

THE INTERCHOLASTIC

Batavia Wins Meet---Griffiths and Haverling Tie For Second

The Sixth Annual Interscholastic Field and Track Meet for the High Schools and Academies of Western New York and Pennsylvania, was held on the Athletic Field, Wednesday, May 20, under the management of the Alfred University Athletic Association.

The Interscholastic was originated by the Alfred Alumni of New York City, for the purpose of bringing the prospective students into closer touch with the life of the University and of giving them an opportunity to visit the school and also to become acquainted with the students of other high schools. Accordingly in the spring of 1909, they gave money for medals and prize banner for the First Interscholastic Meet, held May 20, 1909.

At the first meet there were entries from six schools, Warsaw, Olean, Wellsville, Alfred Academy, Richburg and Hornell. The results of the meet were: Warsaw 41½ points, Olean 28 points, and Alfred 23 points. Ivan L. Fiske, president of the Senior class and president of the Athletic Association, secured a place in the high jump. Ernest J. Hartley, '09, was manager of the Meet.

The Second Meet was held Thursday, May 19, 1910, under the management of John W. Jacox, '11. The Meet was won by Olean with 37 points.

In 1911, manager W. B. Clarke, '12, raised the number of entries to 127. Cook Academy won the Meet.

In 1912, under the capable leadership of D. K. Howard, '13, there were 137 entries. Although the weather proved unfavorable, an enthusiastic Meet was held, Olean carrying off first place with 35 points.

In the 1913 Meet, Chamberlain won first place with 29 points. Ivan L. Fiske was manager.

This year Manager R. C. Burdick spent much time and effort to make the Meet a success and it was, as the large number of entries, 150, showed. Letters were sent out to all the high schools of Western New York and Pennsylvania and from this territory 21 schools responded with entries. Of these, 19 sent men.

The men began to arrive Tuesday afternoon. Among the early arrivals were the men from Galeton, Pa., and from Chamberlain Military Institute. Several of the Batavia team arrived Tuesday evening as did the contestants from Randolph High School. These men were entertained at the various boarding clubs about town.

Contestants began to arrive bright and early Wednesday morning by train and auto bus from Hornell. The day was clear, still and hot, ideal conditions for fast performances and all the events were warmly contested. Splendid time was made in all the track events and, had not the recent rains unsettled the track, several records would have gone by the boards. As it was, two records were smashed in the field events, Kerr of Wellsville raising the shot-put mark from 39 feet 8 inches to 42 feet 5 inches; and Waite of Griffiths Institute breaking the old record of 9 feet 8 inches in the pole vault by a leap of 10 feet 6 inches.

The well-trained appearance of all the athletes, their sportsmanlike conduct and their splendid performances were widely commented on, as well as the unusual smoothness and rapidity with which the events were run off. Manager Burdick is to be congratulated on working out the best system ever put into operation at any meet in Alfred. The improvements were very noticeable. A large dressing tent provided comfortable quarters for the contestants. Announcer R. D. Garwood, with an efficient staff of messengers, megaphoned all results almost as soon as the men had broken the tape, and a new score board kept everyone informed of the progress of the Meet at all times. The Freshmen, who had charge of the apparatus, prepared for every event in record-breaking time. The class has the honor of giving the most efficient service ever seen on the field. The greatest improvement, however, was the devoting of all day to the Meet. By means of this, the long and tedious preliminaries were run off in the morning and the contestants were given a chance to rest before the gruelling finals. The crowd, too, appreciated a chance to get away from the field before darkness set in, as has happened so many times in the past.

N. Y. S. A. STOCK JUDGING CONTEST

The stock judging contest, which was one of the events in connection with the Alfred Field Meet on Wednesday, occurred at the state barn from one to two o'clock. The teams competing were as follows:

Class A—LeRoy, Belmont and Little Valley High Schools.

Class B—Canisteo, Hinsdale, Wellsville and Scio High Schools.

An individual cow was first scored by the members of the teams in both classes. Cow No. 130 (herd number) was selected for this purpose.

Following this, three cows selected for each class, were placed as first, second and third according to their merits. Besides placing them, a write-up of two hundred words, was required, stating the reasons for these classifications. Class A placed cows No. 7, 10 and 8. Class B. placed cows No. 60, 0, 112.

In class A, the Belmont High School team, composed of Burt A. Thomas, Glenn Stuck and Richard Ely, was the winner.

