Stalwart Lineplay Feature of A.U. 27-7 Victory Over RPI

Ralph DiMicco Scores Two Kicks Three Conversions

The Alfred Saxons unleashed a mighty ground attack to level the RPI Engineers 27-7 for their second win of the year last Saturday night at Merrill Field.

The offensive line, led by John Fasano, Ken. Reichert, and Vern Fitzgerald, opened large holes in the RPI defense that enabled backs Ralph DiMicco and Marion Davis to garner large gains and to score.

Ralph DiMicco, Alfred's Little All American, used this stalwart lineplay to advantage as he scored two touchdowns and kicked three extra points.

Scoring early in the game, Quarterback Marion Davis gave the Saxons their first score when he went over from the one yard line. A quarterback sneak by Davis and a run by Fullback Les Goble, each good for 21 yards, brought the Saxons to the one yard line and gave Davis his chance to score. DiMicco's kick was good.

Fitzgerald scores
Three plays later, End Vern Fitzgerald, co-captain for the evening with Al Dianetti, blocked an RPI kick. The ball was deflected skyward. Fitzgerald caught it and raced over from about the 10 to give Alfred its second score of the evening. DiMicco's second try at kicking the extra point was no good.

DiMicco scored his first TD of the evening for Alfred early in the second period. A blocked RPI kick, by Joe Fasano was recovered by Fitzgerald on the Engineer's 41. A run by DiMicco, a pass by DiMicco to Fitzgerald and a run by Goble got the ball down into p-y dirt territory. DiMicco took it across tackle from the 3 yard line to score. His kick went between the uprights and the Saxons maintained their 20-0 lead up to the half.

one man show
One minute and 15 seconds after play began again, A. U. got its fourth and final score. DiMicco took the ball on his own ten and got away for 79 yards. After outrunning the Engineer secondary, Ralph would have gone all the way if Willie Lick had not been able to catch him from behind on the RPI 12 DiMicco split his own tackle for the twelve yards on the next play to give A. U. its final TD of the evening. Ralph's boot made it 27 to 0.

Rensselaer got its opportunity to score in the third period. Runs by Lick and Hemphill and a 16-yard pass by Lick to Somers, set up the scoring play. Fullback John Okrepkie went around left end from the two yard marker to score. Shoop's kick was good.

An RPI threat in the last 25 seconds of play was thwarted when the Saxons recovered a fumble by the Engineers on the 2-yard line. One play later the game ended.

AT Fall Festival Planned; Big Name Band Promised

The Fall Festival has begun to roll, and the Institute is already planning for the big week of Nov. 12.

The Harvest Ball and coronation of the Festival Queen climaxes a week of activity during which all departments in the Institute maintain exhibits and displays to demonstrate what students do and learn in their courses. In the past as many as 4,000 visitors have toured the exhibit areas during Festival week.

A recent innovation of the festivities the choosing of the Queen by the student body and her coronation, is on its way to become part of the Institute tradition. Only three queens have trod that short, and yet all too long, path across the dance floor to the throne.

Registrar's Office Gives Registration Breakdown

Clifford M. Potter, University Registrar, has released the vital statistics of Alfred University as of September 25.

Due to the influx of 351 newcomers, the student body has remained almost the same size as last year—despite the loss of 389 students.

Smoker to Air Pros and Cons of Fraternities

Fraternity rushing will begin with a smoker at 7:30 tomorrow at South Hall. Talks will be given by members of the faculty concerning the advantages and disadvantages of fraternities at Alfred.

Rushes are admitted into fraternity houses only if they receive an invitation from the interfraternity council to a rush party at a specific fraternity. Rush parties will be held on October 10, 15, 17, 29, and November 5 and 19. All parties are held between 7 and 9 p. m. If a man does not receive an invitation to a rush party or if he receives two cards for the same date, Dave Joseph at Klan Alpine is the fellow to see.

After a rushee has had an opportunity to acquaint himself with each fraternity, he goes to the house of his choice on preferential day, November 23, from 3 to 5 p. m. Prospective pledges will indicate their first and second fraternity preferences on a card provided by the interfraternity council. The fraternities compile a list of men whom they wish to pledge and faculty members compare this list with the preferential cards. Pledges are notified shortly afterward.

All new men, regardless of whether or not they desire to join a fraternity, are urged to attend the rushing smoker tomorrow night.

