Alfred State earns honors for community service

ALFRED—Alfred State College has been named to the 2009 President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll, the highest federal recognition a college or university can receive for its commitment to volunteering, service-learning, and civic engagement.

The Corporation for National and Community Service, which administers the annual Honor Roll award, recognized more than 700 colleges and universities for their impact on issues from poverty and homelessness to environmental justice.

"Congratulations to Alfred State and its students for their dedication to service and commitment to improving their local communities," said Patrick Corvington, CEO of the Corporation for National and Community Service. "Our nation's students are a critical part of the equation and vital to our efforts to tackle the most persistent challenges we face."

The Honor Roll includes six colleges and universities that are recognized as Presidential Awardees, with an additional 115 named to the Distinction List and 621 schools named as Honor Roll members.

"We are pleased and proud to have been named to the President's Honor Roll for Community Service," said Alfred State College President Dr. John M. Anderson. "This recognition lets our students know that their contributions matter."

"Our students are continually partnering with local villages, community organizations, and non-profit groups, to help implement the college's community service strategy. The electrical students and faculty installed an off grid photovoltaic (PV) array at the National Arboretum in Washington, DC, and also taught contractors in Washington, DC, on photovoltaics use.

"ASC students participate in local projects as part of their course work. With our students supplying a large percentage of the labor, we help local entities secure grants for improvements. The students in our Building Trades Department provided the majority of the labor for the historic restoration of the Alfred Village Hall in 2006. This facility was renovated to house the new Police Station, Village Clerk offices, and auditorium - a $1,000,000 project.

"Building Trades students volunteered with a community group to save and restore a large Victorian home in Alfred. This home had fallen into disrepair. Had this non-profit group not had our help, the house would have been torn down and the Village would have lost part of its historic heritage. Much of this was volunteer work done evenings and weekends. Our heavy equipment operations program worked with Habitat for Humanity for their houses. We renovated Alfred Montessori School and built the new Wellsville Montessori School.

"We are integrating cutting edge technology into our curriculums by building a 2,250-square-foot green home on campus that will be used for educating our students, local contractors, and the public on green building technologies. We have a weatherization course that helps contractors expand their businesses and help workers become more employable. Some of our other service activities include:

- Culinary Arts students and faculty, in cooperation with St. Bonaventure University (Olean) participate once a month in feeding community patrons at the Warming House - a public hunger outreach program.

- ASC opens its facilities to some 800+ western NY Skills USA high school competitors with our faculty and students volunteering as judges in the many areas of competition.

"Our students not only receive outstanding technical education, but they learn to give back and support their local communities by typically conducting two to three projects each year for the public good," he said.

Mini-mart being recycled, renovated into sustainability center, food co-op

By ELAINE HARDMAN
Alfred Sun Reporter

HOUGHTON--The former mini mart on Route 19 in Houghton is being renovated and re-purposed as a sustainability center. The center isn't named yet and its full role and function isn't defined but over time there are hopes that it will become a community resource with free and useful programs that will focus on real life solutions and solid information.

Ginny Routhe is the Sustainability Coordinator in charge of the project. (Reach her at 585 466 4501.) Routhe met with representatives of the United Way, the Red Cross, The Cooperative Extension and the Allegany Artisans as well as Houghton student groups and faculty members to brainstorm ways that the center might serve the broader community with educational programs.

Ideas discussed included classes and workshops in canning, composting, babysitting, gardening, energy conservation, making baby food, following fair trade practices, personal financial literacy, wilderness training and other topics discovered in the process of pursuing those. The center may also serve as a conduit to allow for internships in area businesses and on farms. Hopefully there will be lectures and documentaries will be shown. There may be art classes, wilderness training or disaster preparation classes.

The hope is that community members with questions and expertise can come together to help everyone live in a more sustainable manner. Houghton hopes that the center can be a bridge between the college and the community.

The building will also house a natural food coop and many programs will be related to growing and preparing food.

Back in 1884, a simple item appeared in the Alfred Sun that said, "Wanted, one thousand subscribers to the Sun."

That goal suggested by Sun co-founder and legendary Editor and Publisher Frank A. Crumb, was met before the new millennium. But now we'd like to keep the dream alive. So we've set a goal of 125 new subscribers to mark the SUN's 125th anniversary.

Healthcare taxes up?

Dear Editor:

Governor Paterson has released an executive budget piled high with healthcare taxes, including a doubling of taxes on inpatient and home care. There are also proposed tax hikes for nursing homes, as well as an expanded surcharge on physician's services.

These proposed increases in 2010-11 healthcare assessments would be added on top of the 2008-09 healthcare assessments just enacted less than a year ago and would hit New Yorkers at a crucial time, when national healthcare reform carries the promise of new health care and insurance taxes nationally.

Medical providers would have no choice but to build the taxes into the cost of their services and pass them on. Inevitably, increases in medical costs will result in increased insurance rates, meaning fewer individuals can afford the premiums.

As a member of the New York State Association of Health Underwriters, I am on the front lines of this health care crisis. I bear witness every day to how increases in health insurance rates affect people and families. I recognize that our state is in a financial quandary, but increasing taxes on the healthcare sector will just exacerbate the problem, further creating more uninsured New Yorkers.

If further taxes like these are added to the healthcare sector in 2010, New Yorkers will be looking at a perfect storm of rate increases, causing employers to drop insurance coverage for their employees or to lay off workers.

As more people are dropped from the rolls of the insured, this health care tax revenue would decrease, prompting a trend of higher taxes collected from fewer premium payers statewide. No one would win.

You Can Run But You Can't Snyde

Hey Editor, where is your habitat?

