Hoyt presents Governor Cuomo's proposed budget

By ELAINE HARDMAN
Alfred Sun Reporter

WELLSVILLE—Sam Hoyt, Regional President of Empire State Development, presented Governor Andrew Cuomo's proposed budget and ideas from the State of the State address at the David A Howe Library.

Hoyt began, as he has in the past, by praising Wellsville's historic architecture and the grace of the Howe Library.

He then jumped in full speed and word heavy though sometimes lacking in details due, he said, to the fact that the budget had only just been revealed to him. He promised to take questions and indicated that more information will be posted on the governor's website.

The core of the message was that, in many ways, NY is rising. The state is open for business, seeking ways to grow and make better use of its assets. One tremendous asset is the world-class university system where government funding pours in at an impressive rate to produce new ideas and patentable work but private funding to convert those ideas into goods isn't finding New York.

Those ideas can't be left to grow cold and dusty so the governor is proposing 10 higher education/private sector high tech incubators called Innovation Hot Spots. These facilities, with 5 to be created this year and 5 next year, will free businesses from property, sales and income tax. This innovative haven will provide complete staff support from secretarial to legal to smooth the path from idea to product.

There will be a reform to cut the costs of Worker's Compensation and Unemployment Insurance.

Three efforts are about to develop green, sustainable jobs: NY SUN, NY GREEN BANK and CHARGE NY PROGRAM. Charge NY is a program that will pay for building charging stations for electric cars.

NEXT GENERATION JOBS is a new program designed to upgrade the skills of workers to fill existing jobs. Hoyt pointed out that there are 210,000 unfilled jobs in New York.

Another effort to build the state is Market New York which will build on regional advertising programs. The first project is a white water rafting competition called The Adirondack Challenge. Hoyt also said that there may be regional markets where artisan wines, beer, yogurt and other foods would be sold tax free to encourage and support local manufacturers.

Later, during questions, it was proposed that this be expanded to include visual artists who work with raw materials and create one-of-a-kind works of art. Louisiana has a program like this that allows all handmade art work to be sold sales tax free.

The governor laments that

there are no casinos in New York (Note: an internet search shows 9 Native American Casinos and 9 Racinos in New York.) so he proposes building 3 destination resort casinos in Upstate New York. 90% of the revenue would go for education and 10% for local needs but nothing can be done without an amendment to the state constitution.

The current budget has a shortfall of $1.3 Billion. To button this gap, there will be: $400

Million in cuts to state agencies, $300 Million in cuts to Worker's Compensation, $130 Million in debt management and $400 Million in "local assistance savings".

This last number was later questioned by Dar Fanton, Wellsville Town Supervisor, saying that one agency's savings sounded like a town's cuts. Hoyt said he had rather wondered about that figure but had no further information.

Recognizing the long-term savings and benefits from early childhood education, the governor proposes full day preschool starting with service to the lowest wealth school districts but he will also overhaul teacher training and certification by instituting a "bar exam" for teachers. He did not mention any added pay incentives for teachers to encourage people to enter the field of education.

As part of his progressive message, Cuomo proposed a minimum wage increase. Neighboring states offer higher minimum wages so the increase is needed to be competitive. Right now a New Yorker earning minimum wage can bring home $14,616 annually. Hoyt said that a raise to $8.75 per hour is "so that our workers can prosper."

Hoyt presented a few of the 10 steps toward creating a Women's Equality Act in New York. One of the items is the removal of income disparity and another was a zero tolerance for sexual harassment.

Public Safety is an issue and so the governor has created an entire website dedicated to questions on limits he proposes on assault weapons in New York. That website is NYSAFEACT.com.

Eva Benedict, CEO of Jones Memorial, reminded Hoyt of the drive that a functioning hospital can have on local economy and said that she heard little in the budget or presentation that addresses the hospital's concerns over Medicare and Medicaid. Yes, there is a $50 Million proposal but while that much money in one place is tremendous, spread across the state it is not. Hoyt agreed to work with her separately on the needs of the hospital.

Early voting in New York was brought up as an issue. If New York requires voting be allowed for a week before primaries and 2 weeks before general elections, but does not present any funding to make this possible, then it is creating a problem.

Hoyt said that as a country, our eligible voters need all the encouragement that can be found. He suggested that local election boards work with state legislators to work this out.

Hoyt invited everyone to go to NYGetInvolved.com to respond to any elements in the presentation and then accepted questions.

BIKE TROUBLE

Bikes and trikes were scarce and hard to come by in the 1930s and '40s, especially in rural areas.

After my older brother Ken and I received our first second-hand tricycle and hard-rubber-tired small bike with no brakes from the McMahon boys, we felt very lucky indeed.

However, I never expected to be held up by three second grade bullies while going down Terrace Street on my way home to Edgewood Farm from the South Hall school. This occurred in spite of my wrecking many times on the bicycle due to no brakes. Still I was quite happy with my new method of transportation.

When the thrill of these beginners toys began to wear off I began looking for more substantial means of mobility beyond walking and running. Our new teenage neighbor, Lee Spencer (Jerry Snyder farm), just happened to have an old English style bike for sale.

Unfortunately, both tires were dried out and unable to hold air for long. He solved that problem by pumping flour and water into the tires, sealing them for a spell at least.

