Greeting

The Christian Associations extend to you a cordial greeting and present to you this book, hoping that you will find in it useful information in regard to the College activities.

To all the departments of College life, and especially to the religious privileges and work of the College, they welcome you.

The Association aims to present in the College the highest ideals and influences which are fostered by the union of men and women in Christian organization as well as in the more secular relations of life.

To this end the Association earnestly invite the interest and co-operation of all students.

Annual Reception

One of the pleasantest social events of the year is the annual reception given by the Christian Associations in Ladies Hall, Thursday evening, Sept. 19, at 8 o'clock.

Every student is most cordially invited to attend this reception without further notice, and to enjoy that good cheer and hospitality which has become a synonym for Alfred.

The Purposes of the Association

The purpose of the Y. M. C. A. is to assist young men to lead clean, strong manly lives that will be a credit to themselves and a help to those around them.

To encourage and maintain all influences which tend to improve the moral atmosphere of college life.

To foster and maintain standards of college morality.

To provide a place of worship where the men may congregate and receive the peculiar enthusiasm and help which comes from such gatherings.

To help college men to cherish and develop in themselves and others pure desires, noble ambitions and lofty aspirations.

To translate the religion of Jesus Christ into the language of the 20th century.

Object

To develop high ideals and true Christian Womanhood.

To lay a firm moral and spiritual foundation for Christian influences.

To interest those not already interested in Christian work.

To promote a social spirit among the young women of the College and Academy.

Membership

The active membership of the Association shall consist of any woman connected with the college, who are members of the Protestant churches and have been elected by a majority vote of the members present at any meeting. Any woman in the institution may become an associate member by a majority vote of the members present at any meeting.

Association Room

Our Association room, which is to be enlarged for our use this year, is on the first floor of Ladies Hall in the south wing of the building. The room is used not only for the regular prayer and committee meeting but also as a place of rest and study for any of the girls who wish.

Meetings

The regular prayer meeting is held on Sunday evening at quarter after seven in the Association room. These meetings are held informally and the girls talk over in a heart-to-heart way the spiritual side of college life, thus helping each with her problems, and tending to bring all into closer friendship. The work in the Y. W. C. A. is peculiar to college life and no girl can afford to lose the help which she can give and receive by working in the Association.

Last year, beside the regular meeting, there were two Bible study classes which met in the rooms of the different members of the group. One group took up work in the New Testament, and the other the study of Old Testament characters. This year we plan for other classes which we hope will prove as helpful as those of last year. At least one Mission study class will be organized which will probably study conditions in India.

Intercollegiate Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. is affiliated with the National Y. W. C. A. This gives us the privilege of sending delegates to conferences which are a great source of inspiration to those who attend and through them to the whole association. Because of this affiliation we receive a visit from the State Secretary who always has many helpful suggestions concerning our work and aims.

Endowment and Property

Endowment and property at the present time exceeds $550,000.00.

Grounds and Buildings

The University Campus, divided into an upper and lower campus, consists of sixteen acres of land upon which the various buildings stand. Cement walks bound and intersect this lovely park and there are many beautiful nooks and corners for a quiet hour in the summer time.

The upper campus is dotted with attractive shade trees, while a fountain is placed in the center of the lower campus. The campus and walks are kept in condition by a special endowment fund.

The Athletic Field, which is situated a quarter of a mile north of the campus, is the place where the ball games and college meets are held.

Buildings

Kenyon Memorial Hall, erected in 1882 contains the library, college audience room, office of the President and Registrar, and the lecture rooms of the departments of Philosophy, Greek History and Economics, Latin, English and Modern Languages.

Babcock Hall of Physics, finished in 1898, contains laboratories, lecture rooms, and department libraries. In this building are also the machine and wood working shops and the men's gymnasiums, the latter being well equipped and in charge of a competent physical director.

Burdick Hall, or the "Dormitory," is a substantial, four story frame building, named after the late William C. Burdick, and presented to the University by his heirs. Burdick Hall was built in 1889.

Ladies Hall, erected in 1858 is a large brick building containing apartments for members of the faculty, rooms for the lady students, the rooms of the ladies' lyceums, and the ladies' gymnasium. The University boarding department occupies the basement of the hall.

