ALFRED—Dr. L. David Pye, dean emeritus of the New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred University, is this year's recipient of the International Commission on Glass Chairman's Award for "outstanding lifetime professional achievements." ments in one or more of the following areas: scientific discoveries, engineering developments or applications, scholarship, artistic accomplishments, industrial/academic leadership, and communications within the international glass community.

Dr. Arun Varshneya, professor of glass science, received the award in 2007.

Pye, who graduated from Alfred University in 1959 and went on to earn both his master's and Ph.D. degrees from AU before joining the faculty of the School of Engineering, was dean of the College of Ceramics during its centennial celebration in 2000 and was founding director of the National Science Foundation Center for Glass Research at Alfred. He was also involved in establishing the Kazuo Inamori School of Engineering and creating the only Ph.D. program in Glass Science in the United States at Alfred.

He has previously served ACerS as chair of the Glass and Optical Materials Division, a trustee, and most recently as chair of its Globalization Task Force study group.

Pye has been a visiting professor at the Johns Hopkins University; technology advisor to the Sarnoff Corporation; and a member of the external advisory committee of the Savannah River National Laboratory.

He is a past president of the International Commission on Glass; a member of the World Academy of Ceramics; an honorary member of the German Society of Glass Technology; and an honorary fellow of the British Society of Glass Technology.

Pye has published extensively in the field of glass science and engineering and convened several international conferences.

His career has earned him several awards including: 1996 Glassman of the Year award, sponsored by the U.S. glass suppliers' industry; the State University of New York Chancellor's Award for Scholarship and Creativity; and the American Society of Engineering Education's Excellence in Teaching award.

In 2003, a named symposium in his honor was convened by the American Ceramic Society. He is listed in several standard biographical references, including Who's Who in the World, and has served on a number of national and international review panels, most recently one convened by the German National Science Foundation.

New construction, renovations keep Alfred busy this summer

ALFRED—Summer always seems to be the season of change in the Alfred area and Summer 2010 is no different. With most students away, major projects are undertaken in earnest.

Demolition of the Merrill Field Grandstand and press box has been completed and work is underway at constructing the new grandstand. Meanwhile, removal of the "old turf" on Merrill Field began on Monday, with work continuing at press time as pictured above left. A new Field Turf is expected to be installed in time for Alfred University's pre-season football camp in mid-August. The grandstand, meanwhile, is scheduled for completion just prior to the Saxons' season opener at 1 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 4.

Just down the street, work continues on construction of a new Alfred office of ServU Federal Credit Union at 180 North Main Street in the Village of Alfred, as pictured above right.

Meanwhile, there is plenty happening in the downtown business district as well. It is now expected that the new Collegiate Restaurant at 31 N. Main Street will open for business on Monday, August 2.

And, up the street, Tim Koegel is planning to move his College Suppliers operation from Alfred Pharmacy to the Kampus Kave at 11 N. Main Street. At 7 N. Main Street, meanwhile, plans are underway to renovate so that another restaurant can be opened there.

Allegany Arc staff pleased by state agency name change

WELLSVILLE--Governor David A. Paterson recently signed into law a bill which changes the name of the New York State Office of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities (OMRDD) to the New York State Office For People With Developmental Disabilities (OPWDD).

The significant legislation removed the words "Mental Retardation" from the name of the State agency and from State statute and regulations, and will take effect immediately.

Allegany Arc, a chapter of NYSARC, Inc., is excited to see more agencies getting rid of "Mental Retardation." Allegany Arc recently had a group travel to Albany to promote the name change and was excited to see that the Government took this seriously and acted swiftly on behalf of all people with intellectual and other development disabilities.

A banner statement on the OPWDD website acknowledges their enthusiasm for the change as well. It notes, "Since the beginning our mission has been to help people with developmental disabilities live richer lives. Now in support of the people we serve, their families, and our provider agencies we're adopting a name that truly reflects this mission. OMRDD is now OPWDD the New York State Office for People With Developmental Disabilities."

For more information on OPWDD, please visit their website at: www.omr.state.ny.us.

Carrie Redman, Allegany Arc's Marketing Director, noted "We're excited to see more affiliations looking at removing 'Retardation' from their terminology as the word is cruel and hurtful to so many people."

She continued, "Our agency changed its name from Allegany County A.R.C. to Allegany Arc in 1992 to reflect The Arc of the United States' elimination of the word from the organization's name. Allegany Arc continues to be devoted to 'putting people first' and allowing individuals with developmental disabilities to have greater control over and live richer lives."

Did you know that thanks to former president Ronald Reagan, July is National Ice Cream month? Well you do now!

Here are some more fun facts for this patriotic summer month: The first ice cream parlor opened in New York City in 1776. George Washington liked ice cream so much, he reportedly ran up a bill of $200 in just one summer! And that was back in the old days when ice cream wasn't so expensive.

Can you imagine what it would ring up to nowadays? Also in 1812, Dolly Madison left an impression when she Transparency in govt.

To the Editor:

I often see letters to the editor complaining about some aspect or some action that the government has taken. Often, these issues are related to rumors that this action violates the Constitution or that it unfairly gives some sort of benefit to certain groups that is not available to all, or that taxpayers are being required to pay taxes that support programs that they do not support.

In the past, I have advised people to check the source before taking a position. Opponents often cite Constitutional concerns in their objections. However, the Constitution and Bill of Rights are readily available online, or at your local bookstore or library. In Federal government, discussions on the floors of the Legislature are available on-line. In the State, these discussions are a bit harder to find, but they do exist. I always recommend that people check these sources before taking a position. However, I've found that bills are being drafted and discussed in closed session out of public sight, and rumors abound.

Senator Gillibrand has presented a bill that, among other things, requires, complete transparency for earmarks and bans anonymous obstructionism in the U.S. Senate. It does not yet have a number, but the information is available on her website at <http://gillibrand.senate.gov/>

Please, I urge all of you – liberal and conservative to check things out for sure before either supporting or opposing actions of the government. Remember, legislators are employed by you to serve you and no one else.

