State Sen. Catharine Young joined Alfred University President Charles M. Edmondson and Doreen Edwards, dean of the Kazuo Inamori School of Engineering, to dedicate the Center for High-Temperature Characterization at Alfred University. “We are here today to thank Sen. Young for her assistance in creating this unique facility; there is nothing else like it in the world,” said Edmondson. “It took a person of vision to see the possibilities in what we were talking about when we first went to Albany to seek funding. Sen. Young was that person. She understood what we were trying to do.”
“It’s always a great day when we can cut a ribbon,” said Young. “It’s a special day when we can cut a ribbon for a facility that is so high-tech, so unique, and so crucial to the economy of New York State now, and in the future.”
Facilities like the Center for High-Temperature Materials Characterization not only help to keep jobs in New York State, but “actually bring projects from companies outside the state to Alfred, NY,” said Young.

Tasty way to use some of the zucchini

This recipe, perhaps not as good at getting kids to eat zucchini as the chocolate zucchini cake recipe I wrote about above, is still a tasty way to include the vegetable and, if your kids like to dip things, perhaps they will enjoy it too. These taste similar to crab cakes because of the seafood seasoning.

2 Zucchini Patties with Dill Dip

1/2 c. sour cream          1/2 tsp. garlic powder
2 T. minced fresh dill     1 egg, beaten
1 tsp. lemon juice         2 T. butter, melted
1/8 tsp. salt              1/3 c. finely chopped onion
1/8 tsp. pepper            1/2 c. all-purpose flour
2/3 c. chopped zucchini    1/2 c. vegetable oil
1 c. seasoned bread crumbs
1 tsp. seafood seasoning

For dip: in a small bowl, combine the first five ingredients.
Cover and refrigerate until serving. Place zucchini in a colander to drain; squeeze to remove excess liquid. Pat dry; set aside. In a large bowl, combine the bread crumbs, seafood seasoning and garlic power. Stir in egg and butter until blended. Add the carrot, onion and zucchini mix; mix well. Place flour in a shallow bowl. Shape zucchini mixture into 24 small patties; coat with flour. Heat oil in a large skillet; fry patties, a few at a time, for 3-4 minutes on each side until lightly browned. Drain on paper towels. Serve with dip. Yield: 2

If you’re dying of natural causes, let your loved one say sweetly, “Wake up and die right!”

So don’t make the afterlife have to correct you.

She’ll make it all seem as though you don’t behave right and die as you oughttera:

To pass away quick in a fast ambulance, if you have the good sense that Or, failing

If you don’t have a nurse or a doctor nearby, Cuz apparently, now it’s illegal to die

Are those who are not in a health field employed, And soon to get flowers in beautiful vases, If ever you’re dying of natural causes,

Cuz all they can do is to just resurrect you, So don’t make the afterlife have to correct you,

Dear Editor:

The Alfred-Atlantic Community Chest has completed its 35th week of the 2012 drive and, thus far, has received pledges of $10,910 or about 29% of our 2012 goal of $37,210. Hopefully, you will consider pledging today. As Wes Bentz has always pointed out, our local organizations benefit immensely from your loyal contributions. This week I am selecting the Senior Nutrition Site as our ‘poster’ organization.

The Senior Nutrition Site is an important organization that receives support from your Community Chest. Each week, lunch is served to over 50 seniors. Many of those who may have alone enjoyed the companionship that this gathering provides. In fact, seniors often have family members who assist them.

The Senior Nutrition Site is supported by the Allegany County Office for the Aging and is regularly attended by our ‘elderly’ community members, who may need transportation. Diners are asked to make a payment for their meal, but this does not cover incidentals such as decorations and other items for festive meals and for birthday celebrations. They print notices of local events, especially helpful. Our email address is www.diglitny.org for more information. You can do that too. There are four lessons, each of which takes about two hours to complete. It is possible to “test out” of a lesson by taking a quiz. If you wish to learn more about the program and its curriculum, or to set up a time to begin taking lessons, call 607-587-9290, or stop by while the library is open. You are somewhat comfortable using the Internet, you can go to www.diglit.org for more information. The “Public” page is especially helpful. Our email address is burma@stls.org, and the Library’s web address is www.stls.org. If those last two sentences were gobbledygook to you, there is no need to help you change that! Give us a call!