We finally agreed on an outrageous price of 5 dollars including leftover flour and water mix and

I hoped I finally had myself a road worthy bike. Feeling right in style with a full sized bike was spoiled as the flour mix began oozing through the cracking side-walls.

Hearing that Bill Reid (Alfred University Treasurer Harold Reid's son) had a normal bike with a skipping problem for sale for 2 dollars gave me new hope. Sale transacted with no warranty, I commenced putting Bill's good wheels with good tires on the much superior English frame with a great seat and handlebars. It takes a pretty poor rider that can't cope with a 50-50 chance of having brakes or forward power, no matter what the occasion. Only trouble was that the American tires were too fat for the English front forks, causing rubbing of tire on metal, causing undue wear on both, plus an unpleasant smell notto mention the extra horsepower to navigate.

No problem, I will just bend the forks where the tire runs and be done with it. I now had a rare hybrid bike that took me hundreds of miles for a few years...until a 1928 Chrysler sedan with external hydraulic brakes solved my carriage problem for the wonderful girl I was destined to marry a few years down the road!

Two Schwert profs honored by students

ROCHESTER--Before moving to Illinois to begin a new position teaching chemistry at the University of St. Francis (Joliet, IL), Dr. Daniel Schwert was selected by the 2012 graduating seniors at St. John Fisher College (Rochester) to receive the Father Dorsey Award in recognition of his "dedication to the student life experience both in and out of the classroom and for commitment to challenging and supporting students in order for them to become the best they can be as individuals."

Because Daniel and wife Amy were in Illinois house-hunting at the time of the ceremony, he wrote his convocation speech which was then delivered by his father Dr. David Schwert. His mother Trudi received the plaque for him.

And, Dr. David Schwert, retired Health Sciences professor from Alfred State College and former adjunct professor at Alfred University and Houghton College, has been named Instructor of the Semester for the fall 2012 semester at the Medina Campus of Genesee Community College where he has taught Human Biology since 2011.

Current student statements report their surprise at "how much they learn and how much fun they have in the process" in his classes.

One student said, "I never thought I would be naming off names of bones, veins, arteries, et cetera. His enthusiasm for biology makes even a dry topic fun and easy!"

In response to being honored, Dr. Dan Schwert stated, "It's great to be appreciated by your students" - to which Dr. Dave Schwert added "...whatever their reasons!"

Long-time Alfredians Dave and Trudi Schwert, after operating Camping At Mariposa Ponds in Houghton many years, have retired to Medina, NY. Daniel and Amy Schwert and daughters Julia and Lilli reside in Plainfield, IL.

Singers sought for University Chorus

ALFRED--Singers from the community are invited to join the Alfred University Chorus. This semester the program will include the Coronation Mass by Mozart and a medley from the musical Les Miserables. Rehearsal is Monday night from 7 to 8:30 pm in Miller Room 126.

Community singers are also invited to stay after that rehearsal for thirty minutes to be a part of the Alfred Volunteer Choir Company. Both groups will perform on Friday, April 26 in the Alfred Seventh Day Baptist Church. For more information, contact Luanne Crosby at 871-2572 or Laurel Buckwalter at 587-8090, or just show up to the next Monday night rehearsal.

Anyone know what these "barnacles" really are? See the end of the comments. We see some wonderful signs along the way. Unfortunately, I wasn't quick enough to catch two in succession as we crossed Texas, on our way to beautiful Monahans Sandhills State Park. The first was "SWEETWATER," followed almost immediately by "STINK CREEK."

Those "barnacles" are half snowed-under round hay bales at Jerry Snyder's Sunny Cove Farm. Did you guess?

With the NFL's 2013 Super Bowl featuring teams coached by brothers Jim Harbaugh and John Harbaugh, one can only wonder why they don't just settle the whole thing with a pick-up game in their parents' back yard?

After nearly four months in a rented house, the Mark Mix family is finally back in their home after fallen trees and heavy rains had damaged their home in Fairfax, VA.

Paul and Dawn Vecchio have purchased and taken up residence in the former Bob Love home on Jericho Hill. Paul is the new athletic director at Alfred University. The couple have three sons--Jake, Mitchell and Tyler.

Kay Chapman recently was in Virginia for an extended stay, enjoying time spent with her sons and their families.

While we're thinking about pies...

One last recipe while I'm thinking about pies. This is from an old Penzy's spice catalog. It is super easy and requires no rolling out.

No Roll Pie Crust

3 c. flour
2 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 c. vegetable oil
1/3 c. milk

Put all of the ingredients in a large bowl. Mix gently to combine. Divide in half and place each half in a regular 9-inch pie pan. Pat out evenly. Push the pastry up the sides and form a nice edge with your thumb and finger. Prick the crust with a fork to prevent bubbling of the pastry during baking. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 15 minutes. Remove, cool, fill. (Can also fill before baking with something like pumpkin pie filling and bake according to those instructions.)

Snyde remarks

By DAVID L. SNYDER
 Editor, Publisher and Janitor
 alfredsun.news@gmail.com

Every so often, in my occasional visits on Facebook, a friend will post something that catches my eye. With the internet glut of information, and the ease of passing along findings, some pieces are circulated over and over again.

The following, much like many items in cyberspace, is oft wrongfully attributed. I believe I can with confidence attribute this piece to Marko Kloos, written in a blog.

