Wishing you "Eid Mubarak!" (Recognizing Eid Al Adha on Monday, 9/12)

Friends,

Two little words could make someone feel like a valued member of our community.

"Eid Mubarak" which translates as Happy Holidays.

Please take a moment to enhance your cultural awareness of our students' needs regarding the upcoming Muslim holy day of Eid Al Adha. While Eid Al Adha spans four days, this year the Muslim community has determined Monday 9/12 as the core day of gathering, worship and celebration.

This day is considered the holiest in the Islamic Calendar, following Ramadan and acknowledging the successful observance and sacrifices of the month.

A small group of students will be headed to Rochester on Sunday evening to worship and celebrate with the Rochester Islamic community. Some may miss Monday classes and will approach their faculty requesting an excused absence. An empathy tip for non-Muslims might be to compare this to attending classes on Christmas, Rosh Hashanah or Yom Kippur (the latter two - also days in which we hold classes).

If you know students who identify as Muslim, please take a moment to wish them "Eid Mubarak," either in-person or in writing. Thank you for reading and helping to make AU an inclusive community.

ITS Equipment Lending Has Moved to the ITS Helpdesk

ITS is pleased to announce that ITS Equipment Lending has relocated to the ITS Helpdesk on the lower level of Herrick Library. The former Lending office in Perlman Hall is now closed.

This new, convenient location will allow us to provide a better quality of service to the campus community.

If you have any questions, please contact the ITS Helpdesk at 607-871-2222 or helpdesk@alfred.edu.

Pamela Bernstein & Gene Bernstein Leadership Internship Award

Students who graduate college without substantial experiences are at a disadvantage when applying for jobs or graduate programs. Hands-on experiences are critical for leadership development. Internships also provide opportunities for networking, mentoring, and obtaining references and recommendations. This is an opportunity for students to take advantage of internships and conference opportunities.

This internship award has a rolling application date. Please contact Ana Gauthier (gauthier@alfred.edu) in the Judson Leadership Center for this application and to obtain additional information.

The Place of Drawing in the Curriculum

Tuesday, September 13, 4:30-5:30pm

Cohen Gallery

Cost: Free

Sponsored by: Cohen Gallery and Division of Drawing, Painting and Photography

Almost 10 years ago an animated discussion was held regarding drawing at the School of Art and Design in conjunction with Mario Prisco's exhibition, "Drawing from Life," at the Fosdick Nelson Gallery. On Tuesday, September 13th, the Cohen will host a roundtable revisiting this theme in relationship to the presentation of Prisco's most recent works on paper, "Observed and Imagined," opening September 16th. The roundtable is both a celebration of Prisco's commitment to drawing in his own practice as well as drawing in the curriculum of the School of Art and Design. Attendees will get a sneak preview of the exhibition and will have the opportunity to hear from the artists that teach drawing at Alfred about their pedagogical approaches and the part that drawing plays in their own work. Audience members are encouraged to contribute to the discussion, led by Kevin Wixted with Ro Lohin, Stephanie McMahon, Mario Prisco, Kat Reising, and Kathy Vajda.

Glen Cook

10-19-2016, 4:30 PM
Binns-Merrill Hall room 106
Cost: Free

Glen Cook became chief scientist for The Corning Museum of Glass after 16 years at Corning Incorporated as a senior research associate, conducting research in inorganic materials processing and composition.

As chief scientist, Cook is responsible for researching and sharing scientific and technical topics in glass. He informs exhibitions, programs and publications, and also serves as a technical resource for the broader museum community, museum guests and the general public, as well as artists working in glass today.

In 2013, Cook's outstanding record was recognized with Corning Incorporated's prestigious Stookey Award for cutting-edge exploratory and applied research, as well as in recognition of being the named inventor on more than two dozen patent applications.

From 2012 to 2014, Cook has collaborated closely with Museum glassmakers in glass forming process research. Cook is also the technical advisor to the new Specialty Glass Artist-in-Residence program that is jointly managed by Corning Incorporated and The Corning Museum of Glass.

Cook holds a PhD and MS in metallurgical engineering from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and a BS in materials engineering from the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology.

New Canvas Feature - Email Your Students

ITS is pleased to announce that faculty now have the ability to email their students from Canvas. This feature has recently become available, and has been enabled at the institutional level.

Individual instructors will need to update their default Conversation settings to send messages to email, rather than the internal Inbox in Canvas.

Instructions are attached. If you have any questions, please contact the ITS Helpdesk at 607-871-2222 or helpdesk@alfred.edu.
