.Y., now town of Triangle, Broome County. In two purchases, Gideon Baker bought the whole of Lot 32, about 300 acres, for a total cost of $726.00. A younger brother Joshua settled on an adjoining tract the same year.

41. ALPHEUS BAKER, son of Gideon Baker, was born in Lebanon, Mar. or May 1789. He was a brick mason and a prominent contractor. He had a reputation as a thorough and intelligent man. Buildings erected by him remain to this day to testify of his skill; among them is a house standing on School Street built for his own home. He was greatly appreciated by the townsmen and frequently honored by office -- selectman and representative.

December 4, 1816 Alpheus Baker married Miss Nancy Slapp, daughter of Simon Peter Slapp, and granddaughter of Major John Slapp.

The fruit of this union was three sons and two daughters of whom #66 Alpheus Wooster is the only survivor. The name Wooster by what he is generally known is not a family name; was given him in honor of General David Wooster of Connecticut, who was a colonial officer and in the Revolutionary army. He was at the siege of Louisburg; was sent to England in command of a cartel ship and they were so pleased with him that they gave him a commission in the English Army. At the commencement of the Revolution, he resigned his command to enter the service of his country. The death of Montgomery left him in command for a time. He was mortally wounded at the head of his troops in the raid which Governor Tryon made to seize some stores in Danbury, Connecticut. Gideon Baker undoubtedly served under his command and as a token of his respect for the man, the name Wooster was bestowed upon his grandson.

HIRAM PATTOBAKER, b. 15, Feb. 1807, son of Lemuel Baker and Betsey Patten; m. 10 Oct. 1831, Lucy Palmer, dau. of Samuel Palmer and Thankful
Clark. He was a farmer, and taught district schools in the winter terms in his native town and adjoining towns. He held many town offices, was energetic in all matters of business. He was greatly respected by his fellow citizens for his integrity and business qualifications. At the time gold was first discovered in California in 1848, he was among the many who went from the East to seek their fortunes. He was a member of the Congregational Church at Montville Center, and a faithful attendant on divine worship. He lived on the farm later occupied by James Harvey Baker. She died 26 Feb., 1843. He then m. 24 March, 1844, his cousin, Nancy Baker. (p. 10) He died
25 Nov., 1871. She died 12 July, 1883.

59. JOHN BAKER, b. March 10, 1792, in New Hampshire, son of Gideon Baker and Lydia Griswold; went with his parents to Triangle, N.Y. in 1804. In 1817 he married Cynthia Eggleston, who was born in Connecticut, August 1796. She died August 21, 1868. He died
April 21, 1837.

In 1822 he bought 50 acres for $400.00 off the west side of the homestead and erected a frame house.
He was a millwright and bought up a contract for 60 acres of land on Tickway Brook north of the east and west highway and operated a mill there. The remains of the old dam being still evident. It is not known whether the dam was built by him or the former owner.

One of the relics of the family is a very peculiar curled cane owned by C. G. Baker of Greene, N.Y., which family tradition says was cut by him on an overland return trip from rafting logs or lumber down the river. Probably to Baltimore as was a regular thing in early pioneer days. Another relic is his rifle owned by Harvey Baker, Olean, N.Y. In 1836 he bought 80 acres across the road from his home for $500.00. Next is a tragedy which can happen in any family. He died only 45 years old and leaving a widow and nine children; an older brother, Thomas, was appointed executor and found his financial condition so bad that he applied to the courts for and received permission to sell everything to settle debts. His widow signed off her dower right and after settlement of the estate acknowledged receipt of $180.00, as her share of the balance left. In middle life Cynthia Eggleston Baker married Asa Taft and lived two and one half miles north of Triangle, N.Y.

66. ALPHEUS? WOOSTER was born in Lebanon, May 22, 1834 and received his education in the district schools and the Lebanon Liberal Institute. In early life he was a clerk in New York. In 1856 he went to Wisconsin, first as a farmer, later as a builder. In August 1862 he enlisted in Co. H, 23rd. Wis. Vol. receiving a commission as lieutenant. He was present at the seige of Vicksburg. In the fall of 1864 his health compelled his resignation, and he returned to Lebanon. His health improving, he resumed his business as contractor and builder continuing in it for about twenty years. In 1873-74 he represented the town in the Legislature; was assistant clerk of the House in 1876-77; and assistant secretary of the Constitutional Convention in 1876; clerk of the House in 1878 and 1879. From 1881 to 1886 he was postmaster of Lebanon; member of the Constitutional Convention in 1889; twelve years moderator of the town; State auditor for two years. In 1890 he was appointed State bank commissioner which office he continues to hold. In all these places he has displayed the unusual capacity of his ancestor in his grasp of perplexing details. Mr. Baker became a member of Lodi Valley Lodge F & A. M., of Lodi, Wisconsin; in 1858 upon his return to Lebanon he became a member of Franklin Lodge, No. 6, F. & A.M. and served as Worshipful Master four years. He has held all the offices of Grand Lodge in New Hampshire, becoming Grand Master in 1882 and Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter in 1884-85. He is also a member of the Mt. Horeb Commandery, Knights Templar Concord, N.H.

