A recipe for zucchini pizza dough

Beverly Stevens sent me this recipe. She found it when her granddaughter wouldn’t eat zucchini. She says the kids never guessed they weren’t eating regular pizza dough.

Zucchini Pizza Dough

4 c. finely shredded zucchini     ½ tsp. ground black pepper
1 c. all purpose flour          salt to taste
¾ c. grated parmesan cheese     ½ c. shredded mozzarella
½ c. unsalted butter

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. After shredding zucchini, lightly salt and transfer it to a strainer. Let stand 15-30 minutes, then squeeze the remaining liquid out of squash. In a medium bowl, combine flour, squash, flour, parmesan and mozzarella cheese, eggs, and pepper. Mix well. Spread mixture onto a greased and floured jelly roll pan. Bake for 40 minutes. Let cool. Slice the crust. Mix the cheese, salsa, and guacamole to the oil just off the cafeteria at St. James Mercy Hospital. The Mix Brothers—Craig, Donny and Mark—were in town to support their mother, Kay Chapman of Alfred Station, celebrate another birthday. The trio sang at the Alfred Station S.D.B. Church service in the morning, at the wedding of Lindsey Lawrence and Chris Blair that afternoon, then sang at the Alfred-Almond Bible Church Sunday morning. Rumors of an impending CD release are as of yet unconfirmed.

While purchasing an “ice cold bottle of water” prior to attending a recent New York Yankees game at Yankee Stadium in the Bronx, David Snyder asked the young man making the sale to consider Alfred for his higher educational pursuits. Turns out the young man has a brother studying at Alfred State and he plans to follow his brother to Alfred.

A reliable source tells the Al- Fred Sun that a family from Lake Alfred, FL has purchased the former Coslos Restaurant. The family had owned a restaurant in Lake Alfred called the “Chat-a-Why.” A sign outside indicates where the family is from, and what about” at the former Coslos this fall.

Village Construction has completed laying the road from Route 244 in the Town of Alfred, North Main and South Main Streets in the Village of Alfred. The crew was completing ditch work along Rt. 244 on Monday. Alfred Police are asking the public to please be aware to avert speeders as the naturally formed speed bumps (aka pot-holes) have been removed.

Dear Editor,

The National Grange, the nation’s oldest national agricultural organization, calls on Congress to pass the Motor Vehicle Owners’ Right to Repair Act (HR 1449) on behalf of more than 200,000 members in order to protect individual vehicle ownership rights, particularly for residents of farming and rural communities.

Our members value their ability and freedom to fix and repair their own cars or trucks and other farm equipment. Should they choose to seek assistance elsewhere, local repair shops should have access to all necessary computer codes and service information from the manufacturers in order to properly and efficiently make repairs.

In the absence of the Right to Repair Act, our members in some rural areas would be forced to put off important vehicle repairs and maintenance, jeopardizing their safety and the safety of others on the road. It is also important to note that our members often farm and ranch in remote locations where repair shops are just not available.

Traveling long distances to a dealer or a repair shop out of town for parts from dealers can mean missing crop target pricing, cost-consuming time in the field and a great deal of revenue.

We believe every American has the right to maintain, service, repair and rebuild their own vehicles or farm equipment on their own accord or by the repair shop of their choice. Please join us and take action by visiting www.righttorepair.org to send a letter to your members of Congress urging them to support the Right to Repair Act.

Historical Society plans to build archives

By DONNA B. RYAN
Special to the Alfred Sun

ALMOND—Senator Cathy Young, who represents us in the 57th district, New York Senate, visited the Hagadorn House, home of the Almond Historical Society in Almond, NY. For over 45 years, The Almond Historical Society has been dedicated to discovering, collecting and preserving historical materials that explain or illustrate the settlement of the Almond community, its growth and progress during all the years of its existence. Visitors of The Hagadorn House can view collected printed materials such as histories, genealogies, biographies, gazetteers, directories, newspapers, etc. Also manuscript materials such as letters, diaries, account books, journals and museum materials such as pictures, photographs, paintings and portraits, aboriginal relics and other materials are on hand. In a letter received by the AHS later, she noted that no grant funding is currently available, but she instructed the AHS to complete an application and submit to her office, which she will review following the 2012-13 New York State budget passage. She also wrote: "I strongly support all of the important work that you do and appreciate the valuable services you provide. Thank you for contacting my office."

Brad Hager of Hager Engineering has drawn the plans up for the 28x42 structure, and Almond Village Planning Board approval has been granted pending codes enforcement elevation agreement. It is expected that David Gillette will begin construction soon.

President Lee A. Ryan noted: "The AHS is seeking financial assistance for this extensive building project, which will help us construct a separate building designed with a one-room schoolhouse look, that will safely store the irreplaceable records and memorabilia which document the history of Almond. Located at ground floor, the new handicap accessible structure will replace the current upstairs small office and will provide much-needed work space and storage space. Donations are tax deductible, and memorial contributions will be gladly accepted," he said.

