Dear Professor,

Your letter at hand. I too had concluded that the sulphur was doing me but I think most of it is in the coal and I am looking for a person who can make money for an unreasonable man and use the sort of materials I could get out of them.

I am informed from a very reliable source that they plan to try it with my glazes themselves, as soon as I am gone. And they will have worse luck than I have had, too.

I am informed by the St. Louis fairies that they can't take me on right away and they request me to hold out a bit for them.

So I can very readily come east at once and will be glad to do so provided they meet the cost.

Write me here if you can do so before Wednesday. Otherwise write me at St. Joseph, Michigan to P. E. Cox.

By the way, on a talk with the non-craze people I find them simply mistaken as to the non-craze part of it and willing to own up.

Yours very truly
Paul E. Cox