82. MARINTHA BAKER, b. in 1818 in Triangle, N.Y., daughter of John Baker and Cynthia Eggleston, married John Covey. Marinta Baker Covey had TB and was advised to go west for her health. They were very poor and built themselves a wagon and started, but had to go very slowly on account of her health and she died in Iowa. Three weeks later her husband John died of fever and relatives raised funds to send her brother, Guy, after the two children. They were brought up by Dan Baker and Keziah Hackett in Potter Co., PA.

83. (CONDENSED)

GUY BAKER, son of John and Cynthia (Eggleston) Baker, born probably on the homestead of his grandfather Gideon, 2½ miles northwest of the village of Triangle, December 14, 1819; died August 22, 1879.
people, still noted for the sturdy virtues of their ancestors, but quiet and unassuming to a marked degree. Indeed, their modesty is so pronounced that the biographer finds it impossible to obtain the necessary data to prepare a symmetrical sketch of the family.

Flavius J. Baker, one of the leading physicians of Lockport, is a son of Dr. Thaddeus and Sarah S. (Spicer) Baker, and was born in Andover, Allegany county, New York, July 18, 1845. His paternal great-grandfather was Thaddeus Baker, a native of Vermont. Thaddeus Baker, Jr. (grandfather), his son, was a native of the same State, but removed to Andover, this State, where he died. He was originally a surveyor, and served in the employ of the managers of the Poultney estate. Afterwards he became an extensive farmer, and was the first justice of the peace in the town of Andover. He was one of the pioneers of that county, served in the war of 1812, and manifested great opposition against the encroachments of slavery. Jabez Spicer (maternal great-grandfather) was a native of Cornish, New Hampshire, where he died. His son, Jabez Spicer (maternal grandfather), was born at the same place, and went to Ohio, where he died. Dr. Thaddeus Baker (father) was born in Poultney, Vermont, August 30, 1806, and when six months of age was taken to the town of Andover, where he remained until 1822, when he removed to Lockport, in which city he died June 11, 1888. He was a successful physician in Andover for nearly half a century, and in politics was a firm supporter of the Whig, and afterwards of the Republican party, but never sought nor held office, except that of justice of the peace in Andover.

He was a ruling elder in the Presbyterian church, and married Sarah S. Spicer, who was a native of Newbury, Vermont. They were the parents of three sons and two daughters: Flavius J.; Rollin T. (dead), who entered the civil war as assistant surgeon, United States army, and while serving in that capacity, became a victim of the yellow fever, of which he died at Newbern, North Carolina—being captured, and held in Libby prison for ninety days; Mary A. (dead); Dwight B., of Seattle, Washington; and Sarah A., wife of Dr. A. H. Briggs, of Buffalo, who for a time was health officer, and is now grand medical examiner of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Flavius J. Baker attended the common schools, and later entered the university at Lima, New York (now Syracuse university). He read medicine, and then practiced for five years with his father at Andover, New York. He next practiced at Suffern, Rockland county, for two years, at the end of which time he returned Andover, where he remained but a short time, and then went to Buffalo for two years. His health failing, he left Buffalo and went to the country, and for a year was a partner of Dr. A. G. Skinner, at the end of which time he succeeded to the entire practice, which he held for four or five years. In 1882 he came to Lockport, where he has ever since been a resident, and successful physician. He was graduated, in 1867, from the New York university, and has since taken a special course in gynecology at the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia, and now makes a specialty of the treatment of diseases of women. He is a permanent member of the New York State Medical society, the Niagara County Medical society, of which for seven years he has been secretary, and is an ex-health officer of the city of Lockport. He has been thrice married. On May 24, 1863, he married Mary L. Preston, by whom he had two children: F. Edith, who is a teacher in the public schools of Lockport; and S. Agnes, who married Dr. Nicholas Hoffman, a veterinary surgeon of Lockport, and a graduate of the Toronto Veterinary college. Mrs. Baker died in Pennsylvania, March 13, 1778. Early in life he removed to York, Pennsylvania, where he became a prosperous hardware merchant, and died there on the 28th of January, 1858. On May 1, 1806, he married, in the city of Baltimore, Maryland, Rebecca Culbertson Porter, who was born at Boston, Massachusetts, May 3, 1786, and died at York, Pennsylvania, May 21, 1813. She was the daughter of Captain David Porter, U. S. N., who received his commission from General Washington, and a sister of the gallant Commodore David Porter, U. S. N., commander of the famous United States war ship Essex, and who won immortal fame in the war of 1812. By this union Lewis Rosenmüller had a family of six children; Caroline Porter, Lewis Adolphus, who studied medicine and became a physician; David Porter (father); John Porter, who died in infancy; Evaline Mary Porter; and John Porter (second), who died within two months old. David Porter Rosenmüller (father) was born at York, Pennsylvania, January 22, 1809. He was reared at York, and educated in the Gettysburg seminary, becoming a fine linguist and familiar with seventeen different languages. After being ordained to the ministry in the Evangelical Lutheran church, his first work was in Raleigh, North Carolina, where he was called to Newville, Pennsylvania, and later to Dayton, Ohio, where he was most successful in gathering the Lutheran people together, erecting a commodious brick house of worship, and wonderfully increasing the church membership. He labored in this field for ten years, after which he accepted a call to Hanover, York county, Pennsylvania, where he remained nine years. His son, Lewis Rosenmüller (grandfather), was born in Abbottstown, Adams county, Pennsylvania, March 18, 1778. Early in life he removed to York, Pennsylvania, where he became a prosperous hardware merchant, and died there on the 28th of January, 1858. On May 1, 1806, he married, in the city of Baltimore, Maryland, Rebecca Culbertson Porter, who was born at Boston, Massachusetts, May 3, 1786, and died at York, Pennsylvania, May 21, 1813. ANDOVER, INDEPENDENCE RELATED ANDOVER — Town of Andover was formed from Independence, Jan. 21, 1924. A part of Independence was taken off that same year and a part of Wellsville in 1855.