As a result most traditional large newspapers are struggling to stay alive – they are more and more frequently printing only two to three times per week. That content and context are shrinking like never before, and more information is shifted to online editions. Yet local community newspapers are thriving because they have persistently weathered the storm in year and year out to remain a fixture in our everyday lives. As our societies become more complex and diverse with an increasingly fast pace of change, the information role of local newspapers in informing our communities becomes even more significant.

We count on them to regularly check in with the courts and police stations. They print notices of births, deaths, engagements, marriages, anniversaries, church news, job openings, school openings, service club endeavors. They publish notices of local government meetings and they keep track of any tax increases, millage initiatives, notices of changes in laws and property rezoning – all issues that most directly affect our daily lives. We expect our local newspapers to do that special for the elderly and those with low incomes who often have no access to computers and transportation.

They help run the local economic engine and provide a marketplace for the community. They offer local small businesses with an effective and affordable means of connecting with local consumers. They print coupons for discounts at local stores, real estate listings, and classified notices for everything from used car to a neighbor’s garage sale.

It’s also personal. Community newspapers feel a sense of ownership in their local newspaper, and the people that report the news are often our friends and neighbors down the street.

News aggregating websites such as Drudge Report and the major news blogs are great at offering up major national and international news and analysis, but they simply do not provide the information on issues that impact us at the local level and those with low incomes who often have no access to computers and transportation. They normally only publish once a week, but community newspapers remain the one constant source of local information.

In good times and in bad, they stay focused on us as a community.

Now more than ever, community newspapers are an important part of the fabric of our cities and towns.

Transforming lives, providing clean water in Indonesia

By BRAD BOWDEN
of the Alfred Lions Club

At the Sept. 27th Alfred Lions Club meeting, Nadine Hoover and Nicholas Rozard described their work to help people in Indonesia recover their lives and communities following the ravages of war and natural disaster.

Nadine has a Doctorate in International Development and is Coordinator of Friends Peace Teams in Asia. She recently returned from a year in northern Sumatra to illustrate war and a tsunami in Aceh in Indonesia where she established a lab to develop ceramic water filters and a microbiology lab to evaluate their effectiveness in removing and killing bacteria.

During their presentation Nadine emphasized that the non-violence and developmental abilities or do not identify and respond to both trauma healing workshops that effectively work with people to re-bound from such traumatic events. An unfortunate irony of the situation in Aceh was that to escape the ravages of the war in the highlands, people had migrated to the coastline, only to be subsequently further devastated by a tsunami!

Not only did Aceh lose a generation of people (the average age is now 38) but there was no community structure, no schools, no teachers or trained people, and even trained people had lost their ability to perform their former skills.

Acknowledging that other countries and international agencies provide supplies, Nadine felt that what was missing was a continued presence of people to identify and respond to both long-term psychological needs of people and health issues such as the need for clean water. This is where the members of the Friends Peace Team play a significant role.

At several points in their presentation Nadine emphasized that people of all ages, from children to adults either lose various developmental abilities or do not have the opportunity to develop them. The non-violence and trauma healing workshops that she conducts assist people to regain positive and meaningful observation, listening, and work skills, all important for effective communication between people to begin restructuring society.

The Peace Team’s approach of learning the language, talking with people, identifying needs and allowing time for people to understand what is going to happen to resolve problems is very important.

For example, developmental play is not typical in Indonesia but once introduced as a need, conversations led to an art student who had the talents and vision with ‘seed money’ has begun developing both children’s development books and toys such as sets of blocks to foster basic visual and math skills.

Another example of bridging the gap between the need and the resource was the Friends Peace Team becoming aware that Alfred University was discussing making ceramic water filters that could meet the critical need for providing clean water in Indonesia. As a result, Nick has been working in Dr. William Carty’s lab at Alfred and spent the past year in Yogyakarta, Jakarta establishing both a ceramic lab for making gravity-fed ceramic filters and a microbiology lab for assessing the effectiveness of removing and killing bacteria to produce clean water. Silver is fired onto the ceramic material and is responsible for killing the bacteria.

Conversations with people about the project in Jakarta attracted the attention of a non-profit organization – SHEP (Society for Helping the Environment and Peace) – that has provided a woman to work on making the filters. Nick emphasized that once a filter prototype is developed, it could be modified to make filters of different sizes for different purposes, and filters could be produced and stocked for immediate use in future disasters.

In response to a question about the usefulness of commercial filters, Nick noted that commercial filters would be expensive for people there and that ceramic filters are developed with local clay and don’t need chemicals or replacement parts.

Nicholas Rozard (seated) and Nadine Hoover (standing) describe their activities to assist people in Indonesia following war and natural disaster.

