A-A school board presents $11.4 mil spending plan

By DAVID L. SNYDER
Editor and Publisher

ALMOND—The Alfred-Almond Central School Board of Education will present a 2011-2012 budget of $11,415,352 to district residents at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 3 in the high school auditorium.

The proposed spending plan, an increase in spending of 1.17% over the current year, was approved at the April 13 meeting of the A-A Board of Education. It calls for a 2.61% increase in the property tax levy, while anticipated state aid will be reduced by $522,572 from the current school year.

To hold the line on the tax levy increase, the school board made reductions in expenditures of about $175,000.

"We looked at everything that we can do to reduce our expenditures while also providing the same level of service," said School Superintendent Richard Calkins.

Reductions included:

--$20,000 by reducing all cafeteria workers by 1 hour a day

--$15,000 by eliminating one bus driver position by consolidating bus routes

--$17,500 by eliminating a half-time cleaning position

--$5,500 by eliminating two of the school's four modified soccer teams and its modified skiing

--$95,000 by eliminating the occupational (home economics) teaching position

--$22,000 by eliminating a teacher aide position

"I hope the public can see that we're trying to maintain a real responsible budget for everyone," Calkins said.

Despite the cuts, total spending for 2011-12 is expected to be $11,415,352, or a 1.17% increase over the 2010-11 budget of $11,283,645.

Voting on the budget will be held from 1 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, May 17 in the high school auditorium. Also on the ballot will be a proposition to purchase one 66-passenger school bus at a cost not to exceed $101,815.03; and a proposition to increase the existing appropriation for support of Almond Library and Alfred Box of Books Library by $2,000, resulting in the total amount of $66,000 annually, with $35,000 for the Box of Books and $31,000 for the Almond Library.

Local Boy Scouts visit Boston during break

Special to the Alfred Sun

BOSTON--During Spring Break boy scouts from Troop 19 took their Urban Trip to Boston, MA.

The trip began with an evening visit to the Museum of Science featuring Lightning!, a live presentation about electric charge and lightning. We used the "T", America's first subway system, to get around the city.

The next day we started out with a tour of Fenway Park, the home of the Boston Red Sox, which was busy getting ready for opening day. We learned about the exciting history of the stadium and several of the players.

It was a beautiful sunny day to visit the Franklin Park Zoo. Then off we went to the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum which featured exhibits about his campaign trail, oval office, space program and mementos from his presidency.

The scouts met a special visitor to the library that day, Massachusetts US Senator Scott Brown. We ended the day with dinner at the Barking Crab and a walk along the Boston Harbor.

While in Boston they walked the 2.5 mile Freedom Trail from Bunker Hill Monument (294 steps to the top) to Boston Common and enjoyed visiting the many historical sites in between such as Faneuil Hall, the USS Constitution (the oldest commissioned warship afloat), Quincy Markets, King's Chapel and Burying Ground.

Then we headed to the North End for dinner at Regina Pizzeria before we went to the Celtics game. If you go to Regina's, be prepared to wait in line, it is quite popular.

The basketball game was exciting, awesome if you have never been to a pro game, and the Celtics won against the Pistons. Then we were off in search of Mike's Pastry Shop after seeing people all day carrying little boxes from there. We found it, another popular spot, filled with delicious sweets. We carried our boxes on the subway back to the hotel for a bedtime snack. A great way to end a full day in Boston.

To keep with tradition we stopped on the Appalachian Trail for a short hike on our way back home. It was still another urban trip full of memories for the boys in Troop 19. Thank you for supporting them and making these trips possible.

Grew up in Alfred
GENEVA—Peter Donald Eisenhardt, 59, of Seneca Falls, died Friday, March 25, 2011 at Geneva General Hospital following a short illness.

“From sports to circulating Alcens, Pete is a very versatile person,” said the description under his senior photo in the Alcen yearbook, “A handsome addition to our class, he claims his dislikes are school ‘lunches,’ and squeaky shoes. His performanc ein the Senior Play was sensational. He says his ‘hang-up’ is worrying.

He attended Alfred University. An avid musician, Peter loved to play guitar and also taught guitar to many area like-minded music lovers. He also enjoyed reading.

Despite limitations of a prolonged illness, Peter remained optimistic and forever looked forward to his future.

Survivors include a brother and sister-in-law, Jamie and Peg (Margaret Brown) Eisenhardt of Alfred Station; three nephews, Matthew Eisenhardt of Rochester; Kurtis and Robert Eisenhardt, both of Alfred Station; an aunt, Katherine Labbour of Arkport, and a cousin, Mark Labbour of Arkport.

It's a snap to make this elegant dessert

Last week we bought an elegant cake at the Sam's Club in Rochester, planning to have something special for Easter dinner. Unfortunately, we somehow left it in the shopping cart. So, at the last minute, I had to come up with something to substitute.

This recipe was given to me by my brother many years ago. It is a snap to make delicious to eat, and is elegant too.

Poi du Crème

6 oz. semi-sweet chocolate chips ¾ c. milk
2 T. sugar 1 tsp. vanilla
1 egg pinch of salt

Put the chocolate chips, sugar, salt, and one egg in a blender. Pulse blend a few minutes. Boil the milk and slowly add it to the covered blender. Blend until smooth. Pour into four dishes and top with whipped cream and berries, if desired.

Think before leaping

To the Editor:

I was born and brought up in Western New York State (Cuba, NY) until our transfer at Acme Electric in 1970 to Lumberton, NC so New York State will always be “home to me.”

About 20 years ago, my friends, family and neighbors fought hard to keep a hazardous waste dump out of New York State. It was a hard battle but they did “Bump the Dump.”