The Hinsdale team, composed of Howard Crosby, Herbert Farewell and Lawrence Learn, were the successful contestants in class B. A yellow and white banner was awarded to each of these teams.

Howard Crosby of the Hinsdale team and William McCall of the Belmont team each received a stock judging book as a prize for the highest number of total points for individuals in each class.

THE FOOTLIGHT PLAY

A Brilliant Dramatic Success

If college dramatics were a financial organization, stock would be going up. For the last two years we have been accumulating a mass of tradition in the putting on of plays that is of great value. The first plays which the writer remembers seeing on the local stage were such as depended for their appeal upon clever intrigue, vociferously humorous scenes, and much running to and fro of the actors. Had any one ventured the assertion that a play in which there was almost no action, restrained humor, and only a slight plot could succeed, he might as well have bought his ticket for Willard by the next train. It was not over a hundred years ago either that the giving of a play was accounted a lark, a glad release from serious school tasks, an activity on which only the more conscientious bestowed real labor. The result was slovenly and indistinctly spoken lines, continued prompting from the wings, undisciplined acting that showed itself in self-consciousness and stiffness particularly in the actors not actually in motion, and inability to portray convincingly other than the simplest kinds of feeling—an attempt to be serious often provoked only a laugh from the spectators. Gradually the kind of plays attempted has improved and this has eliminated from the cast those individuals attracted only by plays of the vaudeville type and has interested such students as are willing to submit to rigid discipline for the sake of producing something worth while. There have been times when we have been "played" to death, but the new ideal for college dramatics will exercise the needed check on such a tendency for not many plays of the type of "The Climbers" can be produced in the course of the year.

In producing Clyde Fitch's "The Truth" last Tuesday evening, the Footlight Club of this year boosted local histrionic standards up several notches. In speaking of it one is tempted to drain his tank of superlatives dry. It is hard to give it a due mead of praise and yet retain a proper artistic restraint. It was a splendid piece of work throughout, a remarkable amateur performance. The defects were small and almost unnoticeable, so negligible in fact that it would seem as if one were out with microscope looking for flaws if one should point them out. You almost had the impression that, given roles of equal importance any member of the cast would have done as well as any other. It was gratifying to notice the careful enunciation and the adequate voice force of the performers, the well-assimilated lines, and the power to interpret the parts not only by the spoken word, but also by suitable gesture and facial expression. Only rarely were false notes struck.

The story of the play is simple and quickly told: Mrs. Warder, a charming young matron who loves her husband with every fiber of her being and is loved equally by him but who has inherited from her father a tendency to prevarication, is loved also by Fred Lindon, the husband of a friend of hers. Flattered by Lindon's attentions and innocently believing that she can bring about a reconciliation between him and her friend from whom he is separated, she brings her charms to bear upon him and finally learns of his sinister motives in what she esteemed an innocent friendship. Tom Warder, at last aroused to the true status of affairs by Eve Lindon, the outraged wife, learns that Becky has lied to him over and over again about her relations to Lindon. His confidence in his wife's destroyed, he holds her to have been unfaithful to him, and in grief, he leaves her in spite of her heartbroken declaration that she loves only him and that this time she is telling the truth. A chastened woman, she seeks her father, Stephen Roland, an old roue and gambler, now living in a decayed boarding house. Here she has the opportunity to see herself as her husband saw her, she learns of the tragedy in her father's life which had been brought about by much the same circumstances as had separated her from Warder. Little by little she uproots the lying habit which had gone down so deep into her being and when finally her father by a ruse brings Warder into her presence she firmly refuses to lend her support to a lie even to reconcile herself with her husband. This act shows Warder that she is a new Becky and he gives in to his feelings which have been crying out this long time to take her back.

The attention of the audience was focused from first to last on what was going on on the stage. In some of the emotional scenes the atmosphere was tense, and when the curtain went down on the last act many handkerchiefs were in requisition and it seemed a sacrilege to cheer. As a foil to the seriousness of the domestic tragedy, the dramatist used the episodes or sub-plot between Becky's father, Roland, and a rich, tasteless, and man-mad widow, Mrs. Crespigny, loud of voice and of clothes. But amid the worm-eaten sentimentality which was not altogether convincing, of these scenes, and beneath the cynicism of this man, one caught glimpses of a real tragedy enacted in his early life, and one understood better Becky's powers and Becky's weakness. The burlesque of the third and early part of the fourth act, however, was too overdrawn and not in keeping with the rest of the piece. On the whole the play was such as makes you think as well as feel.