ALFRED—Alfred University Dining Services Director John Dietrich remembers seeing an Alfred University student carrying a meatball sub-filled tray to the dining hall conveyer belt leading to the garbage.

"That was a real eye-opener," says Dietrich.

After seeing the concept in a trade magazine, Dietrich presented trayless dining to the dining committee. Dining Services compared a day’s wasted food and beverage with and without trays.

"We saw how much less food was being wasted," says Dietrich.

Dining Services went trayless fulltime beginning in 2008, saving 15,000 pounds of food per semester with trayless dining, about the size of an adult male elephant.

Dietrich says the trayless dining initiative received positive feedback and national recognition.

"I’ve been told we are ahead of the campus as a whole," says Dietrich. "People are surprised that we do it and that we are saving so much.

Dietrich serves on Alfred University’s Council on Green Efforts, a committee consisting of representatives of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, School of Art and Design, Inamori School of Engineering, Student Affairs, Physical Plant, libraries, and students. President Charles Edmondson created the council to advise him in following the American College and University Presidents’ Climate Commitment he signed in 2009. The council serves as the leader of campus environmental efforts.

Kevin Dodge, motor pool technician, says the council sets an example for students about the need to recycle.

"It’s something that you’ve got to look at all the time," says Dodge. "If you’re not looking at it all the time, you’re probably getting behind.

Dodge says the council educates the campus in green behavior.

"It takes time for people to change," says Dodge. "The committee is definitely trying to help with that. It makes a great impression if we’re working at trying to be better at those things."

AU alumna Kacie Dean ’11 served as council co-chair last academic year with Michele Hluchy, professor and chair of the Environmental Studies and Geology Department, and worked to bring attention to campus green efforts.

"Simply putting up posters or sitting at a table and talking to students about what they can do and what the school is doing is always important," says Dean. "More times than I can count, I had students asking about how to recycle at Alfred."

Variety of events at Acoustic Cafe

ANGELICA—Black-Eyed Susan Acoustic Cafe (22 W. Main St., Angelica) will host an evening of blues, bluegrass, folk, rock and roots music by Bob and Gena Decker on Friday, August 19. On Saturday, August 20, welcome back Erin Sydney Welsh, a phenomenal 15-year-old songwriter/guitarist. Each show starts free from 7:30-9:30 p.m. There is no cover charge, but guests are expected to contribute to the musician's tip jar.

On Friday, August 19, Bob and Gena Decker will showcase the diverse style and fine harmonies that make them such sought-after musicians. In addition to performing at festivals, coffee houses and weddings, the Decker’s have hosted Black-Eyed Susan’s Acoustic Open Mic (which occurs every month on the first Thursday) for more than a year. From their first meeting, this multi-talented couple has been singing together... first doing musical theater in Wellsville and since (as husband and wife) as part of a constantly evolving band known as “Sound Foundry.”

Clarence Center’s Erin Sydney Welsh is a fifteen-year-old phenomenon whose songwriting and performing most often draw comparisons to a young Ani DiFranco or Tracy Chapman. Erin has received praise for her witty adolescent lyrics and skillful blend of folk, blues and pop, which have led her to appearances at some of Buffalo’s top venues, including Babeville, the Tralf Music Hall, “Music Is Art” Festival. She’s got the confidence and stage savvy of a far more experienced performer. If you’ve ever wondered what it must have been like to catch Ani DiFranco as an unknown teen in a Buffalo nightclub, this may be the closest you’ll ever come.

On Thursday, August 25, it’s ANGELICA CRUISE NIGHT from 6 to 8 p.m. Whether you own a vintage car, or just love to talk with others about them, pack family and friends in the car and head to Main Street Angelica... Find your dream car while enjoying juicy burgers, ice cream, flashback 50’s music, “Driver’s Choice prizes”, and more. A fundraiser will benefit the Angelica Hose Company. Most shops open late. Poodle skirts and saddle shoes encouraged! No admission fee.

Black-Eyed Susan presents... RUTH KENOTE – Folk, Pop, Jazz from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Friday, August 26. One of our terrific that members presents a stylistic range of guitar and vocal work influenced by Sarah Bareilles, Andrew Peterson and Ellis MacGill. No cover charge.

And, on Saturday August 27, from 7:30-9:30 p.m., Black-Eyed Susan presents MIKE DiFranco presents MIKE DiFranco with an evening of swing and jazz standards on guitar and vocals. Crooning? You bet! No cover charge. Guitarist Jim Schwartz opens at 6 p.m.

Black-Eyed Susan Acoustic Cafe serves lunch seven days a week, and dinner with live music every Friday and Saturday evening. For more information call 585-339-393 or visit www.black-eyed-susan.com.

Au president to serve on state economic council

ALFRED — Alfred University President Charles M. Edmondson has been selected as an original member of Gov. Mario Cuomo’s WNY Regional Economic Development Council, launched recently.

The council is charged with redesigning the relationship between state government and businesses to stimulate regional economic development and create jobs.

Satish K. Tripathi, president of the University at Buffalo, and Howard A. Zemsky, managing partner at Larkin Development Group, are regional co-chairs for the group, which will coordinate the economic development of Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Erie, and Niagara counties.