Now as I read the local papers and articles in the “Popular Science” magazines (Oct. 2010, pgs. 62-63), the area is again being enticed by energy companies to lease land so they can use hydraulic fracturing to get gas cheap.

“Fracking” Marcellus Shale for energy companies means more money in their pockets and it should be investigated as to why they must(?) use this fracking method through shale.

According to an article in “Popular Science” magazine, hydraulic fracking is done because it is cheaper. Companies only have to drill one well instead of drilling several vertical wells. A “frack fluid” (made up of sand, chemicals such as benzene and water) is used with a “perf” gun that makes small explosions to fracture the shale. What comes up to the surface in addition to the so-called natural gas is salt, heavy metals and natural occurring radioactive materials. Then, this “spent” fluid has to go somewhere so it goes to storage tanks, waste water platns and dumps.

Could this mean possible errors? Could greed take priority? Could benzene and other chemicals leak into your drinking water? I suspect so since gas drilling is exempt from the Safe Drinking Water Act. Then there’s the trucks carrying spill chemicals, wells that could explode underground and tanks that could leak.

Cheap? Yes, for the energy companies. Safer ways ARE known but fracking is cheap. Their greed could be “not so cheap for you,” your livelihood for generations to come. Could your fishing hole or creek become contaminated? Think how contaminated water could affect your life (your garden, your family, your animals, your health, your environment, etc.)

Good water is precious and is essential to life. Protect it!! Get the REAL facts before you decide to lease your land to money hogs. It should be mandatory that other, more safer methods of extraction be used if fracking puts aquifer water in danger of possible contamination. Only proven suitable methods should be used.

Still in doubt? Read “Popular Mechanics” magazine (October 2010, pgs 76-87, cont. 123). Energy companies are good talkers, they also are good at “passing the buck” when tragedy happens.

CNN Live TV, February 18th broadcast did an interview with Mark Ruffalo regarding his efforts in campaigning against the use of their “hydraulic fracking” practice. He had made five trips to Albany regarding this problem and has a related film entitled “Hollywood Goes to Washington.” They showed a film segment of a man actually lighting and burning the gas coming out of a kitchen sink water faucet along with the water. They believed it to be caused by the “hydraulic fracking” practice.

Still in doubt? Read “Time” magazine (April 11, 2011) feature article entitled “DThis Rock Could Power the World” starting at Page 40.

Allegany County Legislator

MORE OR LESS GOVERNMENT

Is government too big? This is an important question that generates a lot of discussion. Perhaps a better question is what exactly do we mean when we say that government is too big. Is government too big because it keeps taking more and more money away from us in the form of taxes? If so, then it is clearly too large.

Most of the money raised by State and local governments goes to pay for various government social benefit and education programs. If we are serious about reducing taxes and the size of government, we are going to have to accept fewer services and fewer benefits. In recent years several State political leaders have declared that they can reduce taxes by reducing waste and making government more efficient. While some progress can be made in these areas, experience has shown that the only viable long-term way to reduce taxes is to reduce services. Are we prepared to cut services to our elderly, our poor, and our young students? When it comes to actually reducing services we become schizophrenic. We want lower taxes, but more services. While that may sound good, nobody has been able to figure out how to do it.

I believe that the size of government must be reduced significantly. We simply cannot afford our current level of taxation. However, this will be difficult, and it will be painful. We need fewer government programs, and fewer government employees. We need to pay out fewer benefits to fewer people. However, I have serious doubts about whether our political leaders have the backbone to actually “bite the bullet” and reduce the size of government.

Instead of actually reducing the size of government our State leaders have employed various tactics to confuse the issue. Governor Cuomo appointed a Task Force to make proposals regarding State mandate relief. That Task Force has not produced any actual proposals for such relief. Nevertheless Governor Cuomo continues to push for a real property tax cap on local governments. In the meantime the State has pushed numerous expenses and programs down onto local governments. This is political posturing. Unfortunately, the media has failed to challenge this game of political charades.

Governor Cuomo has also advocated consolidation of local governments. This will supposedly bring about increased efficiency. This sounds good, but very few local governments have embraced the concept. Why hasn’t the State approach been successful? In reality the State is the problem, not the solution. Its heavy handed approach will almost certainly result in greater costs and higher taxes. Local governments in Allegany County have pioneered municipal cooperation agreements in numerous areas. They have increased efficiency, reduced expenses, and improved service. The State needs to give local governments more flexibility and independence, not push its “one size fits all” approach.

In some circles it has become fashionable to advocate reducing the number of elected representatives. Erie County recently voted to reduce its County Legislature from 15 County members to 11. Its experience is interesting. In 1968 Erie County had 54 elected County representatives. That year they reduced their governing Board to 20 Legislators. In 1981 they reduced to 17 Legislators. In 2004 they reduced to 15. Now they are going to only 11 Legislators. Ironically each reduction in size has resulted in increased expenses. Fewer Legislators has translated into increased paid staff members. If this pattern holds the cost for their “reduced” legislature will increase again. Let’s see what happens.

I believe that government should become smaller in size and impact. However, I also believe that we should have more elected representatives, not fewer. We need more people in government out of a desire to serve, rather than as a job. We need more voices and viewpoints, not fewer. The closer government gets to the people the more responsive it becomes. I support smaller government, but with more elected representation, not less.

Frank Crumb's Dream
Campaign Update

114 down, 11 to go

Back in 1884, a simple item appeared in the Sun that said, “Wanted, one thousand subscribers to the Alfred Sun.” It’s been 125 years since legendary Sun Editor Frank A. Crumb, with the Sun from 1883 to 1951, set the millenary goal.

I, too, had set a goal of 1000 subscribers when I joined the paper in 1976. That goal was finally reached in January 1999.