The first settlement was made in the spring of 1795 by Nathaniel Dike of Tioga Point, Pa. He was educated at Yale, served as an officer during the Revolutionary War and was attached to the staff of Gen. George Washington.

Stephen Cole settled on a lot adjoining Dike's in 1796 to be followed soon after by Benjamin Brookings and John T. Hyde. The first child born was Daniel Cole, Feb. 18, 1797; the first marriage that of Isaac Dyke and Pamela Gibson in 1802; the first death that of Zeriah, daughter of James Dyke, Jan. 21, 1798.

The first school was taught by Robert Reed in 1820. Luther Strong built the first saw and grist mill in 1819 and kept the first inn in 1820. Asa S. Allen kept the first store in 1823.

First religious service was held at the home of Mr. Dike by Rev. Silas Hubbard, July 8, 1824. (In 1860 there were four churches: Baptist, Congregational, Roman Catholic and Methodist Episcopal).

ELM VALLEY seemed to be the site of most early settlers' homes but Thaddeus Baker Sr., brought his wife and six children in June 1807, to locate on 400 acres, a part of the present site of Andover Village.

Other early settlers were Benjamin Brookins, John T. Hyde, Joseph Baker, Joseph Woodruff, Reuben Castle, Barnabas Eddy, Edwin Brown, Robert R. Boyd, Stephen Tanner, Belah Holiday, Levi Saunders, Solomon Pingrey, Peter Bundy, Abner Bullard, Jason Hunt, James Adams, Hazard P. Clarke and LeRoy C. Davis.

Samuel B. Clarke, with his sons, Stephen and Jeremiah, came in 1825. Luther Strong came in 1815 and erected a sawmill and gristmill. He even built a distillery.

Jason Hunt came in 1826. He was an energetic and successful business man, one of the founders of the Methodist Episcopal society, and one who did much in fostering religious sentiment. He voted the first Anti-Slavery ticket and fought "the sum of all villainies until there was no slave beneath the starry flag."

THE YEAR without a summer was 1816 according to one writer. "June was the coldest June ever known; frost, ice or snow almost every night, destroying everything that frost could kill. Snow fell three inches deep in some areas. July was cold and frosty with ice forming as thick as window glass. August was still worse with frost killing almost every green thing in the county." Seed corn sold for $5 a bushel in 1817.

The first town meeting was held at Luther Strong's house, March 2, 1824. Thaddeus Baker was named supervisor; Amherst Kingsbury as clerk; Luther Strong, Barnabas Reed and Asa Allen as school commissioners; and Joseph Clark and Caleb Kingsbury as overseer of the poor.

ANDOVER VILLAGE was settled in 1807 by Alpheus Baker. Thaddeus Baker came probably in the same year to locate on land now part of the north end of the village.

In fact, the place was once known as Bakertown. The first schoolhouse was a log structure built in 1822.

First merchant was Asa S. Allen who also was pastor of the Congregational Church. The fire of 1866 destroyed 13 buildings. The Union Graded School was opened in 1869 at a cost of $3,100 which included the site.

TOWN OF INDEPENDENCE — This southeast corner town was formed from Alfred, March 16, 1821. Andover was taken off in 1824 and a part of Willing in 1851. Whitesville is the principal village and in 1860 contained two churches and several mills and manufacturing establishments.

First permanent settlement was made by Samuel S. White at Whitesville in the spring of 1819.

John Cryder located in 1798 in the town but did not become a permanent settler. He did build a house and a sawmill as well as clearing some land. Oliver Babcock came to the north part and remained several years. The third settler was John Teeter and sons John and Peter.

First framed dwelling as built by Isaiah Green in the north part and Luther Green is said to have been the first postmaster. The first framed building as a barn built by David Wilson in the summer of 1821, and here Mary Wilson taught the first school. David also built the first blacksmith shop with David Jr., as the first blacksmith.

The first store was kept by Josiah W. Green in 1822 at Green's Corners, now called Independence. The first schoolhouse was built in the fall of 1823, first used in the summer of 1824 with seven pupils taught by Miss Deborah Covil.

The first permanent sawmill was built at Whitesville by Nathaniel Covil and Tower Stetson in 1820. In 1828 a carding machine was added to the sawmill.

The first religious meeting was held at the house of Samuel White by Rev. Daniel Babcock Jan. 1, 1820. This was Seventh Day Baptist.

The first child born was Dugald C. White, Oct. 23, 1819; the first marriage was that of Daniel Remington and Eliza Eaton, Jan. 1, 1824; and the first death was that of John Goodrich, Jan. 27, 1822.