Sun Spots

The Long and Bumpy Road

We set off one day feeling careless and free:
The sheer prospect of freedom elated us;
We were taking a trip down to Kentuckessee,
Unaware what adventures awaited us.

I thought, as vibrations were shaking my brains
And the dials rattled right off the dashboard,
“This road may appear to have two west-bound lanes,
But no – there’s one lane, and one washboard.”

Re passing on four-lanes, a word to the wise:
“Hit the gas” is the way to begin;
And as soon as you can’t see the whites of their eyes...
THEN it’s okay to pull in.

Nice officer, tell me – just how did I err?
I was going a mere eighty-three;
The sign just said, “Slow When Men Working” back there –
And it sure didn’t look it to me.

Of course, we were tailing a yellow Ferrari
Convertible – posh and urbane;
In our old GM van, it was hard feeling sorry
For them...as it started to rain.

But really, now – who are we kidding, in light
That of chances to pass we’re bereft?
Cuz the signs always say, “Slower Traffic Keep Right” –

So that’s our adventure, the freedom we relished –
And it happened just how I depict it,
Not one single detail the least bit embellished...(?!)
And we even did not get a ticket.

Days Gone By

Remembering Alfred in the 1940s

By DAVID A. CRUMP

I lived in Alfred from September 1939 until I graduated from Alfred University in 1950. I have jotted down memories of people and events to share them with readers of the Alfred Sun.

Most faculty walked from home to campus. The “suburbs” in the hillside meadows south and east of the village had not yet been built and nearly everyone lived in town. Pine Hill was reached by a climb behind the Steinheim and at the summit, a long trail went south until it reached the silver water tank.

Lloyd R. Watson, professor of chemistry, was credited with changing bee culture on the planet in the tiny lab just off the apiary on South Main Street. He perfected under microscope the artificial insemination of the queen. Before this technique, the queen would mate in the air. Now, the process was controlled by Watson. His aim was to develop a longer-tongued bee for the U.S. clover crop. One of many side effects was bees with vanilla colored eyes.

Bill Ellis, jovial pharmacist, provided a safe space in the day time for the retired village blacksmith. Mr. MacCombs would rise from his chair and go to the near storeroom to play euchre with students.

The most complex business in Alfred had to be Nate Tucker’s on North Main Street. He not only sold gas, repaired cars, sold groceries and confections, but he also gave haircuts.

Woman in business: Olive Watson created very special studio chocolates and sold them in her store, The Honey Pot, located in the lower corner of her home. The candy was so good that Macy’s in New York ordered all she would send. Each box was elegantly wrapped in colored foil, embossed in honeycomb form.

FROM THE DESK OF DAVID PULLEN

By DAVID PULLEN

Allegany County Legislator

COUNTY BUSINESS – JULY 12TH, 2010

Monday’s meetings began at 11 a.m. with a special Committee of the Whole meeting. The primary purpose of this meeting was to receive a briefing from County Administrator John Margeson regarding the status of union negotiations. The County is currently in negotiations with all four of the labor unions representing County employees. These negotiations remain confidential until tentative agreement is reached with the Union. That agreement is then submitted to the Board for approval. Progress is being made, but negotiations are slow and laborious. The meeting also included an attorney-client conference with County Attorney Thomas Miner regarding litigation brought against the County. That information also remains confidential.

The Committee of the Whole meeting lasted until almost 1:00 p.m. After a short break the Ways and Means Committee meeting convened. That meeting dealt with a number of different issues including filling several vacant positions in different departments. At 1:30 a caucus was convened that ran right up until the Board session started at 2 p.m.

There were 11 Legislators present at the regular Board session. Legislators Benson, Hopkins, McGraw and Russo were absent. Former US Navy Electrician’s Mate 2d Class Richard M. Petri led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Sheriff William Tompkins gave a presentation regarding implementation of new “Telestaff” software at the County Jail. His report showed that the Sheriff’s Department has reduced overtime scheduling by thousands of hours since the software went into operation. This has substantially reduced costs for that Department. I commend Sheriff Tompkins for his initiative in setting up this program.

Only three resolutions were considered at this meeting. The first resolution expressed support for creation of a sales tax revenue resource center by the State. If established this Center would assist all counties with analysis and forecasting about sales tax revenue collection. The second resolution designated the Wellsville Daily Reporter as the sole official newspaper for the week of August 8, since the Cuba Patriot and Free Press will not be publishing that week. The final resolution was more controversial. It would have approved a contract with ACCORD Corporation for grant writing services. I supported this contract since we need assistance in applying for grants for several important projects. The funds from this contract would also enable ACCORD to continue performing other valuable services for the County. However, several legislators expressed both questions and opposition. Ultimately this resolution was tabled to permit supporters to gather more information to present to the Board.

After approving the audited bills, the Board meeting adjourned. It was one of the shortest meetings I can recall. However, I then attended a special meeting of the Personnel Committee. County Administrator Margeson made a presentation about the recently adopted early retirement incentive programs. There are two separate programs. We can adopt one, both or neither of them. If the Board decides that the County should participate in these programs we must adopt a local law. Early retirement incentives save money on a long-term basis, but require a lump-sum payment upfront. This issue will receive further consideration over the next several weeks.

At 3:30 p.m. a tour of the construction site behind the County Courthouse started for legislators and media representatives. Project Construction Manager Supervisor Mark Armstrong conducted the tour. Earlier in the day the steelworkers had placed a flag on top of the girders when they “topped off” the steel work for the project. Work on the Courthouse Addition is proceeding well and is generally on schedule. The steel construction work is nearing completion. Walls and framing work will commence next week. Most importantly, the project has not experienced any major problems and has not had any significant cost over-runs. Very little of our contingency funding has been used.

Several Legislators have experienced health problems. Ted Hopkins is recovering from an accident. Glenn Benson is recovering from surgery. Dan Russo is facing possible surgery. Please keep them in your thoughts and prayers.

SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN FOR THE ALFRED SUN

WANTED: one thousand subscribers to the SUN

Keeping the Dream Alive

Frank Crumb's Dream

Subscription Campaign Update

79 down, 41 to go

Back in 1884, a simple item appeared in the Sun that said, “Wanted, one thousand subscribers to the Alfred Sun.” It’s been 125 years since legendary Sun Editor Frank A. Crumb, with the Sun from 1883 to 1951, set the millenary goal.

Not knowing of Frank Crumb’s Dream, I, too, had set a goal of 1000 subscribers when I joined the paper in 1976. That goal was finally reached in January 1999. But we want to keep Frank’s dream alive.

The late Eugene T. Van Horn, who owned the newspaper from 1951 until 1973, told us one time that circulation peaked in the 1960s at 700. It’s now over 900. We’ve added 79 new subscribers since Jan. 1, 2009.

We think the Alfred Sun is like a weekly letter from home. If you would like to contribute to Frank Crumb’s Dream, send your name and address or that of a loved one together with your check payable to “Alfred Sun” to: Frank Crumb’s Dream, c/o Alfred Sun, P.O. Box 811, Alfred, NY 14802.

String Band in July 30 concert

WELLSVILLE--The Homegrown String Band will perform at 8 p.m. Friday, July 30 at the Wellsville Creative Arts Center. Come early for dinner (served 5-9 p.m.). Tickets are $12 advance purchase/$14 at door. Member tickets are $10 advance purchase/$12 at door. Tickets may be purchased online at www.WellsvilleCreativeArts-Center.com or at the Art Center Coffee House. For more information visit the website or call 585-593-3000.

The Homegrown String Band is a "100% Natural Organically Grown" band, homegrown by Georgianne and Rick Jackofsky and their two daughters, Erica and Annalee. This "family that plays together" has been performing around the country, from the National Theatre in Washington, DC, to the Festival of American Music and Crafts in Branson, MO, since 1997.

Inspired by the rural string bands of the early 20th century, this 21st century incarnation of the traditional family band utilizes unique instrumentation including guitar, banjo, fiddle, dulcimer, mandolin, banjo-ukulele, harmonica, jawharp, doumbek, and percussive dance to put their own stamp on a repertoire drawn from the classics of rural American music, including blues, bluegrass, country and folk.

The tradition of American roots music is a tradition of change and the Homegrown String Band is carrying on that American tradition by using the tools at hand and borrowing from various musical genres to create something new and unique.

Their original music has been lauded as "heartfelt, original, insightful, and impressive" by major music publications Sing Out!, Dirty Linen, and grammy-nominated author Bill Dahl. Homegrown String Band stage shows have been voted audience favorites at festivals around the country, including the Appalachian Fiddle and Bluegrass Association Bluegrass Festival at Wind Gap, PA.

"The spirit of the Carter Family is alive and well in this Rocky, Point, NY quartet."

-Brian Fostervold, "Shout Brother Shout," WXCJ

"It's impossible to separate 'the family' from 'the band.' The bond of humility, of love and warmth and gentle ribbing that only a family can experience informed their stage presence. But their musicianship is not compromised; it's a factor in their success. They're good and they're also lovable."

-John Nyman, WINONA FOLK

The Practice of Zen Meditation

By BEN HOWARD

At one of the climactic moments in Shakespeare’s tragedy King Lear, the aged king experiences a pivotal awakening. Divested of his kingdom and his power, his regal robes and loyal retinue, he finds himself on a barren heath amidst a ferocious storm. Reduced to rags himself, he sees the suffering of the indigent as never before. In a passionate soliloquy he expresses his realization:

*Poor naked wretches, whereso’er you are,
That bide the pelting of this furious storm,
How shall your unhoused heads and unfed sides,
Your loop’d and windowed raggedness, defend you
From seasons such as these? O, I have ta’en
Too little care of this! Take physic, pomp;
Expose thyself to feel what wretches feel,
That thou mayst shake the superflux to them
And show the heavens more just.*

(III, 4)

Forty-five years ago, I memorized those lines, and in four ensuing decades they have often surfaced in my awareness. Their staying power has something to do with their formal beauty, their muscular syntax and resonant pentameters. What makes the soliloquy memorable, however, is not only its forceful rhetoric but also the motive behind it: that of a fallen king, who has realized at long last that he must dissolve the barriers between himself and the suffering of others. He must take “physic” (medicine) to cure the illness of pomposity, the sickness of class prejudice. He must close the gap between himself and other people.

That is also a motive of Zen practice, whose ultimate aims are the relief of suffering and the cultivation of compassionate wisdom. From the vantage point of Zen teachings, the notion of a separate self is an illusion, whether that self be a king or a homeless serf. And that illusion causes suffering, both to the king and the serf: the subject and object in a mutual relationship. For the reality is that we are all enmeshed in what Martin Luther King, Jr. called an “inescapable network of mutuality, tied into a single garment of destiny.” To deny that reality is to live in a self-centered dream—and to widen the gap between self and other.

But how, in practice, is one to close that gap? Short of becoming destitute and desperate ourselves, how are we to awaken, fully and compassionately, to others’ suffering?

For the Zen practitioner, the best medicine is meditation, which not only steadies the mind but also affords access to our internal suffering and its causes. To attend to others’ suffering, Zen teachings tell us, we must first attend to our own. This directive is not a prescription for self-pity or an invitation to wallow in our woes. Rather, it is an admonition to become aware of the elements in our psyches and our culture that engender suffering—the craving, fear, and anger; the impulse to violence; the mindless consumption; the habitual patterns of reactivity. Only when we have gained insight into these forces and, if possible, transformed them into something more constructive, will we be in a position to pay full attention to others’ distress, much less help to relieve it. As Thich Nhat Hanh sternly puts it, “we have to dissolve all prejudices, barriers, and walls and empty ourselves in order to listen and look deeply before we utter even one word.” If we can manage that daunting task, we will be in a far better position to act for the benefit of others.

What we will do will depend on the circumstances. It might be humanitarian action, but it might also be the act of stopping and listening, wholeheartedly and without preconceptions, to those with whom we engage in everyday life. Thich Nhat Hanh calls this practice “deep listening,” by which he means unprejudiced, non-judgmental, and often silent attention to another person’s suffering. “Deep listening and loving speech,” he writes, “are wonderful instruments to help us arrive at the kind of understanding we all need as a basis for appropriate action. You listen deeply for only one purpose—to allow the other person to empty his or her heart. This is already an act of relieving suffering.”