Like, where did you spend this past Sabbath at?

I thought that you lived at the Sun –

And I don't mean that big, yellow one.

But this week you abandoned your post

Just when we needed you most.

You went running off rashly and errantly –

In search of another sun, 'pparently.

You say it's to do with "humanity";

I say it's to do with your sanity.

Leaving Alfred at such time as this?

Just think of the cold you might miss!

And this week we have needed you greatly

For this week has just flowed by sedately.

It figures the week you would choose

To be gone, is a week with no news.

And why's there no news, you may ask?

It's cuz SOMEone's not home at his task:

Pulling news items out of thin air.

(Did you think it was out of thin hair?)

Those in small towns and big towns alike'll

Go crazy without their news cycle.

(Don't mention, the cycle of ours

Is a hundred and sixty-eight hours.)

So I'm hoping you'll know how you're missed,

If you're already not too sun-kist

To return to a habitat nearby,

Back with Alfred's humanity hereby.

INFRASTRUCTURE AND TAXES

In 1984 my wife and I purchased our home. It cost $24,500. It was inexpensive because it hadn't been well maintained for many years. Over the intervening 25 years we have spent about $100,000 on repairs, maintenance, renovation, and additions over. It really isn't the same house that we purchased. It is now totally redone and different. The prior owners got away without paying for all those repairs, but in the long run someone had to decide to either tear it down or assume responsibility for long-term capital repairs.

The same thing is true for public infrastructure. In prior years we built roads, bridges, water and sewer systems, and other public works. In recent decades people have objected to high taxes and public officials have neglected necessary maintenance to our infrastructure. Unfortunately this cannot continue, and we are now facing critical infrastructure deterioration. We must address this situation and make responsible choices, even if they are unpopular.

Allegany County has over 120 bridges on County roads. Towns have an additional 200 bridges on town roads. We have established a joint bridge repair program under which the County pays 85% of the cost of bridge repairs, while the local town pays 15% of the cost. Because of budget problems we have cut back on appropriations for bridge repairs. In recent years we have done only one or two major bridge repairs each year. As a result there are now numerous bridges that are deteriorated and facing closure. This year we increased appropriations for bridge repair and are scheduled to work on five bridges. That represents progress, but is still not enough.

Deputy Superintendent Guy James of the County DPW recently advised some Legislators that a typical bridge should last between 40 and 60 years, provided it is properly maintained. On a conservative schedule that means we should repair or replace 8 bridges each year. Deputy Superintendent Guy James estimated that the typical cost for replacing each bridge would be about $400,000. The math is simple. Eight bridges at $400,000 will cost $3,200,000 each year. That is almost 3 times more than we have spent in recent years.

Are we prepared to act responsibly and make the necessary investment in our basic infrastructure? Over the past few years the County Legislature has managed to balance the budget and even managed to build a modest surplus. How should that surplus be used? Should we reduce taxes to provide some much needed relief for our taxpayers? That would probably be the most popular action. However, it may not be the most responsible action.

At present it is my tentative conclusion that we need to increase our annual appropriation for bridge repairs by about $2,000,000. That would allow us to establish a schedule of bridge repairs that could start to reverse the effects of neglect and deterioration suffered over the past few decades. Maybe we can reduce that amount after the first several years. This is really an investment in our future. The alternative is economic and social stagnation. Without adequate roads and infrastructure we will fall further and further behind the rest of the country and world.

Our current dilemma is aggravated by the policies of NYS and the federal government. They mandate that we spend millions of dollars on numerous short-term social programs. It is becoming obvious that we cannot afford everything that is mandated and needed. Our taxes are too high, and now our infrastructure is wearing out. It is time to reject the failed social programs and go back to the traditional responsibilities of government. In the long run the issues and choices are pretty obvious. It is time for individuals to take responsibility for themselves. Government must limit itself to the traditional functions of government. This will be a painful adjustment, but there are no reasonable options that aren't painful.

Frank Crumb's Dream

Subscription Campaign Update

56 down, 69 to go

Back in 1884, a simple item appeared in the Sun that said, "Wanted, one thousand subscribers to the Alfred Sun." It's been 125 years since legendary Sun Editor Frank A. Crumb, who was with the Sun from 1883 to 1951, set the millenary goal.

Not knowing of Frank Crumb's Dream, I, too, had set a goal of 1000 subscribers when I joined the paper in 1976. That goal was finally reached in January 1999. But we want to keep the dream alive.

The late Eugene T. Van Horn, who owned the newspaper from 1951 until 1973, told us one time that circulation peaked in the 1960s at 700. It's now over 900. We've added 56 new subscribers since Jan. 1, 2009.

We encourage our readers to give a subscription to the Alfred Sun as a gift—it keeps giving week after week, all through the year. During Frank Crumb's Dream Campaign, we offer 13 months for the price of $27 ($30 outside of Allegany County). That's $25 off the news stand price. And you'll read exclusive hometown news and interesting stories!

We think the Alfred Sun is like a weekly letter from home. If you would like to contribute to Frank Crumb's Dream, send your name and address or that of a loved one together with your check payable to "Alfred Sun" to: Frank Crumb's Dream, c/o Alfred Sun, P.O. Box 811, Alfred, NY 14802. Happy reading!

Alfred will be swingin' again Friday, March 19

ALFRED—The Alfred Swing Dance Network is pleased to announce its next dance will be held Friday, March 19.