The "first marriage" has an interesting account. It was reported that the land agent had promised 100 acres of land to the first married couple. They were married before morning as they understood another couple were to be married the next afternoon.

An 1896 account describes Whitesville Village as follows: contains 400 inhabitants, 3 churches, 2 schools, 2 hotels, 2 general stores, 2 drugstores, 1 grocery, 1 hardware store, 1 harness shop, 1 meatmarket, 1 wagonshop, 3 blacksmith shops, 2 saw and planing mills, 1 shingle and feedmill, 1 cheese factory and cidermill, 1 beehive manufactory, 1 foundry, 1 photograph gallery, 1 millinery store, 1 undertaking establishment, a public hall and lodge room, and 100 dwellings. The News, a small six-column folio, was first issued at Whitesville in April, 1895.

Claire was a member of the Odd Fellows (Past District Deputy); Lynch-Burgett Post #397 (Past Commander and Adjutant for years); 40/8 Allegany Voiture #1006; and Andover Lodge #558, F. & A.M. He was prominent in journalistic activities of Allegany County, always active in community affairs, particularly those devoted to musical, military and fraternal in nature. He was appointed to the Allegany County Draft Board in 1940, and served as Chairman on local Board, No. 71, Belmont until his death on November 16, 1967.

BAKERS — ALLISON, OLIVER

The Bakers, without whom perhaps there would have been no Andover. Certainly there would have been no Bakerstown in the area—the name first given to this section. The first Baker of Andover’s 1807 variety came from London to Charleston (later Boston) about 1630. He was a ropemaker. His great-grandmother, Mary Baker was the mother of Ethan Allen. Mary’s brother, Remember Baker, was grandfather of Lafayette Baker, the Lieutenant Baker who captured Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln.

And so we launch into the history of the Bakers of Andover. Three brothers: Alpheus, Thaddeus and Seth are usually given credit for the earliest settlements in the Andover area.

Curtis Baker, son of Seth, had son, Curtis Erastus, whose son, Charles, was father of Edith Holmes and Hazel Burgett. See Charles Baker story.

Timothy Baker, brother of Curtis Erastus, had a son named Eli who married Ida Boyd, sister of Thomas Boyd. Their children: Alta, who married Rex Starr, Eudora, (see Perkins story) Clarence, Florence, who married Archie Bloss, Denzel, who with wife, Alice Rogers, had three daughters: Audrey, Frances and Lenore; and Orla.

Orla Baker married Margaret Wilcox. Their family was Mary Elaine, Robert, Donald and Joan. Joan married and moved away. Mary E. married Robert Polmateer and is mother of six: Dale, Thomas, Teresa, 1974 graduate of ACS; Elizabeth, Mary Jo and David. Robert Baker married Dolores Ellis. Their three children are Robert J. married to Cindy Preston, Julie, and Amy, a student at ACS. Donald Baker married Joan Woodruff and had two daughters: Debra and Robin—students at ACS.

Thaddeus Baker Sr. came to Andover in 1792 and surveyed the towns of Andover, Alfred, Almond and Independence. He returned to Vermont and in June of 1807, he brought his wife and six children back with him.

In 1806, his brothers, Seth and Alpheus, had come to Andover, cleared some farm land and sowed two nurseries then returned to their homes.

Alpheus Baker and his wife had seven children with another one born in September after they arrived here. They lived with Thaddeus until March 26th 1808 when Alpheus moved his family to “Andover” Village.

Alpheus’ brother Seth went back to Vermont about 1809, sold his farm there, then returned to Andover and paid Mr. Stephen Cole $150, for the farm west of the village. He married Azuba Cole, daughter of Stephen, September 4, 1809, the first marriage in Andover of which there is any record.

There were only five families in the area at that time, Thaddeus and Alpheus, Nathanael Dike and Stephen Cole in Elm Valley and Messrs. Culver and Fulsom who occupied a farm together. In these early days the town was not called Andover, but Bakerstown.
Joseph, another brother of Alpheus and Seth, along with Joseph Woodruff came in 1809. Woodruff got 300 acres west of Alpheus' farm and Baker acquired another farm.

Alpheus and his sons cut a road from their farm to the Bridge. (Bakers' Bridge, now Alfred Station.)

Alpheus' son Seth born March 7th 1799, in Granville, married Elizabeth Woodruff, daughter of Joseph, born March 4, 1805, aged four years when she came to Andover. Seth was then ten years old.

They were married about 1824. Seth learned the trade of millwright and carpentry and in 1815 at the age of 17, helped to build Strong's Sawmill, the first in the area; in 1819 he helped Luther Strong build a gristmill. In February of 1817 Alpheus Baker and his sons cut a road to Greenwood.

Seth Baker and Elizabeth Woodruff Baker had twelve children.

Seth Sr. died at the age of 84 in April of 1883, his wife at 82, in December of 1887. Of this family, Seth, Elizabeth, their children Seth, Newell and Susan are buried in the Baker Cemetery on the farm on Baker Road.

Seth is described in the Alleghany County history as a man of "unimpeachable veracity" and to him is owed much of the written history. He kept a handwritten journal of the life in those early days, which is in the possession of his grandson, Oliver Baker.