Weiss Teaches Fiat Journalism Course

A Journalism seminar for Fiat staffers met for the first time at 7:30, Tuesday in Physics Hall. The course organized by Dorothy Sachs and taught by Henry Weiss, publicity director is aimed at improving the journalistic abilities of Fiat writers and, indirectly, the Fiat.

Approximately 30 students have registered for the course which will meet for one hour, every Tuesday at 7:30. It is expected that prominent journalists from the surrounding area will give occasional guest lectures. Work on the Fiat will give students an opportunity to practice what they learn in theory. One English credit has been granted to participants.

Registration is still open. Anyone interested should contact the Fiat office or the Registrar's office.

New Profs Bring Fresh Ability To Ag Tech Faculty

Seven new members have joined the faculty of the State University Agriculture and Technical Institute in Alfred.

Mr. Robert B. Wentworth is teaching marketing and advertising in the business department. A graduate of Northeastern University, he also holds a master's in education from Boston University and a master's of science degree from the University of Illinois.

Mr. Wentworth has completed his graduate work for his doctor of philosophy degree from Illinois. He came to Alfred from the University of Kansas. Mr. Wentworth has also taught at the Universities of Illinois, Vermont, Tennessee and Bridgeport. He served during World War II in the U. S. Army and Air Force as an administrative officer of information, education and public relations.

In the newly inaugurated building construction department, is Mr. J. Gilman Anderson, who is a graduate of Indiana University where he majored in social science. He also has two master's degrees in industrial education, one from the University of Illinois and one from Chicago Teachers College. Mr. Anderson has taught in the public schools of Chicago; Hammond, Illinois; and the state of Washington. Beside his teaching experience, he did building research at the University of Illinois.

The science technology division has three new faculty members. Mr. Stanley J. Marshall of the bacteriology department is a graduate of Penn State Teachers College. He also holds a master's in education from Syracuse University and is currently working on his doctor's degree at that school. Prior to coming to Alfred, Mr. Mar-

For the past two years the hour's has been broadcast by station WKBW in Buffalo.

Total registration this year is 894. This figure includes 549 liberal artists, 321 ceramic students, 21 nurses in affiliated hospitals, and 3 theological students.

A breakdown of these figures shows that the Liberal Arts school is composed of 102 seniors, 72 juniors, 116 sophomores, 220 freshmen, 14 graduate students, and 22 people engaged in special studies. The ceramics section of the University holds 52 seniors, 68 juniors, 70 sophomores, 102 freshmen, 17 post-graduate workers and 12 special studies students.

When totaling these statistics we find that the University has 154 seniors, 140 juniors, 186 sophomores, 325 freshmen, 31 graduate students, and 34 special students. Of the 351 new students, 299 are freshmen.

— O —
The debit side of the University's registration figures shows that the reason for the absence of 163 of the 389 ex-students, was not graduation. Fourteen of them finished their education during the summer, 42 failed to meet scholastic standards, and 107 vanished through transfers, the draft, and reasons unknown.

Of the 226 graduates, 170 received B. A. degrees, 49 Masters degrees, 2 professional engineers degrees, 4 honorary degrees, and 1 Bachelor of Divinity degree.

Local Citizens Honored At Bible Dedication

"This new translation frees the Living Word to speak its relevant message to people in our age and time." So spoke the Rev. H. R. Holcomb in his address "The Word of Life in Living Language" given at the Alfred Village Church. Rev. Holcomb, who is Professor of Philosophy of Religion at Colgate Rochester Divinity School, was speaker at the Service of Thanksgiving and Dedication held upon the completion of the Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible.

The Rev. Holcomb continued, "the Bible is relevant today in its concern for men to come to a knowledge of what it is to be a human being. It raises the questions, who are we, where are we going, why are we here." He went on to point out that "human history has a tragic element in it and warns against Utopias."

Dr. Melvin Bernstein read the first lesson in Hebrew, he was followed by Dr. Nease who read the same scripture both in Greek and from the Latin Vulgate.

Following the scripture readings the congregation joined in a liturgy prepared by the Bible Observation Office and used throughout the country for

Warren and Soc Students Prepare Area Study Paper

Dr. Roland L. Warren, of the Sociology Department, presented a paper entitled, "Adjustment of the Rural Aged," at the joint conference of the American Sociological Society and the Society for the Study of Social Problems in Atlantic City, Sept. 2-3, which he attended with Alex Kuman.

