Operation Christmas Child

You know how happy you were as a kid when someone handed you a present? Well, there are children all over the world who have never known that happiness, because no one has ever given them a gift. This Christmas, you have the chance to change that. Operation Christmas Child is a project (run by Samaritan's Purse, a nonprofit org.) where people throughout the United States fill shoeboxes with small gifts and send them to needy children around the world. Please, be one of those people, and make a child's day.

If you decide to make a shoebox, here are some guidelines: toys and candy are fine, but these kids also need items like toothbrushes and toothpaste, soap, shoes, and clothes. There should be nothing that will remind them of war, many of these kids have seen enough of that already. It is nice if the boxes are wrapped, but they do not have to be. If you do wrap it, please make sure that the lid can be taken off without damaging the wrap job. Please put a slip of paper inside the box indicating whether your box is for a boy or a girl and a general age range (gifts are sent to kids from 3-14 yrs old).

There is a shipping cost of $7, which the organization asks you to put in the box as well. If you cannot afford to pay for both the box and the shipping fee, you could split the cost with some friends, or you could donate some money to help send someone else's box over.

There will be a collection box in front of the information desk, on the second floor of Powell now through Friday, Nov. 17.