The late Eugene T. Van Horn, who owned the newspaper from 1951 until 1973, told us one time that circulation peaked in the 1960s at 700. It’s now over 900. We’ve added 114 new subscribers since Jan. 1, 2009.

Get connected. If you would like to contribute to Frank Crumb’s Dream, send your name and address or that of a loved one together with your check payable to “Alfred Sun” to: Frank Crumb’s Dream, c/o Alfred Sun, P.O. Box 811, Alfred, NY 14802. Thank you!

Hope Zaccagni's paintings exhibited in Wellsville center

Hope Zaccagni graduated from The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill with a Bachelor of Arts in Fine Arts in painting and sculpture. She spent the following summer at Penland School in Penland, North Carolina studying jewelry making.

After thirteen years of work-ing as a self-employed silver and goldsmith making fine art jew-elry, she founded The Puppet Company in Belmont and started painting again. During those years she was also a cos-tume and set designer/fabricator for The Alfred Ballet Company in Alfred.

Currently she is focusing on her painting working primarily in oil. She has shown her work in a number of group and solo shows throughout the northeast.

She explained, "My architec-tural paintings are of buildings, spaces and places that we tend to pass by and perhaps not notice. The subjects are the neglected corners of old warehouses, al-leyways, doorways, industrial sites; the everyday, mundane places we see walking to work, driving to the store or places we catch out of the corner of our eye as we rush by that are punctu-ated by a beam of sunlight or at-tract me because they are so out of place or so much in their place.

"I paint the subject with sim-ple, direct color forms, playing on the geometry of the space. Paying a great deal of attention to the architecture of the paint-ing, I use the relationship of color and light to create a place for the subject to live and an at-mosphere that attempts to recre-ate the original response I had to it."

Ms. Zaccagni is the 2D Tech-nician for The Division of Ex-panded Media and The Division of Drawing, Painting and Pho-tography and is an adjunct in-structor at The School of Art and Design, New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred University in Alfred. She maintains a studio in Alfred Station.

Mother's Day Sale planned May 6-7 at Belmont's Purple House

BELMONT'S "Purple House" on North Street next to the Courthouse, will be host to a Mother's Day Sale May 6-7.

By ELAINE HARDMAN
Alfred Sun Reporter

BELMONT--Purple is a patch of Johnnie-Jump-Ups peeking through the grass in search of Spring. Purple is a royal gown or a memory of a little girl in tights and a pinafore. Purple is a glass of juice, a slice of pie, a glittering amethyst ring. Purple is Pat Vossler's Victorian home, dressed for high tea in the spring of 1890.

Purple is where you'll find the annual Mother's Day sale – Belmont's Purple House on North Street, right next to the Court House.

The anchor of the show and sale is Green Circle Grove - soaps, jewelry, bags and purses ready for anyone's Mom. Pat's daughter Kristen makes the soaps from natural ingredients. She cuts, wraps and ties the bars then chooses a name – something from her history.

Meredith makes the bags with every stitch straight and every fabric of qual-ity – some in purple.

Also find Joan Sinclair's careful stitching and if your mother likes stained glass in the window, Kathy Huey will show you what she makes.

From tiny Mommy Vases to heirloom bowls choose Elaine Hardman's pottery - carefully handmade and food safe. Elaine touches and uses it all so you can be sure there is no safety short cut. This year, Elaine has ventured into tin for kitchen wall sculptures and artfully cho-sen pins. She is earning her title of "Chicken Lady." Find a discount coupon at StoneFlowerPottery on Face-

Bob Chaffee will be there, carving if he can find a spot where wood shavings are allowed. He has love-knot spoons and little characters to make you smile.

As you've learned to expect there will be a drawing for a door prize with hand-made items from each artisan and Pat will open her kitchen with baked goods from everyone and tea served in one of her hundreds of teapots.

Come to shop, stay to visit. Friday, May 6 from 11 till 6 and Saturday May 7 from 10 till 4. Call 585-268-7436 (Meredith) or 585-268-5196 (Pat) or 585-808-0385 (Elaine) and look for Belmont's Purple House on Facebook.

KEEPING A LID ON

Mens' hats have been hanging around in my mind lately, as though it were a coat rack. It started when I was in a store buying bird seed when I noticed still useful winter items being sold at reduced prices. Calendars were insistently telling store managers that spring had arrived, even in western New York.

I immediately bought a man's orange knitted cap for 99¢ on two assumptions. Being large, it should keep more of my head warm than my present smaller white cap. Also, it should make me more visible in snowy situations where that would be desirable.

Not long after that a friend asked me about the propriety of the men who keep hats on indoors nowadays. On the spot, I confessed to little knowledge. Afterwards I realized that she probably had asked me because she knew of my collection of etiquette books.

I wrote myself a note to see if I had any recent book which touched on the subject. Then my note slipped out of sight, and the subject out of mind, until I attended a recital. The venue had a flat floor, rather than a sloping one. I carefully chose a fourth row chair from which I could see the spot where soloists would stand. However, I would need to turn my head slightly to the right and look diagonally between other attendees' heads.

Then the young man in front of me turned his head to the right to speak to an adjacent friend. This caused the bill on his cap to create a visual obstruction. When I politely asked him to remove his cap, he did so immediately without questioning my request.

Alas, none of the books I own are new enough to provide current directions for males regarding indoor headwear. I first adjusted to the phenomenon in an undergraduate classroom when I audited a course sixteen years ago. During the second part of each class students were broken into discussion groups, sitting in circles. Since I could see everyone in the room, I noted males habitually kept on their head coverings.

I subsequently wondered whether the males in a class I had audited the year before had done so, too. There I sat in the front row without eyes in the back of my head, and was oblivious to any entertaining student conduct.