The paper is based on studies of the surrounding areas made by students in the Rural Sociology class and the Social Research Seminar. A limited number of copies of this and "The Ten Thousand", a study of services for children in Allegany County, prepared by the Economics, Business, and Sociology Departments and students in the Social Research Seminar, are available in the Sociology Office, Room 23 South Hall.

Good

Today marks the beginning of a one-week period of morning for the demise of apathy week. Its timely end was brought to our attention Sunday evening when we observed a group of freshmen holding a meeting in the union. The meeting was not in itself unique but the circumstances surrounding it were.

The freshmen had massed a row of tables near the back wall and were singing and having, in general, a bang-up time. Contrary to the usual "bang up time," there was a constructive attitude at this meeting accompanied by a large dose of manners and good sense.

They were holding a political rally for freshmen elections, and showing an initiative which is seldom found in our campus elections. Their willingness to leave the union in fairly respectable condition, to replace the tables and chairs before dashing out, was as refreshing as Murine to our cynical old eyes.

The temporary suspension of apathy week must therefore be accredited to a group of freshmen with enthusiasm and a sense of responsibility. By the time they are seniors they should be able to eliminate apathy week entirely and then what will we use for editorial topics?

Bad

The subject of required assemblies has, for some time, been a controversial matter at Alfred. It seems that everyone is dissatisfied with the system except the administration. This is too bad. In an era when the consent of the governed is supposedly necessary to government; when the wishes of the majority are said to be as important as those of the minority; when the individual is rumored to be of some small standing in the community; one might hope that forcing students to spend an hour listening to a lecture on basketball would be discontinued as being an utter waste of time.

To say that a great many students don't know the pertinent facts concerning basketball is simple. Of course many aren't informed on this subject; many don't care to be. If it is decided that this knowledge is of importance, and this would seem nonsensical, then there is still the group of students which does know and does not wish to be refreshed.

In the language department tests of proficiency are taken by entering students who profess a knowledge of the language. If the students prove themselves proficient to a certain degree they may matriculate without taking the language courses. Although language is considered to be of more importance than basketball to the student, the latter is a must.

Sometimes the assemblies are of value. Nevertheless, making attendance mandatory is just another way of putting an iron grip of the, may we hope, budding maturity of the student. Self-reliance is essential to living as an adult and Alfred University is, in theory, producing adults. Assembling for the sake of assembling is not the way to foster a will to learn.

The reason that we still force people to assemblies is that this "era of the individual" business is still the same hodgepodge that it has been since the days of Erutan Yab the Babylonian. There has been noise about democracy and its connection with education as long as history has been recorded and it has always been noise, pure noise. The hoi polloi has never been trusted to do its own thinking and, as long as it never gets the chance, it will never be capable of doing so.

Indifferent

In order for any organization to be evaluated, its aims must be clearly defined. Let's take, as a for instance, Frosh Court. According to the Kanakadea, its function is to "help acquaint the students with further traditions and aspects of campus life," and "try violators of the Freshmen rules." Splendid idea—but so was prohibition.

According to some astute historians (W.C.T.U. and otherwise) there was more elbow bending during the prohibition than ever. It seems to us that when Frosh Court convenes, there is more "un-Alfredian" behavior than at any other time.

Should we junk the court? Not until we have tried to improve its operations. Frosh Court has potentialities of being valuable to student and the school. Its declared purposes are admirable. But as it is run now, the court is a sort of garden variety Barnum and Bailey. This is all to the good except, if the court intends to continue this way, it should make a few changes in its constitution.

If the court has any intentions of pursuing its aims, it might start by meting out constructive punishments for actual misdemeanors—not trumped up crimes of the more "oo la la" freshmen women. We'd like to see some of the more recalcitrant frosh picking up papers or washing windows (particularly the Fiat's) rather than parading about proudly with a "look-Ma, I'm-naughty" expression on their beaming faces.

Letters to Editor

Each year a huge body of strangers, are thrown into a small society known as Alfred University. Whether they show it, through timidity or boisterousness, they are uncertain. Whether their reason for being in college is to have fun, play football, learn a skill or build up their ability to think through study; they each in their own way want to make good. The first weeks are filled to some degree with apprehension.

The school is organized to help the freshman in "getting over the hump" and beginning to feel at home. Included in this program is orientation week, name tags and a pamphlet known as the "Frosh Bible." In this publication is information about the school, its traditions and songs and a detailed list of rules concerning the freshman alone. If these rules are broken, the freshman is taken to Frosh Court.