Seth Baker's son Newell was born August 4, 1838. About the age of 21, he joined the Grand Army of the Republic during the Civil War. In 1864, he married Diadama Cordelia Byam and there were sixteen children of this union, three of whom are still living:

- and Oliver Baker who is 86.

The sixteen children of Newell and Diadama:

Of this family, Newell, Diadama, their children:
- Susan, Rosy May, Charles, Earl, Floyd, and Joseph—and Susan's husband Menzo Mead (see Mead), and their sons Wilam and Roy are buried in the Baker Cemetery.

Now living in the town of Andover there are more than 30 descendents of Alpheus Baker. Nonogenarian Allison and octogenarian Oliver.

Allison's sons—Newell married to Jessamine Burger, has two children. Max Baker, married to Edna Honeggar (see Honeggar story). Roger Baker and wife, Susie has one daughter, Lorraine. Lasca Baker Congell has three children in Andover—Bob, Steve and Julie.

Oliver's son Richard and wife, Ellen, have only three of their six children in town, Richard, who also has two sons, Bruce and David, students at ACS. Melinda (Mrs. Gary Hoagland) is granddaughter of Oliver, and has these children: Gary and Chris—students at ACS—and Stephanie, preschool. Marsha, also granddaughter of Oliver, is a junior at ACS.
WE MIGHT HAVE LIVED IN MASSACHUSETTS

In 1967 a memorial prepared by the commissioners of Trade and Plantations related to the right of the Crown of Great Britain to sovereignty over the Five Nations of Indians bordering upon the province of New York.

In 1774, Governor Tryon in a “report on the province of New York”—the boundaries of New York are derived from two sources (1) grants from King Charles II to his brother James, Duke of York, (2) Submission and subjection of the Five Nations to the Crown of England. The claim was for territory north beyond 45 degree latitude, west to Lake Huron, the Indians’ beaver hunting grounds.

In 1738, The Treaty of Fort Stanwix (Rome, N.Y.) established a line from the Fort along the east side of Broome and Chemung Counties, west of which no settlements would be permitted. In 1784, this line was extended to Lake Ontario and southward to the Pennsylvania line. All this was declared Indian territory except a mile-wide strip along the Niagara.

New York, in 1781, and Massachusetts, four years later relinquished to United States their claims beyond the present western boundary of this state (N.Y.) Massachusetts still claimed that portion of New York west of the meridian which forms the eastern line of Ontario and Steuben Counties, some 19,000 square miles. Of course, New York still asserted jurisdiction and ownership of this same vast tract. Meanwhile, according to the Crown, Indians could hold this land “as long as they pleased.” New York retained sovereignty of a strip one mile wide along the Niagara River.

PHelps AND GORHAn PURCHASE

In 1788, State of Massachusetts sold to Oliver Phelps and Nathaniel Gorham its pre-emption right to western New York for $1,000,000. Early in July, Phelps held a Council with the Iroquois and bought 2,600,000 acres for $5000 down and a perpetual annuity of $500.

Of course, behind the scenes were other deals—the New York and Genesee Land Co., engineered by John Livingston and headed by Col. John Butler was trying to compete with Phelps and Gorham to purchase from the Indians. Finally, Butler benefitted anyway since he had 20,000 acres placed at his disposal by the purchasers in consideration of advice he gave the Redmen regarding what price they should ask.

Two days after Phelps and Gorham had completed their purchase, Robert Morris contracted with Massachusetts for pre-emption right to all of New York west of Phelps and Gorham Purchase. At the same time he acquired 1,264,000 acres from Phelps and Gorham which he soon sold to three English gentlemen: Sir William Pulteney, John Homby and Patrick Colquhoun.

Not until 1797, when he was able to buy out the interest of the Indians, was Mr. Morris able to complete his title to the tract. The Indians retained eleven reservations amounting to about 338 square miles, among them Caneadea Reservation and the Oil Spring Reservation bordering the town of Cuba.

MORRIS RESERVE

All the tract acquired from Massachusetts by Mr. Morris was covered by five deeds. One deed covering land between Phelps and Gorham and a line beginning twelve miles due north to Lake Ontario, came to be the Morris Reserve. It included in Allegany County, the two ranges of townships beginning on the south with Alma and Willing. (A range was a six-mile strip reaching from Pennsylvania to Lake Ontario, numbered from east to west.

To separate the Morris Reserve from the Holland Purchase on the east was the “east transit” line. This line was run with a transit instrument in connection with astronomical observations. “The laying down of this line was a slow and laborious operation. It involved nothing less than felling a strip of timber three or four rods wide most of the way across the State to give unobstructed range to the miniature telescope of the transit.” Three surveyors and a considerable force of axmen worked at this all summer and autumn of 1788, camping in unbroken wilderness where night overtook them, to run the first 80 miles of the transit meridian.

HOLLAND PURCHASE

In 1792, Robert Morris gave one deed of one and a half million acres of his land and three days later another one million acres. In 1793, he conveyed to the same parties 800,000 acres more and to two other men 300,000 acres. These purchases, combined to make one vast tract, were made by certain trustees for a number of rich merchants of Amsterdam, Holland who have come to be called the Holland Land Company. This tract included all of New York west of the east transit line except Indian Reservations and the State mile-wide strip along Niagara River.