This time when spring came and the lads no longer wore caps, I was surprised to see what several of them actually looked like. Some became instantly unrecognizable by revealing their hair length, color, and curliness or not. But, by then I had already learned that my young classmates could display themselves in astonishing ways.

A female, one of the most savvy on the subject of the course, arrived late one day. Despite adding to her delay, apparently she had taken time to hastily bathe before coming. It was not only my eyes that bugged out as she carefully applied skin lotion up her hands and arms, and then up her ankles and legs.

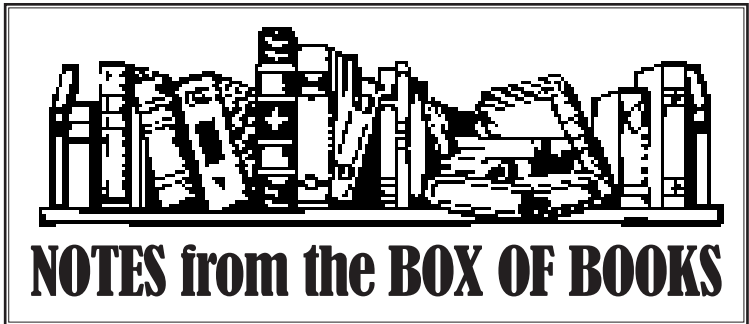

In order to be brought up to date, I may ask for permission to audit a couple of the etiquette sessions offered on the Alfred University campus. Fortunately, they are available to students who realize that they need to polish up on accepted behavior before engaging in job interviews. I definitely need modernizing myself.

Personally, I am willing to have men on campus wear hats at indoor functions even if ladies are present. Very few public venues exist with sufficient shelves, hooks, and coat hangers to encourage the old time formality. If he is keeping a topper on, I appreciate the man who considerately sits in such a place that it is not blocking anyone's view.

I have not noticed any outrage on the part of local men regarding the quite visibly increasing brevity of female garb. As for myself, dressed in long johns and slacks, I profess to amazement at fashionable women students' toleration of Alfred's cold winters. They wear outfits which each year seemingly get shorter and shorter from both the feet up and the neck down.

Of far greater concern to me is the fact that women are forbidden to merely discard a head scarf, let alone more all encompassing body coverings, in many places around the world. Justifying their actions by religious belief, men in their own families perform grotesque mutilations upon them with impunity.

Etiquette is not the root of that problem. Restricted educational opportunity is.

NOTES from the BOX OF BOOKS

Summer Hours Start May 2nd! Please note the changes in the hours; Monday 10-6, Tuesday 12-8, Wednesday 10-6, Thursday 12-6, Friday 10-5 and Saturday 10-2.

Even though Spring doesn't seem to have SPRUNG yet we are starting to look forward to Summer. This year's Summer Reading Program theme is One World Many Stories. We are putting a twist on this here at the Box of Books; Explore the World with in the Box!

We are looking for people to volunteer to run a themed program that relates to this theme. Think of something you love to do, scrap book, bake, knit, calligraphy, Irish dancing and so many more. The talent that is in the community is vastly larger than the talent among our library staff. Please let us know if you would be willing to share a program with the community.

The Friends of the Library's donations continue to sprout new book growth here as well. The children's collection continues to have new titles added for young readers. The DVD collection also has several new titles that have been added with these donations. We are extremely lucky to have a great group of Friends to give us the opportunities. If there is a children's book or movie that you would like to see added to the library please let us know what it is.

The Facebook page is getting a "facelift" of sorts and we would like to see it being used more interactively by our patrons. Take a minute to Like us on Facebook and join in the discussion that are there.

Alfred State students win Watkins Glen Green Grand Prix

WELLSVILLE—Senior students enrolled in Alfred State College's automotive trades: automotive service technician curriculum took a well-deserved lap in the winner's circle recently when they and the car they modified—a 2003 Honda Insight—for the Watkins Glen Green Grand Prix won a fuel economy challenge in their class in the seventh annual contest which promotes awareness of environmentally friendly vehicles and fuels.

Alfred State's vehicle, driven by Automotive Trades Associate Professor and Chair Kent Johnson, competed in the "automotive manufacturer discontinued vehicle" class which included vehicles that are now out of production such as the Geo Metro and ASC's Honda Insight. The students' goal was to create a car that could attain a 100-mile-per-gallon ride.

The students modified the car, donated by alumnus Mark Crouse, automotive service class of 1975, improving its aerodynamics by lowering the vehicle six inches in the rear and four inches in the front, and optimizing all of the vehicle suspension angles; all unnecessary components such as (all of the luxuries) seats (except for the driver's), carpet, etc. were removed to reduce as much weight as possible.

Johnson, a veteran of the Watkins Glen track more accustomed to speeds of 140 miles per hour racing Ford Mustangs, nevertheless took top honors in his class at 89.6 mpg. Jim Fleischman, assistant professor, ASC Automotive Trades Department, served as Johnson's crew chief. Fuel economy results were determined thusly: hybrid vehicles used onboard computer readings to determine mpgs; other vehicles were weighed immediately before and after the rally to determine fuel use.

Among the competitors (45 entries in multiple events), were Cornell University; Corning, Inc.; Rochester Institute of Technology; Auto Tech Club; and Clean Communities CNY.

Eligible vehicles included all hybrid models, plug-in hybrids, hydrogen fuel cell cars, and vehicles running on biodiesel, diesel, flex-fuel, pure electric, as well as other alternate-fueled vehicles such as those powered by vegetable oil, LP, and compressed natural gas.

The Green Grand Prix, a celebration of sustainable transportation, has been billed as the only road rally for alternate-fuel vehicles and hybrids in the United States sponsored by the Sports Car Club of America. All Green Grand Prix activities are designed to bring awareness of alternative and renewable energy to businesses, environmental groups, students, and faculty members from elementary to university level, general public.