Hey, wait a minute. You were talking about things set up to help the freshman settle down to University Life!

Well?

That helps them?

Precisely my point: Frosh Court only works towards destroying the rest. Rules such as the wearing of a name tag, learning the Alma Mater, and saying hello to upperclassmen, which were originally, I hope, set up in order to induce the freshman to meet other people on campus and gain a respect for the institution, are made to seem, in "court," instruments set up by upperclassmen by which the freshman may be caught and punished. Perhaps many freshmen have left Frosh Court without a deeper sense of rebellion. But I doubt if any left with a closer sense of kinship with the school, or a higher respect (I'm not talking about fear) for the rules.

But nobody seems to mind. The freshman doesn't bellyache. What good would it do? They're just freshmen. Who'd listen? The upperclassmen don't mind that the practice is contrary to the principle of letting the freshmen adjust to the campus. "I had had to go through it. Now I want to see them suffer," they say with an innocent smile.

People try to tell me that it unifies the class, and that it is therefore a good thing. O.K. Inter-class rivalry is unlikely to hurt anyone, as long as it is group against group. But in the court, individuals are picked out and ridiculed. Now perhaps no freshman has felt mortified by experiences in the Frosh Court. Miracles do happen. But more likely the result is a hostility or a loss of respect on the part of the freshman.

I'm not saying that the Frosh court should be abolished. But it should be changed. In short, substitute sense for sadism.

And another idea wish I hate to mention for fear of its seeming impractical, is this:

All students, for a certain specified time during the school year, upperclassmen and freshmen alike, should wear name tags. All upperclassmen should make a point to speak to freshmen. As long as the upperclassmen have some duties of conduct, the freshmen will feel less as though they were being "run through the gamut."

If this does not make sense, I'd like to know why. Something ought to be changed here, I think. Do you think?

As a suggestion, why don't you ask

Internats Plan Year's Program

The first meeting of the International Club, September 26 on the Social Hall Lawn, was attended by a group of foreign students, American students, faculty, and staff members.

Convened by Prof. Fred Engelmann, the club appointed a temporary executive committee of eight members, and heard suggestions to undertake sight-seeing trips to neighboring places of interest, to hear talks about foreign countries, to have international food, music, and dancing to play soccer, and to plan an International Day on the campus.

Prof. Engelmann emphasized that the club's aim is not only to serve foreign students but to constitute a group in which foreign and American students can get to know and understand one another.

Out of Bounds

by Jeanne Lounsbury

The University of Bridgeport has a Frosh Court too, only they call it UBeanie Court. As at Alfred the unfortunate are charged with lacking beanies, name tags and disturbing the peace. Their penalties include polishing shoes, wearing "I am a beanie violator" signs, tearing down brick walls, and taking out the chairman of the Freshman Week Committee. Now that's a novel way to get dated.

From the Canisius "Griffin"—a joke: In Hoffmeyer's Glockenspiel Band one musician says to another:

"Ach, zay Otto, whoze piccadoo was dat you vas blaying der odder nide?"
"Dat vas no piccadoo, dat vas mein fife."

The Hamilton "Spectator" announced a new library system. With the exception of reserve books all volumes are to be lent for one semester, at the end of which the students will be charged fifty cents a day for all those over due. This is a good idea?

Another joke:—or rather a poem
They parted at the coren,
She whispered with a sigh,
"I'll be home tomorrow night."

He answered, "So will I!"

Canisius College Student Council has a good idea. They have chosen a committee to unite with the Academic Council. The idea is to acquaint one another with their differing viewpoints and create a free flow of information between the two groups.

The Columbia University newspaper "The Daily Spectator" did a very unusual thing for a college publication when it declared its opposition to Gen Dwight Eisenhower, the university's president-on-leave and gave its support to Governor Stevenson for the presidency. It said Eisenhower in his presidential campaign had forsaken "principa for expediency, orthodoxy, unimaginative thinker."

"The hopes of millions of Americans who once believed in Eisenhower's great crusade have now been shattered," the paper said in a front page editorial and added:

"Consider the low level of Eisenhower's speeches. While Stevenson has expressed his opinions on every major topic, Eisenhower 'usually' contented himself with a throw-the-rascals-out kind of campaign."

The editorial was signed by eight members of the editorial board. The a presidential and IATEAOINETE paper which has never previously endorsed a presidential candidate is published by undergraduate students without the supervision or control of the faculty.