With Gov. Andrew Cuomo and President Obama recently taking shots at the Second Amendment, here's some food for thought:

Why the Gun Is Civilization By MARKO KLOOS

Human beings only have two ways to deal with one another: reason and force.

If you want me to do something for you, you have a choice of either convincing me via argument, or force me to do your bidding under threat of force.

Every human interaction falls into one of those two categories, without exception. Reason or force, that's it.

In a truly moral and civilized society, people exclusively interact through persuasion. Force has no place as a valid method of social interaction, and the only thing that removes force from the menu is the personal firearm, as paradoxical as it may sound to some.

When I carry a gun, you cannot deal with me by force. You have to use reason and try to persuade me, because I have a way to negate your threat or employment of force.

The gun is the only personal weapon that puts a 100-pound woman on equal footing with a 220-pound mugger, a 75-year old retiree on equal footing with a 19-year old gang banger, and a single guy on equal footing with a carload of drunk guys with baseball bats. The gun removes the disparity in physical strength, size, or numbers between a potential attacker and a defender.

There are plenty of people who consider the gun as the source of bad force equations. These are the people who think that we'd be more civilized if all guns were removed from society, because a firearm makes it easier for a armed mugger to do his job.

That, of course, is only true if the mugger's potential victims are mostly disarmed either by choice or by legislative fiat--it has no validity when most of a mugger's potential marks are armed.

People who argue for the banning of arms ask for automatic rule by the young, the strong, and the many, and that's the exact opposite of a civilized society. A mugger, even an armed one, can only make a successful living in a society where the state has granted him a force monopoly.

Then there's the argument that the gun makes confrontations lethal that otherwise would only result in injury.

This argument is fallacious in several ways. Without guns involved, confrontations are won by the physically superior party inflicting overwhelming injury on the loser.

People who think that fists, bats, sticks, or stones don't constitute lethal force watch too much TV, where people take beatings and come out of it with a bloody lip at worst.

The fact that the gun makes lethal force easier works solely in favor of the weaker defender, not the stronger attacker. If both are armed, the field is level.

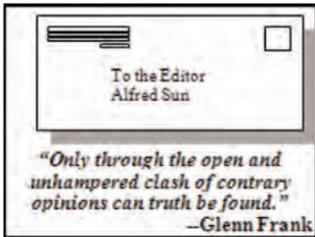

The gun is the only weapon that's as lethal in the hands of an octogenarian as it is in the hands of a weight lifter.

It simply wouldn't work as well as a force equalizer if it wasn't both lethal and easily employable.

When I carry a gun, I don't do so because I am looking for a fight, but because I'm looking to be left alone. The gun at my side means that I cannot be forced, only persuaded. I don't carry it because I'm afraid, but because it enables me to be unafraid. It doesn't limit the actions of those who would interact with me through reason, only the actions of those who would do so by force.

It removes force from the equation... and that's why carrying a gun is a civilized act.

So the greatest civilization is one where all citizens are equally armed and can only be persuaded, never forced.

Editor:
 I am outraged at the cartoon you decided to publish in the Sun on January 17.

One would think that the recent murder of 20 innocent children and their teachers at Sandy Hook Elementary would make you at least pause at publishing such an incendiary piece. Our children are our future and we, you and I and all of the citizens of Alfred and elsewhere, should be fighting to protect them, not help nurture a society that places preference over a questionable right above the safety of our kids.

Is this the type of society that you really want to be a part of? Our children are more vulnerable now than ever before and poorly thought out editorials (which is what that cartoon was essentially) only make matters worse.

Gun violence in this country has killed more Americans in the past 45 years than all of the casualties Americans have suffered in all of the wars we have fought combined. "Guns don't kill people, people kill people" - we've heard it a million times and it's complete BS.

Yes, the people who commit these crimes are less than stable and should in no way have access to these weapons but if these weapons didn't exist in the first place, we wouldn't have these issues and I wouldn't be writing you today. I'm all for 2nd Amendment rights, but nowhere does it mention that any random person has the right to own and carry an assault rifle. These weapons are already on our streets, but it is time to curb their distribution (at the very least) and you are in a position to either help or hurt the cause.

I obviously have different political beliefs than you and many of your readers, but have been a subscriber to help connect me to the wonderful place I grew up. A place where it was safe to leave our doors unlocked and let our children (i.e. me) run around town unsupervised. We can never return to those Mayberry days, but should we have to worry about sending our kids to school, wondering if we will see them again at the end of the day?

Sincerely,
 Philip Rossington

 Allegany County Legislator

NYS PROPOSED 2013 BUDGET IMPACT

Over the past 10 days I have received over 100 pages of printed materials dealing with the Governor's State of the State Address and his proposed 2013 State Budget. Although local governments have no vote on the State Budget we will be greatly impacted by it. The State Budget has more impact upon local taxes and finances than anything that occurs locally. Its impact is probably greater than most of the decisions made by the County Legislature. As a County Legislator I must pay close attention to the State Budget. Here are some of the highlights from the proposed 2013 State Budget:

- Much of the Budget deals with efforts to close a projected $1.35 billion fiscal gap. This is accomplished by various spending caps, hiring freezes, deferred or canceled "cost of living" adjustments, and by extensions or renewals of various taxes and fees that were scheduled to expire.

- State Office For the Aging funding will be cut by $2.25 million.