The Steinheim was built under the supervision of the late President Allen, and was given to the University by himself and wife. It is occupied by the Natural History Department and contains valuable collections which are used in connection with this department. The lecture rooms, department library and cabinets of the department are in this building. The Steinheim is a picturesque structure composed of several thousand varieties of rock, and was completed in 1884. A visit to this building will be found interesting and instructive.

Rogers' Observatory, named in honor of the late Professor William A. Rogers and erected in 1860, consists of a circular room, surmounted by a revolving dome 19 feet in diameter, and prime vertical, transit, and clock room. The Observatory contains an equatorial refracting telescope, a meridan circle, a sidereal chronometer, a filar micrometer, an astronomical globe, a heliotellus, charts, etc.

The State Hall of Ceramics, built in 1900, is a handsome brick building fully equipped with machinery and kilns for carrying out all kinds of clay work. The Art Department is provided with every facility for the study of drawing, composition, and applied design.

The Gothic, so called from its style of architecture, was built in 1852 and is the oldest of the University buildings. It is occupied by the Theological Seminary, and contains lecture rooms, library, reading room and the Dean's office.

The Academy Chapel, a large two story frame structure, was erected in 1857, and is occupied by the Preparatory School. The study hall, recitation rooms, chapel, gentlemen's lyceum rooms and the principal's office are here located.

Library

Our large and rapidly growing library contains over 20,000 volumes and 8,000 pamphlets. The books are chiefly those bearing on the courses of instruction, supplemented by dictionaries, encyclopedias and reference books. The rooms are open from 8 a. m., to 12 m. and from 1 p. m., to 5 p. m., and the Associate Librarian is always present and willing to render any needed assistance. A reading room, well furnished with the leading publications, is maintained in connection with the library. Tables and chairs are conveniently arranged for those using it. Periodicals may be drawn at 4 p. m. and retained till 9:30 a. m. the next school day. A nominal fee of 15 cents per quarter is charged each student for the maintenance of the library.

College Songs

Hail to Thee Alfred

Nestled away 'mid the Empire State hills,
'Neath the watch-care of sentinel pines,
Where the murmuring song of the brook hums along,
And a favoring sun ever shines;
In a valley so fair where the forest trees share
Dominion o'er hillside and gle.
Stands the pioneer college of Western New York,
Alfred the mother of men.

CHORUS

Hail to thee, Alfred, thou guide of our youth,
Sweet, benign mother, all hail!
Sing on thy anthems of duty and truth;
May thy clear ringing music ne'er fail.

She was founded in toil, cemented with blood,
And nurtured thro' yearnings and tears,
Her treasure the hearts of brave heroes who stood
Undaunted throughout trying years.
Each stone was a prayer and her battlements there
Have mem'ries of purposes strong.
Staunch daughters and sons are her monument fair,
And they lift up the grateful song.

CHORUS

Others may boast of prestige and size,
Of numbers and treasure and fame;
But Alfred's pride lies in manhood's clear eyes,
And womanhood's high, stainless name.
Old Alfred, we say; Alfred now and for aye—
Kenyon and Allen and Main,
And the gallant young leader we honor today,
Her honor and power maintain.

CHORUS

L. C. RANDOLPH.

Alma Mater

Tune—Amici

Where the hills of Allegany
Stand as guardians 'round,
Nestling fondly in the valley,
Lies our college town.

Chorus—

Alfred, hail! our Alma Mater,
Thee we'll always praise,
Sons and daughters ever loyal,
Songs to thee will raise.

College days will soon be over,
Far from thee we roam,
But we think of thee, old Alfred,
Ever as our home.

Chorus—

Alfred hail! etc.

Song of the Classes

Where, oh where are the verdant Freshmen?
Where, oh where are the verdant Freshmen?
Where, oh where are the verdant Freshmen?
Safe, safe in the Sophomore class.
They've gone out from Putnam's English,
They've gone out from Putnam's English,
They've gone out from Putnam's English,
Safe, safe in the Sophomore class.