The division of this land into townships began on the range plan started by Phelps and Gorham and described before. Each township was to be sub-divided into 16 one and one-half mile squares, called sections and each have 12 lots, three-quarters of a mile by one-quarter mile, containing 360 acres apiece. After 24 townships had been surveyed on this plan, the subdivision was judged unnecessary minute. Thereafter, the one and one-half mile squares composing a township were each divided into four three-quarter mile squares of 360 acres apiece.

In the first range of the Holland Purchase, Bolivar is township No. 1; Wirt is No. 2; Friendship, No. 3; Belfast, No. 4; Caneadea, No. 5; Hume, No. 6. The eastern boundary of all these towns is the east transit line. In the second range, Genesee is township No. 1; Clarksville, No. 2; Cuba, No. 3; New Hudson, No. 4; Rushford, No. 5; and Centerville, No.6.

Town boundaries in this region have generally been made to conform to range and township lines and many roads also show traces of the old Holland surveying system.

The price for land was $2.75 per acre, 1/10 down. Lands in Ohio and Canada were very cheap and competition often so strong that advance payment was often waived, since it was most advantageous to have settlers. Rate of sales increased slowly: 1801 there were 40; 1802, 56; 1803, 230; 1804, 300; 1805, 415; 1806, 524; 1807, 607; 1808, 612; 1809, 1,160.

Up to 1821, only about one-half of Holland Purchase had been sold. By 1822, the price per acre was four shillings.

Long credit terms were given settlers in some cases resulting in making them feel aggrieved when pay day came; and the longer they had been in arrears with interest, the more they felt the outrage when asked to square up old accounts.

A depression in 1837 rendered payments harder to make and "the harder it was to make payments, the less the debtors owed them, according to the idea that seems to have prevailed among them." The debtors even referred to debt-paying neighbors as "Judases".

THE PULTENEY ESTATE

Part of the Robert Morris Reserve purchased in 1791 was sold in separate blocks to Sir William Pulteney as mentioned before. This area came to be named the Pulteney Estate. The nobleman for whom it was named was the son of Sir James Johnstone who took the name Pulteney in 1767 on his marriage to a daughter of General Pulteney, who was also a niece of the Earl of Bath.

The Pulteney Estate was represented in Allegany County by 21,838 1/2 acres in Independence, 19,317 acres in Andover, 19,950 1/4 acres in Alfred, 29,119 acres in Almond and 17,342 1/2 acres in Burns.

In the deeds and title searches of many of the local land owners will appear the names of Phelps and Gorham, The Holland Land Purchase, or the Morris Reserve. However, probably more common will be the reference to Pulteney Estate.

One cannot really begin a history of a place without first looking back to time before its beginnings. The dates 1795 and 1824 have been told and repeated hundreds of times during the preceding months. These dates are actually recorded as if they were the beginning of time for certain sections of earth to be called ANDOVER.

However, we all know that the area was indeed here before it was named ANDOVER, and here is how some of the history began.

ALLEGANY COUNTY was once a refuge of SENECA and ONONDAGA INDIANS - a safe and neutral hunting ground. The first white man to enter the territory was probably an adventurer and scout named Brule. Later came Franciscan Friar, Joseph de la Roche D'Allion, whose name may have some connection with the words Allegany and Alleghany.

Allegany County was formed from Genesee, April 7, 1806. Named for the River that never touches it, Allegany's surface is mostly upland with highest summits in the southern parts being 500 to 800 feet above the valleys and 2,000 to 3,000 feet above tide.

The Genesee River flows in a northeasterly direction. Streams of the east ridge are tributaries of the Susquehanna; those of the west ridge flow to the Allegany River. One of the principal tributaries of the Genesee is the Genesee River.

Rocks of the county belong to the shales and sandstones of the Portage and Chemung groups. Shales in the southwest are highly charged with bituminous matter, petroleum, rock oil, iron pyrites and drift. Upland soil is generally heavy clay; in the valleys, soil is mostly a gravelly loam and alluvium.

Nature of the surface makes land best adapted to grazing although wheat, spring grains, stock, wool growing and dairying are also pursued. Lumbering was profitable in early days. The raising of potatoes has been a recent successful crop.

The county seat was Angelica until 1858 when it was removed to Belmont. Towns of the county were parts of the Holland Land Purchase, the Morris Reserve and the Phelps and Gorham Purchase.
In area size, the county ranks 16th among the 62 counties of New York State, having 1048 square miles. Originally there were 5 towns in this county where now there are 29.

Population of 1810 was 1,942.

The area around ANDOVER was first noted as a settlement about 1798 when certain travellers enroute from Ceres to Canisteo stopped for horse shoeing and other necessities.

In 1796, Nathanael Dike (spelling according to County History 1795-1895) with Indian wife, Esther Burrill (Burrell), two sons, Isaac and James, and daughter, Phebe, had come from Connecticut and started Dike's Settlement.

At almost the same time, some historians even say before the arrival of the Dike family, Stephen Cole, with some family, came from Tioga County, Pennsylvania; thence up Purdy Creek from Canisteo, over the hills and into Allegany County area. They also located in the sheltered valley soon to be called Shoemaker's Corners and later to be known as ELM VALLEY.