An evening with Jon Seiger and the All-Stars is something you won't soon forget. Authentic renditions of songs by Louis Armstrong, Ella Fitzgerald, Cab Calloway, Duke Ellington, Count Basie, and many other jazz greats will leave you feeling as if you were living jazz history. They were a great hit at the ASDN dance last September and will return to Alfred for your dancing and listening pleasure!

The evening will start with a free introductory class for beginners at 7 p.m. The Dance will start at 8 p.m. and go till 10 p.m. This event is open to everyone, all ages and all levels of experience. Beginners are especially welcome!

All events will take place in the beautiful restored ballroom on the second floor of the Alfred Village Hall, 7 West University Street, Alfred.

It is not necessary to have a partner to attend the class or dance. The Alfred Swing Dance Network strives to create a friendly atmosphere, where dancers of different levels feel comfortable mixing and asking others to dance.

Dress is casual. Dancers are asked to bring clean, smooth-soled, non-marking shoes to protect the dance floor. There are plenty of chairs and it will be easy to change from your street shoes.

In consideration of people with allergies, ASDN asks that dancers please do not use fragrances: perfumes, colognes, aftershaves, etc.

There will be a $12.00 admission to the dance.

Please join ASDN, spread the word and bring your friends! This band will be of interest to any classic jazz fans – there is a balcony and plenty of seats for non-dancers to enjoy the music. For info, call 607-478-8178 or email: evalley@frontiernet.net

JON SEIGER and the All-Stars, to the delight of Alfred swing dancers, will return to Alfred for the Alfred Swing Dance Network's next dance, set for 8 p.m. Friday, March 19. Free instruction will be available beginning at 7 p.m. Admission to the dance is $12.

Three performing arts faculty on sabbatical

ALFRED—Three faculty members from the Division of Performing Arts are on sabbatical leave for the spring 2010 semester to study in their fields outside of the United States.

D. Chase Angier, assistant professor of dance, is in Kyoto, Japan to create three new works and develop two new courses. She will also be collaborating with music composer John Laprade to create a new walking artwork that will be performed by Kyoto citizens and visitors. Alfred's GIS technologies specialist, Justin Grigg, will lead his students to connect the walking performance to a global audience using the technologies learned in the classroom.

Angier's new Site Specific Performance course will be taught next fall and her study abroad course will be taught in spring 2012. Angier's project is supported by the Levine Presidential Endowment Fund; Mary McGee, dean of the College of Liberal Arts & Sciences; Joseph Lewis, dean of the School of Art & Design; and a liberal arts and sciences faculty development grant.

Angier has been directing the dance program at AU since 2002. Some of her many accomplishments include her signature work, "Lemons for Loveliness," which was included in Dance Insider's top 50 dance works. While based in New York City, Angier toured nationally as a performer with Senta Driver's dance company and has performed and choreographed for MTV and Nickelodeon. Chase received a master of fine arts degree in choreography from Ohio State University and a bachelor of arts degree in dance from UCLA.

Theater Professor Stephen Crosby is a visiting faculty member with the Latin American Studies Program in San Jose, Costa Rica. Students attend this program to focus on Latin American topics such as "People and Environment," "Democratization and Politics," "USA-Latin America Relations," and "The Marginalized." Crosby will be joining the students on trips within Costa Rica as well as Nicaragua and possibly Cuba.

One of his main goals is to expand his research of and famil-ilarity with Latin American theater while establishing connections with Latin American theater artists in hopes of future exchanges, collaborations, and guest artists visiting Alfred.

Crosby is an equity actor, director, and writer. He has worked professionally in New York, Los Angeles, and in regional theaters such as the Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis. He has appeared in film and on PBS television, including in "The School for Scandal," part of the "Theatre in American" series.

Prior to coming to Alfred, he taught at Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, MI; Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, MN; and the University of Alaska, where he organized a Native Alaskan Theatre program which toured nationally and internationally presenting original works based on cultural and social issues. He has also been a faculty member for the Semester at Sea program.

At AU, Crosby has directed performances such as "Metamorphose," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "Fiddler on the Roof," "Into the Woods," and "Buried Child."

Professor of voice and chorus, Dr. Luanne Crosby, is in Costa Rica with her husband (Stephen) and children to prepare a recital program scheduled to be performed at the Chautauqua Institute in August 2010. The recital, titled "The Three Sopranos," will include Christine McMasters and Sarah Holman and pianist Reddekopp Edwards. L. Crosby is also advising students in the American Studies Program on research papers in Latin American music and protest songs.

Luanne Crosby earned a doctor of musical arts degree from The Cleveland Institute of Music/Case Western Reserve University, and master's and bachelor's degrees, both in music, from the State University of New York at Fredonia. She helped write the NYS high school general music curriculum and served as a master trainer, teaching other teachers the curriculum. During the summer of 2007, L. Crosby sang the soprano solos for the oratorio "Elijah," at the Int'l Conducting Workshop in Varna, Bulgaria.

Artist Knot Gallery 'Starting Small: 12 x 12' in March 12 opening of Exhibition Room

ANDOVER--After nearly a year of renovations and remodeling, The Artist Knot Gallery will host its first exhibition, "STARTING SMALL: 12 X 12." The exhibition will run from March 12–April 23, 2010.

An opening reception is scheduled for 6 to 8:30 p.m. Friday, March 12, with music performed by renowned cellist Jennifer Berg.

The show's title, "STARTING SMALL: 12 X 12," is a reference to the fact that all work on display is small. How small? Under 12 inches. The other 12 in the title alludes to the 12 artists, represented by The Artist Knot Gallery, that will be presenting work.