The representation of Becky Warder by Miss Bass compares very favorably with similar work on the professional stage witnessed by us. Her ability to bring out the subtle charm and winsome ways of a womanly woman, one who has our sympathy from the outset in spite of her ugly habit of lying, was wonderful. One forgot that one was witnessing a play and for the time was a privileged observer of an actual tragedy. Miss Bass had simply lived herself right into the life of Becky and was able to show us her feelings not only by the lines she spoke, but very largely by her facial expression. Her success was eloquent of hard work and real dramatic ability. Tom Warder, Becky's husband, is a big, broad-shouldered man who trusts his wife implicitly and is not easily stirred up. Aaron MacCoon, by his calmness of bearing, his measured speech, his artistic restraint, and his ease of bearing ably set him forth before our eyes. It is the best dramatic work Mr. MacCoon has done yet. Two difficult parts to play just right were those of Roland and Mrs. Crespigny: the task was to make them foolish and yet not too loud, nor too silly to be taken seriously at times. Roland is the type of man who lives to indulge his appetites and in whom good promptings are more or less a memory of a memory. As Roland, Mr. Austin's acting was quite adequate. Mrs. Crespigny represented by Vida Kerr, was the exact antithesis of Becky and Becky's gentlewomanly instincts. To be appreciated she needed to be seen and her clothes heard. The ligneous quality of the masculine head can not rightly inventory nor justly perceive the sounding brass and tinkling cymbal effect of such costumes. Miss Kerr, we understand, made her own clothes for the performance—which was in itself a clever stunt. Mr. Clark, as Lindon, succeeded admirably in producing the insinuating impression common to the professional masquerade, one cunning enough to fool such a wide-awake woman as Becky Warder.

Miss Wallace gave a very convincing portrayal of the woman whose life has been shorn of its reason for being in the loss of her husband by worse than death. And before closing we must not forget to mention the good work as servant of Ivan Fisk and his butler's sideburns. Also we should be glad to see Miss Peterson in a role where she could do herself greater justice.

The University Orchestra under Director Wingate, gave as good music as we ever heard from local performers and helped to bridge the long chasms from the going down of the curtain to the rising of the same.

Really, now that we have established so firmly a tradition for such excellent and serious work in music and dramatics, we ought never to be satisfied with subnormal performances. Such a meritorious tradition is a contribution to our community life and woe be he who shall tear it down!

INTERCLASS TRACK MEET

Next Thursday Afternoon

The Senate has set the date of the Annual Interclass Track Meet for next Thursday, May 28. If indications are to be depended upon, the Meet this year promises to be more closely contested than ever before. The Freshmen have probably the strongest aggregation of men. The Seniors who have won the cup for three straight years, are entering this year, only as individuals. Barney, '16, the holder of the half-mile record is eliminated on account of injuries received last week in the flag rush. Fiske and King give promise of being the biggest point takers.

Following are some of the rules of the Meet:

The four classes shall compete for a cup which shall become the property of the class which wins it three consecutive times.

A contestant may enter three events besides the relay.

Not more than three contestants from the same class may enter any one event.

Each class captain must place all entries in the hands of the manager, Ivan L. Fisk, before Wednesday, May 27, so that the programs may be printed.

The events for men

100 yard dash
220 yard dash
440 yard dash
880 yard run
1 mile run

N. Y. S. A. CAMPUS

Prof. C. B. Blanchard returned from his Florida trip on Sunday morning.

Harold O. Howard, '15, is employed on a truck farm at North Boston, N. Y.

The orcharding class has finished pruning the old orchard and are now working on a map of same.

The members of the gardening class started planting their individual gardens on Thursday afternoon. A photo was taken of the industrious group.

The fertilizers class has sown some plots at the farm, each having a different fertilizing formula. Each plot is just one one-hundredth of an acre and is fertilized at the same rate as a larger acreage.

Those who took part in the Field Meet last Wednesday were Harold O. Howard, Earl Sardeson, Mark Sanford, William Hoefler. Although no points were made, the fellows made good efforts and showed that N. Y. S. A. still fosters the athletic spirit.