The small settlement provided services of a sawmill in 1803, and crude vats for tanning hides in 1805. Blacksmithing was also a trade in 1805.

Daniel Cole, son of Stephen, was the first white child born in the county - 2/18/1797. The first wedding of the area was Isaac Dike to Pamela Gibson in 1802. James Dike married Phoebe Pritchard of the Corning area. James T. Hyde, who came to the settlement in 1796 from Vermont, later married Phebe Dike.

The first death in the new community was in 1798, that of Zeriah, aged ten months and five days, daughter of James and Phebe Dike. Two more infant daughters of James and Phebe died in 1801 and 1803, all being buried there in ELM VALLEY, which is the oldest burying ground in the town. Nathanael Dike died and was buried there in 1813 and son James in 1844.

The first religious services were conducted at the home of Nathanael Dike in 1808, with Rev. Silas Hubbard, a Presbyterian minister, officiating.

There is no record of when the spelling changed from Dike to Dyke, but the change is apparently a colloquialism and fairly modern.

In 1807, Alpheus, Thaddeus and Seth Baker came to the area of ANDOVER village. Their story is told in Baker history elsewhere in this issue.

Matthias CORWIN IV settled on Corwin Hill (Pingrey), Lot 38, town of ANDOVER in 1818. Barnabas Eddy and Edwin Brown settled East Valley also in 1818. Robert Boyd came from Canandaigua in 1819. These family stories are elsewhere in the mass.

Historians differ in opinions whether Nathanael Dike, Stephen Cole, or Willard Adams actually built the first framed house and barn at ELM VALLEY. The date, however, of these constructions seems to be 1817 or 1818. Asa S. Allen built the first framed house in the village probably at about the same time. Mr. Allen came to this area in 1817, and in 1819, set up a trading post with his brother, Caleb.

Census of 1820 reports nine towns in Allegany County with a population of 9,330. Towns of Pike and Centerville had been formed from Nunda; Rushford and Friendship came from part of Caneadea; Ossian, Angelica and Alfred remained.

County sheriff, in 1820, was Joseph Wilson. His bill for household expenses, including fuel was $600.94. It was voted to acquire a loan of $6,000 to build a court house and clerk's office and improve roads. One thousand dollars was parcelled out among the towns to build bridges.

Second Decade—1811-1820

Luther Strong built the first saw and grist mill about 3/4 mile east of the village in 1819, and kept the first hotel in 1820.

The first school house, a log structure, was erected at the village about 1822, although Lois Strong had taught classes in her father's home as early as 1819. Some say this building may have stood near the corner of Center and First Streets.

January 28, 1824, ANDOVER was formed from INDEPENDENCE. A part was reannexed to Independence the same year, and a part of Wellsville was removed from ANDOVER, November 22, 1855.

There were schools in all the towns of Allegany County by 1825, but sometimes families far from schools hired tutors. Wages might consist of a bushel of Indian corn and a cord of wood for teaching two boys for three months. Or, perhaps, one bushel of wheat, one quarter of beef, three bushels of buckwheat for schooling four children for a winter (1824). Classes were held on Christmas Day though it was a day when pupils might play pranks upon the teacher.

In 1827, Governor Clinton recommended "the survey of a route for a canal to unite Erie Canal at Rochester and the Allegany River." In 1828, a survey was made of a canal route from Rochester to Olean.

A Select School was begun at Alfred in 1836. Good prospects for completion of both the Canal and the Railroad were reported in 1850.

County population in 1850 was 37,808 - 3,000 less than in 1840 because towns - Eagle, Pike, Portage and Nunda - had been lost to Wyoming and Livingston Counties.

Mrs. Abigail A. (Maxson) Allen demanded and received $20.00 per month to teach school in 1844. Soon afterward her husband, Jonathan Allen, was to become President of Alfred University and receive $15.00 a month.

The Erie Railroad was completed through Andover in 1851. The beginnings of many of the Irish families are noted also in early 1850's, since many of these men were railroad workers.

In 1855, Allegany County listed the following types of businesses: 7,364 farmers, 66 hotel and inn keepers, 52 lawyers, 9 livery stable keepers, 277 carpenters, 1 nurseryman, 9 peddlers, 85 physicians, 61 students, 1 surveyor, 74 tanners, 20 tinsmiths, 24 weavers. Dwellings of these varieties were recorded; 13 stone, 29 brick, 6,287 framed, 966 log, 806 other.

Oil was discovered in Titusville, Pennsylvania in 1859, and in Bradford, Pennsylvania, in 1862.

"Ah! then and there was hurrying to and fro. And gathering tears, and trembling of distress,
And swiftly forming in the ranks of war."

New York State was one of the first to answer the call of President Lincoln. Allegany County was represented in two maximum regiments, in the Fifth Cavalry, by 60 men in Company E and 16 men in Company F. The 86th New York Volunteers had four men from Allegany County in Companies H, B, and D.
CIVIL WAR VETS

The following list is taken from the Descriptive Book of the Edward Seaman Post Number 481 Grand Army of The Republic. Records published by the U.S. Government show that one hundred and forty-nine men returned from the call to service from the Town of Andover. The remainder, twelve, probably moved here after the war or lived in nearby towns but belonged to Edward Seaman Post. Only 73 are listed as members the G.A.R. in 1888.