By such means, any one of us might close the gap—and show the heavens more just.

Ben Howard is Emeritus Professor of English at Alfred University and leader of the Falling Leaf Sangha, a Zen practice group in Alfred. For further information, please visit fallingleafsangha.blogspot.com.

From the Earth features gardens, farm, crafts

By LINDA HUEY
Special to the Alfred Sun

ALFRED--Many of us long to experience our connection to the land in meaningful, healthy, and creative ways. From the Earth, an event to be held from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, July 31, will celebrate the bounties of the earth. Organized by four neighbors on the outskirts of Alfred, From the Earth will offer a variety of attractions, including flower and vegetable gardens, tours of an organic dairy farm, creations from wood and clay, craft demonstrations, a guided bird walk, garden talks, children's activities, and more.

Your tour can begin at the MacCrea family's Locustbrae Farm at 1664 Waterwells Road. Debbie MacCrea's extensive and bountiful gardens contain several hundred varieties of perennial and annual flowers, herbs, and vegetables. Many will be available for sale in a "dug-on-the-spot" fashion, ready to be taken home to your garden.

Rich in local history, Locustbrae Farm is also the home of a family woodworking shop which serves as gallery and woodworking studio for Alec MacCrea and his Celtic Woodcraft. Alec creates one-of-a-kind pieces of beautifully carved wood, tooled copper and brass, decorated ceramic vessels (in collaboration with local art potter Richard Lang), and limited edition prints. (See www.celtic-woodcraft.com.) Alec will demonstrate old style wood carving throughout the day, using both hand carving techniques and a mallet (without the use of machines). Come watch a skilled carver working within the vast world of Celtic design, and see knotwork come to life!

Sean Hyland, a fine furniture maker, will also show at the MacCrea location. Sean will offer an all day demonstration of timber framing. As a building is raised, he will talk about age old tools and techniques used in this ancient building method. Discover the path that timber framing has made across history and the unique place it holds in the future of environmentally responsible construction.

A children's activity involving making paper using flowers and herbs will be led by Mary Harris. Other fun attractions for children can be found at the MacCrea farm all day as well.

Linda Huey at 1530 Randolph Road has worked with clay since the "Back to the Earth" movement. After earning her graduate degree from Alfred University in 1993, she and her husband liked the natural beauty of the area so much that they became "rooted" and stayed. Inspired by natural leaf and flower motifs, Linda's current pottery and sculpture will be presented in a sugar shed at the end of a path that winds through their flower and vegetable garden. (See www.lindahuey.com) Throwing on a potter's wheel will be demonstrated by Tara Quigley during the day.

The Snyder family farm at 1444 Randolph Road is just down the hill from there. "Sunny Cove Farm" is a small dairy farm, certified by the Northeast Organic Farming Association of New York for organic milk and organic beef, with seasonal products including all organic maple syrup, apples, and walnuts. Exceptional quality raw milk produced by grass fed cows is sold directly to customers or shipped to Organic Valley. During the event, the Snyder family will be leading tours of the farm throughout the day; one hour each, $5 for adults, $3 for children, and under 5 free. (The number of participants may be limited.) This will be an exciting opportunity to learn about local sustainable organic dairy farming. (See www.sunnycovefarm.com) A dairy related children's activity will be led by Dottie Snyder at 11 a.m.

To continue on the tour, visit the gardens of Mary Lu Wells at 4981 McAndrews Road. "Winter Hill Gardens" will be the site of two talks this year. At noon, gather to observe butterflies fluttering about in a tall grass prairie garden. See little blue stem coneflowers, yarrow, and gay feather seducing the fritillaries, monarchs, painted ladies, and humming bird moths. At 3:00 pm a group will retreat to the cool of the forest to study ferns- those 350,000,000 year old plants of everlasting intrigue. A dozen northeastern varieties have been added to four local species. Folks are welcome anytime during tour hours to see the many other gardens and some rare perennials will be for sale.

Don't miss the 4:00 pm bird walk with Betsy Brooks at Foster Lake, 5471 Lake Road. [This location is only open during the bird walk.] Meet in the parking lot. You will see breeding birds still actively engaged in nesting and feeding their young, as well as post-breeding birds beginning to disperse before moving south. Certain birds will be unique to the Foster Lake area, a high-elevation, mature conifer, 'Adirondack-like' habitat. Betsy will also have handouts with information about plantings for birds, bird feeders, nest boxes, and more.

FROM THE EARTH--The Saturday, July 31 event includes visits to four neighbors outside of Alfred, including the home of Linda Huey (left) at 1530 Randolph Road and the organic Sunny Cove Dairy Farm at 1444 Randolph Road among others.

Artist Knot. 36 Main Street, Andover. "Cut Flowers," its newest exhibit, runs now thru June 18th. Upon entering the exhibition room you are struck by the big, bold paintings of various flowers, cropped very closely (hence "cut flowers"). However, according to Gallery Director Amy Brown, "The paintings are more about composition and color than the subject of flowers." When you consider that all of the works are very large, the largest measuring nearly 7 feet, the impact of the color is almost felt rather than simply seen. Tuesday - Saturday 10am-5pm and until 8pm on Thursdays. Closed Sundays & Mondays FREE ADMISSION. (607) 478-5100.

Bolivar native Dick Monroe exhibits work in Angelica

ANGELICA--The Angelica Sweet Shop and Black-Eyed Susan Acoustic Café are proud to co-host an exhibit of original portraits and landscapes in pastel by Richard "Dick" Monroe of Bolivar. The show runs from July 15 to Oct 12 and will be featured during Angelica's "HERITAGE DAYS" event August 7-8 and the CIVIL WAR WEEKEND Sept. 18-19.

