Exploring their immediate surroundings, following strangers, building digital worlds, staging rituals and mining the internet for material are just some of the tactics each woman uses, investigating the language of the medium and challenging themselves conceptually. From color digital pictures to Polaroids to black-and-white fiber prints, these 12 women represent the diverse methodologies used in contemporary practice.

Exhibiting Artists: Ellen Bahr, Olivia Brum, Desiree Dong, Charlotte Garcia-Ryan, Ally Haraty, Caitlin Langendorf, Amelia Maslen, Stephanie Mistark, Erin Murphy, Allyson Perkins, Victoria Anine Waples, Molly Westfall

Multiple Sclerosis Walk 2013 - The Grey DOES Matter - Please Read

It is time for everyone touched by MS to share information and raise awareness about multiple sclerosis.

I will be walking in Walk MS 2013 in Wellsville on Sunday, May 5, 2013. Please use the link below to make a donation to the National MS Society for me and my team, 50 Shades of Grey Matter.

I have personally seen what the National MS Society has done and will do for local people suffering from MS. They will pay for the uninsured person's medication if needed, they provide transportation to and from appointments, they provide free workshops, (I have attended a yoga for people with limitations workshop, and a managing MS pain workshop) they have even offered to remodel one woman's bathroom so she will be able to get into her shower.

If a person with MS needs anything, all you have to do is call them and they will be there to provide help and support.

You can also join the team to walk with me on May 5 or you can start your own team. Sign up, pledge, donate. MS needs a cure. The grey DOES matter!