A-A Alumni Association accepting applications for summer camp scholarships

ALMOND--The Alfred Almond Alumni Association will once again be granting summer camp awards to AACS students, according to President Lee A. Ryan. Last year, thanks to the generosity of AACS alumni, $3800 was awarded to nineteen students. Applications for grants will be available at the school beginning Monday, for underclassmen wishing to attend sports, music/fine arts and technology camps.

The Jim Baker Sports Camp Award was established in 1987 to honor the 1961 AACS graduate who was a three-year letter AACS athlete and a member of the AA AA board prior to his passing. A Viet Nam vet who served aboard the USS Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jim later pursued a career in law enforcement, serving as a police officer for the Village of Alfred and finally as New York State trooper.

His brother, Phil, along with his late mother, Mildred, were instrumental in setting up the fund to honor Jim’s love of sports and competition. Phil indicated that Jim believed “that life is just one turn around the track . . . and in sports, as with life, the goal is to compete fairly and honorably and always at the highest level of performance.”

Last year, the AA AA board established the Arlene Champlin Roberts Music/Fine Arts/Technology Camp Award. Arlene was the “glue” that held the Alumni Association together for decades, writing, copying, and mailing the newsletter announcing the annual banquet each year. A graduate of the AACS Class of 1950, she was secretary in the AACS guidance office for many years. Arlene died March 29, 2010, and the AA AA board chose to name the newly established music/fine arts/technology camp awards in honor of her decades of service.

Applications for the fine arts/music/technology camp awards will be available in the AACS Art Room from Mrs. Bonnie Booman. Sports camp applications will be available in the Main Office. The name of the camp, the cost, and the date are required information. Deadline for returning completed applications is Monday, May 5, 2011.

Questions may be directed to Donna Ryan, AA AA secretary, 607 276 6760.

THE FRONT WINDOW at The Hydro Hut.

The Hydro Hut starting plants for area gardens

By ELAINE HARDMAN
Alfred Sun Reporter

WELLSVILLE--Terry Crainer’s Bolivar garden stretches 300 feet behind his home and pumps out peppers and tomatoes. In Wellsville, in the window at 167 North Main Street, he tends a tiny plot with strawberries, cucumbers, tomatoes, and more peppers. That’s the location for a new business in Wellsville, The Hydro Hut.

Terry really loves gardening and talking about gardening. He enjoys starting plants and hopes to help many people get their gardens started. He’ll even start plants for people just to show them how easy it can be.

The emphasis at the store seems to be on starting plants. There are powerful lights that will keep plants growing in containers, indoors if a person doesn’t have a suitable outdoor location. In the store, he uses a fan to spread pollen from one flower to another. That’s the plan for the cucumbers and most other plants but tomatoes require hand pollination with a Q-tip. A person has to really like plants to hand pollinate them.

The store has growing containers, plant foods, ph testing and adjustment kits (especially important for hydroponic gardens), reference books, organic and regular potting soils and growing mediums and all kinds of plant foods. It also has bags of organic potting soil with bat guano and earthworm castings, something you can’t find on every corner.

The store is at 167 North Main Street in Wellsville. It’s open 6 days a week. Terry is on hand and ready to talk in person or if you call 585 596 1374.

1 p.m. Saturday, April 30 at Alfred State College

‘All Fracked Up’ will be screened

ALFRED--Alfred State College’s New Horizons Forum will feature the civic engagement work of Hammondsport farmer-activists turned filmmakers Jeff and Jodi Andrysick. On Saturday, April 30, at 1 p.m. in Room 215 of the Engineering Technology Building on the Alfred State campus, the Andrysicks’ “All Fracked Up,” a partially satirical documentary loaded with serious and straightforward scientific information, will be screened.

Environmentalists who live “off the grid,” the Andrysicks came face-to-face with the perilous consequences of unbridled hydrofracking when their community successfully blocked gas industry plans to use an abandoned well in the Keuka Lake community of Pulteney as a dump for toxic wastewater from hydrofracking in Pennsylvania.

To combat the growing dangers posed by unregulated gas industry interests, the Andrysicks used their savings in an amateur filmmaking venture. The film features the expert testimony of Cornell Professor Anthony Ingraffea, one of the nation’s leading experts on hydraulic fracturing. Area victims of “fracking” as well as neighboring doctors, lawyers, teachers, and scientists add their own testimony.

This is the third and final Alfred State College event examining hydraulic fracturing. The natural gas deposits in the Marcellus Shale and the deeper Utica Shale underlie the areas where most Alfred State faculty, students, and families reside. Hydraulic fracturing is a local and national issue whose magnitude is difficult to imagine, but impossible to ignore. This “teachable moment” issue offers a rich opportunity for faculty, students, and area residents to become better informed of direct action being undertaken by residents in neighboring communities.

The April 30 showing will be followed by an open discussion with the Andrysicks on their growing involvement as citizen activists. A remake of their film will be the centerpiece of EPIC NO FRACK EVENT, a major event in the Northeast scheduled for Ithaca College on June 25. More information about the Andrysicks is available at (<http://www.allfrackedup.com/>).

The New Horizons Forum is sponsored by the School of Arts and Sciences and offers programs which showcase scholarly, creative, and public service work currently engaged in by faculty, students, professional staff, and invited guests.

When Greenthal saw the man crawling across the road, he stopped his bus, called for help on his two-way radio, sent two girls to the nearest phone to call an ambulance, then applied a tourniquet to the man's severely bleeding leg. Innoculated Against Mispelling

If we mispell noticable will anyone notice?
If our grammer is flawed, will anyone misquote us?
Would we be embarasse dif we mispelled embarrass-ment?
Or, worse yet, harrassed if we mispelled harrassment?

