

Chambers of Commerce Catered To By Campus

The Southern Tier Chambers of Commerce Association has responded to President M. Ellis Drake's invitation to hold its monthly meeting on the Alfred University campus, this Wednesday, October 21.

The meeting will get underway with a dinner at Howell Hall. At this time, the members of the 75 chambers will be welcomed to our campus by President Drake. Entertainment will be provided by the Alfred University Glee Club under the direction of Dr. Johnson.

The main purpose of this meeting will be to show the attending Chamber of Commerce members how they, as small businessmen, can utilize research procedures to develop new ideas for their communities. Co-chairmen of this program are Professor Henry C. Langer Jr., head of the Economics and Business Department, and Dr. Willis Lawrence, Head of the Department of Ceramic Research.

Professor Langer will speak on the use of research methods in the various fields of business and economics, in relation to his studies of the business climate and marketing patterns in this area. Later, the group will visit four of the research projects being carried on here, and will be introduced to the new products that Alfred University has developed for government and industry.

Following demonstrations of the work being done in the various research projects, the group will return to Howell Hall where the meeting will adjourn, following coffee and dessert.

Founder's Day Ceremony Has Educational Objectives Cited

At eleven o'clock on Thursday, October 15, the traditional Alfred University Founder's Day Convocation ceremonies commenced. This occasion commemorated the 102 anniversary of the creation of Alfred University by the New York State Legislature in 1857.

The program was begun with the procession of seniors clad in their caps and gowns for the first time. They marched into the Men's Gym to the music of Costa's March from "Eli", followed by the University faculty wearing gowns adorned with many different colors signifying their degrees and where these were earned.

The invocation was given by Dr. James C. Cox and was followed by President Drake's introduction of the guest speaker, Dr. Ewald

B. Nyquist, Deputy State Commissioner of Education. The subject of his address was "What Constitutes Excellence In An Institution of Higher Learning".

Nyquist identified the three "Benchmarks of Excellence" as a clear concept of the Universities objectives and goals by its faculty and trustees; the continual need for money; and the pursuit and encouragement of high standards in values, conduct, accomplishment and independent critical thinking.

Thus it is that he said "No institution can be great unless it emphasizes, and is dedicated in an important way to the liberal arts," and that "The liberal arts are characterized by freedom, not privilege; by concern for the nature and dignity of individual man... not simply society at large; by broad, not narrow considerations."

He called for the "radical change" in attitudes on the part of the student towards intellectual effort. This is expected of society as well in which there must be cultivated a profound respect for intellectual effort.

Institutions must be continually in need of money because "excellence has no ceiling". They always need more financial support from state and alumni to improve and expand their facilities.

The address was followed by a rendition of William Reid's "O God of All The Nations" by the University Chapel Choir.

Honorary degrees were then presented by President M. Ellis Drake to two men who have rendered meritorious service in their respective fields. Dr. Ewald B. Nyquist received the honorary Doctor of Laws degree for his service to the field of higher education. Conferred on William E. Hanford, Vice President of Research and Development for Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, was the degree of Honorary Doctor of Science. Hanford has served on the advisory committee for the Graduate Program in Catalysis at Alfred for two years.

The "Alma Mater" was sung by the entire assemblage, followed by the benediction given by Dr. Cox. The program concluded with the recession of Seniors and faculty to the music of Corelli's "Allegro".

Pearce Is New Member Of AU Civilization Panel

Mr. Richard Pearce, one of the two new members of the Civilization Board, graduated from Hobart with a B.A. in Philosophy. He went on to receive his M.A. in English at Columbia University where he is presently working for his Ph. D. in Contemporary American Literature.

Originally interested in Philosophy, he switched to Literature because he found the former to be too abstract. He considers life a real thing, and feels that Literature is more relevant to life because of its concreteness. Generally, his tastes are down to earth. Although he enjoys hunting and fishing, he finds his time so consumed by teaching and working for his Ph. D. that he seldom gets the opportunity to enjoy these sports. Mr. Pearce likes reading, teaching, writing and listening to "good music" (Classical, Jazz, and Folk Music). Two forms of entertainment he dislikes are card playing and watching television.

So far, life at Alfred appeals to Mr. Pearce and his family, consisting of his wife Jean and nine month old daughter Karin. As opposed to life in the city, he finds the pace here more suited to his temperament. Before coming here to Alfred, he held part time teaching positions for a year at Columbia University and a year at Rutgers. Mr. Pearce describes the Civilization course as "exciting." He is finding it an easy and enjoyable task to adjust to his job here.

APO Sponsors Ugly Man Race

Friday night, October 16, Alpha Phi Omega in conjunction with the Student Senate presented this year's ugly man. The ugly man contest is a yearly popularity poll between men of the various university residences.

A picture of each contestant has been placed over a container in the union. The contestant who collects the most money is declared the winner and he shall receive a suitable prize. All money that is collected is given to the Campus Barrel and is donated to various charities.