Where, oh where are the rusty Sophomores?
Where, oh where are the rusty Sophomores?
Where, oh where are the rusty Sophomores?
Safe, safe in the Junior class.
They've gone out from Fairfield's Latin,
They've gone out from Fairfield's Latin,
They've gone out from Fairfield's Latin,
Safe, safe in the Junior class.

Where, oh where are the stately Juniors?
Where, oh where are the stately Juniors?
Where, oh where are the stately Juniors?
Safe, safe in the Senior class.
They've gone out from dear old "Tommy,"
They've gone out from dear old "Tommy,"
They've gone out from dear old "Tommy,"
Safe, safe in the Senior class.

Where, oh where are the grave old Seniors?
Where, oh where are the grave old Seniors?
Where, oh where are the grave old Seniors?
Safe, safe in the wide, wide world.
They've gone out from A. B. Kenyon,
They've gone out from A. B. Kenyon,
They've gone out from A. B. Kenyon,
Safe, safe in the wide, wide world.

Some day we'll go out and meet them,
Some day we'll go out and meet them,
Some day we'll go out and meet them,
Safe, safe in the wide, wide world.

Tune—Eli Yale

As freshmen we were awful green,
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.
As fresh a lot as e're was seen,
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.

CHORUS—Spoken

Alfred! Alfred! Rah! Rah! Rah!
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.
(Spoken)
Alfred! Alfred! Rah! Rah! Rah!
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.

As soph'mores we were up to snuff,
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.
At posting procs we were hot stuff,
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.

CHORUS

We juniors lingered 'round the Brick
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.
At winning hearts we were so slick,
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.

CHORUS

We seniors seek our Profs. to please,
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.
We know we must to get degrees,
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.

CHORUS

The saddest tale we have to tell,
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.
Is when we bid our friends farewell,
Fol de rol, de rol, rol, rol.

CHORUS

Color Song

Tune—Every race has a Flag but the Coon.

Harvard, she cheers for the crimson
Yale upholds her colors blue,
Princeton shouts for black and orange,
Red and white to Cornell true,
Blue and white are for Columbia,
Pensy loves her colors bold,
But old Alfred she will fight
For the Purple and the Gold,
They're the colors that are brave and true.

Victory Songs

Tune—Let the lower lights be burning.

Alfred men are all victorious
On gridiron, field and track.
Play the game boys, sharp and steady,
And we'll bring a victory back.
Ring the bells of old North College;
Paint the town as ne'er before;
Line 'em out boys, play together.
Score once more, a score once more.

Tune—Marching through Georgia.

Let the sons of Princeton sing in praise of old Nasseau,
Fair Harvard, Yale and Willie Penn, with bold and prestige awe;
Our love for Alma Mater dear, will pledge
with loud huzza,
Hurrah boys for Alfred and victory.

CHORUS

Hurrah, Hip! Hip!
Hurrah, Hip! Hip!
Hurrah for old Alfred.
Hurrah, Hip! Hip!
Hurrah, Hip! Hip!
She's hale and hearty yet.
O! May her luster never fade, her glory never set.
Hurrah boys, for Alfred and Victory.

March, march on down the field,
Alfred will never yield,
Straight through our enemies
Their strength to defy
Give a long cheer for Dan's band
Alfred will lead the land
All our forces may fight to the end, but we will win.

By the Old Steinheim A-Dreaming

By the old Steinheim a-dreaming,
When the sun is in the west,
When the bird notes are the sweetest,
And the village is at rest;
When the wind is in the pine trees,
And the Chapel bell is still,
There is rest for mind and spirit,
At this haunt upon the hill.

CHORUS

You may go where'er you please
From the north to southern sea
And you'll find no music sweeter
Than the wind in old pine trees;
How each restless thought it stills,
How the heart with rapture thrills
When the green comes back in springtime
To the dear old Alfred hills.

Tell us not of larger colleges
With greater wealth endowed,
For despite their great attractions,
Of A. U. we still are proud;
Scarce we understand the reason
But the very soil seems dear,
And we always breathe the freer
In this pure, clear atmosphere.