- General funding for Agriculture programs would remain unchanged. Several new initiatives to promote locally grown crops or products are proposed at a cost of about $2.2 million annually.

- Casino gaming is proposed at 7 new casinos in NYS. This requires a Constitutional Amendment that was adopted last year, but must be re-adopted in 2013 and then be submitted for a voter "Constitutional Referendum."

- State funding for Community Colleges is proposed to remain unchanged at $2,272 per student per year.

- $50 million in new funding for the Regional Economic Development Councils is proposed. In addition, $5.0 is proposed for a new "Market NY" advertising campaign for New York grown products.

- A new program calling for 10 "Innovation Hot Spots" to promote economic growth is proposed. These "Innovation Hot Spots" would involve business incubator sites, exemption from State and local taxes for 5 years, and free services, office space and other business support.

- The Governor has proposed restrictions on tax benefits that can be offered to new businesses by local Industrial Development Agencies.

- There are proposed increases in SSI payments to reflect increased federal funding.

- The Budget maintains the County share of the "Safety Net Program" (Welfare) at 71%, compared to the State share of 29%.

- It proposes an increase in "Temporary Assistance for Needy Families" ("TANF") of approximately $83 million.

- Provides approximately $750 million in support for childcare subsidies for qualifying families.

- Proposes that the State pay the full cost of the mandated increase of District Attorney salaries for 2013.

- Proposes extensive reforms to the Workers Compensation program that will reportedly save employers $400 million per year.

- Proposes extensive changes in Medicaid to conform to Obamacare changes in health care services, and provides an additional $134 million in specific enhancements to various Medicaid programs.

- Rejected a proposal to share Medicaid savings with Counties. The State will keep all projected Medicaid savings.

- Proposes increasing the State minimum wage from $7.25/hour to $8.75/hour.

- Proposes a "Stable Rate Pension Contribution Option" to provide an alternative to massive increases in municipal pension contributions. This doesn't reduce the amount paid, but postpones some costs to future years.

- Proposes changes in the Preschool Special Education Program that currently costs over $2 billion annually. Counties will continue to pay 40.5% of this program.

- Funds "Inter-Operable Communications Grants" at $102 million.

- Proposes restricting local District Attorney's ability to Plea Bargain Traffic Tickets. It would increase "points" on drivers' licenses, increase fines, but the State would take a larger share of those speeding fines.

- Proposes increasing fines for Driving While Texting or Using Cell Phones.

- Approves local Highway funding under the CHIPS and Marchiselli Programs at prior year levels.

Unfortunately, the proposed 2013 State Budget contains no significant Mandate Relief. Perhaps our State Legislators can insert some mandate relief over the next several months.

Vittorio Causarano and four college students sit in the firemen's cab of a fire truck.

'Real-life' story-telling rescues Lions' Story Time

By BRAD BOWDEN
of the Alfred Lions Club
ALFRED--The Alfred Lions Club's Saturday, Jan. 26 Library Lions Story Time - Ambulances and Fire Trucks, at the Box of Books Library coincided with the Martin Luther King Dream Week of Service.

Rebecca Weaver, member of the AE Crandall Fire and Ambulance Company volunteered to be the story reader and four college students came to assist. As sometimes happens, 'if you plan a story time, they may not come!' perhaps due to the difficulty of getting the word out, cold weather or just busy family schedules.

However, five-year-old Vittorio Causarano did join us, and although he would have enjoyed Rebecca's reading of Firehouse, Duncan A Brave Rescuer or Busiest Fire Fighter Ever, he was anxious to see the 'real things,' so we moved directly to the fire hall.

Vittorio enthusiastically tried out the steering wheel in the ladder truck and climbed into the firemen's cab with the four college students, Dorian Francis from Alfred State College and Brianna Dudick, Janelle Gallipeau and Lynette Lockwood from Alfred University.

Rebecca Weaver and two other fire and ambulance company members, Zach Mazetka and Sharie Willey did a great job of describing the activities of an ambulance and fire truck crew, and demonstrating the equipment on the ambulances and fire trucks, as well as a fireman's personal gear.

Zach demonstrated the pneumatic gurney in the ambulance and a special 'stair chair' for safely bringing a rescued person down a flight of stairs.

Sharie demonstrated all parts of her fire outfit and head gear, and noted that recruits were trained to put it all on and together in two minutes. So, although no stories were read, Vittorio went away with many stories to tell and two activity books, and appropriate to the purpose of the MLK Dream Week of Service, the college students learned about the opportunity to volunteer with the fire and ambulance company, a significant community service activity.

Jay Pullman loans prints to St. James Mercy Hospital

HORNELL--Arkport artist Jay Pullman, whose family has a longstanding connection with St. James Mercy Hospital (SJM), has loaned a collection of prints to SJMH for display in its recently renovated lobby and emergency room hallway areas.

Pullman, a local artist of larger renown, shows his work widely around the greater Hornell area and has expanded into galleries in the Rochester area. A former teacher who came to painting as a passion, he draws inspiration from the natural environment of the Finger Lakes and the Southern Tier and from places as diverse as Provence and Tuscany.

"We are thrilled to have these beautiful prints displayed in the public areas of the hospital," said Sylvia Bryant, VP Mission Integration and Community Outreach. "They add a warm and inviting touch to our newly remodeled hallways and lobby."