Candidates for admission to medical school next fall are advised to take the next medical college admission test on November 3. The test will be given at several hundred testing centers throughout the U. S. as listed in the Bulletin of Information available upon request from the Educational Testing Service.

Applications should be made through the same office. Address all requests to the Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592 Princeton, N. J.

The application for the November exam must be received at the ETS on or before October 30, accompanied with the $10 fee.

Results of the test will be sent to as many as three colleges. An additional fee of $1.00 is charged for each report beyond three.

There will be no make-up or special exams given. Additional information may be obtained from Dean Burdick. The following exam will be given on May 10.

— O —

Applications are available in Dean Burdick's office for State Scholarship exams for professional study in medicine and dentistry, to be given on October 25. For further information, see the University Bulletin Board, or Dean Burdick.

The Law School Admission Test, required of applicants for admission to a number of law schools, will be given on the mornings of November 15, February 21 April 25, and August 8. A candidate must make separate application for admission to each law school of his choice, and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the exam and when.

A "break" for the prospective candidate is that the exam cannot be "crammed" for. It features objective questions measuring verbal aptitudes and reasoning ability rather than acquired knowledge.

Since many law schools select their freshmen classes in the spring preceding their entrance, students for admission to next year's classes are advised to take either the November or the February test.

Bulletins and applications for the exam should be obtained four to six weeks in advance of the desired testing date from Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must be received at least 10 days before the testing date.

Graduate Record Examinations, required of applicants to a number of graduate schools, will be administered throughout the country four times in the coming year. The dates released are November 7 and 8, January 30 and 31, April 17 and 18, and July 10 and 11.

ETS advises each applicant to inquire of the graduate school of his choice which of the examinations he should take, and on which dates.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information, which provides details of registration and admission as well as sample questions, may be obtained from college advisors or directly from ETS, Box 592, Princeton, N. J. or Box 9896, Los Feliz Station, Los Angeles must reach ETS at least two weeks before the testing date.

Zora Gatley (Ag-Tech freshman): I'm certainly in favor of it because it will make for a better relations between the two schools. After all we're on the same campus.

Ronnie Clydesdale (Liberal Arts freshman): No! Since Ag-Tech and the University are separate schools they should make their own arrangements for exclusive competition between two institutions.

John Denero (Ceramic College senior): I am in favor of intramural competition between the Ag-Tech and the University. If a split is made the Ag-Tech will not have the competitors and the University will not have the facilities.

Elsie McMillan (Liberal Arts Sophomore): I don't think so because the competition may prevent a closer relationship between the two schools.

Jed Cohen (Member of the board of M.I.A.A.): I am definitely in favor of the suggestion. It would be unfair to Ag-Tech if the University did not supply the competition. The board was in favor of having intramural activities between the Ag-Tech and the University.

Hank Adler (Liberal Arts freshman): I think there is enough competition in the University without warranting any more competition from two year institutions. There are plenty of two year institutions that could have activities with the Ag-Tech.

Selective Service Exams Coming Soon

The next Selective Service Examination will be given on December 4. April 23 will be the date of the following exam. The deadline for applications for the December test is November 1.

Men enrolled in ROTC are not restricted from taking the exam; in fact Dean Gertz urges them to do so. Dean Parish is handling applications in Ag-Tech.

The Deans wish to announce that application forms are not in yet, but they should be available in about a week.

WEEKEND MERRY GO ROUND

The next time you invite a gal from off-campus to share in a fun-packed weekend, keep these pointers in mind:

1—The invitation should go directly to her and include all the details, such as where she will stay, and what activities are on the agenda. Drop a note to her mother too, and tell her all your plans.

2—The fellow pays for everything except his date's transportation. Help her out with the schedules, etc., and plan to meet her if possible.

3—If there's a formal dance, check with your girl in advance about the color of her gown, and buy her a corsage to add to the weekend's festivity.

4—Above all, remember it's up to you to see that you both have a good time. Look your best and behave your best—at least till she's on the train.

5—The girl will write you a thank-you note, but if you really want to rate, send her a letter and tell her you enjoyed her company, too. Have fun!

