Ebola in the News

Lately we have been hearing about the Ebola Virus since two Americans contracted it while in West Africa. They returned to the United States for treatment and have recovered.

Infectious disease experts do not expect an Ebola epidemic because it is difficult to contract. It is transmitted by body fluids or blood; it is not airborne or spread through droplets, which is how most childhood diseases and Influenza are spread.

For further information please contact Health Services at 607.871.2400.