If accidently, it might be considered mischevious;
But if intentionally, such an error would be greivous.
(I.e., it's a miniscule fault if a one-time occurance,
But definatately poor if it preceeds perserverence.)

The calender says it's Millennium Three:
Man wired to info, inseperably.
But correcting misspellings is a dispensible pasttime;
So if we've spelled some words wierd, well... it won't be the last time.

‘To frack or not to frack?’ that is the question to be asked at Quaker workshop

ALFRED--The question of whether to allow hydrofracking in towns and counties is facing citizens in New York State and elsewhere. But many believe, with good reason, that the balance of power in this matter favors natural gas corporations. People living locally feel powerless to prevent the destruction of their land and water during the rush to frack.

Is it possible to limit the powers of corporations at the local level? Pittsburgh, Buffalo and other jurisdictions have outlawed fracking. There is a nation-wide movement afoot to stop corporations from defining our communities and economies, even to take away the rights of personhood granted them in the 19th Century.

Join a discussion at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 4, at the Seventh Day Baptist Parish House, 6 W. University St. (across from Alfred Village Hall) with village resident Virginia Rasmussen about communities that are working to exert control over corporations. This topic is especially relevant since the Marcellus Shale beneath our feet has been identified as a candidate for fracking.

This workshop is the third of four workshops being sponsored by the Alfred Friends Meeting (Quakers). The fourth workshop on food production and water is slated for 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 11. These workshops are intended to boost the quality and sustainability of life here in Alfred.

Quaker Silence is Golden: Come join us on 10:30 Sundays. Alfred Friends Meeting.

AU men's lacrosse team falls to #2 RIT, #20 Fisher

ALFRED--The Alfred University men's lacrosse team (10-4, 2-4 Empire 8) dropped a pair of E8 contests to visiting and second-ranked RIT 18-6, and at No. 18 St. John Fisher 16-7, last week.

Against RIT, AU trailed 8-2 at the half after being outshot 27-6. Senior attack Marc Zoyhofski (Blasdel/Frontier) scored four goals to lead AU. Junior attack Stefan Dabkowski (Latham/Shaker (SUNY Delhi) netted two goals, and freshman attack Caleb McCaig (Corning West (Mercyhurst)), and freshman long-stick midfielder Pat Walsh (Buffalo/Bishop Tiomon-St. Jude) each recorded an assist. Freshman midfielder Tyler Brooks-Lambert (Seneca Castle/Midlakes) (two assists) finished 16-of-26 on face-offs, while scooping up a game-high nine groundballs. Sophomore Justin Becker (Conesus/Livonia) went the distance in goal for AU making a career-best 18 saves.

In the Fisher game, AU was shut out in the first half, as Fisher netted 12 goals. AU finally got on the board converting on an extra-man opportunity when junior attack Aaron Ward (Hamburg/Frontier) found sophomore midfielder Jay Stearns (Corning West (Mercyhurst)) just 30 seconds into the third quarter. For the game, the Cardinals outshot AU, 36-21, and held a 31-24 advantage in groundballs. Dabkowski scored three goals to pace the Saxons. Brooks-Lambert netted a goal and dished out a team-best two assists. Zoyhofski (one assist), and Walsh each scored a goal. Becker played the first 45 minutes in goal for AU making seven saves, before junior John Landi (Putnam Valley) took over for the fourth quarter.

Lady Saxons 0-2 for the week

The women's lacrosse team (2-11, 0-8 Empire 8) lost both games played last week. They fell to host Elmira, 13-8, Wednesday before falling on the road to St. John Fisher 21-4, Saturday to conclude Empire 8 Conference play.

Against Elmira, the Soaring Eagles netted the game's first three goals before sophomore attack Ali Garcia (Salt Lake City, UT/Judge Memorial) tallied an unassisted goal with 21:22 left in the first half. The Soaring Eagles led 8-3 at the half.

In the second half of play each team found the net five times, as the Saxons got no closer than four (10-6, with 16:10 left to play). For the game, Elmira outshot AU 36-25, and held a 25-14 advantage in groundballs.

Garcia finished with three goals and senior attack Michelle Adams (Horsesheds) scored a pair of goals to lead AU. Freshman midfielder Ashley White (Islip)(one assist), and sophomore midfielders Devin Fitzger-

CONNOR HOUGHTON (above), a senior from Orleans, MA playing at first singles, and Nathan Garletts (below), a junior from Havertown, PA playing at third singles, recorded wins in Alfred's 5-4 win over St. John Fisher recently. It was the Saxons' first Empire 8 victory this season. (Leo Nealon) ald (Rochester/Greece Olympia), and Tracie McGinnity (Rochester/Gates-Chili) each had a goal. Senior defender Jennifer Omilanowicz (Mexico), and freshman defender Janelle Galipeau (Rochester/Greece Olympia) each recorded an assist. Senior Kate Baughman (Rush/Rush-Henrietta) made 16 saves in goal for AU.

In the Fisher game, Fisher held a commanding 12-2 lead at the half as they outshot AU 24-10. For the game, Fisher outshot the Saxons 39-15, and held a 25-17 advantage in groundballs.

Senior attack Elyse Caldwell (Maine-Endwell) scored two goals to lead AU. Adams and McGinnity (one assist) each scored a goal, and Garcia added an assist. Baughman made 12 saves in goal for AU.

Softball team goes 1-3

The softball team (12-9, 3-7 Empire 8) was swept in double-header against visiting RIT, before splitting with host St. John Fisher Saturday afternoon.