Bolivar resident Richard "Dick" Monroe graduated high school in 1946 and enlisted in the Army, serving in Japan with the 800th Military Police Battalion. In 1952, he received his Fine Arts degree from Rochester Institute of Technology. For the next eight years he was a painting contractor, completing a variety of challenging jobs including painting and restoration of religious murals and ceiling beams in Deveroux Hall at St. Bonaventure University, and painting the water tanks for the Village of Bolivar.

In 1960 he joined Olean Tile as an Architectural Designer overseeing the work of mosaicists, draftsmen, and the many artisans who assembled mosaic murals and artist's designs in tile. Now retired, he is active in community service organizations and has served on Bolivar's Town Council.

He enjoys fishing, gardening, golfing and walking the local streams and woods with camera in hand. The photos he takes often become subjects of his pastel landscapes, and his exhibit will feature several interpretations of local roadways, waterways and scenic views. Also included are pastel portraits of family, friends and pets which are nothing short of stunning.

Mr. Monroe is a member of the Wellsville Art Association and has exhibited at the David A. Howe Library and the Fountain Arts Center, among other places. The work he enters in shows often wins ribbons or other awards. His portraits can be found at the Kenyon Andrus American Legion in Bolivar and the Bolivar Country Club.

Don Ash of the Angelica Sweet Shop remarks, "Dick is a versatile artist who seems equally comfortable drawing portraits, landscapes and architecture. We're hanging a good sample of these different subjects. They are mostly recent works that reflect talent and skill honed over his long creative career."

The exhibit is open to the public during regular Sweet Shop hours: Monday-Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. (or later); Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Sunday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Black-Eyed Susan Acoustic Café opens at 11 a.m. Monday through Saturday and stays open until 11 p.m. on Saturday evenings. For more information or to inquire about exhibiting your work in Angelica, call 585-466-7070 or e-mail info@angelicasweetshop.com

What started as a routine experiment has turned into a revolutionary project, henceforth known as The Hickory Project. The band features hard-driving traditional and original acoustic music with the expert licks of National Mandolin Champion Anthony Hannigan Steve Belcher, David Cavage and Dan Shipe, Coleman Smith, Mark Morris, Craig Vance and Billy Gilmore.

The Hickory Project is globally acclaimed. They have captivated audiences throughout Europe, both the main land and Celtic Isles, Australia and all through the US. As musical ambassadors Hickory Project is taking their music worldwide.

The Hickory Project has now produced 1 DVD and 6 CDs under their own label, Hickory Productions. The Hickory Project has captured that youthful/soul-felt hunger to please their audiences worldwide. Whether it is straight-forward traditional or a flare for the new realm in acoustic music, the Hickory Project is gaining ground.

"This is exciting, adventurous stuff! You'll be hearing a lot more about The Hickory Project."

Alfred State hosting bee symposium

ALFRED--A steady decline in pollinator species has been noted for decades. Additionally, the increasing loss of honey bee colonies suffered by the commercial beekeepers that provide pollination services to commercial growers indicates that many food supplies are imperiled. A symposium on pollinators and pesticides being hosted by Alfred State College today will introduce attendees to some of the recent findings related to honey bee and pollinator losses.

The Symposium is being held from 10-11:30 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. today (Thursday, July 22) on the Alfred State College campus, 10 Upper College Drive. For those wishing to bring a picnic lunch, a designated area will be announced at the meeting; other lunch options will be available on campus and in town.

There is no cost to attend; however, registration is required through the New York Sustainable Agriculture Working Group by e-mail - nysawg@gmail.com or at (716) 316-5839. Include name, affiliation (e.g., grower, researcher/college, beekeeper/organization, etc), and phone number or e-mail address.

Presenting from Pennsylvania State University/Center for Pollinator Research will be Maryann Frazier, extension entomologist, “A Survey of Recent Research Findings Regarding Honey Bee Health,” and Dr. James Frazier, professor, Department of Entomology, “Synergistic and Sublethal Effects of Pesticides on Honey Bees.”

Presenting from the USDA-ARS Honey Bee Pollination Lab in Tucson, AZ, will be Dr. Gloria DeGrandi-Hoffman, research director, “Do Pesticide Contaminants Alter the Microflora in Healthy Honey Bee Colonies?” Dr. Diana Sammataro, “Beneficial Lactic Acid Bacteria Microflora of Honey Bees;” Dr. Kirk Anderson, “Microbiota in the Stored Food Sources of Social Insects;” and Dr. Mark Carroll, “Varroa Mite Attractants: Potential Solution for Varroa Mite/Viral Challenges to Honey Bees.”

This Symposium is sponsored by Alfred State College, its Institute for Sustainability; The WNY Honey Producers Association; The NY Sustainable Agriculture Working Group with USDA RMA; and Bee Culture.

THE GLORY OF AMERICA Thursday, July 22

Like the flames of the evening campfires, the spirits of the wagon train lifted. Outriders had brought in prairie hens and a buffalo, cihldren had found berries to pick, women had used some of the precious flour to bake pies. And now, with the wagons circled and the livestock grazing, they sang some of their favorite hymns, like "Rock of Ages" and "Amazing Grace." They were going to a better place; the Lord was with them, and He would see them through this wilderness and into a land of milk and honey.

'Tis grace hath brought me safe thus far,
And grace will lead me home.