Alfred State moves up in rankings

ALFRED—Alfred State ranks no. 7 among top public schools/regional colleges (north) according to the most recent U.S. News and World Report’s 2013 Best Colleges report for the second year in a row.

Additionally, Alfred State ranked no. 25 on the list of top regional colleges in the North, up from the no. 25 spot last year. Alfred State was also included in the rankings of those colleges with the highest average freshman retention rate, coming in at 74 percent. These figures represent a gain over previous year’s rankings.

U.S. News and World Report’s annual ranking studies more than 1,600 schools nationwide and is the most trusted and comprehensive research tool students and parents look to when considering higher education choices.

Dr. John M. Anderson, Alfred State president, attributes the top ranking and Alfred State’s increased ranking on the list to the compelling relevancy Alfred’s project-based learning has on students and employers alike.

“The way we approach project-based learning is unique to us in many ways which is why it has become a cornerstone of our culture,” said Anderson. “Our focus is on teaching students how to think – not what to think – and that is something that resonates extremely well with employers. In fact, it is the reason why we are able to boast a 99% employment and transfer rate.”

The category of ‘top public schools’ refers to public colleges and universities from small liberal arts colleges to large research institutions. The ‘regional colleges’ category of the report encompasses schools that focus almost exclusively on the undergraduate experience while offering a broad range of programs in the liberal arts and in fields such as business, nursing, and education.

Alfred State is a member of the technology college sector within the SUNY system. The College offers 52 baccalaureate degree programs, 20 baccalaureate and associate degree programs, and three certificate programs in addition to an array of online programs.

She served a residence at Alfred University from 2009- 2010.

AU’s Lefkowitz Lecture features talk on Grant’s expelling of Jews

Dine Out for a Good Cause. By ELIZA ORWARD

Eliza Orward is the Director of Marketing & Communications at the Library. If you have any questions about the programs, activities, or services, please call 607-871-2039.

Food is a universal language, a unifying element. Through food, we can connect with others, share stories, and experience different cultures. This month, the Library is proud to announce a new initiative: Dine Out for a Good Cause.

This program invites local restaurants to participate by donating a portion of their proceeds to various organizations and causes. The proceeds from each restaurant will be donated to a specific charity of their choice. To participate, restaurants are asked to commit to hosting a special event or offering a special menu item for a limited time, with a percentage of the sales going to the designated charity.

The kick-off event will be held at the following establishments:

- Upright Citizens Brigade
- Cafe Mulroy
- Uptown
- The Wellsville Bistro
- Myers Place

This initiative is part of a larger campaign to encourage community involvement and support for important causes. By participating in Dine Out for a Good Cause, we hope to raise awareness about the various issues that impact our community and help support those who are working to address them.

We would like to extend a special thank you to all the participating establishments for their dedication and support. Together, we can make a difference and contribute to the well-being of our community.

Thank you to all our patrons who support Dine Out for a Good Cause and for your continued support of the Library.

For more information, please contact Eliza Orward at 607-871-2039 or eliza.orward@alfred.edu.

*Note: The participating establishments are subject to change and may vary each month. Please check the Library's website for the latest updates.

Library Lions Story Time to begin soon

By BRAD BOWDEN of the Alfred Lions Club

The Alfred Lions Club will initiate a LIBRARY LIONS STORY Time and related craft program for children 4 to 8 years of age in the Box of Books Library on Saturday, Oct. 20, at 11 a.m.

The LIBRARY LIONS Story Time will be held once or twice a month as indicated in the Library notices in the Alfred Sun and at the Library.

The first week a story titled The Library Lion will be read by a member of the Alfred Lions Club. Children will then make a craft item related to the story assisted by students from Alfred University’s “Fall into Service” program that day.

Subsequent Lions story time Saturdays will follow the same format with a reader a member of the Lions Club or from different organizations or businesses, each reading a children’s story related to their community, such as fire and ambulance company, post office, local contractor company, professional practice (dentist, doctor), craft assistants will be recruited from students at the two colleges, Alfred Almond School or other community members.

The purposes of the reading program is to excite youngsters about reading, provide craft opportunities and connect children with stories about people and activities that make up their community.

The Story Time program has been developed as a Lions Service Project in response to the year-long literacy Project of the International President of Lions Clubs, Wayne Maddox.

Blessings of the Obedient Heart

By LINDA STAIGER

ALMOND--As part of our 200th Anniversary here at Almond Union of Churches, we had Pastor Jim Horton, interim pastor, return to share a message with us. Personally, it was very nice to see Pastor Jim and Grace again. His sermon was titled “The Blessings of the Obedient Heart,” based on Deuteronomy 30:11–20.