A valuable Holstein cow, No. 24 of the State herd, died of pneumonia on Friday morning. She had a record of over 21 pounds of butter in 7 days. A veterinarian conducted a post mortem examination on the cow, in the presence of a number of Ag students.

Are you one of the slow ones who have not had time to pay for their Fiat Lux? If so, just take a few seconds off your grinding and pay up. In order to pay our bills and have a paper next year we must have your this year's subscription. Does this mean you?

Among the visitors in town, for the Alfred Track Meet, were: Mildred Vaughn, '13, Ethel Cass, '13, Mabelle G. Lamphear, '14, Iva Simmons, '14, Ruth Williams, '14, Harold O. Howard, '15, Francis Acker, '15, Fred D. Conderman, '15, George Willey, '16, Almond A. Thayer, '16, Harry J. Blackmore, '16.

COUNTRY LIFE CLUB

About eight o'clock, Thursday evening, the members of the Club gathered at the home of Prof. Blanchard.

The following program was rather brief and the business meeting was omitted:

Four Thousand Bushels of Corn

Miss Keegan

Vocal Solo

Miss Smith

Gleanings

Miss Simmons

Song

Alma Mater

All joined in singing the school and university songs accompanied by piano if the music was known; when not known "Bob" Griffiths was depended upon to lead. "Bob" also gave some solos like he used to sing in chemistry class.

Ice cream was furnished by Mr. Remsen and all present were sorry that he could not be present to enjoy the evening with them. They expressed their appreciation by the characteristic Aggie, Rah Rah! After the refreshments and a few rehearsals of the Indian yell, the meeting was adjourned by cheers for the hosts.

N. Y. S. A. CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

Last Sunday evening, Grace Higley, led the meeting in a very unique way. The topic, "The Ideal Christian" was discussed by the leader first and then those who were present, either read some comment on the subject or answered questions. The order of speaking was determined by passing a Bible around and only the one who had the Book could speak, so in this way every one took part and there was no delay. All derived much good from considering questions such as: What are the Rewards of a Christian Life? What are the Difficulties of a Christian Life? What are the External Effects of such a Life? These are worth your thought.

ALFRED ALUMNIAlfred Alumni of Buffalo and Vicinity Have Banquet And Make Permanent Organization

On Saturday evening, May 23d, the Alfred alumni of Buffalo and vicinity met for their annual banquet and organized permanently the Buffalo Branch of the Alfred Alumni Association. About forty members were present. A very excellent banquet was provided and the occasion was pronounced most enjoyable and a great success in every way. Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Gibbs and Mr. and Mrs. R. Pierce of Buffalo. Mrs. R. C. Taber was elected chairman of committee on arrangements and Mrs. E. W. Place, chairman of committee on entertainment. It is planned to hold this annual banquet the first week in May each year hereafter. This year Mr. L. W. Gibbs acted as toastmaster and toast speeches were made by President Davis, who went up to Buffalo to attend this meeting, also by Mr. Loveland of Buffalo, Mrs. Sophie R. Wakeman of Hornell, Mr. L. Roy Quick of Lockport, Prin. W. M. Dunn of LeRoy, Prin. Elmer S. Pierce of Buffalo, Prof. F. S. Childs of Buffalo and Mr. Vrooman Ottley of Buffalo. About twenty-five regrets were received from members who were unable to be present, but who wished the new organization every possible success.

With a membership of Alfred alumni numbering seventy-five or more in Buffalo and vicinity, the success of this new alumni organization is assured.

Fiat Lux welcomes this new branch and extends congratulations and best wishes.

Y. W. C. A.

A well attended meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Sunday night was led by Miss Arlotta Bass. The topic, "Sympathetic Service" was well portrayed in her story of the Good Samaritain. After which she took up the subject of vacation services which afforded discussion for the girls.

The meeting closed with a circle of prayers.

Post Office in Alfred, N. Y.

It is hoped that every student will stay for Commencement and help to make it a big week.

We congratulate the Senate upon the election of James Pitts as president.
No finer man could have been chosen.

Summer School will begin July 5.
Several of the student body have signified their intentions of staying to make up conditions or to do extra work. The Fiat Lux wishes the Summer School success and long life.

The Honor System appears in this issue. Let us this exam time, make the Honor System a real live force, living up to the spirit as well as the letter of the law. The value of honor lies not in not cheating, but in not wanting to cheat.