'Amazing Grace' Matthew 20:1-16

By LINDA STAIGER
ALMOND--"Ooohh, how sweet the sound". Attributed to John Newton in 1779, but here's how he came to write this song. He served on a ship with his father as a child then he served on a warship which he hated so he deserted. Very quickly he was captured, flogged and demoted. He thought it would be better to serve on a slave ship so he struck a deal. Not such a good idea since conditions were much worse! A few years into this he was rescued by a friend of his father, a captain of a ship and over time became a captain of his own slave ship. At some point he came through a very violent storm. He wrote that all was lost and the ship would probably sink. Although he was not living a life of faith, in his journal he wrote "Lord, have mercy on us." He had a feeling that God was speaking to him through that storm and God's grace was surely with him. As a result of reflection on the storm, its aftermath and the fact that the ship came through undamaged he became a Christian. In time he became a pastor with weekly prayer meetings for which he and William Cowper set the goal to write a new hymn each week. The Olney Hymns were published in 1779 including "Faith's Review and Expectation"---now known as "Amazing Grace." The melody has been credited as an American folk melody, but Newton was born in London and lived in England most of his life so when did he hear that melody? The speculation is that he heard the tune in the holds of the slave ships--if you listen you get the flavor of Negro Spiritual. Grace changed Newton's life---a storm in his life came along and shook him to the core. We face storms on a regular basis. Too often for some of us. In each storm we have the opportunity to see God's grace as the gift that it is--the opportunity to have our lives transformed in amazing ways as a result. God's grace doesn't show favoritism--there are two things to remember here. First, your value as a person does NOT come from the kind of job you do, the amount of money you have, etc. God affirms your worth as a person simply on the basis of His creative caring love for you. Second, God's grace is not something you earn. It is His free gift to you, to be accepted. However, there is a risk involved: it could be easy to think, "If the gift is free, I'll accept it and use it as I please." Well, if you're honest with yourself, you know it doesn't work that way. Those who really open themselves to the freely-given grace of God realize full well that He will remake and transform their lives. John Newton is an example of a life changed when it met God's grace. God is ready to change your life, too!

Junior reporters interview Scouts

By VIANNA KOEGEL
Alfred Sun Junior Reporter
ALFRED—It was a very exciting time when the Alfred Junior Reporters (Donata, Maya, Vianna, Alyssa, Sophie, and Kaitlyn) interviewed the Girl Scouts. The Girl Scouts' names are: Jillian, Laura, Tori, and Lisette.

Jillian has been a scout for 7 years, and her level is cadets. She is very silly. Laura has been a scout for 4 years, and her level is juniors. I think that Laura is quiet and shy. Laura loves Girl Scouts. Jillian is less enthusiastic about meetings than activities. The Girl Scouts' leader is Mrs. Valarie Gregory. Laura's troop number is 1019 and Jillian's is 496. They have been to Cedar Point (in Cleveland), Ohio and lots of other places. They also have a campout coming up. Girl Scouts is where they try to help make the world a better place. Girl Scouts has been going on for a long time. The 100th anniversary will be in 2012. They have awards that are bronze (for the juniors,) silver (for the cadets,) and gold (for the seniors and ambassadors.) They are for completing a big project. Jillian and Laura think that they will stick to Girl Scouts. I think tons more people should join Girl Scouts.

Girl Scouts helps build courage, confidence

By DONATA KOEGEL
Alfred Sun Junior Reporter
ALFRED--If you join Girl Scouts you can become as famous as Taylor Swift or as rich as Oprah Winfrey... well not really, but you can practice skills you would need! I interviewed two scouts named Lisette and Tory. They were silly and serious.

They were helpful with the interview. Lisette (10) and Tory (11) like being Scouts. They have been in scouts for six years and wear vests with color depending on level.

"Scouts can build courage by selling cookies to people you don't know," Tory said.

Lisette said, "You can get confidence by going on an overnight trip because it might be scary for you."

Should you soar into girl scouts? Would you like it?

'Scouts try to help people,' say Girl Scouts from Andover

By ALYSSA GREANEY
Alfred Sun Junior Reporter
ALFRED--Mrs. Valerie Gregory and Girl Scouts Laura, Tori, Lisette, and Jillian came to Alfred from Andover. Laura and Jillian say that Girl Scouts try to help people--to make the world a better place. They say it is a positive organization. "Girl Scouts has been going on for 98 years," says Mrs. Gregory.

Mrs. Gregory has been a troop leader for 3 years and was a Girl Scout for 2 years. Jillian has been Girl Scouting for 7 years and Laura for 4. Laura says she loves being a Girl Scout, while Jillian says it's so-so but they both recommend Girl Scouting to other girls.

Jillian has received the bronze award. The bronze award requires about 15-20 hours of service work to complete. The bronze award is given at the junior level; the silver award at the cadet level and the gold at the senior and ambassador level. Jillian is at the cadet level while Laura is at the junior level.

Jillian and Laura say they learned to have more confidence in themselves and to have a lot of fun being Girl Scouts. Girl Scouts sell cookies. Laura says her favorites are Caramel Delights. Jillian says hers are Thanks A Lots.

Some fun things that the Andover/Wellsville troop has done are hiking, skiing, tubing, movies, museums, and pigging out at the food court in the mall. The Girl Scouts say that they have tons of fun and learn lots as Girl Scouts.

Wellsville Town Board okays leash law

By ELAINE HARDMAN
Alfred Sun Reporter
WELLSVILLE--Wellsville's Main Street was packed with cars on Wednesday night, June 9 but none of the drivers attended the public meeting prior to the regular Town Board meeting. Dar Fanton, Supervisor, assumed that everyone was happy with the leash law for Island Park and the Lagoon area and would happily comply with keeping their dogs on leash and "picking up" after their dogs.

The full board was in attendance for the regular meeting. They accepted the minutes of the last meeting (May 12) and acknowledged financial reports. There were no community comments so the first order of business was to contract with the town of Alma to provide dog shelter services for $500 per year, prorated for 2010 at half that amount.

There was also approval for the cost of spraying the trees in the park to attack an infestation of forest caterpillars (Eastern forest caterpillars or tent caterpillars) with nods all around as board members seemed to relate the conditions found throughout the area. Pest Control in Olean was paid $600 to spray the trees two weekends ago prior to a wedding in the pavilion. Board member Shad Alsworth suggested a note on the calendar to spray that area in late April or early May next year to attack the progeny of surviving beasts early in their season.

The Madison Street Bridge stair was discussed. Last month the board talked of the need to replace the stairs used by those who live across from the municipal parking lot. The stairs are a direct path to their homes. Without the stairs they must walk around the block to reach street level.

Pierce Steel of Olean presented the lowest bid to fabricate and install galvanized stairs to replace the existing unit for $9970. It is proposed that the town crew will remove the existing unit so that Pierce Steel can install the new.

Ron Taylor was not pleased by this proposal. He asked if there couldn't be a less expensive unit installed -- perhaps wood.

