AU equestrian program director earns 'r' judge's card

ALFRED—Nancy Kohler, director of the Alfred University (AU) Equestrian Program, has earned her United States Equestrian Federation (USEF) "r" judge's card in hunters and hunter seat equitation.

This card will allow her to judge independently at USEF recognized horse shows in the hunter and equitation divisions.

Kohler has spent the past year working toward completing the requirements to become a licensed USEF judge. Hopefuls must first attain a learner permit, which allows them to shadow USEF registered ("r") judges at recognized horse shows and learner judge with them. Learner judging alongside successful "r" judges helped Kohler develop a strong system for judging large groups of riders in a class, which she cited as an important skill for a judge to have.

"I have a good eye for what is correct and good quality, but having a system to keep track of each horse and rider that is easy to follow and efficient is crucial as a judge," she explained.

Kohler was required to learner judge at least six full show days for hunters and 10 classes for hunter seat equitation, although she went beyond the minimum requirements in order to ensure that she would be approved. She traveled to shows in Connecticut, Texas, California, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania as well as learner judging at local shows in New York.

"This all paid off because I was approved the first time I submitted my application," she said. The application required at least 25 references from USEF members, a summary of the classes she had learner judged, and evaluations from each judge she had worked with.

Kohler believes that going through this rigorous licensing process has not only increased her judging skills but will also benefit the AU Equestrian Program, especially the IHSA hunt seat equitation team, of which she is the head coach.

"I have a much better understanding of how a judge ranks a class, what are considered minor errors and what are considered major errors, and also how important that first impression is," Kohler said. "I know now how judges are 'trained' and what our governing body sets as a standard for us to judge from."

Kohler was appointed director of the AU Equestrian Program in 2007, bringing more than 25 years' experience in riding instruction and training in hunters, jumpers, and lower level dressage. Previously, she has served as instructor and show manager for Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio, teaching jumping classes and managing dressage and hunter/jumper shows, and has been partner and manager at The Willows Farm in Fairview, PA, a boarding and training facility that also houses the Mercyhurst College and Allegheny College equestrian teams.

Arc adult recreation group visits Kent's Pumpkin Patch

ANDOVER--Allegany Arc's Community Services Division focuses on "putting people first" and facilitating every individual's right to full participation in community life, recreation, leisure, and self-advocacy allowing individuals with developmental disabilities to lead richer lives and have greater control over the choices they make. Their recreation program is a deeply meaningful part of that.

Allegany Arc offers recreation opportunities for youth (20 and under) and adults. Evening programs are available Monday through Thursday. They also offer fun weekend activities for people with special needs.

On a recent trip, the adult recreation group visited Kent Farms. Upon arrival, they took a hayride out to the pumpkin patch where everyone was able to choose as many pumpkins as they wanted. It was a chilly fall day but that did not put a damper on the fun everyone was having.

After picking pumpkins, the group went back to the farm to warm up. They then took another hayride out to the corn maze where they spent more time than they intended to, trying to find their way out. Some of the group even braved a special haunted room while there.

After the fun outing to Kent Farms, the group returned to Wellsville and enjoyed a leisurely lunch while decorating the pumpkins with markers and stickers. Everyone agreed it was a perfect way to spend an autumn day.

Angie Dieter, Allegany Arc's Community Services Manager, said "It is wonderful to be part of such a fun group. We are always looking at new and creative excursions for the group to enjoy. Some of our very favorite jaunts are hitting up the local bowling alleys and enjoying a day out with our friends."

Allegany Arc's Recreation groups exist to build friendships, social skills, safety skills and encourage relationships all while having fun. There are over 100 participants currently enrolled in their Recreation program. To be eligible, individuals must be enrolled (or qualified) for waiver services.

The Recreation Group currently enjoys fun activities like karaoke, wii games, arts and crafts, and are looking at starting new groups in the future including geocaching and fishing. They are also planning to hold holiday dances this year and have an extra special trip planned to see the "Wizard of Oz" in Rochester this December.

Recreation calendars are mailed out monthly and can also be found online at www.AlleganyArc.org. For more information on Allegany Arc's Recreation Program, please contact Angie Dieter, Community Services Manager of Recreation/Respite, at (585) 593-5700 Ext. 545 or Danielle Henck, Recreation Team Leader, at (585) 593-5700 Ext. 413.

Landfill issues topic of meeting

BELMONT—A meeting about the Allegany County Landfill and other landfill issues will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 12 in the Amity Rescue Squad building, Rt. 244, Belmont.

Gary Abraham, a lawyer who represented the citizens objecting to waste from fracking coming into NY from PA, will be one of the speakers. He is currently working with the group in Allegany County called "Concerned Citizens of Allegany County" (CCAC). Gary will speak on the topic "Not your Father's Dump."

How does a landfill pollute the air and the water that keeps on leaching out of a landfill for years after closure and must be safely managed..

The public should take an active interest in this important problem to control and minimize the problem by caring more about this important topic.

Area residents are encouraged to take time to listen to the issues addressed by these speakers and to take an interest in solving these problems that require more attention.

A muffin recipe unlike any others

Isn't it interesting that the pumpkin can stand as a symbol for two of our major holidays-Halloween and Thanksgiving? And, the pumpkin is really a gourd. Well, it really doesn't take much to pique my interest.

Thinking about what's new in pumpkin recipes, I opened the little nutritional magazine that you can pick up in the natural foods department of Wegmans. There was a muffin recipe unlike any I had seen. The recipe also reminded the reader that one cup of pumpkin contains a week's worth of vitamin A!

Pumpkin Cheddar Corn Muffins

| 1 c. all-purpose flour             | 5 T. unsalted butter         |
| ¾ c. cornmeal                      | 1 c. nonfat buttermilk       |
| 1 T. baking powder                 | 1 large egg                  |
| 2 T. sugar                         | ½ c. pumpkin puree           |
| 1 tsp. salt                        | ¼ c. pepitas (pumpkin seeds) |
| ¾ c. grated sharp cheddar, divided | for garnish)                 |

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Line muffin tin with baking liners. Mix flour, cornmeal, baking powder, sugar, and salt. Stir in ½ c. of the Cheddar. Melt butter. In a small bowl, whisk together buttermilk, egg, and butter. Whisk in pumpkin puree. Stir butter mixture into flour mixture until just combined. Divide batter among muffin cups. Top with pumpkin seeds and remaining ¼ cup of Cheddar. Bake until golden and tester comes out clean, about 20 min.

Historical group 'going back' to school

ALFRED STATION--Bakers Bridge Association meeting in November is scheduled to begin at 7:30 pm on Monday, Nov. 18. John and Sue Babbitt will be joining us to present a picture of "One-Room Schools of Western New York." The Babbitts will be regaling us with a power point presentation which takes a look at the early education that occurred in early school houses.

Love them or hate them, schools of today are pretty decent places to learn in compared to the schools of the mid-to-late 1800's. Today's schools contain computer labs, sound enhanced auditoriums, spacious gyms and many even swimming pools. Meals are eaten in cafeterias and are generally nutritious.

Yesterday's schools were much different. All grades 1-8 were in one room. Outhouses were located behind the schoolhouse. The schools were heated by wood stoves and the teacher was responsible for building the fire and shoveling a path to the door in winter. Nope, there were not any buses. Students walked to school, often 1-2 miles. Snow days? I doubt it. That was the typical scenario of one-room schools 100 years ago.

Anyone interested in this topic or the history of the area are invited to join us at our Meeting House at 5971 Hamilton Hill Road, Alfred Station on Monday, the 18th. Come join us as we visit the 35-40 one-room schools still standing in Western New York.

For more information on Bakers Bridge Historical Association, visit www.bakersbridge.org.

Feral cat capture slated in village this weekend

ALFRED--On Friday evening, Nov. 8 and early Saturday morning a capture team will place eight or ten cages in village areas with high feral cat traffic. The sites are likely to be the North Main Street alley, behind the Church Center, Hillcrest Drive, and Terrace Street.

Cat owners are asked to keep their pets inside and those who feed feral cats are asked not to do so this Thursday and Friday.

The cats will be spayed/neutered, dewormed, defleaded, given a rabies shot and returned to the pick-up location. The veterinary service is provided by Barn Cat Outreach of Springwater, NY and a veterinarian giving generously of her time. If you have questions or want to lend a hand with this project contact Virginia Rasmussen at 607-587-9558.

County Historian Craig Braack will speak at Nov. 17 meeting

ALMOND--Allegany County Historian and Almond native Craig Braack will be the speaker at the Sunday, Nov. 17 meeting of the Almond Historical Society.

The 1830s Hagadorn House Museum located at 7 Main Street will be open from 2 to 5 p.m., with Craig's talk set for 3 p.m. His topic will be "Architectural Styles of Almond Homes."

Craig's lively and informative presentations are popular among historical societies and civic groups, where he speaks more than 80 times a year.

"My program on the architectural styles of homes in our Almond area will be a 'photographic tour' of the area. The houses shown will be familiar to most people. We'll see examples of Georgian, Greek Revival, Italianate, Gothic Revival, Mansard and Queen Anne. These styles were popular in the country from about 1750 to 1910. Non descript (for lack of a better term) houses of the 20th century will also be included, albeit briefly, with these houses generally called one-story ranch homes," Craig explained.

At 2:30 p.m., AHS members will gather for the annual meeting, which will be conducted by Louise Schwartz in the absence of President Lee A. Ryan. Officers will be elected for 2014.

Cindy Banker is in charge of refreshments. The public is invited to attend.

Community Chest goal $38,275

Campaign at 64% of goal

To the Community:

The Alfred-Alfred Station Community Chest drive is beginning the second month of the 2013 campaign. To date people have pledged $24,563 or about 64% of the $38,275 campaign goal. At this point we are $4000 behind last year's campaign and is losing the race to match last year's campaign. We will need YOUR help to reach our goal, so please consider your pledge or gift today. This week we recognize the Boy Scouts and their annual food drive.

Scouting is an important beneficiary of our campaign. In our area we have active groups in Tiger Cubs (grade 1), Cub Scouts (grades 2-5), Boy Scouts (ages 11-17) and Explorers (ages 14-20). Many local young people participate in scouting activities. In the Five Rivers Council territory, total membership is over a quarter of all available youth. This is twice the national average. The local Council coordinates activities including the operation of Camp Gorton, a resident camp, as well as, a variety of other day camps.

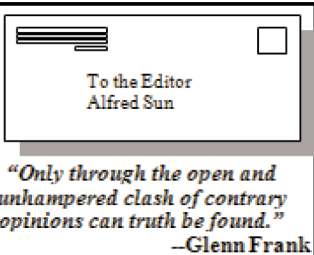

The Boy Scouts have programs designed to develop physical and mental skills, as well as, programs emphasizing every day life. Scouts learn and practice their skills through a wide variety of outdoor and traditional camping activities. In addition, the Boy Scouts are targeting drug abuse, child abuse, and hunger through their activities. They have published and distributed booklets on drug abuse, produced videos in order to combat child abuse, and they conduct a nationwide campaign: "Scouting for Food." This program collects food items for local pantries. The Scouting for Food effort will collect this coming Saturday, Nov. 9 beginning at 9 a.m. Please help out the Scouts and prepare a bag with the specified food items.

The Five Rivers Council estimates that many local scouts also receive their support. In addition, the Scouts run their annual pop corn sales. Please consider the overall positive contribution of the Scouts to our community.

A gift to the Community Chest is an opportunity to support the positive things that our young people accomplish. Many thanks to all who have been so generous thus far. We ask those of you who have not yet made a donation or pledge to help in making our drive a success. If, for some reason, you did not receive a pledge card, donations may be left at the Alfred Pharmacy in Alfred, the Canacadea Country Store in Alfred Station, or may be mailed to Alfred-Alfred Station Community Chest, Box 603, Alfred, NY, 14802. We look forward to your support.

Sincerely,

Your Alfred-Alfred Station Community Chest Board

Veterans Day, lung cancer

To the editor:

As we salute the men and women who served our nation on Veterans Day, the American Lung Association wants veterans and their loved ones to know that those who served have a higher incidence of lung cancer than the general population. November is also Lung Cancer Awareness Month, and the message that veterans have an increased risk for acquiring this dreaded disease is an important one that's too often overlooked in the stories we typically read about both veterans and about lung cancer.

It's no secret that tobacco use in the military was once encouraged and that many who served developed a lifelong addiction. Yet despite all that we now know about tobacco's dangers, members of our military still smoke at rates that exceed the general population. Add in the exposure to chemicals like asbestos, depleted uranium, smoke from burn pits and other harmful emissions, and this risk becomes even greater.

The Lung Association urges veterans to talk with their doctors about their risk for lung cancer. We also encourage veterans who smoke or did smoke to visit lungcancerscreeningsaveslives.org, to see if lung cancer screening might be appropriate for them. We are here for veterans, and all Americans, who need help quitting smoking. It's the most important thing a person can do to reduce his or her risk for lung cancer. Learn more about how we can help you quit at quit-terinyou.org.

Our Lung HelpLine, at 1-800-LUNG-USA (586-4872) is available 7 days a week to answer questions about lung health and provide reliable information about quitting smoking. To learn even more about lung cancer, lung disease and how to best protect your lung health, visit our website at LungNE.org. Working together, we can raise awareness about lung cancer, reduce its incidence and increase the number of survivors.

FROM THE DESK OF DAVID PULLEN

By DAVID PULLEN
Allegany County Legislator

A NEW FISCAL REALITY – THE PERSPECTIVE FROM COMPTROLLER DINAPOLI

State Comptroller Thomas DiNapoli recently issued a blunt report on what he called "a new fiscal reality" faced by local governments in our State. His analysis and comments are worth considering. Allegany County has already implemented some of his recommendations, and may need to consider some others. This report from the State's highest fiscal officer should be given serious consideration.

His report began with an observation on the recent bankruptcy filing by the city of Detroit. He noted that Detroit had some special issues, but observed that many of the same circumstances impact local governments across the nation, and across New York State. He noted that during the Great Recession, and the subsequent slow economic recovery, that tax revenue collections from several sources have declined. For many communities sales tax revenue has dropped as consumers have spent less than before. In addition, federal and state aid haven't kept pace with inflation, even while mandated expenditures on social welfare programs have increased. Finally, the State has capped real property taxes, which have historically been primary source of local government revenue.

Comptroller DiNapoli reported that for many municipalities spending is outpacing revenues. From 2006 through 2011, county expenditures for NYS jumped 17.2%, while revenues only increased by 13.4%. The difference has resulted in repeated budget shortfalls in many counties. DiNapoli's Department has documented an increase in county operating deficits from $13.5 million in 2007 to $261.1 million in 2011. That is almost 20 times more deficit in just 5 years.

To cover the deficits many counties have issued large amounts of short-term debt. This will create major problems as such debts needs to be repaid. The Comptroller identifies the major budget culprits as tax certiorari claims, Medicaid expenses, Social Services programs, and nursing home costs. He further notes that counties have almost no control over these expenses. He then noted that these problems are only likely to get worse, due to the low "tax cap" limit that applies for 2014 budgets. In addition, many communities have lost employment leading to higher unemployment expenses, rising poverty rates, and increased demand for government services. Ironically, counties provide most of those services.

The Comptroller's analysis found several common characteristics for communities that his Department has determined to be suffering fiscal stress. Most of them have low fund balances, have drifted into continued patterns of operating deficits, and inadequate cash on hand. This results in defaults on required payments, and increased taxes. When judged on those criteria, Allegany County looks pretty good. We have the healthiest fund balance in the County's history. We have reduced the tax rate for four consecutive years. We have not had an operating deficit in 7 years.

Several lessons can be learned from Comptroller DiNapoli's report. They are:

1. We didn't create these problems. They were dropped on us.

2. We aren't in this predicament alone. Counties across the nation and state are wrestling with exactly the same problems.

3. We have already addressed most of the problems that the Comptroller has identified and have implemented the corrective actions that he recommends. That is how we got past budget deficits and built up an adequate fund balance.

4. Our experience proves that it is possible to make progress by adopting prudent fiscal policies. Legislator Ted Hopkins chairs the Legislature's Budget Committee that monitors budget operations all year long. Ted and County Administrator Mitch Alger keep on top of developing trends and issues. The Legislature then addresses matters promptly, and avoids budget "surprises." This may sound like common sense, but it is actually pretty unusual.

All of the Budget Committee and Ways and Means Committee meetings are open to the public. Many of the "nuts and bolts" financial issues are handled in the committee meetings, rather than in the Board sessions. That is where the real action takes place.

Library hosts hour of old-fashioned Halloween fun

ALMOND—It was an hour of old-fashioned fun for friends and families at the Almond Library on Tues., Oct 29. From 6-7 pm an assortment of children of all ages came, most with a debut of their Halloween costumes, to play, have donuts and cider, and socialize with neighbors and family.

After a "costume parade" the Community Room was filled with activity: a relay race, spider toss, "Pin the Nose on the Pumpkin," face painting, and more; finished off with the challenge of eating donuts off a string and a very enthusiastic round of bobbing for apples.

The question remains, was it the kids or the parents who had more fun? Thanks to all the great families who attended and helped out...it was a blast!

Next event, Wed., Nov. 13: The Almond Twentieth Century

Library Club's monthly meeting. This will be our Business Meeting and Dish-To-Pass (bring a dish to share and your place settings), and will highlight a DVD of our 100-Year Celebration held last October. Everyone is invited to attend, and we welcome new members!

One Time, One Meeting

The Practice of Zen Meditation

By BEN HOWARD

ORDINARY THINGS

If your waking hours are anything like mine, many if not most are spent in attending to ordinary things. Although you might wish to be contemplating the meaning of life or encountering something out of the ordinary, groceries need to be bought and e-mails answered. Bills need to be paid. Whatever your spiritual aspirations, ordinary life assumes the foreground.

At first glance, Zen practice might seem a welcome escape from the daily round. At its deeper levels, Zen is indeed concerned with the alleviation of suffering, the cultivation of compassionate wisdom, and the "Great Matter" of life and death. Cloistered in their mountain monasteries or secluded in their urban centers, Zen masters and their disciples may appear to have risen above the quotidian fray and to have transcended the concerns of everyday life.

In practice, however, Zen practitioners are as engaged as anyone else with the common life, if not more so. "My miraculous power and spiritual activity," wrote Layman Pang, an 8th-century Buddhist practitioner, "drawing water and carrying wood." More recently, in her poem "A Cedary Fragrance," the poet and Zen practitioner Jane Hirshfield recalls her three-year residency at Tassajara Monastery: "Even now, / decades after," she reports, "I wash my face in cold water." What action could be more ordinary, one might ask, or more enmeshed in everyday life? "Zen," an old Zen saying reminds us, "is picking up your coat from the floor and hanging it up."

This emphasis on ordinary things and common actions, so conspicuous in the literature of Zen, may be partly a matter of convention, but it is also grounded in Zen teachings, particularly those pertaining to the ethic of care-taking, the practice of non-discrimination, and the aspiration to enlightenment. In ways not immediately apparent, acts as seemingly trivial as picking up one's coat support those long-term aims.

Years ago, when I was preparing for my first stay at Dai Bosatsu Zendo, a Rinzai Zen monastery in the Catskills, I called ahead to ask what I should bring with me. "Disposable work clothes," a resident monk replied. And upon arriving, I understood the relevance of his advice. Dai Bosatsu, like most Zen centers and monasteries, exudes a spirit of cleanliness and order. Windows have been washed, mats and cushions vacuumed, stair steps scrubbed by hand. Cups, bowls, incense sticks, and other functional objects have been meticulously placed, with ample space around them. By their quiet presence, those objects reflect the mindfulness of the residents and their abiding attention to ordinary things. By treating their surroundings in this way, Zen practitioners cultivate an attitude of respect and a habit of wholehearted regard.

Beyond that, "work practice," as it is called, serves a deeper purpose in Zen training. Whether as monastics or as lay practitioners like myself, Zen students are encouraged to cultivate the "wisdom of non-discrimination," which is to say, to set aside such conventional dualities as "high" and "low," "worldly" and "unworldly," and "sacred" and "profane." In Zen teachings, if not always in practice, raking sand and managing a complex budget, cleaning toilets and studying sutras are deemed to be equally important activities. Distinctions between manual and intellectual, blue-collar and white-collar labor do not apply. By recognizing the illusory and relative nature of those concepts, we can fully embrace whatever task we might be performing, however menial or distasteful. In Jane Hirshfield's words, we can choose to "make the unwanted wanted," infusing new life into a conventionally devalued chore.

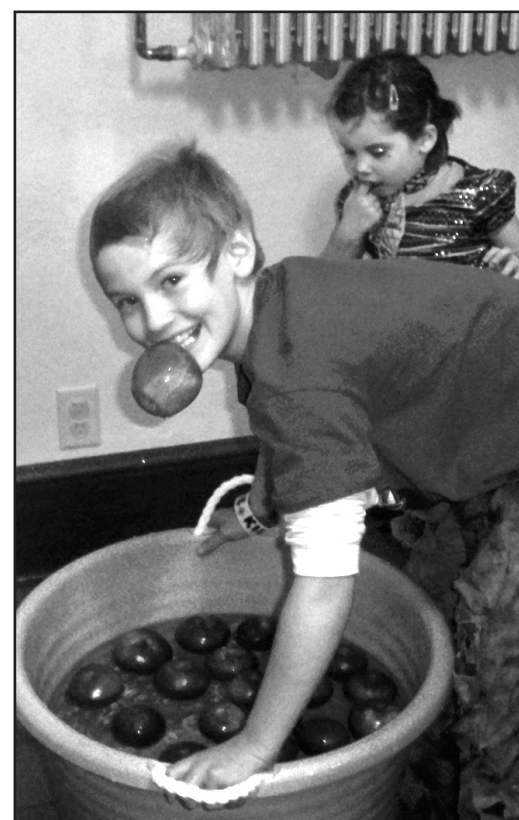

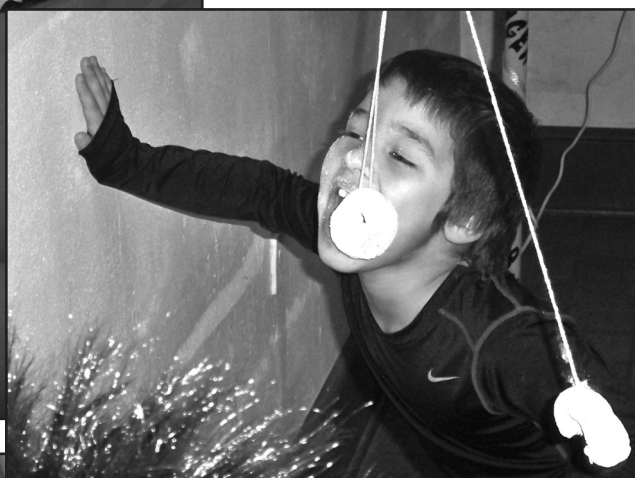

By so doing, we can also strengthen an aspiration toward enlightenment, which for the Zen practitioner resides in everyday life. To give full attention to one's work is a virtue in itself, but in the context of Zen practice, it is also a way of opening our minds to a reality masked by ordinary thought. According to Zen teachings, common objects, deeply regarded, can reveal the impermanence and interdependence of all conditioned things. A cup is indeed a cup, but it is also an event in the selfless, dynamic web of life. By caring for that cup, and by looking deeply into its impermanent nature, we can free ourselves from the habit of grasping, having realized that ultimately there is nothing substantial to grasp. And by stopping to contemplate both the cup and the "non-cup" elements--soil, water, air, the labors of a potter--of which it is made, we can penetrate the illusion of separateness, which divides subject from object and the mind from the material world. Should that realization occur, suddenly or gradually, ordinary things will no longer be merely ordinary, nor our labor merely labor.

December Snowball Silent Auction:

We have decided to host a family friendly Snowball Silent Auction in December. The exact date and location is still to be determined but we will continue to collect 6x6 pieces or any other pieces from community members. We are asking that you sign the back of your artwork not the front. This event will run in silent auction format. There are still 6x6 canvases available at the library with a suggested $1.00 donation for the canvas even though we are not limiting items to the 6x6 size. Please contact Eliza at the library if you have any questions or would like to donate an item. If you would like to donate a food item for the evenings hor d'oeuvres they are welcome also! Donations for the auction will be collected at the library until Dec. 6.

Story time is postponed until further notice due to staffing issues. We are working on finding someone to fill this small time slot. Liz has taken a long term sub position that runs through the end of the year; we hope to have our full program abilities back by January.

Coming Events:

Nov. 8 at 4:30 - Nature Art with Bookworms; participants will make 2D and 3D art pieces from Nature! School aged program, please register to help us plan for supplies

Nov. 13 at 4:30 - Shaving Cream Marbling with the Education Fieldwork Class; Create backgrounds using shaving cream and marbles. Designed for ages 4 and up, please register.

Jones Memorial Hospital named a 'Top Performer'

WELLSVILLE—Jones Memorial Hospital has been named one of the Top Performer on Key Quality Measures® by The Joint Commission, the leading accreditor of health care organizations in America. JMH is one of 1,099 hospitals in the U.S. to earn this distinction.

Jones Memorial was recognized for exemplary performance using clinical processes that improve care for pneumonia and surgical patients. Each accountability measure represents an evidence-based practice —giving antibiotics one hour before surgery, for example — that has been shown to improve patient outcomes. The Joint Commission awarded this recognition based on the data reported during the 2012 calendar year. The list of Top Performer organizations represents 33-percent of all Joint Commission-accredited hospitals who reported performance data for 2012.

According to JMH Director of Quality Management Cherrie Macafee, in order to earn this distinction, Jones Memorial had to achieve a cumulative performance of 95 percent or above across all reported accountability measures. "We also reached that score on every accountability measure that had at least 30 cases," she said, noting that at least one core measure set also had to have a composite rate of 95 percent or above and all applicable individual accountability within that measure had to have a performance rate of 95 percent or above.

Meeting these measures has been a team effort, according to CEO Eva Benedict. "We understand that what matters most to patients and their families is safe, effective care," said she said. "That's why Jones Memorial has made the commitment — as a team — to accreditation and to positive patient outcomes through evidence-based care processes."

Speaking on behalf of the hospital board of directors, President Rich Shear added. "This recognition shows that we are committed to providing quality care and better health outcomes for patients," he said. "It was a team effort to achieve this and we are very proud of our team at Jones Memorial."

"As a Top Performer hospital, Jones Memorial has demonstrated an exceptional commitment to quality improvement and they should be proud of their achievement," said Mark R. Chassin, M.D., FACP, M.P.P., M.P.H., president and chief executive officer, The Joint Commission. The Joint Commission's will recognize Jones Memorial in its "Improving America's Hospitals" annual report The Top Performer program will be featured in the December issues of The Joint Commission Perspectives and The Source.

Time for Fall garden clean-up chores

By LYNN CHIMERA
Cornell Cooperative Extension
Master Gardener

It looks like our extended Fall is coming to an end. Now that the weather is turning colder and the frosts are coming hard and frequent, follow these gardening tips:

- As your annuals fade, pull them out roots and all. It's too late to bring in annuals to overwinter. They have been weakened by the colder weather and will not do well.

- It's not too late to plant spring bulbs.

- If you save Dahlia tubers, the best time to dig them up is after the plant has been blackened by frost. Let the tubers air dry for a few days and gently brush off the excess soil. Store them in a cool dark place in peat moss or wrapped individually in newspaper. Check them once a month or so and remove any with signs of rot.

- Any perennials that get mushy after a frost should be cut back. It's always easier to cut back Hosta before they get frosted and turn mushy, but since we have had some hard frosts already you may have to cut back soggy foliage. The blossom stems are a harder consistency and will persist through the winter. If you leave a few blossom stems showing (I usually cut them to 6 or 8 in.) it's easy to tell where the hosta is next spring. Hosta come up late in the spring, so the blossom stems will prevent your digging in or stepping on the wrong spot before they come up.

- Most perennials with seed heads like daisy, rudbeckia, echinacea and astilbe can be left up. The seed heads provide food for winter birds and look great poking through the snow. The exception would be any plants that you want to prevent setting seed all over your garden. I always cut back native snakeroot and ageratum for that reason.

- Don't cut back foliage from perennials like day lilies and heuchera; their foliage provides crown protection during the winter months.

- In general the amount of fall clean up you do is up to you. Some feel total clean-up is best including raking fallen leaves off beds. I tend to leave fallen leaves. Leaves provide winter protection and a home for beneficial insects and larva, especially during recent winters when we haven't had a solid snow cover. You do, however, have to rake off the leaves in the spring before perennials start growing.

- However, ALL diseased plant material should be removed and discarded.

- Since we're not sure what type of winter we'll be having I'm giving extra protection, in the form of leaf mulch (chopped up leaves), to newly planted trees, shrubs and perennials. Without a blanket of snow to protect them the chance of the roots heaving or becoming dry is much higher. I have been spreading a 3 in layer of mulched leaves in a circle around each plant being careful not to touch the stem(s). If you don't have any mulched leaves "borrow" some from neighbors. There are piles of them at curbsides.

- Once the ground has frozen you can add more mulched leaves right over newly planted perennials for extra protection.

- Collecting these already mulched leaves and storing them over the winter is an excellent source of leaf mold next spring. They can be kept in open plastic leaf bags in the garage or just put in a pile in a far corner of the garden

- Be sure to use mulched leaves as whole leaves will matt down and can be damaging to plant crowns and will not decompose as readily.

- It's important to clean your tools before storing them for the winter. Any dirt left on the tools will increase the chance of rust. Once cleaned, a light coat of oil rubbed on the tool will help keep them in good condition.

This permit also includes a phased aggregate limit for total nitrogen delivered to the Chesapeake Bay on a rolling annual total basis from all significant permits located within the Chesapeake Bay watershed, as described in the Fact Sheet and in accordance with the Phase II WIP. Compiled By DAVID L. SNYDER

Alfred Sun Editor and Publisher

FIFTY YEARS AGO, NOVEMBER 7, 1963

The Alfred University student newspaper, "Fiat Lux" this week observed the 50th anniversary of its first appearance as a campus weekly. The current issue carried a picture of the first editorial board and a review of conditions which led to the founding of the paper. Special events are planning along with features regarding the paper's history during coming weeks. An exhibit will be held at the Campus Center, Nov. 11-16 showing old pictures and early editions as well as steps in the production of the current eight-page paper. A banquet will be held Nov. 16 for members of the staff and invited guests, including editors of area newspapers. The weekly came into existence through the efforts of a group of students described at the time as "enthusiastic reformers." On Oct. 21, 1913, "The Alfred Weekly" was distributed to students. The following week, the paper assumed its present name as the result of a contest in which Donald Clark, a senior from Alfred, submitted the winning entry. Robert D. Garwood of Canaseraga was the first editor of the "Fiat Lux," having headed the board responsible for publication of its predecessor, "The Alfred University Monthly."

Mrs. Edith Place and Dr. Robert G. Eisenhardt led all local vote getters at Tuesday's elections with the turnout of 345 voters being light because of no state or federal contests.

Alfredians—James A. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baker, is attending recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. Miss Susan Langworthy returned home last Thursday after spending a week with friends at Salem, W. Va., going with Miss Eva Ford. Guests over the weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kenyon were Dr. and Mrs. W.A. Kenyon of St. Paul, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Roeloff have returned to their home at Chattanooga, Tenn., after a visit of two weeks with Mrs. Roeloff's mother, Mrs. Adelaide Sheldon. Mrs. William Pulos entertained 25 children from her church choirs at a Halloween party, Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kenyon and John plan to leave tomorrow to spend the weekend with the Misses Myra and Helen Brown at Leonardsville. Mrs. Kenneth H. Burdick returned to Cleveland, Ohio yesterday, after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Jacox. Mrs. Eugene T. Van Horn, Christy and Eric spent the weekend visiting Mrs. A. Clyde Ehret at Adams Center. They were accompanied by Mrs. Harold Carr who was a guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Loyal F. Hurley.

Work is progressing at a rapid rate on the new educational facilities at Alfred-Almond Central School, according to Principal Kenneth Clicqueno. Construction completed by the Clarence Pfeil Contractor firm includes the pouring of the footers and foundation walls on the 28 x 75 foot swimming pool. The concrete floor of the pool has also been poured.

Miss Kathy Stuart entertained at a Halloween party Saturday night. Guests were Cynthia Kellogg, Billy Dobson, Linda Stearns, Gary Kellogg, Dan Coleman, Steve Bracken and Gale Horton. Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Gillette were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gillette and Brian of Middletown, and Miss Virginia Gillette of Pittsford.

A.A.C.S. News—Ronald Hadsell was elected president of the Alfred-Almond Rise and Shine 4-H Club at a recent meeting. Other officers elected for the year 1963-64 were Steven Brown, vice president; Neil Graham, reelected secretary; Bill Dobson, treasurer; John Emo, news reporter, and Donald Harris, song leader. Nine boys were initiated new members in the green hand degree in Alfred-Almond's Future Farmers of America at a meeting last week. Those who became FFA members include Bill Dibson III, Donald Harris, John Knudson, Philip Ormsby, Robert Ormsby, David Ryan, John Sharett, Leon Sherman, and Jeff Smith.

There were neither excuses nor tears in the Alfred football camp today. The Saxons were neatly clobbered by Susquehanna 68-0 on Saturday. Susquehanna had the ball ten times and scored nine times. They were tied for 9th in eastern small college football voting in the Lambert trophy rating last week. The Saxons are wondering if the rating shouldn't be higher. The Crusaders simply had too much of just about everything for Alfred. They ran 72 plays as compared to only 33 for Alfred. They had a huge edge of 483-80 in net yards gained and 26-3 in first downs. It was 8-0 at the quarter. Then Susquehanna broke the game wide open with 22 points in the second period. Alex Yunevich, with his team riddled by injuries and suffering its worst defeat in his 23 years of coaching at Alfred, used his sophomores for an entire quarter in the second half. "I couldn't keep my regulars out there," Alex stated, "It didn't mean that much and after all we still have a game to play at C.W. Post next week." Robin Elder, junior halfback from Painted Post, and Johnny Forsythe, sophomore quarterback from Owego, both suffered leg injuries during the game.

The Alfred Village Board gave Alfred's downtown businesses an early Christmas gift at Tuesday night's meeting. The board approved a traffic flow plan that will add as many as 20 parking places in the downtown area. (Roger) Freeman said the plan is to make Church Street one-way in a westerly direction from N. Main Street to its intersection with West University. West University would be one-way in an easterly direction from the intersection with Church Street to North Main. Mill Street would be one-way in a southerly direction from Church to West University Street. The one-way flow will allow additional parking spaces along the south side of Church Street, along the south side of West University between Church and Mill St. intersections, and along the north side of West University between Mill and North Main Streets. While some 20 parking places could be added, a few will be lost on corners to improve sight distance.

Speaking their vows before an altar banked with lavender and purple chrysanthemums, Anne Elizabeth Hudson and Russell Pool were united in marriage by the Rev. David S. Clarke in a candlelight ceremony at the Gothic Chapel, Saturday, Oct. 1. The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, Robert W. Hudson of Cotati, CA, is also the daughter of Carol Burdick and the granddaughter of the late H.O. and Hannah Burdick. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Janet Pool of Doylestown, PA. Classical guitar music performed by Ben Howard of Alfred and a vocal solo sung by Elizabeth Dodge of Portland, ME, highlighted the noontime ceremony.

(Photo) Taking Shape—Making Progress: "The Doctor's Office" on Church Street is proceeding nicely as the exterior has been completed and work moves indoors. Pat Curran, who is the major contractor for the building, said sheetrock will be going on this week. The building should be completed "sometime in December."

Kenneth E. McIntosh, 49, of 77 Main St., Almond, died Monday, Oct. 24, 1988 at St. James Mercy Hospital in Hornell. A lifelong resident of the Almond area, he was a graduate of Alfred-Almond Central School and attended Vale Technological School in Blairsville, PA. Earlier, he was employed by the former McCool's Auto Glass in Hornell and later was associated with his father and brother in the operation of P.A. McIntosh Farm Implements of Almond. In 1969, he assumed ownership of Kanona Equipment, Inc., in Kanona, which he operated until 1985. In addition to this wife, survivors include one daughter, Marcie McIntosh of Ithaca; one son, Mark of Andover; his father of Almond; one sister, Anne Hardy-Holly of San Antonio, TX; one brother, Arthur of Texas; one grandson, nieces and nephews.

Coach Jim Moretti's Alfred Saxons are getting comfortable at home. AU won its third straight at Merrill Field Saturday, a 27-7 verdict over the University of Buffalo. AU is now 4-2-1 and has moved up to third in the ECAC Upstate NY coaches poll behind unbeaten Ithaca and Cortland. Senior quarterback Paul McDonnell completed 11 of 18 passes for 127 yards and one TD and added 61 yards rushing on 11 carries and a TD, and caught one pass for a 16-yard TD from tailback Ray Rogers. McDonnell was named to the ECAC North Honor Roll for his efforts.

For the first time ever, the AU men's soccer team will compete in the NCAA Div. III soccer tournament, seeded 3rd, facing 2nd-seeded Clarkson at Potsdam at 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5. 1st seed R.I.T. hosts 4th seed Binghamton State. AU finished its first unbeaten regular season (13-0-3) with a 2-0 win over Hobart and 2-1 win over Nazareth.

The State University of New York Research Foundation honored 58 of what it calls "New York's most important and innovative scholars and scientists...Dr. Linda Jones, professor of ceramic engineering, and Dr. William LaCourse, professor of glass science, both faculty members in the School of Engineering at Alfred University, were among those selected to receive the honor, from among hundreds of professionals in the SUNY system.

Sarah W. (Sally) Frechette, 84, of 22 South Main St., Alfred, died Wednesday, Oct. 29, 2003 in St. James Mercy Hospital, Hornell, where she was a patient for the past week. Born July 23, 1919, in Taber, Alberta, Canada, the daughter of Earl W. and Elizabeth Willetts Houghton, she later moved to Galva, Illinois with her family. She was married April 4, 1940, in Champagne, Ill., to VanDerck Frechette, who died in 2001. Sally had attended the University of Illinois where she met Van, who was completing his doctoral studies. Soon after their marriage, they came to Alfred in 1943 and had resided here since. Sally was the ultimate wife and mother that has come to typify growing up in the 1950s and 60s. She gave loving support to Van in his teaching and world travels and also supported her children's temporary interests in horses, cows, chickens, rabbits, dogs and cats. All these critters were at one time domiciled in the backyard at 22 South Main Street, Alfred. In the 1970s, Sally returned to finish her undergraduate degree at Alfred University in liberal arts. It was there that she took a course in stained glass, which kindled an interest that became her passion for the next 15 years. Sally and daughter Jude designed stained glass windows for The Wesleyan Church in Canandaigua. The project took about three years and, for the Frechettes, was similar in scope to Michelangelo's painting of the Sistine Chapel. The date of 8/8/88 had life-altering significance for Sally. It was on that day that she entered into abstinence from alcohol. For the remainder of her life she pursued and achieved sobriety. She was an active member of the Alfred chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous and was a caring and loving voice on the AA Hotline for those in need. In the final days of Sally's life, her daughter, Kathy (Kate), an Alfred University nursing graduate, guided with tender loving care, the departure from this world to the next. Many friends and family also visited her in the hospital as they said their goodbyes. In addition to her husband, Sally was predeceased by a sister, Jane Wintteroth. She is survived by two daughters, Kate (Bill) Foshee, Rochester; Jude Frechette, Alfred; three sons, William (Ginny) Frechette, Chittenango; Derck (Janis) Frechette and Chris (Wyn) Frechette, both of Rochester; and five grandchildren.

(Photo) Daniel Ormsby, a member of the Almond Volunteer Fire Department, came to Alfred-Almond Central School and talked to some of the elementary students about fire prevention and safety.

A former Alfred woman has won "Best of Show" for her submission in the "2003 Mayor's Art Show" in Eugene, Oregon where she now resides. Virginia Mae Sands, daughter of Dick and Margery Sands of Alfred, received the honros for her piece titled "School Picture." The piece is a series of color pencil drawings on variations of her older sister's second grade school picture at Alfred-Almond Central School. The Mayor's Art Show is Eugene's annual wide-open juried art competition. This year, a jury of three arts professionals selected 56 pieces from 477 entries for an exhibit that fills the Hult Center's Jacobs Gallery in Eugene.

The Union University Church of Alfred on Sunday evening, Oct. 5 held a dinner and celebration program to honor Reverend Laurie DeMott. Laurie began her ministry with the Union University Church in October 1983, bringing an unusual blend of biblical exegesis, science, and fondness for dog stories to the pulpit. More than 110 members and guests gathered in the King David Room to reminisce and applaud Laurie for all she has done in the church and community during the past twenty years.

'Give to Live: Giving Obedience'

By LINDA STAIGER

Suggestions from people who hike the trails in the Bridger Wilderness Area, near Jackson Hole, Wyoming:

"Trails need to be constructed. Please avoid building any trails that go uphill; Too many bugs, leeches and spiders--please spray to get rid...; Please pave trails and install chair lifts so we can get to wonderful views without having to hike up to them; Coyotes made too much noise last night--kept me awake--please eradicate these annoying animals; Escalators would help on steep uphill sections of trails; A McDonalds would be nice at the trail head; There are too many rocks on the mountains."

Way too many people do not understand what staying in a wilderness area means, don't you think?! ('Can you say-'Duh!') Truth is: in a similar way many people don't understand what it really means to be a disciple of Jesus. Convenient and comfortable are not exactly the watch words for discipleship. You cannot follow Him on YOUR terms--it has to be on HIS.

All this is said to introduce you to a new series at Almond Union of Churches--"Live 2 Give", Matthew 16:21-27. Obedience, Service, Grace and Worship. Today: Obedience.

An obedient follower lays something down. Remember when Jesus went to Peter and Andrew, the fishermen? "Come follow me and I will make you fishers of men." At once they left their nets and followed Him--same with James and John.

But then a rich young man came to Him and asked what he had to do for eternal life. Jesus told him to follow the law--the man said I do. Then Jesus said "If you want to be perfect, go, sell all your possessions and give to the poor, and you will have treasures in heaven." The young man walked away--he thought that he already had all the treasures since he was rich. So, we know the fishermen were all obedient, but we never hear anything more about the rich young man. The deal? In not laying down his stuff, he wasn't able to pick up what Jesus had for him. A very difficult thing to do--lay it all down.

An obedient follower also takes something up. "If anyone would come after me, he must deny himself and...take up his cross." It's not easy to be a follower of Jesus. Once you do, you really learn the meaning of the old saying "Everyone has a cross to bear." The follower goes against the flow. He gives up his sinful habits and lives for Jesus.

Often, this is not understood by friends who cannot understand how the relationship with God changes lives. Too many want easy, not hard and don't want to give up everything--we just want a casual faith. We want the forgiveness of the Cross, the warm fuzzy feelings we get on Sunday mornings, but we don't want to commit to Jesus on Monday mornings. We want the crown without the Cross. There is a statistic which says there may be as many as 25% of us who are casual. Also, the average church in America could drop one fourth of its members from the roll and neither the church nor the dropped members would notice any difference. Whew--scary!

Casual is just that--casual, 'namby-pamby', weak. It is not strong enough to save us. Jesus' call changes everything. An obedient follower lives something out. It's a process that takes a lifetime...follow me day after day after day. We live out our faith every day, over the long haul.

There's a story about a graduation ceremony at a small college. Small enough that as each grad came to the stage, he was allowed to say a few words about his/her plans. The comment which got the best response was when a grad waved his diploma and said, "It's time to stop learning and start living!" That's the feeling probably most or all grads have--they worked hard over the college years and they're ready to reap the benefits. But most soon realize that learning doesn't stop when you get your degree... (thank heaven!) You need to keep learning to stay sharp--(not to mention staving off boredom!)

It's the same in Christian life. We never reach a point where we say we have arrived and we know everything we need to know. Spiritual growth is a never-ending process of learning and applying God's truth to our lives. To be an obedient follower means to be a lifelong learner, looking to Jesus every day for the lesson He's teaching us today. So, how are you doing? Bible study, Sabbath school class, read from the Bible every day? Are you a Radical Obedient? At this point, in memory of our Pastor Ed Richardson, I write: "Can I hear an Amen? Amen, Richardson!" Go with God, blessed man, follower of Jesus.

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, November 7

Commenting on the value of faithful attendance at church, John Quincy Adams noted in his diary:

"There is scarcely a Sunday passes [that I don't] hear something of which a pointed application to my own situation and circumstances occurs to my thoughts. It is often consolation, support, encouragement--sometimes warning and admonition, sometimes keen and trying remembrance of deep distress. The lines [of the Isaac Watts hymn sung that Sunday] are of the cheering kind."

ADAMS, MEMOIRS, IX, 289.

Alfred plays its season home finale at 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 9, against Utica, then travels to Pittsford, to take on St. John Fisher in the Courage Bowl at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 16. Salisbury hosts Ithaca Saturday, with Alfred needing a Salisbury win to remain in the hunt for an Empire 8 title. Alfred wins in its final two games and an Ithaca loss to Salisbury would give the Saxons the conference crown and the league's automatic bid to the NCAA championship tournament.

The Dugout

By DOUG LOROW
Alfred Sun Sports Columnist
dugout2@gmail.com

There have been a number of big wins over the years in the annals of Alfred University football and this past Saturday ranks right up there. The Saxons topped nationally ranked Salisbury, 31-21 in a "must win" game for AU if they had any hopes at all of grabbing the E8 title. The Sea Gulls, with their potent running attack, were undefeated in conference play and Coach Dave Murray's program already had a loss to Ithaca on their ledger. Tiebreaker to the Bombers. Two league defeats by AU and an ECAC Bowl was the best they could do this season.

Took off from Henrietta and headed to Hornell where I would meet AU photographer, Leo Nealon for breakfast at the Country Kitchen. He staying overnite in Hornell to shoot the JV game for AU the next afternoon. Excellent meal, as always and saw Lisa (Patrick) Porter there. Next stop Yunevich Stadium, Alfred. Headed up to the press box to see Cody, wearing his UA ... not AU, hat this day. We chatted about the recent Marine Corps Marathon I was at as his son, Aaron has run in the event with Pat and Cody on hand to watch. AD Paul Vecchio stopped by and had moment to chat with the busy person. Always good seeing him. Soon it would be game time and spotted Paul and Penny McDonnell heading to their seats. The former standout QB at Alfred. Penny a soccer player for Pat Codispoti with the Saxons. Son, Ryan the current punter for Alfred.

Perfect football weather except for a brief, first-hand rain and an added bonus for me to sit with QB McDonnell as he is explaining reads, the linemen and their gaps, the offense of Salisbury when they have a stacked backfield and much, much more. I have my own in-game analyst who is a former Saxon! Can't beat that. Knew McDonnell when he played at Alfred so we are just catching up after 20-25 years or so. Whew.

Alfred's defense rises to the occasion on countless drives by Salisbury that has an offense just like Springfield's. Mis-directions, traps, pitchouts, QB keepers, the option on roll outs. A solid backfield but no passing attack and that was their downfall eventually. The Sea Gulls out-weighed Alfred, offensive line to defensive line, but they didn't out-play the Saxons! Yes the visitors had some big plays, that is going to happen when a quality opponent lines up, but the AU defense made enough stops and forced three turnovers to change the complexion of the game. Salisbury had to start passing the ball and that was hardly a strength. Their receivers looked lost and the Alfred defense stuffed the visiting QB time after time, late. Victory for Alfred.

The win sets up this conference scenario as the regular season comes to a close in two weeks. If Alfred beats Utica this Saturday at home and Salisbury stops Ithaca at their place, the Saxons would control their own destiny in the final regular season outing at SJ Fisher. The Cardinals are already history in the E8 for this year and would like nothing better than to spoil AU's bid for the NCAA's in the Courage Bowl. Two wins and AU goes back to the NCAA's for the first time since 2010. A split in games and the Saxons would most likely be in an ECAC Bowl. Two losses ... yikes, done. Don't see that happening.

Game over, time to say good-bye to Paul and Penny. Plan on seeing them again this Saturday but Paul has to depart soon after college game to head to high school football game where he is an assistant on the Burnt Hills staff. Team his son was QB-PK-P for prior to starting his collegiate career. Sectional championship time.

Headed to Wegmans in Hornell after game to get some Salt Risen bread for my mom and sister as I'll be seeing them at Thanksgiving. Run into former J-T basketball coach and Section Five administrator, Bob Cleaves at the store. Hadn't seen him since a Gus Macker tournament in Hornell a few years back. Good catching up with him!

Next stop on this busy Saturday was Cheesy Eddie's in Rochester to retrieve a coat from Bakes that I left in his vehicle the week before from our trip to Philly/DC. John and Colleen ... just off knee surgery, were watching feed of the UPenn-Brown soccer game in Providence so stayed and watched the second-half with them. Son, Stephen with a sprained ankle in the first half and not on the field for the second stanza. Yuk.

After that it was off to Brighton to see the "AA" girls sectional soccer championship as it was Webster Schroeder against Webster Thomas. Lauren played at Schroeder for Coach Kent Brown and was hoping to see him grab a title. The Schroeder GK is Megan Herbst, younger sister of Jess and other than that, knew no players for WS. Crazy.

As I have stated in this space prior, it just amazes me that the most important games of the year are often played in the worst weather. This one "took the cake." Temps in the 40's, a chill at nite, wind and a steady rain blowing sideways. Tough conditions for both teams in a sectional final. Conditions bearable for me as Coach Wiley of Geneseo came to the game, off a win by his women's squad, so we chatted all thru the contest. Thomas won, 1-0 as they buried a shot in the upper left corner of the goal that would've been a great shot no matter the conditions. GK Herbst had no chance. Thomas advances to take on the Section Six rep now.

A busy ... fun ... sports day in the books.

Sea Gulls banded: AU upsets #25 Salisbury State, 31-21

ALFRED—The Alfred University football team (6-2-0, 4-1-0 Empire 8) forced three turnovers and held No. 23 Salisbury to 185 yards rushing—nearly 100 under its average coming in—as the Saxons beat the visiting Sea Gulls, 31-21, Saturday afternoon at Yunevich Stadium.

With the win, AU avenged a 69-0 loss to the Sea Gulls the last time these two teams met in Alfred, in 2011, and moved 4-1 in the Empire, a half-game behind Ithaca.

Alfred scored first, driving the length of the field after a Salisbury punt pinned the Saxons at their own 1-yard line 4:41 into the first quarter. Sophomore cornerback Calvin Bain (Rochester/East) scored on a two-yard run to cap the nine-play, 99-yard drive that took 5:11 off the clock.

Alfred took a 21-14 lead into halftime, courtesy of a pair of trick plays that resulted in touchdowns. After Salisbury scored to tie the game at 7-7 after one quarter, the Saxons moved back ahead on their first drive of the second period. After Salisbury scored with 1:54 left in the first, Alfred took over at its own 39-yard line and used 12 plays to drive to the Sea Gull 6-yard line. On third-and-goal, AU senior wide receiver Jonathan Ruffin (Copiague) took a handoff on wide receiver reverse and lofted a pass to a wide open senior tight end Alec Ladonis (Nescopeck, PA/Berwick) for the touchdown.

Salisbury answered on the Sea Gulls' ensuing drive, tying the game at 14-14. Alfred responded on the Saxons' next drive, starting at its own 16-yard line. AU faced a third-and-2 at their own 38 when senior wide receiver David Lee Tack (Newark) received a cross-the-field lateral pass from AU freshman quarterback Tyler Johnson (East Syracuse-Minoa), pulled up and lofted a pass to senior wide receiver Josh Phillips (Syracuse/West Genesee). Phillips caught the ball near the Salisbury 30, eluded two defenders and sprinted to the end zone for a 62-yard TD catch that gave AU a 21-14 lead with 2:44 left in the half.

Salisbury tied the game at 21-21 with 6:36 left in the third on a one-yard run that came two plays after Salisbury took possession at the AU 26-yard line following a short punt. But that's all the scoring the Sea Gulls would get while Alfred tallied 10 points in the final frame. The Saxons scored on a 22-yard TD pass from Johnson to Phillips 11 seconds into the fourth. The touchdown came one play after AU junior linebacker Justin Liberta (Hamburg/Frontier) intercepted a Salisbury screen pass at the Salisbury 22-yard line on the Sea Gulls' first play of the fourth. AU freshman kicker Thomas Gioia (West Seneca/Bishop Timon) booted a 24-yard field goal with 1:39 left in the game to seal the Saxons' victory.

For the second time in three games, the Saxons did not have a turnover and have had only one in the last three contests. Salisbury was not as fortunate, turning the ball over three times: twice on fumbles and once on an interception. Senior free safety Seiji Hinton (Freeport) had a game-high 11 tackles and forced a fumble to lead the AU defense, which held Salisbury to 271 yards of offense and 185 yards rushing. The Sea Gulls came in averaging 358 yards of offense and 283 yards rushing. Sophomore linebacker Peter Diak (Rush-Henrietta) had five tackles (one for loss, one sack) and recovered a fumble; senior end Justin Collen (Averill Park) had four tackles, a sack, and a forced fumble; and Liberta had two tackles (both for loss), including a sack.

The Saxon offense dominated a Salisbury defense that came in allowing only 279 yards per game, including a mere 79 per contest rushing. Alfred piled up 399 yards, including 165 rushing on 41 carries, with senior tailback Austin Dwyer (Hornell) running for a game-high 85 yards on 18 carries, Bain chipping in with 33 on four carries, and senior fullback Chuck Beckwith (Victor) adding 32 on eight

HITS AND MISSES:

In other NCAA Division III football action, it was: SJ Fisher nipping Utica, 28-27 ... Hobart stopping Union, 41-20 ... Brockport easing by CNJ, 14-3 ... Ithaca blanking Frostburg State, 23-0 ... Buffalo State winning a wild one over Hartwick, 59-41 ... Rowan over Cortland in a high-scoring baseball game, 10-9 ... and Alfred beating Salisbury, 31-21 !!!

In high school sectionals, the Alfred-Almond girls soccer team lost in the semi-finals in "C" play to Keshequa who went on and won their third-straight title and fourth in the last five years. Keshequa beat Wheatland-Chili ... the alma mater of "Magic" in girls soccer!

Picked up a copy of the Olean Times Herald when in Alfred on Saturday and noticed an article on the Ellicottville girls soccer team in sectional play. Coach Mary Neilon has been there for 29-years, her teams have made the "D" finals EVERY year and they have claimed 24-championships. What? Almost too unbelievable. Ellicottville will next play J-T or Belfast, I believe. The Ellicottville boys also won their sectional championship this year.

Coach Anne Holmok's (A-A) women's soccer team at Alfred State won their opening game in the USCAA Championships as they clobbered SUNY ESF, 4-1 in the quarter-finals. The Pioneers then lost in the semi's to #1 seeded Maine-Fort Kent, 2-1 as Hannah Holmok converted a PK for ASC. Team is at 12-5-1 now with a possible shot for an ECAC tournament invite. The Fort Kent team won the USCAA title in 2010 and '11.

UPenn dropped the double overtime contest at Brown and are now (3-1-1) in Ivy League play with two games left. Stephen Baker and his teammates are tied with Princeton for the top spot in the league and they play the Tigers this week at Rhodes Field in Philly. Senior Day, Homecoming and the Ivy League title perhaps on the line!

Coach Wiley's women's soccer team at SUNY Geneseo knocked off Cortland at Cortland in opening round SUNYAC playoff action, #6 over #3, as the Knights prevailed in a PK Shootout. Buffalo State is up next.

Coach Pat O'Driscoll's women's soccer team at PS-Behrend, a 2013 opponent of Alfred State, had quite the last nine games of their regular season. They went 8-1 in that stretch, outscoring their opponents 35-1 in the wins and losing 4-0 to Houghton in the lone loss. PS-Behrend competes in the Allegheny Mountain Collegiate League.

Former Alfred State College cross country runner, Jim Bathgate ... who ran for Gary "Doc" Moore (A-A) with the Pioneers is now the coach at East Rochester in x-country. His team won the "DD" sectionals over the weekend.

Meghan DioGuardi of Alfred-Almond did indeed get to compete in the NYS Championships at the Tri-City Tennis Center in Latham over the weekend past. The A-A senior beat Sera Satkowski of Valley Central in round one before falling to Ester Chikvashvili of Half Hollow Hills East in round two. Thus wrapping up an outstanding tennis career for the Eagles.

Spotted some NYS vanity plates here and there: 4 JOEY ... Canale in Horseheads, MARK&ME ... Josh Mix amongst all the women in Fairfax, STRUGGLR ... Scum and Frank on the links.

Received a text over the weekend from Coach Bob W. Beyer, on staff with the Charlotte Bobcats-Hornets of the NBA after spending last season with the Golden State Warriors. Reports "all is well."

Had a brief conversation with Stu Smith ... posing as Tommy Lasorda, at the Salisbury-Alfred football contest as he was making his way to his seat prior. Father of A-A classmate and "trick-shot putter," the one and only Smitty.

Didn't know this at time of race but another A-A classmate of mine, Stephanie (Lobdell) Landsman also ran in the Marine Corps Marathon at the end of October. Two straight years in that event and she lowered her time this year by 26-minutes! Running in 2012 in memory of her dad, Leon Lobdell. The Houston resident will next run in the Houston Marathon in January, her sixth time in that event and ninth marathon overall. In addition to countless 10K's, 10-Milers and 1/2 Marathons!

Daughter Lauren ran in the NYC Marathon this past Sunday and finished with a time of 3:58:50 as she made her goal of beating the 4-hour mark. 3L was 15,184 overall (out of about 52,000) ... 3318 female ... 135 in her age group. Her first marathon after four 1/2's ... Rochester, Rochester, Pittsburgh, Lake Placid. Next up, the famed Cincinnati 10K Turkey Trot in Ohio/Kentucky.

The Red Sox win the World Series ... just great. Mead, Scum and Canale quite pleased. Not me. And enough gloating, Julie Jock! Brother-in-law, Fish took in game #4 in St. Louis.

Received texts/photos from Pat Atwell in NC over weekend as he and The Kaz hooked up. Hurricanes NHL action. Drury at Duke in hoops ... yes! Solid weekend for the Andover product.

A "mild" (for me) sports weekend on tap as headed to Alfred game versus Utica with Nealon on Saturday.