Pullman has said that behind each of his works is "a thread of a story" that inspires the piece and also helps connect the viewer to the work of art. The current prints on display depict scenes from around the greater Hornell area and include "Sudden Storm," "Sun Valley Summer," "Waiting for Spring," "Newfield Family, and "On the Shore."

All the prints are for sale, and the artist has generously pledged to donate sale proceeds to the St. James Mercy Foundation. In addition, some of Pullman's artwork has been made into greeting cards, which are also available for sale in SJMH's Aquinas gift shops starting next week.

The connection between St. James Mercy Hospital and the Pullman family stretches from the legacy of the late Dr. James Pullman, a long-time family practitioner in Hornell, to the creation more recently, in 2005, of the Pullman Women's Health and Birthing Center.

"We are grateful for the Pullman family's generous support over the years and for Jay's willingness to share some of his beautiful art with our employees and visitors," said Ms. Bryant.

JOE CROOKSTON

Joe Crookston, Peter Glanville to perform at Wellsville venue

WELLSVILLE—Joe Crookston and Peter Glanville will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 9 at the Wellsville Creative Arts Center. Advance tickets are $12, $14 at door. Members save an additional $2. Purchase tickets online: www.WellsvilleCreativeArtsCenter.com or at the Art Center Coffee House. For more information visit the website or call (585) 593-3000.

Joe Crookston's music and songwriting is deeply rooted in the grand celebration of life, death, ancestry and the interconnectedness of us all. It's music that is real, music that connects and music that tells stories with precision and craft.

Born and raised in Northeast Ohio, with Hungarian music roots, he inherited his love of music and song from his late mother, a prolific songwriter and accordion player. Whether it's his mesmerizing guitar sound or bubbling banjo, his music draws from his rural Ohio roots and exudes a remarkable inter-generational, universal and timeless quality. His audience rapport, musicianship and playful stage presence is intense, mesmerizing and refreshingly dynamic.

Joining Joe at this special show is Peter Glanville, also from Ithaca, who is a guitar picker, tenor guitar player and harmony singer. Hilarious and deep, they will tune up their Martins and vintage Gibsons and weave their way through a high energy and sonically lush set of Joe Crookston originals.

They have played to full houses at festivals and Performing Art Centers across the US. Grab a friend and head out for this awesome night of story songs, fingerpicking, stomping rhythms and a deep well of musical magic. You'll be glad you did!

Occupy movement topic Feb. 8 at Mustard Seed Inn

ANDOVER--The Mustard Seed Inn and B&B in Andover at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8 will offer a First Fridays program on The Occupy movement with Colin O'Malley, Organizing Director, Metro Justice Inc, Rochester.

The Occupy movement is an international protest movement against social and economic inequality, its primary goal being to make the economic structure and power relations in society fairer.

Local groups often have different intentions, but among the movement's prime concerns is the claim that large corporations and the global financial system control the world in a way that disproportionately benefits a minority, undermines democracy and is unstable. The program is meant to understand the intentions of the Occupy movement and to have your question answered by someone who is directly involved with the Occupy movement.

According to The Washington Post, the movement is difficult to distill to a few demands. On October 12, 2011, Los Angeles City Council became one of the first governmental bodies in the United States to adopt a resolution stating its informal support of the Occupy movement. In October 2012 the Executive Director of Financial Stability at the Bank of England stated the protesters were right to criticize and had persuaded bankers and politicians "to behave in a more moral way."

The Mustard Seed Inn and B&B is located on 13 East Center Street in Andover, New York. A 'free will' offering will be collected at the program for Metro Justice, Inc. If there are any questions, please call Anthony and Mary Lipnicki, (607) 478-5329 or e-mail -anthony.lipnicki@gmail.com.

The snows have Alfred Tech's west side campus construction program halted but the planning goes on as evidenced by today's meeting at Main Hall between Institute officials, the architects and the Decker Construction Co., low bidder on the first buildings to be built on the college's west side campus. TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO, FEB. 4, 1988

"I think Hazel Humphreys would be smiling today," was the appropriate comment made by one individual at Sunday's open house at the Box of Books Library. And if she hadn't been smiling about the new library addition, she certainly would have been smiling when "Spot" snuck into the addition for the second time. Miss Humphreys owned and operated the Box of Books bookstore in Alfred for nearly half a century. She was as well known for her care of Alfred's "stray" dogs as she was for her bookstore. Sally Mueller was the first to "officially" sign out a book from the new library addition. Her selection was Marjorie Riddell's "M Is For Mother," a book originally purchased from Miss Humphreys at the Box of Books store by Lillian Nevins. Mrs. Nevins' estate later donated the book to the Box of Books Reading Center. "We've come a long way from a bookmobile stop," said Library Advisory Board President Joan Bowden, during the official opening...

Alfred Postmaster James F. Donavon cleaned out his locker Friday, Jan. 29, his final day on the job after nearly 32 years of service to the United States Postal Service. Retiring effective Jan. 31, 1988, Donavon's last day came with "mixed feelings." "It's easy to quit a job you don't like," said the postmaster who added, "I've enjoyed my years here." Donavon, after a ten-year stint with the Erie Accounting Bureau in Hornell, began his postal career in Hornell in September 1956 as a clerk carrier in that office. With the advent of city delivery in Alfred in September 1966, he was transferred to the Alfred post office at his request. "This was the best move I've ever made, transferring up here," he said, "The people have been wonderful and I've had wonderful employees." Donavon was named Alfred Postmaster in June 1984...