The bridge was built in 1978 in a federal project so its upkeep is regulated by "state specs" that require galvanized steel. Local businesses had bid on the project but those bids were 50% to 100% higher than Pierce Steel.

Taylor proposed that people do a little extra walking and the Town not spend $10,000 on stairs and, although Tim McNulty joined him in a no vote, Fanton added his yes and the motion to replace the stairs passed using the bridge reserve fund for payment.

Returning to the discussion of the new law on leashing and "clean up" for dogs in Island Park it was made clear that the Lagoon Area is covered by this law. One sign has already been installed and more are coming.

If a police officer or the dog control officer sees someone disregard the law an appearance ticket will be issued. Following reports of violation of the law such officers will take deposition and investigate. The public is now required to hold their dogs on leash and bring the pooper scoopers.

Further, the park restoration project is moving onward. The highway department will do a great deal of in-kind work at the park following Wednesday's vote to make the Town of Wellsville lead agency for the project. A negative declaration was declared for any environmental impact for the work and the budget for the project was supported.

Fanton asked that it be clearly stated that a forester determined which trees had to be removed and those were taken down already. No more trees will be cut.

In other business...
...The board approved that the town pay $1,000 for a 50% share of a 4 foot paver that will reside in Amity but will amble out to Wellsville to repair road edges and potholes with Dean Arnold's crews. A specific contract will be written and signed next month. Money to be taken from equipment reserve.

...Arnold reported that an offer was made by an individual to pay the town $750 if it would allow him to cut up and remove scrap metal currently adorning a lot on West State Street. This was happily accepted.

...Hennessy asked that someone remind him to be certain that the highway department budget for next year include $300 for fluorescent T-shirts and sweatshirts for highway crew to wear to be in compliance with OSHA regulations.

...The Town of Wellsville has to work on its Hazardous Mitigation Plan which was, apparently, dumped on them with short notice. Such plan has to be done every 5 years -- long enough to forget about it and long enough for everything to change in it. The project was summed up as, "Holy Mackerel."

...It is necessary to report all property values, the total number of buildings on 1500+ parcels of land broken down into homes, garages and sheds as well as describing the hazards such structures may be subjected to. Hazards the Town of Wellsville faces include flooding, snow storms, hail and 50 page documents needed in 2 weeks.

...McNulty said that he approached the Lions Club to ask them to help with the completion of the post repair project at the main pavilion at the park and they are meeting this week for a vote by members. He hopes they will accept the project.

...The condition of the Elm Valley Cemetery was brought up by Taylor. It seems that the town is paying someone to mow that area and it's not getting done. Taylor was given a phone number to call to investigate and said he would follow up on the matter.

As I get ready to embark on a (richly deserved) vacation starting this weekend, various events that I have enjoyed over the years are on the agenda. Starting off with the Alfred-Almond alumni banquet and a class get together, the Gus Macker basketball tournament in Hornell and then departing for the Adirondack's on Monday and Indian Lake. Especially looking forward to reunion festivities and hoping to see alot of former classmates on Friday-Saturday. Macker hoops is something I hope to squeeze in off a busy slate, perhaps a round of golf with classmates and then a "relaxing" time in the great Adirondack Park awaits.

The A-A Alumni Association (A-A AA) has grown in stature over the years since I graduated and as is the case with any small-town school, I would assume, you always know somebody there! This year I hope to see numerous people I know as it is our 40th-year reunion. Yep, hard to believe many of my former classmates are getting that old! As an "honored" class, those in a five-year period, typically many alumni make an attempt to get back for the reunion. Hope the Class of '70 is pouring onto the Alfred State College campus on the 24th.

Couldn't tell you the exact number of banquets I have been to over the years, guessing about 25 or so? The K of C in Hornell, Alfred University, Alfred State and maybe even one or two at the Lake Lodge in Alfred? Remember as a kid going up to Keith and Jean Palmiteer's house with my dad, early alumni days, and watching them pour over addresses that were on index cards! Yikes. Licking envelopes to mail out. Always wondered why Big Dale asked me to come along to these. Hmmm. Sure Mrs. Evans was there as well, in a smoke-filled back room. Times have changed, slightly.

My daughter Lauren still gets a kick out of fact I graduated with 70-total in '70. I proudly tell her ... "the biggest class ever at A-A!" Which it was at the time but believe that was passed shortly after that. She probably had that many in one of her classes at Webster. One the other hand, I knew everybody in my class! That I wouldn't trade for anything. Unfortunately we lost members way too early and along the way. Think that total is seven. Don't want to guess and be wrong on something like that. Do know that two very close classmates to me aren't with us and I miss them both. Bill Hanks, a friend all thru childhood and high school, very early on and Denny Allen since our 30th reunion. "Lumpy" whom I had the pleasure of playing slow pitch softball with for many, many years after graduation.

I still keep in touch with various classmates and have over the years so it won't be like I haven't seen everyone in 40-years! But, some I haven't seen in a long, long time and hopefully they will indeed be around this weekend. As is the case with many classes at A-A, looking forward to seeing those from '75 and '80 as well. Good friends in both with a sister (Robin) heading out from Kentucky to see her classmates from 1975. The alumni association will have a good program, no doubt and former bonds will be rekindled. At least I hope so!

The Hornell Gus Macker basketball tournament is also this weekend and some great memories of this event along with it. 3L and her friends from Webster played in this event 2-3 times, usually coinciding with the A-A banquet, which made for a hectic but fun weekend back in the day. Think Lauren played in seven Macker's when she was in the 6-7-8th grade range, starting out with the Corning Macker. Wasn't really sure what to expect in these street games, 3-on-3 and we found out in a hurry as our first game was against Alfred-Almond and Hornell players. Not too ironic.

Lauren teamed with various girls to form their Webster Blue Devils squad with the best group also including Chels Lindahl, Cass Beasley and Kristin Abbott. Beasley and Abbott from Webster Thomas, Lindahl and 3L from Schroeder. Very quickly a rivalry was formed as the team would always run into Lyndsay Murphy, Sam Rollins, Jen Mauro and Lauren Sanford from Hornell. Great games, fierce competition and loads of talent on the court. Lauren and Lyndsay eventually became good friends but not exactly the case early on as they would often guard each other! Abbott later played college ball at Alfred State.