Senate Votes For Mailed Mascot Some More Money

The Alfred Saxons are going to display a mascot at all games thanks to the vote of the Student Senate at last Tuesday's meeting. Addressing the meeting in Physics Hall Jack Kaplan introduced the idea of having a Saxon warrior dressed in armor at important campus events. The originator of the plan, Prof. Smith of the Speech Department, was commissioned to try to make some armor. He will use plastic as it is light and may look more realistic. The warrior will be owned jointly by the University and Ag schools and arrangements will be made in case both schools have these events on the same day.

The Senate also agreed to ask the students if they would approve of having class dues added to the tuition bill. Using $1 as an example Marlin Miller said that one half of the money collected $700, would be spent on the class gift and then there would not be continual out-of-pocket in the senior year. Also the other $700 could be spent on class affairs during the four years. If there is still some money left after graduation, the class could support alumni activities and this would draw the group closer together. The seniors felt there was a lack of class spirit and this was a good way of fostering spirit at the beginning of the freshman year when there would not be the worry of money to hinder the class from sponsoring affairs. This proposal must have the approval of the trustees before it can go into.

Senators will question their constituents to see if they favor having a Community Chest on this campus. This would put all charity drives in one, cancer, heart disease, TB the Red Cross, and infantile paralysis. The Community Chest would even up the distribution of money. At present, the fist drives collect more money than the later ones.

Dean Gertz spoke at the meeting. He suggested that the students curb

Chem Expert To Lecture

Dr. Wilhelm Jost, professor of physical chemistry at the University of Darmstadt, Germany gave two lectures at Alfred University last week it was announced by Prof. Robert Campbell, chairman of the Department of ceramic engineering.

Dr. Jost, an expert of combustion and the mechanisms of explosion, will lecture at 4 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Tuesday before the student branch of the American Ceramic Society. Frank Chapman, senior ceramic engineer, is president of the society's student branch at Alfred.

In this country to attend a special symposium on combustion at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dr. Jost arrived in Alfred October 2. He attended his first American football game Saturday night at Merrill Field. On Monday, Dr. Jost had lunch with the University President, M. Ellis Drake. He consult with the people engaged in research projects at the University.

The visiting educator plans to see the Corning Glass Center after his departure from Alfred, tonight. Dr. Jost, author of three books, will also speak at Princeton University before he leaves for the Continent.

Dr. V. D. Frechette of the University met Dr. Jost in Switzerland this summer. They also met during Dr. Frechette's trip in Europe four years ago.

their cars and use them only when absolutely necessary.

The Senate is going to invite faculty members to future meeting to promote a greater understanding of the group's work.

The problem of the file cabinets came up again and another committee was appointed to look into the situation.

Jack Kaplan, treasurer, announced that club appropriations will be handled differently this year with more regulation included in the Constitution and a definite procedure for handing out the money will be followed.

Saxon's Triple-Threat Back Holds Many Track Records

"Speed combined with drive and an all around triple threat backfield man is about the most conservative description I can give of 150 pound Les Gobles"—and those opponents who have met Les on the field would be the first to agree with these words of praise by Coach Alex Yunevich.

A junior, Les is one of the fastest and lightest backfield men ever to play varsity football for Alfred. Under the present modified two platoon system, Les is primarily an offensive player. Coach Yunevich commented, "Les does almost all our kicking, but passes and runs equally well—he doesn't seem to have a single weakness. For a man of his size and weight, it is amazing the way he can be tackled and keep driving for those extra important yards."

four etter man
A native of Waverly, Les began his football career by playing four years of high caliber football for his home town high school. In addition, he played three years of basketball, a year of baseball, and during his senior year he tried his luck at track. Luck hardly seems to describe his efforts on the cinders, for Les and track seem to be synonymous.

The fact that his uncle was an Alfred graduate, and his high school athletic director was a former teacher at Alfred-Almond, seemed to direct Les to Alfred.

A shy unassuming student, Les enrolled in the Liberal Arts College as a social psychology major. During his first year here Les played freshman football, basketball, and ran varsity track. Basketball proved to be too slow a game, so Les has been limiting his efforts to track and football for the past two years.

can you top this Track seems like rather an unseasonal sport, however a look at a few of the-honors Les has won might show us why he is so speedy on the football field. Last year Les was voted the outstanding performer in the New York State Championship meet at Kings Point. Some of the twelve New York State colleges competing in this meet were RPI, Union and Ithaca. He is champion in the 100 yd. and 220 yd. dash of the New York College Track and Field Association—he has held this record for the past two years. He also holds the 60 yd. dash record in the 174th Regiment Armory in Buffalo. Finally he is the co-holder of the 100 yd. dash, and holder of the 220 yd. dash records here in Alfred.

next stop Juantico
Les has worked as a waiter in the Brick and Bartlett. He is now working in the snack bar at Saxon Heights, where he lives. A full schedule of courses, football workouts, and work does not leave much time for personal activities. Although Les indicated that whenever he does have a little spare time he likes to listen to music.