In the opener against RIT, the visitors got a solo home run in the fourth inning to break a 2-2 tie and give RIT the victory. AU led 1-0 after one inning after sophomore second baseman Marissa Mistretta's (Shirley/Longwood) RBI single drove in junior shortstop Nicole Hedrick (Albany/Catholic Central). A two-run homerun by the Tigers put RIT up 2-1 before a single by junior third baseman Molly Shepherd (Camillus/West Genesee) plated Hedrick with the tying run in the bottom of the fourth. Senior Chelsey Cary (Corfu/Pembroke) took the loss for AU. She allowed nine hits and three earned runs over seven innings, striking out four.

In the second game, RIT scored four runs in the third off Hedrick. AU scored a pair in the fifth to cut its deficit in half, with Mistretta's single driving in senior first baseman Ashley Passaro (Long Beach) and Hedrick. That's as close as the Saxons would get, as RIT tallied an insurance run in the top of the seventh.

In the opener against Fisher, AU got a complete-game win from Cary who allowed one earned run on six hits while striking out two. Hedrick had three hits and scored three times; Shepherd had three hits, scored twice and drove in three runs; and freshman centerfielder Breeal Delgado (Rancho Cucamonga, CA/Los Osos) had two hits and three RBIs for the Saxons.

In the second game, Fisher scored four unearned runs in the bottom of the seventh to erase a 6-3 deficit and win 7-6. Hedrick took the pitching loss for Alfred, allowing five runs (one earned) over 5.1 innings on 10 hits. She went 2-for-3 with a run scored; Shepherd was 3-for-3 with a run scored and an RBI; sophomore catcher Hana Gross (Union, NJ) had two RBIs; and Mistretta was 2-for-4 with a double and two runs scored.

This Week: at Fredonia (4/26, 3 & 5 p.m.); at Elmira (4/27, 3 & 5 p.m.); at D'Youville (4/29, 3 & 5 p.m.); at Nazareth (4/30, 1 & 3 p.m.)

on the field for the first time in a week and fell twice to Jamestown-Olean. JCC-Olean won on a walk-off 3-2 in the opener and couldn't overcome a four-run 4th inning in the second game and fell 7-3.

Athena Scavo (Hornell) tied the opener with a RBI in the top of the 7th inning but the Jaguars answered right back and scored the game-winner in their half of the inning. Amber Harding (Fillmore) led the offense with a 2 for 3 day. She collected two doubles and a RBI. Kate Bailey (West Valley) finished 2 for 3 as well.

JCC used a four-run 4th inning and held off all the Pioneers rally attempts. Harding continued her hot hitting with another 2 for 3 day while Danielle Hill (Addison) was 3 for 3.

HITS AND MISSES:

The NFL draft is on tap for Thursday-Friday-Saturday-Sunday ... making it quite the production, with round one set for Thursday evening on ESPN. The Buffalo/Toronto Bills have the overall #3 selection in the process in a year that no player trades for draft picks can be made due to the labor situation in the league. The inept Bills absolutely need to land a stud, who will start immediately and play for 10-years (barring injury). They took RB C.J. Spiller last year with their top pick, a "luxury" selection they really couldn't afford. A solid OT or defensive tackle or LB would've made more sense. But then again, we are talking about the Bills here. Forget the QB talk for this year and grab ... Von Miller of Texas A&M, period! No more Aaron Maybins or John McCargo's. This team needs defensive help and needs it now. Somehow, they'll screw-up. They always do. Only the Oakland Raiders (Al Davis) are worse in this department.

In a loaded Empire Eight men's lax league the top four teams currently in the conference will square off this coming Saturday and then very likely the following Friday as well in the post-season tournament. RIT (6-0 E8) and Nazareth (6-1 tangle) in a game that could decide first place and the overall host of the E8 tourney. The Tigers are ranked #2 in the entire nation but if they don't beat the Golden Flyers, they might not host! Wow. RIT-Naz-Stevens could finish up tied in the league with (7-1) marks and have no idea how that tiebreaker unfolds? Their losses were inflicted by each other. Coach Jeff Long's Ithaca Bombers currently sit in fourth place (4-2) and have games against Alfred and Stevens. SJ Fisher (2-4) is ranked #20th in the nation and out of the playoff picture. Tough conference? RIT over Nazareth, Stevens over Ithaca and the Bombers are back at RIT on May 6th in semi-final E8 play.

Other Division III men's lax teams of note in the recent USILA poll are Salisbury at #1, Cortland (11-2) in the 5-slot and Stevens is 7th. "Receiving votes" were Nazareth, Union and Geneseo.

In pro lacrosse action the Rochester Knighthawks (10-6) finished third in the East Division and play the Buffalo Bandits (10-6) in round one action. The Toronto Rock (Korn) also were 10-6 and they host Boston. One team in the West Division had a winning record, Calgary. Bandits over Calgary for the NLL title.

In the upcoming Rochester Press Radio Club Annual Day of Champions, mentioned here last week for Raegan Ryan and the Jerry Flynn Award she'll receive, there are a host of other awards that evening as well that will be presented. Outgoing Geneseo AD, Marilyn Moore will receive the Jean Giambrone Award while Melissa Alwardt of UR will be honored with the Paychex Female College Co-Athlete of the Year Award. Daughter Lauren played many hoop games against Alwardt (Greece) in travel b-ball and high school. She can shoot the rock! Outside shot of attending this with my "good buddy," John Baker.

The LA Dodgers are for sale! Yikes. Maybe "Foolish" Farley and Big D can go in together on this acquisition ... if they win the lottery. Only two Dodgers fans I am lucky enough to know.

Major League Baseball might add one more "wild card" team to the mix next year for the playoffs. Why? Shooting for mid-November games? How about reducing the schedule back to 154-games and not starting the season in March?

AU football schedule shows six home games Saxons will do some home cookin'

ALFRED--Alfred University has released its 2011 football schedule, which includes six home dates, including five of the season's first six games.