Out of Hornell, Corning and the Utica Macker that we went to a couple of times, Hornell was always the best run. Better organized. The Webster girls had a great run, finishing first or second in all the 'Mackers they entered. Miss watching them play. Lauren vows to get the team back together after her college soccer career is over. Hopefully that will be in Hornell. For now, am content to see one of Murphy's games sometime this weekend. Not quite the same as with 3L on the court but do enjoy watching the AU guard play.

Bright and early Monday morning we will be off to Indian Lake in the Adirondacks as Lauren and I head up there for the seventh year running. Same spot, same location, same A-frame, same great hosts. Usually stop in Utica along the way for breakfast where we

Olean Gus Macker set for August 20-22

OLEAN— While the Hornell Gus Macker Tournament is this weekend in downtown Hornell, Olean is still preparing for its own tournament, scheduled for August 20-22.

Gus Macker 3-on-3 Basketball Tournament started in 1974 by Scott McNeal (alias Gus Macker) on his parents' driveway basketball court in Lowell, MI with 18 friends playing competitively for $18. Since then, the Macker Tournaments has expanded, holding both indoor and outdoor tournaments in more than 50 cities and with more than 150,000 players and 1.0 million spectators enjoying 3-on-3 competition and family fun each year.

The Macker has grown to national prominence, but is still run in a hometown, friendly manner. Teams of various age, size, and talent levels pay a team registration fee for the opportunity to compete against other teams of similar make-up and the chance to win top-quality trophies. By prohibiting alcohol or tobacco-related sponsors, the Macker has maintained the wholesome nature and pure fun of the event that draws players, spectators and media wherever it is held.

The Oleah High School Sports Booster and the Olean City School District Foundation need volunteers. For more information, contact Meme K. Yanetsko at 716-372-4433 or email meme@oleanny.com in cooperation with many local, county, state, private and Federal agencies to raise the funds to replace a dam structure and construct a picnic area located on State Route 21 in the village of

will be joined by Doris Springer. While always looking forward to this trip, my enthusiasm will be tempered somewhat this year as Lauren's former Schroeder soccer teammate, Jess Herbst will be unable to join us. Each spring 3L and I "make a list" of potential invitees ... I tell Lauren who is coming, and Herbst is always first on my list. She struggles at our nightly UTRDTR card games, always fun to watch, but she and I were undefeated in euchre last year! Enjoy her company, having her and Ali Bowen along last year was a "treat" but due to conflicts neither can make it this summer. Yuk.

Brooke Easton will tag along with us this trip. A Webster classmate of 3L's who made this journey in 2008. First time since 2007 we have had only one other "invitee" along. Many hikes, mountains, a canoe trip and card games await. Plus, our yearly visit to see "The Ice Cream Lady." Indian Lake is small, quiet and quite boring, actually. Perfect for a vacation.

Each year that we head up to the ADKs I find myself appreciating the area more and more. Thoroughly enjoy our daily hikes (for the most part) as we have a group of places we go to annually now. Going to add a new trip to our list this summer as we explore Crane Mountain. Sandwiched in-between Sawyer Mt., Chimney and Castle Rock. Maybe a trip to Buttermilk Falls or a canoe outing on Blue Mountain Lake and "jumping off the rock." Whew. There are a couple of swimming holes in the area and maybe we'll find another mountain/trail to explore.

Nightly card games are crazy as we play Up The River, Down The River. Herbst used to be very good a it - no longer, 3L in "ok" range, Easton is tough and my main competition. Going to miss having "The Shifty One" around this year also, Bowen in North Carolina near Kaz.

Indian Lake ... here we come!

HITS AND MISSES:

Three members of the Alfred-Almond boys track team made "honorable mention" on the AGR squad announced in the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle, recently. Michael Timbrook, Mitchell Porter and Travis Harvey from the standout Eagles team were named.

The PGA Turning Stone Resort Championship will be held August 5-8 this year on the schedule instead of being part of the fall slate. If anything, event should get better weather than they have had in the past. For ticket info ... contact Obie.

Tiger Woods didn't win the British Open last week but somebody named Louis Oosthuizen did. Yikes. The less-than-amazing 2010 season continues for Woods, winless, as he has failed to grab a "major" at Augusta, Pebble Beach and now at St. Andrews. Sites he has dominated at in the past.

The College Football Hall of Fame will soon be closing in South Bend, IN (Notre Dame) and heading to Atlanta. Why? They spend all that money to have the facility in Indiana and now get ready to move it? Unlike the Soccer Hall of Fame in Oneonta that closed its doors in '10.

Spotted a few NYS vanity plates here and there: GAME MAN ... Cutter, HOMER1 ... near Cortland and 7 MM NYY ... The Mick!

Took in a Rochester Ravens women's soccer game last Wednesday evening at PAETEC Park/Dodge Marina Stadium. Eileen Coyle, a SUNY Geneseo graduate, plays for the ladies in the USL W-League. Beautiful evening, Coyle cashed in on a goal and added an assist, with Rochester winning by a 3-2 mark. Counting Coyle, eight current or former Geneseo players were on hand for the contest along with Mike & Hazel Coyle (Oneonta) and Randy Beale (Penfield). Good time during and after game! Coyle was a member of the 2009 NCAA tourney Blue Knights squad that was coached by Nate Wiley. Shannon Spusta (Macedon) plays for team as well and is a college teammate of Jess Herbst (Webster Schroeder) at the University of Vermont.

Took in a Rochester Red Wings "AAA" baseball game on Sunday at Frontier Field. Perfect day for a game, slight breeze, but a very laid-back crowd on hand. Twins affiliate lost to Indianapolis Indians, 4-3.

Looking forward to some Hornell Gus Macker action this weekend, seeing Murphy play and others. "Sandwiched" around the A-A alumni banquet, class festivities and hopefully a round of golf. With my sister, Robin Fischer in town. Whew.