Les didn't buy those marine fatigue suits he has been sporting in an army surplus store. He has been spending his summers in a Marine Corp. training program, and after graduation he will spend two and a half years in the active reserve. Upon discharge, Les intends to enter the athletic coaching profession.

About this year's team, Les said, "We are fairly small, but I think we make up for it in speed."

Movie Preview, or I Like TV

by Gail Feldman

An interesting phenomenon is rapidly approaching the hallowed halls and creeping ivy of Alfred University. A seven million dollar extravaganza has given notice that it will honor us presently and it is only fair that we attend its premier. This monstrous faker goes under the name of Quo Vadis. Among its various press releases comes the information that a total of 32,000 costumes, 63 lions, and 450 horses were used. The releases fail to mention that the plot is miserable and the acting, except for that of a few people, is expendable.

The plot is simple. Boy meets girl. Boy wants girl. Girl doesn't want boy. Then vice-versa. When boy wants girl and girl wants boy (which is always interesting) the picture ends. The theme of the picture is very subtle. If your I.Q. is less than 52, then you will have trouble deducing that this story is one of the planting of Christianity in Rome by Peter.

thank you, mother

You may well ask, "Is it worth going to?" I say, "Why not?" After all, it is a good way to kill a couple of hours and two gentlemen do manage to come forth with some excellent acting. No darling, Robert Taylor may be good looking, but he didn't come through. This actor is Peter Ustinov. His portrayal of the mad emperor, Nero, is magnificent. The script asks for a perverted genius. Peter does the job superbly. In my opinion (there will be a slight pause while you say, "Who cares?" and I'll answer, "My mother") your money will be well spent if you hasten to Alumni Hall and watch Mister Ustinov perform.

fine features

Leo Glenn is Leo Glenn. His performance, though not as well done as the above mentioned gentleman, is very good. A few pesos squandered to see his performance will also be well spent.

Now we come to the stars of the picture, Robert Taylor and Deborah Kerr. Mister Taylor looks very attractive, in fact, some say he is handsome.

He goes through the script with vim and vigor when he might have done better going through the script with more sincerity in his acting. As said before, he is quite rugged and pleasing to the eyes of the fair sex.

opera glasses

Miss Kerr takes care of the masculine theater-goers. Her acting is passable, if you like her type. She has shown at various times, the ability to emote. It is a pity that she didn't seem to realize that going around in a flimsy frock is nice on the eyes but bad on the blood pressure. Her physical attributes are emphasized by a nice head of red hair accompanied by fine features. Tears come to my eyes when I think that she seemed hampered by a lack of talent.

The picture's main spectacle is that of the burning of Rome. The technical color photography was well handled by excellent technicians.

A physically immense gentleman perhaps donates the most effective scene of the picture when he wrestles to death a bull in defense of Miss Kerr, who is quite enticing when tied to the stake.

There is no doubt that the picture will have a certain appeal to the average moviegoer. It is lengthy and at times seems to drag. On the whole, if you do go to the picture, you will probably find some parts that are enjoyable, if you look hard enough.

Intramural Sports

The smell of arnica and liniment pervaded the air last Saturday as the intra-mural football teams took to the field for the first time. There are nine teams this year. Seven fraternity teams and two independents.

The most impressive score this week was rolled up by the Kappa Nu eleven as they romped the Barbarians to the tune of 31-2. Hank Greenburg passed twice to Harv Printz and once to Marty Stern for three TD's. Stern caught a prize pass to hit paydirt again. Stan Copley scored the final six points for KN by catching another Printz pass in the end zone. The Barbarians tallied their two points on a safety as the result of a bad pas from the center.

champs lose

Burdick Hall came up with another fine team this year. They started their season off by defeating the defending champs Kappa Psi 15-0. Howie Daly broke through the Kappa Psi line to steal a hand off from their QB and score. This is the freak play to end all. Off timing allowed him to get at the ball, before any one knew what had happened he was in the end zone. Francis O'Brien passed to Millard Evak for the extra point. Dave McCormick passed to Evak for the other tally. Burdick scored the last two points on a safety. They had Kappa Psi backed up to their goal line and a bad pass from the center allowed the two points.