In addition, according to Artist Knot Director Amy Brown, "The title 'STARTING SMALL' also reflects our approach to establishing the exhibition space, and the main gallery. We've got grand plans for these spaces and even plans for expansion. However, for now, we're focused on a small group of talented artists and utilizing every inch of our 2000 square foot facility. This is our starting point."

Mrs. Brown also mentioned the reason for presenting work of such a small size.

"Smaller works tend to carry smaller prices. One of our goals with this exhibit is to encourage emerging collectors to begin or expand their collection by presenting a great variety of lower priced works," she said.

At the same time, an opportunity for established collectors to enhance their collection exists with such a breadth of work being presented.

"I can't emphasize enough," said Brown, "the amazing variety of work on display by established artists, as well as emerging artists."

The show features ceramic art, oil paintings, wood sculpture, pen and ink drawings, metal sculpture, watercolor paintings, stone sculpture, acrylic paintings, encaustic and egg tempera paintings, and a couple of mixed-media pieces.

The works range in style from representational to abstract to non-objective, with a few blurring the boundaries. There is a full scope of works from traditional to contemporary.

"We have assembled a delightful array of new pieces," said Brown, "that have two things in common: small size, and big impact." She went on to say that even though the pieces are physically small, the impression which each work makes is captivating.

To find out more, you can see a preview online at www.artist-knot.com. All events are free and open to the public. The Artist Knot Gallery is a fine art gallery located at 36 Main St., in historic downtown Andover. Regular hours: Tuesday-Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m., open late Thursdays until 8 p.m.

WHEN ENOUGH IS NOT ENOUGH

Years and years ago I became interested in the concept of saving time by making fewer motions, or by doing two things simultaneously. To this day, despite my continuing efforts to be efficient in that way, the desired results elude me.

The idea was presented to me when I first read the biography of Frank and Lillian Gilbreth penned by two of their twelve children, Frank B. Gilbreth, Jr. and Ernestine Gilbreth Carey. The book, Cheaper by the Dozen, was published in 1948. I probably read it not long thereafter on the recommendation of my parents. It was immensely popular with both teenagers and adults.

While mulling over my everlasting time and motion problems a few days ago, I checked the book out from Alfred University's Herrick Library and read it again. I hoped it might put up some signposts to lead me out of my maze. Instead, I rediscovered the reason for its initial success.

Mostly, It is hysterically funny in its descriptions of how one large family inter-related in the first quarter of the 20th Century. Whether read in one's teens or one's maturity, members of many American families who lived well into that century's second or third quarter, might find themselves mirrored there.

The Foreword notes that the parents ran a firm from 1910-1924, Gilbreth, Inc. "which was employed by many of the major industrial plants in the United States, Britain and Germany." On page 65 it is pointed out that "To be efficient, in the Gilbreth family, was on a par with veracity, honesty, generosity, philanthropy, and tooth-brushing."

The father always carried a stopwatch, and would time how long family members took to do little jobs just as he did when examining factory procedures. He figured out ways to quickly teach his children at home everything from shortcuts in arithmetic to learning foreign languages to using the Morse code. Some involved his painting the information on walls viewed every day.

The children, in turn, figured out many ways to disconcert adults, including their father. Alas, his varied physical ways of showing displeasure with the children's behavior, although widely acceptable then, would not meet today's standards. However, they were brief in time and motions.

Since calculators, computers, and the Internet have now made it unlikely that painting data on walls would solve my time and motion problems, I am still in a quandary. Heloise used to try to help out with her hints. If I were to let them, advertisers would offer bombastic solutions to me every day. Magazine articles and TV shows, whether "reality" based or not, provide all sorts of "Do It Yourself" advice.

I eagerly attended the Bergren Forum presented by Chris Romanchock, program director of AU's Children and Youth Learning Initiative, on February 25 to see what DIY occupations he performs. His two cows looked appealing as projected on the screen.

I only have room for a hamster or gerbil or two, and lack the ability to harness their wheel-running power to provide energy for household use. Still, they offer commercial-free, instant amusement without my making any motions. And a purchased container of cow milk does fit readily into my refrigerator.

I was pleased to learn from Chris that I am doing something for the planet and myself by regularly making purchases at Salvation Army Thrift Stores. In fact, during his talk I was wearing a cardigan purchased at one. However, I am still at a loss for time to hand launder it.

Perhaps the best time and motion saving routine ever pointed out to me came from a stranger who used the Scholes Library of Ceramics at the New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred University only once. It happened to be a night when I was working at the Reference Desk. As I helped him to find some information, the abstract problem of locating something one has lost just moments before came up.

He mentioned hastening back to the starting point where he knew he had had it in hand, then proceeding forward once again. His theory was that the object would more likely be visible from that vantage point than when approaching it from the opposite direction.

As my clutter has grown, I have tested that theory on a daily basis. It has proven to be true and to have precluded the waste of a lot of time and motion. Just not enough to notice. =

Walker Metalsmiths Celtic Jewelers travel south to improve their skills

ANDOVER--Three local jewelry artisans left the snow behind for a week in February and traveled south to improve their skills.

The jewelers from Walker Metalsmiths Celtic Jewelry attended a week long training course in advanced stone setting techniques at the New Approach School for Jewelers in Virginia Beach. The course was taught by master stone setter Blaine Lewis, who has revolutionized the education of jewelers in technical skills by a combination of improved techniques and illustrating those techniques through live demonstrations magnified to one hundred fifty times actual size on large screen monitors.

Mr. Lewis has an international reputation for his courses and training videos. He is regularly consulted by jewelry industry manufacturers regarding new designs for jewelry components and has trained craftsmen for many leading jewelers around the world.