Some residents of the Town of Alfred are circulating a petition to have the question of whether the Town Highway Superintendent position be an elected office, presented in a public referendum. The petition for submission of resolution to permissive referendum states: "To the Town Supervisor and Town Council of the Town of Alfred, County of Allegany, State of New York, "We, the undersigned, duly qualified electors of the Town of Alfred respectfully petition that the following proposed resolution, Resolution for the Election of Town Superintendent of Highways, be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the town for their approval or rejection as provided by law. The text of the proposed resolution shall be as follows: "Be it resolved that the office of Superintendent of Highways for the Town of Alfred shall be an elective office as provided in Section 20 of the Town Law of the State of New York. The Superintendent of Highways of the Town of Alfred shall be elected at the next biennial town election for a term of office of two years..."

Sharon T. Burdick was installed for her second term as president of the Steuben-Allegany Board of Realtors on Dec. 217. Sharon, an active member of the local board, served in 1987 as president and in 1986 as vice president and program chairman...

Gentleman Jim's is now offering live entertainment as owner Jim Grillo convinced Alfred Village Zoning Officer Tom Braddock that the establishment is a "restaurant." Alfred's Village Zoning Law prohibits live entertainment in "bars" and Grillo's request for a variance of the law had been denied. Planning Board Chairman Peg Prisco reported Tuesday night at the Village Board meeting that Grillo had told Braddock that G.J.'s qualified as a restaurant because it is regularly inspected by the Health Department as a restaurant, it offers a full menu until closing and that it fits the description of a restaurant. Prisco said Braddock concurred with Grillo. A live band performed at G.J.'s on Jan. 21. Prisco said the issue is now at rest...

TEN YEARS AGO, FEBRUARY 6, 2003

After a vehicle careened out of control on snow-covered Nevins Street and into his front yard for the second time in two months, Sayles Street Extension resident Alan Littell is asking Village of Alfred officials to take action to slow the down-slope traffic. A sport utility vehicle (SUV) recently skidded out of control through the Nevins Street intersection with Sayles and smashed into a ridge of snow and ice at the edge of Littell's property at 28 Sayles Street. The first of the two accidents, on Dec. 3, involved a garbage truck operated by SDS Disposal of Olean. Unable to negotiate the turn onto Sayles Street at the bottom of Nevins Street, the truck skidded out of control and careened into Littell's front yard, destroying turf and a 25-year-old pear tree. Property damage totaled nearly $1,200 and was settled by SDS' insurance company. But Littell contends that, while damage is a concern, "the more urgent issue is safety." "You can't repeal the laws of physics," Littell wrote, "But what you can do on snow-covered Nevins Street is slow the down-slope traffic."...

If a variance granted by the Alfred Village Zoning Board of Appeals has any influence, diners may someday be letting their stomachs to the walking to the ZA restaurant in a new location. The SBA conducted a well attended public hearing on Thursday, Jan. 30, to consider an appeal application by Eric Cushing, proprietor of ZA at its current location on the corner of Church Street and Main Street. Cushing was seeking a variance to the local Zoning Law regarding insufficient parking spaces for a restaurant at 18 Church Street in Alfred. The structure at that address is a house which has heretofore served as a residence...After the 25-minute hearing, members of the ZBA reviewed the points which had been made. Four members then voted to grant the variance, and a fifth member abstained from voting...

Wayland L. "Wadie" Pierce, 86, a resident of Hornell Gardens the past two years, formerly of Alfred Station and Arkport, died late Wednesday evening, Jan. 29, 2003 at St. James Mercy Hospital. Born in Alfred Station on Aug. 24, 1916, he was a son of the late Ira and Gladys Palmer Pierce. A 1938 graduate of the former Alfred High School and 1940 graduate of Rochester Business Institute, he served in the Army Air Force from 1944 to 1946. Wadie worked many jobs and retired from Alfred State College where he worked as a mechanic supervisor with the bus fleet. He was a member of the Alfred Masonic Lodge No. 944. He was also a member of the Baker's Bridge Historical Association and the Almond Historical Association and the Almond Historical Society. Wadie enjoyed traveling...

The veteran of World War II and the Korean Conflict, who spent seven years of active duty in the U.S. Army, remembers when Coolidge was president...Rev. Patricia Bancroft and husband of Wellsville were New Years Day dinner guests of Janette Rogers and Keith and Donna Rogers of Palmiter Hill Road, Alfred Station...Merrian Woodworth celebrated her 94th birthday (Jan. 13) on Jan. 12 with a family gathering of 16 at Muhleisens in Almond. Guests included daughter Lola Page; son Clifton and wife from Florida; Joyce Trescott and daughter Jane of Hornell; great-grandson Craig Trescott and friend of Livonia; Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Wilson and daughter Heather of Canisteo; Randy and Vivian Woodworth of Hornell...

A warm welcome awaits you at church

ALFRED STATION—Your friends and neighbors at the Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church, "A 3 C church: Connect-Care - Community" want you to know that a warm welcome awaits you this Sabbath, Feb. 2.