CHORUS

Now the violet is blooming
And I dream the oriole calls,
And my heart is fain and restless
Far from classic paths and halls;
When the heart is only longing
Little sympathy it finds,
And I sigh for dear old Alfred
And the wind among the pines.

CHORUS

EDNA BLISS, '90.

Stein Song

Give a rouse, then in the May time
For a life that knows no fear!
Turn a night-time into day-time,
With the sunlight of good cheer!
For it's always fair weather
When good fellows get together,
||With a stein on the table
And a good song ringing clear.||
Oh, we're all frank and twenty
When the spring is in the air;
And we've faith and hope a plenty,
And we've life and love to spare;
And it's birds of a feather
When good fellows get together,
||When a stein on the table
And a heart without a care.||
When the wind comes up from Cuba
And the birds are on the wing,
And our hearts are patting juba
To the banjo of the spring,
Then life slips its tether
When good fellows get together,
||With a stein on the table
In the fellowship of spring.||

Song of Cities

Sing a song of cities, roll dem cotton bale,
Nigger ne'er so happy as when he's out of jail.
Norfolk for its oysters, Boston for baked beans,
Baltimore for pretty girls, but for niggers New Orleans.

CHORUS

I've been working on the railroad, all the live long day,
I've been working on the railroad to pass the time away,
Don't you hear the cap'n shouting; rise up so early in the morn.
Don't you hear the darkies calling, Dinah blow you horn?

Debating

Colleges are everywhere realizing the value and importance of practical debating among the students. Debates are becoming more and more common, and greater interest is shown in these contests of brain against brain. Here, at Alfred, those who wish to debate find many opportunities to improve. The men in their Lyceum spend considerable time in debating, and each Lyceum usually conducts at least one debate, annually, with on outside organization.

Inter-class debates are increasingly popular. There is certainly every chance for debating.

It is not every one who can be taught to stand upon his feet and, at the same time think logically and express himself clearly and forcibly, but the study and practice of debating go far towards that end. The worth of the training can not be estimated; it is invaluable. It gives a young man confidence in himself, increases his fluency of expression, and adds largely to his power of self control.

A series of debates has been planned for this year consisting of two inter-lyceum debates, one between the upper classmen and one between the under classmen of the two men's lyceums. From the first named debate teams a team is to be chosen to represent the college in an intercollegiate debate. These debates are under the direction of a Central Debate Committee composed of members of the Faculty and representatives from the Lyceums.

Athletic Association

The Athletics of the college are under control of the faculty Athletic Committee and are administered by the Athletic Association. The general policy to be followed is formed by the board of directors, who are elected annually from the members of the Association. Immediately under the directors, and responsible to them for the execution of their plans, is a graduate manager. Under the graduate manager are assistant managers who act as directed by him.

Under the new constitution any student can become a life member, eligible for an officer and to participate in any sport upon the payment of 25 cents.

A. E. CHAMPLIN, President.

General Athletics

Athletics are the spice of college life. Without them there is nothing to keep up college spirit at Alfred. Athletics do not pay financially. Yet for the good of the college they must be kept up by the students. Successful teams are the best physical training department a college can have.

It is the duty of all to support athletics and of everyone who can to get on the field and do what he can to make the season successful.

Football, baseball, basketball and tennis are played at Alfred.

Foot Ball

is the college game. It is possible for a small college with the proper spirit to get out a good strong foot ball team. The two things which can prevent Alfred having a good strong team this fall are "knocking" by the student body and favoritism by those having direction. Let every Alfred student new or old pull together to get out a winning team this fall. Come out freshmen and try for the team.

Basket Ball

is a game that is constantly growing in favor at Alfred. Besides class teams a Varsity five and a college girls team were organized last year. This year Alfred should be able to make a reputation in the college basket ball world.

Base Ball

The base ball prospects are continually growing brighter here. The wet season prevented as good a showing as was hoped for last year. However, strong individual players were discovered and the outlook for the spring of 1908 is indeed gratifying.

Tennis

The interest in tennis has greatly increased during the past season, and Alfred is better equipped than ever, having three courts which have been placed in excellent condition. The dues are one dollar per semester, payable to the treasurer of the Tennis Association. This money goes toward keeping up and improving the courts.