Each participant in the course successfully worked on at least twelve stone setting projects during the week. These skills will be useful immediately as these artisans are regularly called on to set diamonds, sapphires, emeralds and a variety of precious and semi-precious gems in the jewelry crafted at Walker Metalsmiths.

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, March 11

Concerned about the private behavior of a few of the Colonies' Patriots, Abigail Adams wrote to her friend Mercy Warren:

"A patriout without religion, in my estimation, is as great a paradox as an honest man without the fear of God. Is it possible that he whom no moral obligations bind, can have any real Good Will towards Men? Can he be a patriot who, by an openly vicious conduct, is undermining the very bonds of Society? ...The Sriptures tell us righteousness exalteth a Nation."

Alternative energy demonstrated

WELLSVILLE—Several freshmen enrolled in Alfred State College's electrical construction and maintenance electrician program, recently traveled to Letchworth Central School at the invitation of middle school health teacher Susan Murphy to explain and demonstrate the uses of alternative energy. Murphy explains: "Students from Alfred State College came into my eighth grade health class after studying environmental health. Their presentation and demonstration of alternative energy introduced my students to options of how they can participate in making our environment healthy and safe. The 'hands-on' activities also kept their interest. Because water, air, and land pollution have caused health problems in our society, my students learned that by using alternative energy, environmental health issues can be solved and also save our natural resources." Murphy's students weren't the only ones who benefited. ASC student Cory Stuff, North Tonawanda, commented: "The day was very beneficial to me. I actually learned more about the technologies we were teaching them about by interacting with the students at Letchworth Central School. I walked away with a stronger knowledge and a different attitude." Pictured here, l-r: Doug McNamara, Holland; Jeremy Swiatkowski, Holland; and Stuff. Missing from photo is David Goodman, Newark.

How Big is Big? Wind Speed and Project Jobs...

By KIM DONIUS

Special to the Alfred Sun

As I was watching the future home of John Nino's "Collegiate" employing a 75-ton Terex crane, I tried to imagine a 275-ton crane rolling down Alfred roads and placing 2megawatt wind turbines on an Alfred ridge. I had been informed locally that New York's C.P. Ward Inc., could be a potential company to contract for a 275-ton crane to carry out a wind farm project-however, after contacting the company, C.P. Ward said this type of work would likely require a 1600-ton crane to do the job--a worldwide corporation such Bechtel may be more in line for this project... C.P. Ward was very gracious. After the inquiry, I then went back to imaging the negotiating of a 1600-ton crane positioning itself for this work.

Board notes for the Town and an ESWE, LLC company newsletter verified the following size wind turbines for Alfred. "We are looking to use the "2 Megawatt" class of units which generally measure around 400' from the ground to the tip of a rotor (blade)... As for a number of units, ... [a] number less than 10 looks to be economically challenging, while more than 30 units looks to be an upper bound [number]. An example of a wind turbine unit in the "2 Megawatt" class is the Suzlon model S-88, Keith Pitman stated. At the October village meeting, Mr. Pitman also cited the Vestas windmill as the possible wind generator to be placed in Alfred.

A quick look at the specifications sheets of the Indian company's Suzlon and the Danish Vestas product brochures yield a lot of information. The Suzlon S-88 is a 2.1 megawatt rated wind turbine. Currently, 2000MW are in operating worldwide. The Suzlon S-88 is named after the 88 meter blade diameter. The diameter is the equivalent of 288.7 feet or to a 747 jet); blades are placed at 79 meters high (260 feet). They would exceed the Statue of Liberty in stature.

The second model, the Vestas, cited by Keith Pitman's energy company, ESWE, LLC, is a 2MW (2000kw) and there are currently 500 extant worldwide. The magnitude of these towers, generators, blades can be daunting. The Vestas has three blades each weighing 6500 kg or 19.5 metric tonnes. The Nacelle weighs 69 metric tonnes, the hub 18 metric tonnes and the tower 155 metric tonnes. The total combined weigh is 261.5 metric tonnes or 288 short tons. Now add the anchoring concrete base to support that tonnage. Hence, the need for a very tall and heavy crane.

In order to get the wind turbine generator moving you need to have a cut-in speed of 4m/s. Meters per second can be doubled to determine the miles per hour. Therefore, 4m/s would equal 8mph to start up the blades. Keep this information in mind when examining the wind data currently being gathered at the farm. Wind Data available at: <http://www.alfredstate.edu/about-us/going-green>.

Constant wind is important with wind turbines not the sporadic stops and starts-gusting reduces efficiency of a windmill. There is a safety cut-off speed which is important too. The wind turbine must be shut off when the wind is 25m/s. The Suzlon has a mechanical brake and three aerodynamic rotor brakes to change the pitch and reduce the speed for turbine safety.

The Suzlon Company provides what they call "End-to-end solution" management. "Suzlon undertakes the complete turn-key responsibility - from arranging land; to equipment supply and EPC (Environmental Protection Code) ; to nodal agency clearances; to life-cycle operations & maintenance of projects. Customers do not have to engage extra manpower for their wind projects".

The Danish Vestas has "Active Output Management". The company can take care of all aspects of a project: siting, designing, installing, servicing and maintaining, monitoring and remote trouble shooting. "Your wind turbine has to be managed with great care to avoid exposing your investment to unnecessary risks." The "End to End Solutions" and "Active Output Management" would, of course limit the number of jobs available for local hires., as these are highly technical.

As an added note, in accordance with the General Accounting Office, an investigative arm of Congress, reporting on the receipts and payment of public funds, local hires to operate a project for communities with smaller population and economic base results in less than one new job created for every 3MW. (Upton County, Texas project statistics cited)

August 21, 2008, Keith Pitman stated at the Town meeting, "It won't create many jobs". Next column we will take a look at what local jobs could be created and available. Please come and attend future community wind energy meetings for more information.