The welcome begins at 9:45 am in Sabbath School. Your friends and neighbors want you to know that Sabbath School is a family with a class for your little ones, your junior age youth, your junior high and high school youth and of course there is a class for you. What is the purpose of these classes? Of course there is fellowship. Of course there is a sense of belonging. Most of all there is the opportunity to have the Bible touch your life, and bring a positive change in your relationship with God.

The welcome continues at the 11 a.m. Sabbath Worship Hour. This Sabbath Pastor Ken's sermon returns to the book of Acts as we continue to look at the ministry of the Apostle Peter. The sermon is titled "Peter's Method of Ministry." During the sermon we will take an aside to talk about what the New Testament has to say about widows. At the Worship Hour your family will join with others in song, reading scripture, prayer and interacting with others who gather to Worship God.

A warm welcome awaits you. The Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church meetinghouse is the big white building located at 587 Route 244 in Alfred Station. The meetinghouse is located up from The Bicycle Man, Hi-Tech Ceramics, Way to Gro, and Alfred Knitting Studio, across from Hillbottom Pottery, and down from Robert Lawrence Trucking, Canacadea Country Store, and Baker's Bridge Antiques. If you would like more information about us call the church office at 607-587-9176 or visit our website at www.alfredstationsdb.org

P.O. dedicated to Zachary Smith

HORNELL—Family, friends, community members and local representatives gathered Monday to dedicate the Post Office facility at 23 Genesee Street in Hornell as the "Zachary Smith Post Office Building."

The post office was named for Marine Lance Corporal Zachary Smith of Hornell. Smith died on January 24, 2010 while supporting combat operations in Helmand province, Afghanistan.

"I am proud to be here in Hornell today with the Smith family to memorialize and honor this exceptional young man," said Reed. "Naming this facility after him is a small measure of our gratitude for Lance Corporal Smith's sacrifice on behalf of our country. The sacrifices he and so many others have made can never be forgotten. Zach is a hero."

"Zachary Smith is truly a hometown hero," Senator Gillibrand said. "He made the ultimate sacrifice for our country, serving with honor, integrity, and dignity. Placing his name on the Hornell Post Office will honor his legacy and the legacy of so many other service members that have sacrificed their lives for the security of America. We must always remember them, honor the sacrifice of their families, and ensure that all our veterans have economic and educational opportunities when they return home."

"I would like to thank all parties involved in the long process of finally memorializing our fallen hero Zach Smith with the placing of his name permanently on the Hornell Post Office, all those who donated, Congressman Reed and the good folks of his office, Senator Gillibrand and of course, Joe Ralcato. I personally watched Zach Smith grow up and this is a fitting tribute to a wonderful young man whose life was cut short in the service of his country as a proud Marine," Hornell Mayor Shawn Hogan said.

In August 2010 the President signed legislation passed by Congress designating the Hornell Post Office as the "Zachary Smith Post Office Building." And in September 2010 hundreds of local community members gathered to attend a ceremony renaming the facility. Unfortunately the only marker of the designation allowed by the post office was a plaque inside the lobby of the building.

Following pressure from Congressman Tom Reed and Senator Kirsten Gillibrand, the U.S. Postal Service reversed its decision to allow Smith's name on the outside of the building in July 2012. Today, Lance Corporal Smith's name is displayed on the outside lettering of the building.

Rep. Tom Reed was joined by representatives from Senator Kirsten Gillibrand's office, the U.S. Marine Corp and Hornell Mayor Shawn Hogan's office for the dedication on Monday.

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, January 31

George Mason owned one of the largest plantations in Virginia--5,000 acres with 200 slaves to maintain it. Speaking at the Continental Congress, he said:

"Every master of slaves is born a petty tyrant. They bring the judgment of heaven upon a country. As nations cannot be rewarded or punished in the next world, they must be in this. By an inevitable chain of causes and effects, Providence punishes national sins by national calamities."

Tuesday evening against Fisher, The Cardinals headed into halftime with a 40-22 lead, but Alfred rallied in the second half bringing the score to 64-59 with 3:30 remaining and trailed by only two points in the final seconds. After a missed Fisher free throw, AU had the ball with a chance to tie or win, but a late shot as time expired could not find the bottom of the net.

Sophomore guard Emilea Harrison (Conesus/Dansville) scored a team-high 16 points for the Lady Saxons, who shot 58 percent on three-pointer shots. Junior guard Rachael Stedman (Hamburg/Springville Griffith) and junior forward Sarah Federico (Buffalo/Holy Angels) added 14 and 11 points, respectively, and Federico also had a game-high 11 rebounds.

At Nazareth, sophomore guard Harley Cleary (Rochester/Our Lady of Mercy) helped jump start the Lady Saxons with 10 quick points, to give AU a 29-24 halftime lead. Alfred led until the 12-minute mark of the second half, when Nazareth tied the game at 35-35. Naz won only after a missed three-point try by AU as time expired.

Cleary finished with a team-high 19 points as well as seven rebounds. Federico scored 11 points and pulled down five rebounds and sophomore forward Brennan Ferguson (Destrehan, LA/Ursuline Academy) had seven rebounds.