Klan Alpine trounced Theta Gamma 14-0. The scores were made on two trips into the golden zone and a safety. Bill Milliken intercepted a Theta Gamma pass and went all the way. A pass to Frank Waith was good for another six points. Apparently the defense scored more than the offense, an unusual situation in any ball game.

In a tight ball game Delta Sig beat Psi Delta 8-6. Herb Smallwood recovered a Psi Delta fumble behind the goal line for six points. The remaining two points and the margin of victory were the result of a safety. Chuck Sandway took a pass from George Falk and ran 40 yards for Psi Delta's only score.

Canisius Runners Sprint Ahead of Ag-Tech Harriers

A brace of sprints at the finish line furnished a thrilling climax to the Alfred Agricultural and Technical Institute-Canisius College cross country meet yesterday afternoon in Alfred as Canisius won 25-31 in a hard fought 3.1 race over Alfred's rugged, hilly course.

Moffatt of Canisius and Lafuente of Alfred fighting for first place sprinted the last 150 yards with the Canisius runner breaking the tape a step ahead of Lafuente. Moffatt's time as 16:19; Lafuente's 16:19.2.

The other sprint took place later in the race when Quinn of Canisius, coming up from behind, passed Kelley of Alfred and challenged Love, also running for Alfred with about 200 yards to go. Love and Quinn spinted the whole distance and finished abreast with a time of 18:24. It was the first time either man had run cross country meet.

Capt. Tom Pigman of Alfred, who ran for the University last year and the only experienced man on the squad, finished third. His time was 17:02. Prachel of Alfred, also running for the first time, finished sixth and flowers of Alfred was ninth.

Following the race, Coach Wilbur Getz had this to say, "I am very pleased with the results. Canisius College has a good time. I think both teams will improve as the season goes along since they have been practicing only two weeks. The race shows we'll have to concentrate on our fourth and fifth place men. All in all, I am encouraged. We have a good team, and the boys have a lot of heart."

Pictures Completed Despite Blow Out

Rearranging the schedule of previous years, the yearbook staff took pictures of the Senior Class during this past week, instead of at the end of the semester as they have done in the past.

Under the direction of Babe Strong, senior editor, pictures were taken at different times during the day from September 29 to October 3.

The pictures, costing $1.50, were taken by Frank Teall, of Both and Teall Photographers of East Aurora, New York. The equipment used by Mr. Teall was unique in that it was completely constructed by his partner.

On Wednesday, while Mr. Teall was taking a picture of Pamela Davis, the power pack for his photographic lights blew out. In order for the pictures to be continued, Teall had to call his partner in Dittsburg and have him bring another set of lights and another power pack. He arrived with this equipment on Thursday afternoon.

Babe announced that pictures of the various clubs and organizations will be taken sometime next month.

Harold Snyder First As Alfred Downs Univ. of Buffalo

Journeying to Buffalo for their first intercollegiate competition of the season, the Alfred University cross country team beat an undermanned University of Buffalo squad 23-37.

Harold Snyder the only returning veteran from last year's championship team, took first place, running the 3.2 mile course in 15:12. Hal finished a full half mile ahead of his nearest competitor, Dick Jagodzinski of Buffalo. Other runners who scored for Alfred were Hanna, Fidlou, Louy and John Colcord.

Buffalo, who only ran three men, took second third and ninth places, and forfeited eleventh and twelfth places to make the meet official.

Coach Tuttle was very pleased with the results, especially with the way some of the freshmen ran; "We haven't reached our peak yet, as some of our aches and pains show, but we'll improve as the season progresses."

The team will be seeking their second win of the year tomorrow when they meet the Cortland State Teachers College harriers on the Terra Cotta Field. Starting time is 2:30.

The order of finish: (1) Snyder (A) 15:12; (2) Jagodzinski (B) 16:19; (3) Traugott B) 17:40; 4) Hanna (A) 18:15; (5) Fidlou (A) 18:19; (6) Louy (A) 18:21; (7) Colcord (A) 18:21; (9) Reade (B) 19:30; (10) Schfartz (A) 22:45.

Alfred University is greatly in demand at high school "career days."

These days are set aside by various high school have colleges representatives talk to them about careers and colleges in general. For a college to qualify, at least six students from the