Saxon men's lacrosse team looks to move up in rugged E8

ALFRED-- The Alfred University men's lacrosse team has improved steadily in each of Jason Lockner's four seasons as head coach. Lockner hopes that trend continues in 2010, with the Saxons ultimately reaching its first-ever Empire 8 Conference championship tournament.

Scoring shouldn't be a problem, as the Saxons possess a potent offense that returns three of its top four goal-scorers from last year's 8-7 squad (1-7 Empire 8). A potent attack, and deep and balanced midfield, will lead the Saxons early as a young defense that lost all three starters from 2009 gains experience.

"The offense is going to put the ball in the back of the net," Lockner commented. "The defense will have to get used to having a lot of new faces, but once we get them going, I expect them to be good."

The attack will be led by the Saxons' top two goal scorers from last season: senior Mike Russo (Mattydale/Cicero-North Syracuse) and junior Marc Zoyhofski (Blasdell/Frontier). Russo, a midfielder his first two seasons, netted a team-best 27 goals to go with four assists in 2009; Zoyhofski led the team in points (46) with 25 goals and 21 assists and had 29 groundballs, tops among attackmen. The two are co-captains this year.

"(Zoyhofski) has led us in scoring since his freshman year. He's a complete, well-rounded player who can really shoot and distribute the ball," Lockner commented. "(Russo) is our only four-year letterwinner so we'll count on him for leadership. He'll be more balanced this year, not just scoring but distributing and carrying, picking up groundballs."

Sophomore Paul Eaton (Buffalo/St. Francis) will start on attack alongside Zoyhofski and Russo. As a freshman, Eaton had 10 points on eight goals and two assists; Lockner said he expects his scoring output to go up in 2010. "Paul has improved a lot. He'll really help open up our offense."

Sophomore James Cahill (Sugar Land, TX/Clements) will play a greater role on the attack after seeing limited time as a freshman (three games, no points). Freshmen Ryan Felice (Watertown) and Charlie Barbay (Seneca Falls/Mynderse) provide depth on attack.

Midfield will be the deepest and most balanced unit on the field for the Saxons. Junior Justin Kieffer (Middletown, MD) is the leading scorer among returning middies (19 goals and an assist in 2009). He'll be joined on the top line by sophomore Dave Malave (Shoreham-Wading River) and frosh Matt Zon (Tonawanda/Sweet Home). "(Kieffer) has always had the ability to score, but he's become a much better shooter (percentage-wise) and (Malave) will see his scoring go up this year. He's a very complete player, probably our best all-around midfielder," Lockner said. "(Zon) has a real nice shot and will be one of our primary faceoff men."

Sophomore Brendan Murphy (Buffalo/Bishop Timon-St. Jude) (six goals, three assists in 2009) will lead the second midfield unit. Other midfielders expected to contribute offensively are senior Sean Roberts (Whitney Point) (two goals last year), sophomore James Whyel (Markleysburg, PA) and freshmen Scott Johnston (Akron), Matt Hodnik (Binghamton) and Eric Jelen (Nanuet/Clarkstown South).

Johnston, who as a high school senior set the Section VI record and tied the New York State mark for goals in a game (13), possesses one of the hardest shots on the team.

A trio of juniors — Joe Gibbs (Whitesboro), Kevin Kostyk (Islamorada, FL/Seneca (NJ)) and Adam Schutz (Geneva) — will see time as short-stick defensive midfielders: Kostyk (one goal, one assist, 24 groundballs last year) is the Saxons' top returning faceoff man from last season (38 of 81) and Gibbs had an assist and 27 groundballs. Schutz moves to the midfield after playing goalie the last two seasons and Lockner expects him to make an immediate impact on the AU defensive efforts. "He's an incredible athlete who is going to help us tremendously on our faceoffs and in our man-down situations," Locker said of

Adding depth to the AU midfield will be sophomore Mike Ciepiela (Marilla/Iroquois) and freshman Simon Chon (Farmington, CT).

"Our midfield is the strength of our team, along with out offense," Lockner said. "We have a lot of depth and talent and this is the best group of defensive midfielders I've had here."

The Saxon defenders will be inexperienced, as only junior Trent Thurston (Ontario/Webster Schroeder) saw any meaningful minutes in 2009, tallying eight groundballs in 12 games. Lockner is encouraged by the return of sophomore Alex Hamilton (Corning East) and with freshman Jake Spadoni (Webster Schroeder). Hamilton was penciled in to start last season before an injury suffered in the preseason knocked him out for the year; Spadoni is expected to step right in a start.

Freshman Dave Konnick (Vestal) will compete with Thurston for a starting spot on defense, and junior Eddie Anderson (Palmyra-Macedon), a transfer from Finger Lakes Community College, will compete for time on defense as well.

Freshman Tim Doyle (Palmyra-Macedon) will take over for Schutz in goal. Lockner said Doyle is solid between the pipes, both stopping the ball and making the outlet pass.

Sophomore John Landi (Putnam Valley, NY/Putnam Valley) and freshman Justin Becker (Conesus, NY/Livonia) will compete to back up Doyle in goal.

BRITTNEY BROOKS

SHAWNA McNEIL

Alfred State cagers earn honors

ALFRED--Alfred State College sophomore guard Neil Wilson (Ft. Worth, TX) has been named 1st team All-Region. Wilson led the Pioneers to a 12-18 mark and the #4 seed in the Region III Division II Tournament. Rasean Parris (Brooklyn/Benjamin Banneker) joined Wilson on the All-WNYAC team.