The lyceum committee has decided to put on "The Truth" instead of the Shakespeare play, "The Taming of the Shrew." While many of us wished to see the Shakespeare play put on, we must admit that two weeks is too brief a period of time in which to whip a green cast into shape for the rather difficult play of Shakespeare and we are heartily in accord with the committee's decision. "The Truth" will be an excellent production for our Commencement visitors; in fact, many have already remarked that if "The Truth" should be given again they would gladly pay to see it.

Get out your spectacles. This paper is in finer type than usual. We had a heap of stuff this week.* Just because it is fine, don't think it is worthless, for some of the most flowery talent of Alfred contributed to this edition and it is with the greatest confidence that we thrust this conglomeration of athletic activities before your optics.

Remember too, that the Fiat Lux will put away its worn and inky type.
The busy wheels of the press will cease to whirl and our editorial staff will transplant their brain powers into other climes. Therefore, read while you may, you won't have the opportunity later.

The best features of the late meet were the gentlemanly conduct of the participating athletes, and the cordial good-fellowship shown them at the hands of the student body. There were absolutely no evidences of rowdiness either on or off the field.
Visiting professors and influential men were loud in their praise of the whole spirit of the meet. Dr. Redman, Supt. of Schools of Hornell, said:
"The Meet is exceptionally well managed. It is hard to bring together such a crowd of high school lads without some rowdiness being shown, but here clean sportsmanship is evident throughout."

Prof. Crouch of Canisteo, said: "I want to congratulate the management on the good treatment the men are receiving and the smoothness with which the events are being run off."

We probably can add little to the praise Manager Burdick has already received. We can, however, quote the opinions of a few outsiders, which show the smooth appearance of the meet. Coach Hulek of Hornell said:
"The Meet is very well run. The performances, especially the hammer and shot are fine. The time is very fast considering the condition of the track.
I consider it the best Meet Alfred ever held." Prof. Fernald of Haver-ling said, "The Meet is running fine.
I am pleased with the showing my men are making." E. M. Colegrove, last year's assistant football coach, said, "I have attended nearly every meet Alfred has had, and this is the best."

Such opinions speak well for the whole management and conduct of Alfred University's Sixth Annual Interscholastic Meet.

The regular faculty of the University will be assisted this summer by several well-known and able teachers.

Mr. Samuel M. North, who will conduct the department of English in the summer session at Alfred University, is a teacher of rare ability and wide experience. He is a graduate of the Baltimore City College and of the Teachers' College, Columbia University, holding the M. A. degree from the latter institution. Mr. North has had a long experience as teacher and principal in the high schools of Missouri and Maryland, and since 1899, has been head of the department of English in the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute—a large department requiring the services of ten teachers.

He has had eight years experience as an instructor in county institutes and summer schools, and has served on the faculty of the Johns Hopkins University Summer School. He was manuscript editor of the "Atlantic Educational Journal" (1907-11) and edited "As You Like It" in the New Eclectic Series published by the American Book Company. Mr. North is prepared to handle ably both the subject-matter and methods courses which are listed in the Summer Session announcement.

'VARSITY vs. MANSFIELD, FRIDAY

If the weather permits, the 'Varsity will again cross bats with Mansfield next Friday afternoon on the local diamond. The Varsity is not despondent because of the defeat it received at the hands of Clarkson last Friday and hopes to turn the score against Mansfield this time.

TENNIS

The last week has seen some very interesting matches pulled off in the Y. M. C. A. Tournament, but these have been only the preliminaries. From now on, the players will be out for all there is in them. If you have any favorites, now is the time to get out and show them that you are with them. The tournament will probably be finished up this week and the results are as much in doubt now as ever.

That tennis is a sport in which interest is increasing, is shown by the crowd of players and onlookers which may be seen up at the courts every pleasant day. Two of the courts are now in splendid shape and the other one has been treated with a top dressing of shale and clay which will make it as good as the best when it becomes monial to thecmfwy uldt rathmhtmm and the concrete set posts are testimonials to the managements of the sport.

The enthusiasm that is being taken in the tournament speaks well for coming events of the kind. In all probability the next tournament will be held next fall when there is a longer time for practice.

PITTS PRESIDENT OF SENATE

At a meeting of the Student Senate last week, James Pitts, '15, was elected president for next year. Mr. Pitts has served as a Junior Senator this year and has been most efficient. The other members of the Senate will be Horace Hall, '15, Bess Bacon, '15, Nina Palmiter, '16, and L. F. Randolph, '16.

