Muggle Studies Lecture (Harry Potter's World)

"But It'll be Fascinating to Study Muggles from the Wizarding Point of View!"
Sunday, Sept. 20, 4 p.m., Herrick 106
Dr. Beth Johnson

Hermione's opinion on why she should want to take Muggle Studies, even though she's Muggle-born, still resonates outside the Harry Potter World. Here, our magic is science, and social science has been researching the impact of the Harry Potter series on readers' attitudes and behavior since the series established itself as a cultural icon.

For example, psychologists have found that reading Harry Potter books reduces people's prejudice toward disadvantaged people and minority groups. This talk will share some of the amazing findings from studies on the Muggle fans of the books and invite listeners to participate in discussion of the implications of those discoveries.

Faculty and Staff Sought to 'Guest Star' in AU Bowling League

AU's new Tuesday night bowling league features five steady teams of AU students and one rotating team of AU professionals. This is a great way to socially interact with AU students for one night only.

If interested, volunteer for just ONE night (two games) on any of these Tuesdays - 9/22, 9/29 or 11/10. You may also want to rally your department colleagues to go together as a set of four. The event runs from 8:30-10 p.m. at Hornell's Maple City Bowl and is free for participants.

If we have an abundance of interest, we may assign some faculty and staff to visit the spring league with dates forthcoming. Contact CSI@alfred.edu to hold a slot.

Melanie Bonajo

Date: Wednesday, Sept. 23

Time: 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Location: Nevins Theater

Cost to Attend: Free and open to the public.

Sponsored by: Drawing, Painting and Photography

Dutch artist Melanie Bonajo's work transcends categorization. Through photography, performance, video and music, she unravels cultural norms and represents the female body from a distinctly female gaze. Women bound in brooms and mops or with clay, self-formed appendages fill the frame. Private and public space are confounded and sexuality is unhinged.

Bonajo uses the domestic space, gender and value structures to examine spiritual emptiness, a complicated contemporary relationship to nature and our, at times, bleak search for happiness.

Melanie Bonajo work has been exhibited and performed widely, including the Institute Néerlandais, Paris; Foam, Amsterdam; Kohun National Museum of Contemporary Art, Seoul and the Stedelijk Museum, Amsterdam. She has had solo shows that include Fette Gallery in Los Angeles and PPOW and Capricious in New York.

In 2003 Melanie won the Dutch Young Artist Award and, in collaboration with Kinga Kielczynska, won the Pup Award in 2007. Her work has been published by Capricious, Eye-magazine, Glu, Livraison, Famous magazine, and Mullosk. Since 2004 she is the Creative Editor of Capricious, a photo magazine for young emerging photographers.

Allegany County Car-Free Challenge

ACCESS Allegany will join communities across the world in celebrating World Car-Free Day on Tuesday, Sept. 22, 2015, when we launch the 1st Annual two-week Car-Free Challenge.

You can either:

go "car-lite" by eliminating a few car trips, or go "car-free" by not getting in a car at all for 2 weeks.

If individually we commit to making some small changes, together we can make a big impact for our communities. It all adds up. Each time you leave your car at home during the weeks of Sept. 22-Tuesday, Oct. 6, choosing instead to walk, ride your bike, use public transit, or carpool- you can save money, improve your health and enhance our air quality! AND... you can win prizes for each day you use an alternative form of transportation! Register today and begin planning for your Car-Free Challenge!

How it Works:

1. Register for the Car-Free Challenge by visiting ACCESS Allegany at www.ardentnetwork.org. Enter by yourself or invite family, friend or co-workers to join you in participating in the Car-Free Challenge.

2. For 2 weeks, try to reduce your car use as much as you can:

Replace car trips by walking, bicycling or taking the bus.

Reduce the length of car trips by choosing destinations closer to home and use other transportation modes to reach your destination.

Remove car trips by carpooling, combining trips, or staying home.

3. Record and submit your daily progress on our easy-to-use, on-line Transportation Log.

4. At the end of the Challenge, we will add up the total car miles reduced and calculate our environmental impacts (greenhouse gas and air pollution reductions) and health impacts (extra calories burned).

Daily Car-Free Challenge Ideas!

Car-Pool Mondays: Instead of driving alone, decrease your CO2 emissions by car-pooling to work, appointments or events.

2 Wheel Tuesdays: Hop on your bike and pedal to your destination!

Mid-Way Wednesdays: Travel half the distance by car, then walk or bike the final segment of your trip.
Telework Thursdays: Stay at-home or work from a satellite office reducing travel time and miles on the road.

Free-For-All Fridays: Use ACCESS Allegany Public Transit for FREE; open to anyone using the public bus system!