Wilson led the Pioneers with a 16.7 point per game average. He shot 45.6% from the field and made 41.6% of his three-point attempts. Wilson finished the season with 82 3-pointers. He also finished the season with 4.2 rebounds per game, 3.7 assists, and 1.4 steals.

Wilson scored in double figures in all but three of the blue & gold's 30 games. He had more than 20 points in ten games (eight in the second half of the season) and finished the season with back-to-back 33 point games.

For his career Wilson finishes with 958 points (15.7 ppg), 236 rebounds (3.9 rpg), 183 assists

(3 apg), and 95 steals (1.6 spg). Wilson was also named 1st team All-WNYAC and was joined on the team by Parris who was selected to the honorable mention team. Parris averaged 10.1 points per game and pulled down 166 rebounds from his guard position. He also passed out 56 assists and was credited with 27 steals. Parris had 15 games in which he scored in double figures and had a season high 23 points at Cayuga CC.

Brooks, McNeil honored

Alfred State College sophomores Brittney Brooks (Elmira Free) and Shawna McNeil (Hornell) have been named to the Region III Division II All-Region team. Brooks was a 1st team selection while McNeil was a 2nd team selection.

Brooks led the Pioneers with 591 points and 242 rebounds on the season. Her 591 points in a single season is second best in school history. She scored in double figures in all but three games and had 17 games with more than 20 points and 4 games with more than 30 points. Versus Elmira JV on 1/13 she had a career high 40 points to go along with 13 rebounds.

On the season she averaged 21.9 points, 9.0 rebounds, 3.2 assists, 2.2 steals, and 1.7 blocks per game.

Brooks finishes her two year career at Alfred State as the program's scoring leading scorer. She became ASC's first 1,000 point scorer and finished with 1,046 points breaking the previous top mark by 130 points.

This is the second year in a row that Brooks was named 1st team All-Region. Last year she was named Player of the Year and went on to be named NJCAA Division II All-American.

McNeil used a strong second half of the season to earn All-Region honors. McNeil finished the season the 235 points (8.7 per game) and 140 rebounds (5.2 per game). In the second half of the season she scored in double figures in seven of the thirteen games and had a career high 23 points vs. Genesee. She also averaged 1.0 assists per game, 0.9 steals, and 0.4 points. She ended the year shooting 42.6% (84 for 197) from the field.

Brooks and McNeil helped the Lady Pioneers to a 11-16 record and the #5 seed in the Region III Division II Tournament.

HITS AND MISSES:

March has always been my favorite month of the year as far as viewing sporting events goes. College basketball is going strong with conference tournaments at hand and the NCAA's soon to follow. "March Madness." Major League Baseball teams are in Arizona and Florida getting ready for another season and the PGA Tour makes its annual swing thru Florida. Have always wanted to spend the month of March in Florida (after winning the lottery) and going around to the various spring training facilities to see games. Ideally with Pat Atwell for a week. Play some golf here and there, hooking up with Jake Taft and Obie, then going to Bay Hill or Doral to watch the pro golfers in person. Would much rather watch a spring training MLB game than a regular season one, live. Smaller stadiums, warmth after a winter in WNY, kicking back with a cold one (or two) and the excitement of a new season about ready to unfold. Talking to others at park doing same thing you are doing. Spraying shots on the links with Obie-Taft-Atwell-Our Man-E-Bob Baker, over to Leesburg in the league. The Bay Hill tournament, Arnold Palmer's event. Tiger Woods is usually there. A winner numerous times, six trophies in hand, I believe. Have actually been to Doral, years ago, but now it is a World Championship tournament. Toss in an NCAA men's basketball regional and March in Florida would be pretty sweet!

Alfred-Almond grad, Skip Sherman will be in Florida next week as he brings his Genesee CC baseball team south for some "spring training" games in the Tampa and Davenport areas. GCC is a member of the WNYAC as is Alfred State. Sherman is in his fifth-year at the helm of the Genesee CC program, in Region III, Division II action. His team won the conference title in 2005, he was named the Region III Coach of the Year in 2007 and also the Region III National Coach of the Year in January of 2008. Sherman's GCC program hosts Alfred State on 4/15 and travels to Alfred on 4/17. Twinbills both. "Odd" schedule. He and his wife, Kristy are the proud parents of two young boys. She the girls soccer coach at Brockport Central School.

Alfred-Almond grad and Hall of Famer, Andy Allgrim is in his sixth-year as an assistant coach in the Cedarville (OH) men's basketball program that completed a stellar (25-8) campaign, won the AMC league title and is off to the NAIA Division II championships in Montana. The Yellow Jackets beat Malone, Daemen of Buffalo and Notre Dame of Ohio to win the AMC title. Same league Walsh University of Ohio competes in. Allgrim played b-ball at A-A, Jamestown CC and Cedarville prior to entering the coaching ranks. His is also the JV coach at Cedarville.

Tim Mead's (Andover) Walsh baseball team started out there season with a 2-3 mark in the early going as they were in Florida last week for some diamond action in the south. The ex-Panther is now in his 27th year at the helm of the Cavs program, with 557-wins to his credit and numerous Coach of the Year awards. His 2007 team made it to the NAIA College World Series after a great, late-season run and he was voted into the Allegany County Hall of Fame in 2006. The past two years Mead has coached a group of high school all-stars from Ohio in an elite tournament in Hawaii.