THE INTERSCHOLASTIC

Twenty contestants started in the 100 yard dash. The track was slow, but every heat was a thriller, although it was evident to the sharps that Paine of Canisteo and Carpenter of Batavia were the class of the field. The final was one of the prettiest dashes a track fan could ask for. Paine broke away in front, but Carpenter, running like a machine, passed him at the fifty yard mark, McAndrew of Haverling came up from behind and when Paine weakened at the finish, nosed him out for second place. There was little to choose between the running form of Carpenter and Paine, but the latter lacked stamina.

The 220 yard low hurdle was a new event, taking the place of the 120 yard high hurdle of last year. In this, poor form was shown, as nearly all the contestants jumped the hurdles instead of hurdling them. Johnson of Haverling showed the only "hurdling stride" in the race, but he could not keep it up for the entire distance. Weldgen of Batavia made a great try for a place in the first trial heat, but took a nasty spill on the last hurdle.

The 220 yard dash brought out a large number of contestants and although the time was slow, every heat was a race. It was unfortunate that the heats of the 100 yard dash were run so close to those of the 220 yard, as practically the same men were entered for each and it pulled heavily on their speed. Carpenter and Paine ran the first heat in 24 2-5, but failed to reach that mark in the finals. There was a conflict of rulings on this dash which threatened to furnish the only unpleasant feature of the day, but things were straightened out to the satisfaction of everyone. In the final Paine again got away in front, but Carpenter wore him down on the turn winning easily, while Peck of Haverling had no difficulty in passing Paine when he cracked at the finish. Lovers of the sprinting game called it the prettiest event of the day.

The 440 yard dash was run on time in three heats. This is the most gruelling dash on the cards, and to run the furlong at top speed requires the utmost stamina. McAndrew of Bath, not only had the best stride, but the greatest endurance and he broke the tape after a heart-breaking sprint in 58 seconds, remarkable time for the condition of the track. Neil of Hornell also ran a great race, only one-fifth of a second slower. Darrow of Jamestown was not pressed and evidently did not run himself out.

The 880 yard dash ranks next to the 220 yard for sensationalism. Darrow ran a spectacular race, going up front in the last lap and fighting it out neck and neck with Sardeson of N. Y. S. A. Sardeson cracked on the straight-away and Kelley of Batavia pulled himself out of the crowd of runners with a great burst of speed which just beat Darrow to the tape. Kelley is one of the prettiest runners that ever stepped the double furlong at Alfred field and has an easy stride that eats up the yards most deceptively. The time, one second slower than the record shows what a great event this was.

The mile run fell a little short of the 880 yard in thrills. Allen of Dansville set the pace for two laps with Kelley, pressing him. For two more laps they ran neck and neck, in step, then Kelley went out in front. Roche of Dansville came up out of the ruck to third place on the fifth lap, Allen went back, and was displaced entirely when Mayo of Griffiths sprinted to third place. The sixth lap was a heart-breaker for half the distance between Seager of Randolph and Kelley, but the latter showed his class by a marvelous sprint that made the rest of the field look as if they were standing still. Kelley won by yards, in time one slower than the record, and undoubtedly if he had been forced another mark would have been shattered.

In the running broad jump very little credit can be given the participants. All showed lack of practice for none were sure of the take off. More were disqualified for fouling on the take off than in any past meet. All the jumps except the winning one were far shorter than they should have been.

The high jump was a good contest, the winner falling only one inch below the record. Some good form was shown in this event.

A large and classy field entered for the pole vault, but there was little doubt of the outcome from the start. Waite of Griffiths showed himself at once, to be the best man that ever handled the striped staff at Alfred. Tefft of Alfred and Lawton of Griffiths hung on gamely until the mark of 9 feet 6 inches was reached. Tefft cleared 9 feet 9 inches in his best effort, and then in an exhibition jump Waite cleared 10 feet 6 inches, setting a mark which will be shot at for some time.

Big entries and well watched contestants characterized the hammer throw and shot-put. Although he fell below the great record made by Card of Olean five years ago, Weldgen of Batavia had great strength and correct throwing form. Randall of LeRoy also was a strong bidder for first place. Stratton of Haverling hurled the hammer well enough to gain third place, but his form was poor and it is remarkable that his distance was so great.