This year's representatives are Dick DeMott of Delta Sigma Phi; Connie Wexelblatt of both Tau Delta Phi and Cannon dormitory; Lou Ecker of Phi Kappa Nu; Stan Mills of Bartlett dormitory; Don "Cro" Rhos of Kruson and the Brick???; Tom Wonnacott of Lambda Chi Alpha, Joyce Kilmer of Rhodies; Ted Higgs of Barresi; John Maranov of Klan Alpine and Eric Kluwe of Kappa Psi Upsilon.

Each man was elected by his residence as being the best representative of the house.

Fire Displaced Bovines to AU

The cows which lost their home Sept. 27 when fire destroyed three barns on the Smithome Farms at Big Flats are going to college.

Wednesday a herd of about 40 cows will leave the farm for Alfred University.

Since the fire the herd has been pastured and milked at another farm at the foot of Harris Hill, but barn facilities for the "guests" are lacking. The onset of cold weather made it imperative to house the livestock.

An arrangement has been made with Alfred University to use one of its newly remodeled cow barns to house the milking herd during the winter.

In the spring William T. Smith, owner of Smithome Farms, plans to rebuild his cow barn in a new location. Then the cows will come back home.

The program will be held at 7:00 p.m. in the Union University Church Center, across from the Post Office. Panel moderator will be the Rev. Robert H. Bone, Episcopal Chaplain.

Guest panel members will be Linda Rubin, President of the Inter-sorority Council and President of Sigma Chi; John Stanley of Delta Sig; David Matteson, independent; and Dr. Lewis Butler, Assistant Professor of Mathematics at Alfred University.

In its discussion, the panel will be concerned with the relationship between religion and the fraternities and sororities on a college campus. Topics to be covered will include: "Does religion give guidance in choosing or rejecting fraternities and sororities?" "Does religion give guidance to fraternities and sororities in the selection of members?" The pros and cons of fraternities and sororities from a religious viewpoint."

The Protestant Forum is sponsored by the Protestant fellowship groups of Alfred University and Ag-Tech. Meetings are open to all who are interested in obtaining a better understanding of the role religion plays in college life.

at the Ball and will serve as sponsors for the remainder of the year.

Music for the Ball will be provided by the Statesmen who have played at many functions both on and off campus. The Statesmen is composed of a fifteen piece orchestra and will feature four vocalists.

Directing the preparation for the Ball is the chairman of the event, Cadet Joel Moskowitz, with the assistance of his committee chairman; Cadet Krinsky, General Activities; Cadet L'Amereaux, Decoration; Cadet Trafalski, Secretary-Treasurer; Cadet Hughes, Publicity; Cadet Chaleff, Refreshments; and Cadet Schuler, President of the Eyes Right Club.

Air Force Research Lab Receives New Contract

The Aeronautical Research Laboratory at Wright Air Development Center, Dayton, Ohio, has renewed a $34,000 yearly research contract with the Air Force Laboratory at Alfred University.

James R. Tinklepaugh, director of the Laboratory, said that the contract is for research on changes in strength and in thermal conductivity resulting from reduction of grain size in dense ceramics. He explained that grain sizes tend to grow as ceramic materials are fired, but the growth will be restricted by using a hot pressing technique to produce the materials of fine grain size for the research.

This renewal is the fourth extension of the contract. Under previous contracts with the Wright Center, the Laboratory produced metal-ceramic laminates and made studies of heat flow on those materials.

O'Neill's Plays To be Analyzed

"Unconscious Autobiography in the Plays of Eugene O'Neill," will be the topic discussed by Stephen Whicher, associate professor of English of Cornell University.

Professor Whicher will speak on Thursday, October 22 at 8 p.m. in Binns-Merrill, Room C, under the auspices of Pi Alpha Pi Sorority.

Whicher will deal specifically with Hairy Ape, Desire Under the Elms, Great God Brown, Lazarus Laughed, Strange Interlude, Mourning Becomes Electra, Long Day's Journey Into Night, and The Iceman Cometh. Several of these plays have been and are currently being seen as Broadway plays and movies, which makes the topic a particularly timely one.

There has always been considerable discussion regarding the degree to which the autobiography in O'Neill's works should be stressed and in what light they should be interpreted.

There will be an open discussion period following the close of Whicher's speech. All are invited.

Fellowship Received By Researcher From Egypt

Miss Samia Hajjar of Egypt has been awarded a fellowship for research on the use of lead in glass to be conducted in the Glass Technology Department of the College of Ceramics.

During the current academic year she will work under the fellowship established by the Lead Industries Association. She plans to continue the studies in the lead-oxide, potassium-oxide silica system begun last year by the first recipient of the fellowship, Craig Leiser.

Miss Hajjar's home is in Heliopolis, Egypt. She received her B. S. degree in mathematics and science from the American University in Cairo. She did graduate work in mathematics and in ceramics at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles where she earned the degree of Master of Arts in Ceramics. She also has industrial experience as a control engineer on glazes for a California tile company.