The Oil boom had reached home area by 1865, in Independence, a record 300 feet above Allegany oil rock. There were two more good wells in Independence, in 1878, and the next few years listed progress as follows: Eight wells in 1890, 618 in 1981, 1,685 in 1882.

The ANDOVER NEWS was begun in 1887 although there had been other named newspapers existing for short periods of time prior to this. For complete story of newspaper in Andover, see elsewhere.

The year 1889 saw paying quantities of gas and oil being discovered in Greenwood and Andover by Mutual Gas Company of Andover. Reports were made of 50 barrels a day, with wells being 800 to 1,300 feet.

Pioneering was beginning in another field, that of cattle raising; Durhams and Short Horns by Philip Church of Belvidere, Jerseys, Holsteins, Ayrshires, and Guernseys by Jerry Clark of Andover, William C. Tucker of Elm Valley and Cobb Brothers of Independence.

The Village of Andover was incorporated in 1892.

Allegany County had 333 teachers in 1895. Gold was the cry in Alaska in 1897. The twentieth century found a thriving community at Andover, New York. See the special report of the year 1903.
The highlight of 1928 was the building of the new school which was located on the corner of Elm St. and East Avenue, across from the present school. There is more school history in a special section.

Drought struck Andover in 1934 followed by flood in 1935. Potatoes sold for 10 to 30 cents per bushel, sometimes for only 8 cents. The price of a top cow was $50.00, but a team of good work horses would bring $300 to $400.

The school district was centralized and the new building completed in 1940. See school history.

December 7, 1941, Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, President Roosevelt declared war. The years following made everyone acquainted with food stamps, gas rationing, rubber and metal shortages, black-outs, Bond Drives, sweater knitting and bandage folding. These Andover boys left and Service Stars decorated the windows of their homes. Charles Burgett was first to lose his life, and the name Burgett was added to Thomas M. Lynch Post

The road between Andover and Wellsville, Route 17, was rebuilt in the years 1947 and 1948. The latest addition to the school was done in 1959. This gave Andover Central School the second indoor swimming pool in New York State.

In 1961, Route 21 was rerouted through Andover causing the loss of many buildings, but resulting in a more attractive approach to the village.

Andover marches to the tune of progress, its pie keeping time. They are ambitious and forward-looking, and they care.

ANDOVER HISTORY

Andover is located on the eastern border of Allegany County and comprises some 23,756 acres. Natural gas fields have provided a fuel for the welfare of its habitants. Some of the original pine forests are still here. The surface of the land is rolling and fertile for farming. Andover is fourteen miles east of Belmont, the county seat, and eighteen miles west of Hornell. The hillsides are high enough to furnish good drainage to the town and water comes from springs close by. The Water Commissioner purchased the springs located southeast of the village and on the farm of P.A. Dean for $500. Spring rights are 300 feet higher than the main street in Andover and has a pressure sufficient to fill the reservoir located 160 feet above Main Street and east of Andover on the Van Fleet property. The town of Andover is in a beautiful valley with the "Old Allegany Hills" on either side making it a charming and picturesque place to live.

In 1823 when Mary Ann Adams (Mrs. Henry Bullard), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, was age four, the family came to Andover, then named, from Mt. Holly, Vermont. It was her father who suggested the name of Andover after a town by that name in Vermont in 1824. This was the year January 1824, the town meeting took place at the home of Luther Strong. The first town officials took office—being Thaddeus Baker as Supervisor and Amherst Kingsbury as Town Clerk.

The land and the people are what have made the town of Andover grow and prosper. The early settlers came mainly from the New England States: Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and even New Jersey. Some of the settlers from New England had already penetrated the middle areas of New York State moving on "ever Westward" stopping at Andover to farm the lands, to build their homes, and to develop the town.

Before the days even of newspapers, census records tell most about the growth of Andover. As Andover is and always has been an agricultural area a majority of the heads of families and many times their teen-age sons were farmers, farming or laboring on farms. The following data shows what other occupations were at the time of the 1850 Census and the names of the men doing them.
THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF ANDOVER

It is interesting to note that the first religious Society organized in the Town of Andover was of the Congregational faith. The settlers of 1808 were not professors of religion but were "attached to" the Congregational worship. The Bakers - Thaddeus, Alpheus, Seth and Joseph - Joseph Woodruff, Luther Strong, Deacon Asa S. Allen and wife were among the early Church members. Before there were any preachers in town, "reading meetings" were held, and Thaddeus Baker was usually chosen to conduct the meeting. His brother Alpheus, who was a good reader, would read sermons from printed volumes. Joseph Woodruff led the singing.

In 1824, the group organized a Congregational Church. The Confession of Faith of the Bath Presbytery was adopted and meetings were held in the Schoolhouse. (A note of interest: one of the Deacons presented the Church with a check for three dollars for the purchase of Church furniture.)

In 1840, a Church edifice was erected on the corner of Main and Greenwood Streets where the Bank now stands, and the dedicatory address was given by Deacon Asa Allen,