Deuteronomy 30: “Surely, this commandment that I am giving today is not too hard for you, nor is it too far away. It is not in heaven so that you do not need someone to get it for you. It is not on the other side of the sea. No, the word is very near to you; it is in your mouth and in your heart, so that you may obey it. The Lord will bless you in the land he dwells within you. The answers to your questions are in God’s word. Do not bow down to other gods to serve them, you shall perish...Choose life...”

Choose Life--choose that path, which is the Lord’s way. We can choose to bow down to the idols of our land; the stuff of this world. We can choose to be led astray to what commercial ads show us how to get it. You know--you’ll get love if you drive the right car, drink the right beer, wear the right clothes...take your pick. Or you can ask what it is going to get you to where you want to be? Is it too far away. It is not in heaven so you do not need someone to get it for you. It is not on the other side of the sea. No, the word is very near to you; it is in your mouth and in your heart, so that you may obey it. The Lord will bless you in the land he dwells within you. The answers to your questions are in God’s word. Do not bow down to other gods to serve them, you shall perish...Choose life...”

All of the American Idols of Churches, the building itself was Presbyterian. At first and it is now 200 years old. The Presbyterians joined the Presbyterians back in the day in 1814. Remember that? It was war, right? “In 1814 we took a little trip, along with Colonel Jackson down the mighty Mississip!...”) The American Baptists took hold in the same year, in spite of the war going on all around. It was built around the grace of God. That is what an Almond Union of Churches must do: bring in new people and teach them about the grace of God. This is what the church is all about. Love of God motivates us and the grace of God we see through. Choose His ways. The Lord is in your heart.

Come join us next week when Pastor Steve Dygert begins the new series titled “Forgotten Words”. A new take on the concept of an ‘f-word’!

THE GLORY OF AMERICA
Thursday, October 11

On this day in 1492, Christopher Columbus scanned the western horizon in vain. Until now, his faith in this voyage had never faltered, though kings and courtiers had scoffed, and wise men had counseled him to give up. Columbus saw everything through his own vision, the Pope of his intent “to bear the light of Christ west to heathen in undiscovered lands.” In this journal, he wrote:

“...it was the Lord who put into my mind—I could feel his hand upon me—the fact that it was possible to sail to the far East, where all of my project related to that, with laughter, ridiculing me.”

JANE, COLUMBUS, 146.

AU grounds Bombers, 31-7; hosts Fisher Saturday

ALFRED—The Alfred University football team (3-1, 2-0 Empire 8) soundly defeated visiting Ithaca, 31-7, before a Homecoming crowd of 3,764 at Merrill Field.

Ithaca came into the game unbeaten, with one of the top-rated defenses in the country, allowing only 272 yards of offense per game, including a mere 98 on the ground. On Saturday, Ithaca allowed 326 yards of offense to the Saxons, including 189 to a Saxon team that came into averaging 238 yards on the ground per contest.

Junior running back Chuck Beckwith (Victor), coming off a career-high 177-yard rushing performance at Buffalo State two weekends ago, ran for 131 yards and two touchdowns on 25 carries. He got the better of the work as starting junior tailback Austin Dwyer (Hornell) was held to just seven yards in the first quarter.

The Saxon offensive line was solid, allowing the Bombers to make only two tackles behind the line of scrimmage Saturday, with no sacks allowed (the Bombers were fourth in the nation in sacks, with 4.3 per game coming in).

AU’s defense, on the other hand, was dominant. Alfred came into giving up just over 300 yards per game, including 214.2 yards against the rushing attack. Against Ithaca, the Saxons allowed only seven first-half yards, converted just one of three downs, and turned the ball over in their own four-yard line, resulting in a field goal attempt as AU’s defense registered 14 tackles for loss.

Bomber tailback Clay Ardoin, coming off a 160-yard rushing game the week before, had a team-high 134 yards and 32 carries, with 11 yards on 11 carries. The AU defense forced Ithaca to a minus-four yards per carry, including 195 in the ground, finished with only 143 yards of offense, including 104 four yards rushing, as the Saxon defense registered 14 tackles for loss.

Saxon running back #31 Chuck Beckwith ran for 131 yards and two touchdowns on 25 carries against Ithaca.

against Fisher, AU junior quarterback Zach Gustafson (Wellsville) began the 35-yard field goal as first-half clock expired, putting Alfred up 7-0. Beckwith scored on a one-yard run and the Saxons led 21-0 with 2:30 left in the half.