HITS AND MISSES:

It was quite the week for the Alfred University Saxons men's basketball team as they are in the midst of a trying season. Coach Wellman's troops were nipped at home by SJ Fisher, 67-61 on Tuesday nite of last week in E8 play. This after being blown out on the Cardinals home court about a month prior. The Saxon came back with an impressive win over Nazareth in Rochester on Friday evening, 59-56 for a split with the two Pittsford schools. Tuesday in Alfred, Friday in Rochester, quite crazy! Utica as at the McLane Center on Saturday and the Pioneers won by twelve this day, 86-74. Houghton and Elmira are on the schedule next for the cagers. Houghton not an official E8 member yet but playing a conference schedule and finding the road tough to date with zero wins.

Coach Murphy's women's team at AU had very similar results for the week past in b-ball action. The ladies fell to SJ Fisher, 66-64 on Tuesday, at Nazareth on Friday by a 59-56 tally and then were blasted by Utica, 86-43. Both AU cage squads are at (5-14) on the year overall. The women will also play Houghton and Elmira this week in league action.

The Ithaca men and women currently stand atop the Empire Eight basketball standings. Stevens is in second place for the men and Hartwick is in second with the women. The top four advance to the conference post-season playoffs, top seeds hosting, with an NCAA berth on the line.

Raegan Ryan (Canisteo-Greenwood) and her Cedarville women's basketball program are at (12-6) on the season after topping Central State, 70-62. The sophomore guard had 7-points and 6-assists in the latest win. The Yellow Jackets will take on Salem International and Oakland City in their next two outings.

The Bonas men's basketball squad continues to roll along at about the .500 mark after splitting recent games. They beat St. Joe's out of Philly and lost to St. Louis University. The Bonnies face Butler on February 6th. Ouch. Not a solid year for the Olean school after making the NCAA's last season. Recruits not exactly flocking there?

The University of Rochester men's basketball team might be ranked #1 in the country in Division III as your read this as they are currently (18-0) on the year and paced by John DiBartolomeo.

Tom Spanbauer's Cortland men's cage squad is zipping along quite nicely at (14-3) after a recent win over Oswego. Geneseo-Cortland-Plattsburgh are currently 1-2-3 in the SUNYAC standings.

Tom Curle, the legendary former Alfred State College coach, has his Plattsburgh men's basketball program on the upswing as they are at (12-6) after splitting games versus Buffalo State and Fredonia. The Bengals loss was in OT.

And cruising along at (16-3) are the Union Dutchmen as Coach Bob Montana's cagers recently beat St. Lawrence and Skidmore in Liberty League play. Next up are games versus RIT and Hobart in Geneva.

Coach Rob Kornaker's (AU) men's squad at SJ Fisher is (12-8) on the year after wins over Alfred, Utica and Houghton. The Cardinals are currently in third-place in the E8 basketball standings.

Watched some of the Heat-Celtics NBA game on the tube on Sunday past as Boston pulled out a double OT win over the defending league champs. That was accomplished without starting All-Star guard, Rajon Rondo who tore his ACL in the previous game. Just cringe whenever I see or hear that after daughter Lauren doing it her senior year at Webster Schroeder playing hoops.

Also watched alot of golf that day, PGA-style, as Tiger Woods was attempting to win again at Torrey Pines. Fog cancelled round three on Saturday thus extended Sunday coverage. The tournament actually would conclude on Monday past and have to believe Woods hoisted the trophy.

Received a call last week from The Mixer ... always good hearing from him, with a "small world" note. Seems that he, "The Cage Man" from JMU and a few others were at the JMU-George Mason women's basketball game in Fairfax (Va.) with "comp" tix ... obviously. Anyhow, there were some basketball players from UMBC in attendance, sitting nearby and Mixer struck up a conversation with them concerning Joe French. "The Qua" is the softball coach there. Mixer proceeded to tell them about his home run hitting skills in slow pitch softball and suggested they take that back to Maryland and tell Coach French about their meeting. Game was at the Patriot Center ... great place!

Tentative plans to go to the Alfred-Nazareth games last Friday fell by the wayside with one of those "classic" 100-things to do evenings, for me. Worked late to begin with so that hurt, but had bunch of things to do before attending a wedding the next day and Chels Lindahl was having a going away party as well. The ex-Schroeder soccer/basketball player off to DC shortly. Too many things at once that I wanted to do!

A great wedding and reception on Saturday! Ashley Gaisser, daughter of Mark and D'Arcy, married Ben Barton in Brockport. Reception in Chili with a bunch of Joker's Wild softball players past in attendance. Simbo-Chark-Doods-Iron-Bud Man-Spike and Moyer. Phillie and Len up from Alfred. Great time! Had a chance to chat with Art Gaisser, up from Florida and freezing, plus all the other Gaisser's there. And the Holmok's! Good conversation with Alfred State soccer player, Hannah Holmok. Couldn't get her to transfer to Geneseo though. Longer evening than anticipated afterwards at the Holiday Inn Airport as well. "Congrats" to Ashley and Ben!

SB47 is on tap Sunday and going with San Fran over Baltimore, 31-27. Should be a good game in New Orleans with teams featuring brothers coaching against each other.

The famed Sumo Tour South is rounding into shape for late March with a usual cast of characters: Waffle, Obie, "Syracuse Dave," Simbo, Savo, Frank and Jake, there of course, and yours truly. McDrip and Scum are not "in shape" though and won't be making trip this year! Smitty? Hilly? Tour coordinators Obie and Jake will set the schedule when all accounted for.

The Scummer family moving to Lakeland, FL!