Former Alfred State College women's hoop coach, Joe Q. French is busy these days with his UMBC women's softball team at the Division I level in Maryland. "Qua's" troops won an opening tourney in South Carolina called the Spartan Classic to get the year going. The Retrievers will host three tournaments of their own this spring ... the Retriever Classic, the Dawg Pound Invitational and the Spring Classic. Now in his 9th year at UMBC, French is the all-time winningest coach in softball history at the school. Besides ASC, the "Babe Ruth of Waterloo" coached at Mansfield, USNA and Genesee before landing in Maryland. UMBC is at Binghamton on April 2-3.

Lyndsay Murphy (Almond) was named first-team all-conference in E8 basketball action for the second straight year after playing in Alfred University togs. The junior was the only AU player named, men or women, to the all-conference teams. Danielle Cooper and Jared Patt were named E8 Sportswoman/Sportsman of the year for AU. Each league school has a player named. Jessica Berry of Utica was Player of the Year with Brittany Wilson (Fairport/Nazareth) on

Houghton eliminates Andover with 35-34 win

BELMONT--Andover's boys' basketball team, seeded #3 in the Section V Class D2 Basketball Tournament, lost a heart-breaker to #2 seed Houghton Academy, 35-34 last Wednesday night.

Tyler Whitesell with 16 points led the Panthers, who finish a fine season at 14-6. Houghton (16-4) was led by David Roorbach's 13 points in the low-scoring game played at Genesee Valley Central School in Belmont.

Houghton, which advanced to play Northstar Christian Academy in the finals Saturday morning at the Blue Cross Arena in Rochester, had beaten Andover 50-37 in their regular season meeting.

The #1 seed Northstar Christian Academy advanced to the finals with a 62-54 win over Webster Christian.

Fillmore wins battle of green

In a Section V Class D1 semi-final encounter, #3 seed Fillmore edged #2 seed Prattsburgh, 65-63 in a thriller played as part of a D1 doubleheader at Letchworth Central School last Wednesday night.

The Green Wave of Fillmore Eagles were led, as they have been all year, by Matt Dean who shared the game's scoring honors of 26 points with Prattsburgh's Garrett Parker. Dylan Smith added 15 for Fillmore, while Josh Sanford had 14 and Patrick Wightman 13 for the Vikings.

Fillmore (18-3) advanced to battle #1 seed Notre Dame of

AU's Brisson, Chambliss earn UNYSCSA honors

ALFRED—Alfred University seniors Andrew Brisson (Greenwich, CT) and Kameron Chambliss (Alfred-Almond) have earned top swimming and diving honors from the Upper New York State Collegiate Swimming Association and Empire 8 Athletic Conference.

Chambliss swept the titles in the three-meter and one-meter diving competitions at the UNYSCSA/Empire 8 meet. He automatically qualified for the NCAA Division III championships after earning 466.35 points on the one-meter board and 497.05 points on the three-meter board.

Brisson won two UNYSCSA individual titles — the 200-yard freestyle and 100-yard freestyle — and swam on two relays — the 400-yard medley and 200-yard freestyle — that won UNYSCSA and Empire 8 crowns.

Batavia (19-1) in the finals at the Blue Cross Arena in Rochester Saturday, March 6.

Notre Dame of Batavia defeated Steuben County champ Arkport, 60-41. Greg Talbot was the Blue Jays' leading scorer with 12 points. Arkport finished with a fine 16-5 season, having completed the Steuben County League regular season play without a loss.

the second unit for the women. Rob Kornaker (AU) was named Coach of the Year from the SJ Fisher men's program.

Spotted a few NYS vanity plates here and there: PAPI54 w/Red Sox plate holder ... 54lbs overweight for Boston!, PRVTRYAN ... saved, ARTNJAZZ, BUGSY ... from Port A, TRATHLON ... Gids in Virginia and B FIT ... Scum and Drip??

Former Canisteo athlete, Vernon Van Skiver is playing baseball this week in Las Vegas. Yes, baseball! Not slow pitch softball. Played alot of softball with Van Skiver (his brother, Vance) on the Bandits tournament team and against in various leagues. Now working in Brockport.

Janis King and Derck Frechette were "off and running" recently at the Gasparilla 15K in Tampa and the former area residents did quite well. King was 8th in her age group (56-60) and Big was 4th in his (either 61-65 or 66-70)! 5,000 runners started the race. The duo, now living in The Villages in Florida, will compete in the Jacksonville River Run this weekend. Same distance.

Will the men's NCAA basketball tournament field soon have 96-teams? Hope not!

Will the UConn women's b-ball team grab yet another NCAA championship? Most likely.

Will have my "expert picks" for the 2010 men's basketball tournament next week in this space.

Duke!

Brother-in-law, Brian and my "favorite niece" ... The Grump, took in the Kansas at Missouri men's basketball game this past Sunday. In a Fischer household filled with UK fans ... brainwashed from birth, Kristina somehow is a KU fan! The Fischer's from Kentucky.

A quick MLB selection of playoff squads: Philly-Cards-Dodgers-Cubs in weak NL. Yanks-BoSox-Twins-Angels from the AL. St. Louis over the Phillies in the NLCS. New York Yankees over Boston in the ALCS, Yanks to repeat in six in WS.

Off to Florida next week for a (richly deserved) vacation. One week in Tampa-Clearwater area for the Sumo Tour Open and then over to Leesburg to paint. Yes, paint. No rest for the weary. Key word ... warmth!

Closing this week on a very sad note with the passing last week of Wayne "Egghead" Stuart of Thatcherville. Good friends of his son, Dick in high school and knew Wayne thru Lions Club as well as fact he and Mert were friends of my parents. Good man.