AU will play a seven-game Empire 8 Conference slate with the addition of Frostburg (MD) State and Salisbury (MD) State, two teams who join the Empire 8 as football affiliate members this season. Buffalo State joins the Empire 8 as a football affiliate in 2012.

After opening the season Sept. 10 with a 1 p.m. home game against RPI, the Saxons entertain St. Lawrence at 1 p.m. Sept.

17 before opening conference play with a home date against Springfield at 1 p.m. Sept. 24.

AU plays its road opener at Empire 8 rival St. John Fisher at 1 p.m. on Oct. 1, then returns home for two games: Oct. 8 at 1 p.m. against Hartwick (Homecoming) and at noon on Oct. 15 against Salisbury. The Saxons are then away for three straight weeks — at Frostburg (Oct. 22, 1 p.m.); at Rochester (Oct. 29, 1 p.m.); at Ithaca (Nov. 5, 1 p.m., Empire 8 game) — before wrapping up the regular season with a home conference game against Utica on Nov. 12 at 1 p.m.

AU is coming off one of the most successful seasons in its storied football history--which began way back in 1895. The Saxons went 10-3 and won the program's first-ever outright Empire 8 crown. The Saxons won two games in the NCAA Division III playoffs before losing in the national quarterfinals to eventual runner-up Mount Union. The 10 wins tied the school record for the most in a season, first achieved by the undefeated 1981 squad, which fell 13-12 to Montclair State in the NCAA Division III Tournament.

Alfred is primed to challenge for a third straight Empire 8 title (the Saxons shared the conference crown with St. John Fisher in 2009) as 15 starters (10 on defense and five on offense) return in 2011. They will include senior linebacker Nick Clark (Canis- teo-Greenwood), the 2010 Empire 8 Defensive Player of the Year); senior Tom Secky (Bemus Point/Maple Grove), a three-year starter at quarterback and a three-time Empire 8 all-star; and sophomore tailback Austin Dwyer (Hornell), the 2010 Empire 8 and ECAC North Rookie of the Year.

On Saxon Warriors!

FRY, WALKER2 ... Texas Ranger and QUIVERS ... Frank on the first tee.

Been watching parts of a variety of NBA playoff games of late and the action has been great! Turned into a Chicago-Indiana game one evening and their were four ex-Duke players on the floor. What more could you ask for? The Celtics took care of the Knicks and are playing great ball but can they keep it up at their age? Oklahoma City is looking tough! What is going on with the Orlando Magic? Right now would go with a Boston-Oklahoma City finals but lots of hoops left to be contested.

The "always clever" WR Brandon Marshall of the Miami Dolphins was back in the news last week. Stabbed by his wife ... allegedly. Must of been a great Easter at that house.

The Rochester RazorSharks won the PBL championship and half the league promptly folded. Think Rochester has been in the finals four years running, losing only in 2010.

Guessing they'll add different teams for next season to keep league going.

How about a Team USA men's b-ball squad for the 2012 Olympic Games of: Kobe, LeBron, Wade, Rondo, Durant, Westbrook, Howard, Love, Griffin, Rose, Chandler and Chris Paul?

Coach Joe Q. French's UMBC softball team is (20-21 overall, 5-10 AE) after dropping three contests at the University of Albany this past weekend. Ouch. French ... a legend in Waterloo.

Coach Tim Mead's Walsh University baseball team stands at (17-26, 3-13 AMC) as his season winds down. Mead ... "just about" a legend in Andover, right behind Atwell-Jackson-Joyce!

Coach Skip Sherman's (A-A) Genesee Community College baseball team has had more games postponed or cancelled of late than the Cougars have played. Team stands at 11-7 with potential games this week versus Monroe CC. Sherman ... not a legend in Almond.

Derck Frechette and Janis King won their respective age groups in The Villages/Polo Field run on Easter Sunday! Believe it was a 5K event. Big D was gushing so much over the phone about the race that I couldn't tell the distance.

Daughter, Lauren ... shopping at Marketplace Mall on Saturday past (new one) ran into Lyndsay Murphy of the Alfred Saxons women's b-ball squad. A senior as well. The two first met in Corning as 6th-graders at a Gus Macker tournament. Not "quite" as friendly towards each other then as they are now!

A note of sadness this week with the passing of Bob Springer (Whitesboro). When my parents retired to Molokai Park In Leesburg, FL some 15-16 years ago, I would venture down there each March and was introduced to a host of their friends and many others in the golf league Big Dale ran. Always looked forward each year to seeing the Hately's, Laramee's and Springer's! Others, of course. Bob was a character. Not many reading this right now knew him but virtually everyone knew or knows someone similar to him ... if that is possible! A chronic complainer, one who knew about everything going on in the park ... or thought he did, a big family man and a guy I thoroughly enjoyed being around. He and his wife, Doris. Enjoyed golfing with Bob on many occasions, having a cold one after and listening to him ramble. A guy I'll miss. My thoughts go out to Doris and the entire Springer family.

An excellent Easter dinner past with the Baker family ... but not at the Baker residence in Penfield/Fairport. Many thanks to Steve and Kelly in Greece. 3L and I headed over there for a great day. Very enjoyable. Bob and Barb up making the "desert rounds" and had chance to catch up with them as they have been in Florida. Awesome food!

Busy week in progress as Tuesday evening was off to Beale's in Penfield for some strategic planning, Wednesday it is time for some lax action in Geneseo as Cortland in town, hopefully Saturday we'll hike Letchworth Park ... the "bungalow," "Milko," Rian Jock and maybe Alexa Krebs. Then Sunday 3L is running the half-marathon in Rochester with Milko and in the afternoon is the Geneseo Senior Awards banquet. All captains of teams invited and parents if they want to attend. Certainly do! Sitting with Coach Wiley and busting on him.