Kerr in the shot put bettered the old record which had stood for five years, heaving the sphere nearly 3 feet further. The weight men as a whole were the best that ever entered, and both second and third places were taken by throws which beat the old mark. Prangen of Chamberlain, who won third, is a comer in the weight events.

The relay race furnished the usual thrilling conclusions to Alfred's best Meet. Griffiths' first man got off with a tremendous start and gave his relief a big lead which Dennis of Canisteo cut down on the next lap. On the third lap Laine of Canisteo ran away from the field, Captain Waite of Griffiths had 15 yards to make up when he took the baton, and by a great exhibition of sprinting power, drew up even on the back-stretch, but on the straight away his great exertions in the high jump and pole vault told on him. He weakened at the finish and Jenkins broke the tape ahead of him by a good margin. Johnson of Haverling and McHenry of Hornell took bad spills in this event.

Batavia won the meet and the big trophy cup with 25 points, Griffiths Institute was second with 15 points and Haverling, third with 14. The other schools finished in this order, Wellsville 10, Canisteo 8, Richburg 6, Galeton 6, Hornell 5, Randolph 5, Jamestown 4, Alfred 3, LeRoy 3, Dansville 3, Chamberlain 1.

THE SPEAKING CONTEST

Wellsville Takes First Prize

The Sixth Interscholastic Speaking Contest was held in the Academy Chapel, Wednesday evening. Among ten contestants whose choice of subjects and manner of delivery differed so perceptibly, it was not easy to pick out the winners. Nevertheless, the judges were entirely agreed in awarding the first prize to Miss Mary Phillips of Wellsville.

Her selection: "The Second Trial" which dealt with the wistful appeal of a little sister for her big college brother, who had "forgotten his lines" was handled with much sincerity and grace. Miss Phillips' voice, while full of tender feeling, was, for the greater part, free from the sensational outbursts so often noticeable in recitations.

Donald Barron, winner of the second prize, took as his subject, "The Haywood Trial." Although overdramatic, at times, and rather too restless in his motions, much sympathetic and careful analysis of emotion were evident in his work.

"Our Undemocratic Democracy," an original oration, based on an article by Pres. Wilson, brought Norman Thompson of Olean the third prize. His oration, although handicapped by a jerky utterance, was given with much sincerity and conviction.

The order of the entertainment was pleasantly varied by solos by Miss Miriam Chipman and Miss Philinda Woodcock and a cornet solo by Frank M. Hill with Leland Coon as accompanist.

Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, who made the introductory remarks, also superintended the final presentation of medals to the victors of the afternoon.

The judges of the contest were: Supt. Redman of Hornell, Prof. J. N. Norwood and Miss Lucia Weed.

CLARKSON 9—ALFRED 1

Clarkson School of Technology of Potsdam, N. Y., made a very successful debut—from their point of view—into Alfred University athletics when they defeated the Varsity nine to the disappointing tune—from our point of view—of 9 to 1. The game was delayed in starting and nearly an hour due to the rain and when finally the game did begin at 4:20, the grounds were soaked, making fast work difficult and uncertain—shavings were used around the bases, sun came out and the game started with King in the box. The wet grass made the ball hard to control and as a result, the Tech. boys put across one score in their half of the first inning, a feat which the Varsity duplicated when Wells, their first man up managed to traverse the treacherous 120 yards. This was the last time that one of our men was allowed to attain the very desirable hard rubber goal, but Clarkson kept increasing their score in an aggravating manner until after nine sessions, they had eight more round trips tallied up to their credit. Their ability to place their hits when placed hits were necessary, was more than any other thing the reason for the one-sidedness of the score. Considering the condition of the field, the game was not loosely played. The Varsity outfield did not show the same amount of pep and judgment that was used by the visiting team in caring for their own gardens and in backing up the throws to bases. The infield worked well together, F. Tefft at short stop, making some pretty throws across the diamond to his brother T. D. Tefft, on the primary sack who was there to receive them every time. Thrall at the receiving end of the battery, had a way of skinning off his caps and placing himself under the high fouls that was truly a delight to the eye. Three hard ones were scooped into the big mit in a very successful manner.

The Technical boys all played good ball as the score would go to show. The outfield work showed judgment and the infield work showed practice. There was no disputing of decisions, nothing but good, clean baseball.

The box score follows:
