INFORMATION.

Admission.

Candidates for admission into this Institution must present testimonials of good moral character, and be willing to comply, unreservedly, with the following

Regulations.

1st. Passing from room to room by student's during the regular hours of study, or after the ringing of the first bell each evening, can not be permitted.

2d. No student will be excused to leave town, except to visit home unless by the express wish of such student's parent or guardian.

3d. Punctuality in attending to all regular academic exercises, will be required.

4th. The use of tobacco, for chewing or smoking cannot be allowed, either within or about the academic buildings.

5th. Playing at games of chance, or using profane language can not be permitted.

Academic Terms.

The Academic year for 1846-7 consists of three terms, as follows :

The First commencing Tuesday August 11th, 1846, and ending Thursday November 19th, 1846.

The Second commencing Tuesday November 24th, 1846, and ending Thursday March 4th, 1847.

The Third commencing Tuesday March 23d. 1847 and ending Thursday July 1st, 1847.

As the classes are arranged at the commencement of the term, it is very desirable that students purposing to attend the institution, should then be present ; and as the plan of instruction laid out for each class, will require the entire term for its completion, it is of the utmost importance that students should continue till the close of the term, and accordingly no student will be admitted for any length of time less than a term, extraordinaries excepted.

Students prepared to enter classes already in operation, can be admitted at any time in term.

Board per Week,	$1,00
Tuition per Term, from	$3,50 to 5,00
Washing, Lights and Fuel per Term from	2,00 to 5,00
Piano (extra) per Term,	10,00
Incidental expenses per Term,	25

The entire expense for an Academic Year, including board, washing, lights, fuel and tuition (except on the Piano) need not exceed seventy dollars.

The expenses for board and tuition must be settled in advance, at the commencement of each term, either by actual payment or satisfactory arrangement.

Students not having completed the prescribed course, will receive commendations as teachers, when they evince the requisite qualifications, and aptitude for teaching, but no professor is allowed to give such commendations, till a student has spent at least one term in the regular course of instruction in the Institution.

Department of Languages.

LATIN—Text Books.—Bullion's Grammar, Bullion's Reader, Cæsar's Commentaries, Anthon's Cicero's Orations, Anthon's Sallust, Cooper's Virgil, Folsom's Livy, Anthon's Horace, Kingsley's Tacitus, Cicero de Officiis, Cicero de Oratore, Terence, Juvenal, Leverett's Dictionary.

GREEK—Text Books.—Bullion's Grammar, Anthon's Lessons, Anthon's Reader, Wilson's Testament, Cleaveland's Xenophon's Anabasis, Packard's Xenophon's Mem., Felton's Iliad, Grove's Lexicon.

SUBSIDIARY.—Adam's Roman Antiquities, Porter's Grecian Antiquities, Butler's Ancient Geography and Atlas, Anthon's Classical Dictionary.

ITALIAN.—Graglia's Dictionary, Nuovo Testamento, Gerusalemme Liberata, Vergani's Grammar.

FRENCH.—Boyer's or Meadow's Dictionary, Levizac's Grammar, Girault's Vie de Washington, Charles the twelfth, L'Histoire des Etats Unis, Le Brun's Telemaque, Bolmar's Conversational Phrases, Girault's French Guide.

Department of Mathematics.

Text Books.—Those enumerated in the course for teachers, and Hassler's Theoretical Arithmetic, Davies' Bourdon's Algebra, Davies' Differential and Integral Calculus, Davies' Descriptive Geometry, Davies' Analytical Geometry, Farrar's Topography.

Department of Natural Science.

Most of the Text Books, usually used in this department, have been enumerated in connection with the teachers department.

Department of Moral Science.

Text Books.—Paley's Natural Theology, Butler's Analogy, Wayland's Moral Science, Stewart's Mental Philosophy.

Ladies Department.

Ladies recite in classes with gentlemen as far as they are pursuing the same branches. All needful facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the polite and ornamental branches of education will be furnished. An accomplished Pianist, Miss MARGARET McAWLEY, devotes her time entirely to giving instruction on the Piano. Parents can entrust their daughters to her instruction in Music with entire confidence.

Apparatus.

The Apparatus of this Institution is sufficiently ample to illustrate successfully the fundamental principles of the different departments of Natural Science.

A MANIKIN of the most approved structure, and a large amount of other apparatus in illustration of Human Physiology and Anatomy, have been imported from Paris, the past year, expressly for this Institution.—This enables the student in these highly important and interesting branches of science, to pursue his studies with advantages nearly equal to those afforded by the dissection of an actual subject, having this further advantage of being divested of all those revolting circumstances ever attendant on the dissecting room.

Lectures.

Courses of Lectures on Natural and Moral Science each term of the year. A course of Lectures on Chemistry will commence at the beginning of each fall term and continue to its close, accompanied by a complete course of experiments.

Daily Lectures on School Teaching during the fall and winter terms.

Location.

This Institution has a quiet and retired location, six miles south of Almond and thirteen miles south-east of Angelica.

Notice.

The primary object of this Institution, is the qualification of School Teachers. Teachers classes are exercised in teaching under the immediate supervision of their respective teachers, combining all the facilities of a Normal School. It has sent out not less than one hundred and fifty teachers annually for the three past years, a number much larger than from any other Institution in the State.

The plan of instruction aims at a complete development of all the moral, intellectual, and physical powers of students in a manner to render them thorough and practical scholars, prepared to meet the great responsibilities of active life.

The trustees would take this opportunity to assure the public that no exertion shall be wanting on their part to make the Institution worthy of the very extensive patronage that it has hitherto received.

SAMUEL RUSSELL, President.