Ithaca got on the board with 44 seconds left in the half but answered, as freshman receiver Maleke Fuentes (Olean) took the ensuing kickoff 62 yards to the Ithaca 28-yard line. Four plays later, junior kicker Cody Gustafson (Wellsville) booted a 35-yard field goal as first-half clock expired, putting Alfred up 10-0.

Against Morrisville State, Alfred struck first, in the 30th minute, when freshman midfielder Nicholas Carey (Middleton/Minnisink Valley) beat the goalie off a pass from sophomore defender Eric Rockwood (Allagany/Limington). The Saxons could not find the net as Morrisville crept back into the game. Junior keeper Samuel Guy (Queensbury) made six saves in the loss to Stevens.

Stevens, host of the weekend’s Empire 8 tournament, defeated AU by scores of 25-15, 25-14 and 25-10. Ithaca had five kills and two blocks to pace the Saxons. Hall had seven kills and eight digs and Jensen had six kills and five digs to lead the Saxons. Junior Kyle Brand (Elmira Free Academy) had four kills and block; Gallipeau had 10 assists and two service aces; and Academy had eight and seven assists, respectively.

Ithaca, 6-7, 2-5 Empire 8) split the week with a 3-0 win over Daemen (9-0), bouncing back from a 9-0 loss to visiting Nazareth earlier in the week.

In the win over Daemen, freshman Emma Jackson (Wellsville) claimed a 6-3, 6-1, 1-0 win in first singles. Also winning singles matches for AU were: sophomore Brennan Ferguson (Dedrechan, LA/Usis- lon, 6-1, 6-0 in second singles; freshman Kaillin Flaherty (Queensbury), 6-0, 6-0 in third singles; senior Melissa Boyer (Bloomfield, MI/Lahser) 6-2, 6-0 in fourth singles; and sophomore Emily Eisenberg (Oyster Bay), 6-0, 6-0 in sixth singles.

Alfred State added to their lead early in the 2nd half and tied the score up on a five-yard run by Steve Stramolo. Cincinnati World Series?

Lauren's daughter's team in the Ragin' Adirondeck's 193-Mile Race took 158th out of 227 teams. Six-person teams that ran from Saratoga Springs to Lake Placid. Each runner going three different times. Team completed run in 30:42:38... as in 30+ hours!

"Back up to the Cooperstown Diner, on my recent stop in the 'Hall of Fame town, they have the biggest burgers this side of The Bucket in Lakewood. A "classic" place with Gladys, Morey... and John Hockey Man at the counter!"

Received a text from Milko (SUNY Geneseo) last week as the former field hockey All-American has landed a job at the University of Maryland. She sent me text/photos from Notre Dame and Wrigley Field. Yes, Maryland... Duke too!

Two days after receiving the news about Mike Coyle of Oneonta last week, my wife and I went to Scott's Country Kitchen in Monticello, Virginia about the passing of Dick Giedlin. The former Athletic Director at Alfred State College. Good man! Got to know him over the years at ASC, of course and saw him a few times at Virginia Beach when visiting Scott and his family. Dinner at their place once when Lauren and I were in town. God rest at Hell's Door where he worked... "decent" rates.

He and I sat together at a baseball game at Harbor Park once, just chat-ing the entire time. An "enjoyable" game that I have no idea who won. My thoughts of course go to the entire Giedlin family at this time, especially Gills in Arizona.

Did not take in the Ithaca-Alfred football game last week as we were out of town. Off to Saratoga Springs-Lake George-Union College this weekend. Would like to stop in on Wednesday afternoon to see the Geneseo-Orange women's soccer game but don't think I can swing that. Meeting in Saratoga Springs as she arrives via bus from NYC on Saturday. Heading to Lake George for some biking. Down to Union College on Sunday to see Herbst, Haley Marks (Pen-field) and Vermont take on UAlbany in Division I soccer action. Was going to be a surprise for Herbst but with game moved to Union time cut short. Dann Brit (Webster Schroeder) is the GK for the Great Danes so will actually know three players in the game... plus Virginia! Might be my second or third soccer game of week as plans were to take in the Brockport-Webster girls high school game on Tuesday at Schroeder. Only three full high school game I have seen since Herbst graduated. All Brockport-Webster games with Coach Sherman, Coach Brown on the sidelines. Hopefully Skip Sherman (A-A) there!