Edmondson joins 19 general members and eight elected officials including Curt Crandall, chair of the Allegany County Legislature.

“It is impossible to overstate the importance of economic development for New York in general and of Western New York in particular,” said Edmondson. “It is an honor for me to serve with so many distinguished New Yorkers in this new approach to creating an economic strategy tailored to the unique traits of our region.”

He added, “Higher education can contribute greatly to the effort to reverse the economic fortunes of Western New York, and it reflects well on Alfred University that its president was asked to represent higher education in this region.”

Most recently, New York State’s economic development efforts were managed through dozens of separate state and local agencies. The Regional Councils will now bring together stakeholders in every region of the state to serve as a coordinated point of contact for economic development.

When You Leave Your Job

Don’t Leave Your Money Behind

No matter when you leave your job, the money you accumulated in your employer’s retirement plan (such as a 401(k) or a 403(b) plan) while you were there can make the trip with you. Just be sure you don’t lose it en route.

Penalties and taxes for premature withdrawals or improper rollovers into new retirement accounts are common pitfalls to avoid.

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, August 18

On this day in 1812, from the quarterdeck of the USS Constitution, Captain Isaac Hull scanned the horizon for signs of the enemy. If he sighted a squadron, he would have to withdraw, for his far vast fleet Britannia truly ruled the waves. But if the lookouts aloft spied only one vessel.

As if in answer to prayer, the next day, HMS Guerriere appeared—and with it came a fact that forever and always is the glory of America—the British warship’s cannon’s broadside were met in mortal combat, from which the Constitution emerged victorious. Her jubilant sailors, exulting that cannon balls had bounced off her oaken flanks, dubbed her “Old Ironsides.” And when the news reached home, all the nation celebrated.

WELLSVILLE—Alfred State College and Atlantic Richfield (a BP-affiliated company) officials gathered recently to announce the transfer of the wetland treatment system site to the college. ASC’s School of Applied Technology in Wellsville sits on the site of the former Sinclair refinery. After a major blaze which closed the refinery in 1988, AR dismantled the refinery site, donated much of the property to Alfred State to build its Wellsville campus, and performed various cleanup activities. This most recent remedy involved construction of what is known as a wetland treatment system, which is designed to remove any residual contaminants from the groundwater that passes beneath the site and prevent contamination from migrating to the Genesee River. AR’s innovative wetland treatment system uses natural processes to finish the job of cleaning groundwater that passes beneath the site, making it suitable for environmental cleanup at the site, ASC will take ownership of the property, expanding its footprint and offering a unique educational opportunity for area students. The wetland treatment system will become an outdoor environmental laboratory for students. ASC will also utilize the site. Future opportunities may include training students in water monitoring and testing. Alfred State students and faculty also have designed and will construct and operate a system to clean the wetland system that will control water levels in the wetland. Pictured here during the ceremony, l-r: Craig Clark, dean, ASC School of Applied Technology; Eric Larson, operations project manager, BP; Joe Sontchi, operations manager, BP; Pat King, vice president, Global Operations, Remediation Management, BP, and Dr. John M. Anderson, president, Alfred State College.

People like to be surrounded by good people," says Murray. "It's an outstanding recruit to have here."

"It's one of those things we're really happy with. It started out as a very small camp with just a couple schools and has grown to become what we consider to be one of the top summer football camps on the east coast."

The camp, in its 14th year, has grown tremendously since its inception in 1998, when 24 Staten Island players attended. According to Murray, over 200 high school athletes and over 50 high school coaches participated in this year's camp.

"Throughout our decision process of what to offer after camp ended. He continues to come back to camp to watch Alfred games in the fall and he tracks how the programs perform.

THE ALFRED SUN, Thursday, August 18, 2011

The Buffalo/Toronto Bills traded WR Lee Evans last week to Rochester on August 27th. Perhaps against Abby and her magic Jack Waffle-Mallory, Wednesday at Stafford CC with Simbo, over to the Rochester Red Wings baseball game on Thursday nite past when the announcer said ... "former Wings player was ready to return to Florida come that Saturday weekend in the Jenny Kuzma Memorial Bergen 5K."

The Bills. A #1-pick should be a player starting for you for 10-years, which is south of Albany and (perhaps) the hometown of Mucker? Hawn had quite the golf-week of late so. How about playing some more events now? Be great to see him play in the Webster Farmer's Market and Webster Community Days this past Saturday. Great time. The community had quite a mini-vehicle! The community other than Ithaca to win an Empire 8 Divisional 3rd place in the coaches' poll. Hartwick College, 14 6. Utica College 15 3. Salisbury University (1), 39 2. Salisbury University (1), 39 42 stops, including 10 for a loss. Springfield College for third championship. The Sea Gulls have an 112 tackles last season, ing Empire 8 Defensive Player of the Year, is a three-time all-conference player. He averaged 146.2 yards per game running in the conference for 3,951 rushing yards in the fall. Whew. Hoping to see Jess Herbst play soccer at Ver-
