Alfred Lions help welcome international students

By BRAD BOWDEN
of the Alfred Lions Club

ALFRED--The Alfred Lions Club took part in the Tuesdayk, August 21st Reception in the Village Park for new international students at Alfred State College and Alfred University.

Students were welcomed by event organizer Jeanne Hyland (Hair Care); then Nadine Hoover, who is active in the Friends Peace Teams in Asia/ West Pacific, described the layout of 'downtown' Alfred businesses, the locations of the Village Office, Police Station and Fire Hall and Library, and encouraged the students to participate in what a small, rural and extremely friendly community provides.

In speaking with students about their countries of origin, academic and personal interests, Alfred Lions Club members learned that several students were familiar with Lionism in their home country, and some had family who were members.

The Alfred Lions Club looks forward to having a 'cultural program' by international students later in the academic year. In addition, Alfred Lions have been encouraged to volunteer in the 'Befriend An International Student' program at Alfred University coordinated by Vicki Westacott.

Initially formed in 1917, Lions Clubs International is the world's largest service club organization, with 1.35 million men and women in more than 206 countries. Though well known for successful initiatives in vision health, over the years Lions service has become as diverse as its members and their community needs.

The Alfred Lions Club was formed in 1964 and Chartered in 1966. The Club looks forward to continuing to serve the community and to its 50th Anniversary Celebration in a few years.

Almond will host frack forum

ALMOND--Citizens Concerned About Fracking will host a community educational forum on hydrofracking and water issues with Scott Torrey, Executive Director Allegany County Soil and Water Conservation District and Anthony Ingraffea, PhD., the Dwight C. Baum Professor of Engineering, Cornell University.

The forum will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 19 at the Almond Municipal Building, 1 Marvin Lane, Almond. Community members from Almond and surrounding areas are encouraged to attend.

As Executive Director of the Allegany County Soil and Water District, Scott Torrey works in cooperation with the State Soil Conservation Committee, Allegany County, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, and the Cornell Cooperative Extension of Allegany County, in addition to working with local, state and federal agencies on natural resource projects. He will present an overview of the Allegany County watershed and aquifers.

Professor Ingraffea will speak about the science of high volume slick water hydraulic fracturing. Dr. Ingraffea has taught structural mechanics, finite element methods and fracture mechanics at Cornell for 33 years, while his research has concentrated on computer simulation and physical testing of complex rock fracturing processes. He has been a principal investigator on more than $35 million in research and development projects, including with the Gas Research Institute and has authored over 200 papers.

Purpose of the forum is to provide an overview and updates on the high volume slick water hydraulic fracturing process with a focus on environmental and water safety issues. There will be time for questions.

A comprehensive look at hydrofracking

Special to the Alfred Sun

Professor Ingraffea in Almond talk

Many readers who remember the fight in Allegany County, against the siting of a nuclear waste dump will remember Ted Taylor. Ted Taylor was an atomic scientist who designed nuclear weapons at the Los Alamos National Laboratory. Later in his life he became an ardent and articulate voice against nuclear proliferation. No one knew the issues, the science, and the dangers better than Ted Taylor. He also happened to live in Allegany County during the dump fight and was an authority that then Governor Cuomo Sr. could not ignore.

Now, two decades later, under another Cuomo administration, we are faced once again with another serious threat: the possibility that Governor Cuomo Jr. will allow high volume, slickwater, horizontal, hydrofracking in New York State. Professor Anthony Ingraffea is the Ted Taylor of this issue. He has taught engineering at Cornell since 1977 and his specialty is fracture mechanics. He has done research and development for the oil and gas industry for many years and recently has been speaking in Albany, Washington DC, and in communities all over New York State about fracking. We are lucky that Citizens Concerned About Fracking (CCAF) are bringing Professor Ingraffea to speak in Almond.

I have wanted to hear Professor Ingraffea speak in person for a long time and have hoped that he would come to Allegany County. When the issue of fracking first came to the forefront of our lives, my wife and I were given a DVD of Professor Ingraffea speaking to a community gathering near Binghamton. He is an authority, an excellent speaker, this is his field, and he knows the technology and the industry intimately. This is an important event for all who are concerned about hydrofracking and want to get better informed.

Also on the program is Scott Torrey, Executive Director of the Allegany County Soil and Water District. He will present an overview of the Allegany County watershed and aquifers.

I urge all concerned and interested citizens to attend this important event at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 19 at the Almond Municipal Building, 1 Marvin Lane, Almond.

OBITUARIES

JOHN M. CUNNINGHAM
Walked the streets of Alfred
HORNELL – John M. Cunningham, 82, formerly of Alfred passed away peacefully Friday (Sept. 7, 2012) at Seager-Bates Home in Hornell following a brief illness.

Mr. Cunningham was born on Aug. 30, 1930 and lived in Allegany County most of his life; most recently in Alfred where the village adopted him and loved him as one of their own.

Johnny loved to walk the streets of Alfred, visiting his friends at the Collegiate, Herrick Library, Alfred Pharmacy and Alfred Post Office. He was a faithful member of St. Jude Parish in Alfred where he displayed much of his locally famous artwork. He was a Yankee fan. He had a gift for remembering numbers, anniversaries, birthdates and calendars. His simple pleasures included his favorite meal, meatloaf.

Johnny is survived by his many friends at St. Jude and the Alfred community. Among his closest friends are Mike, Peggy, the Quackenbush's, Deb, Tony, Father Gene, Katie, Theresa at Seager-Bates Home and Dr. Stephen Spink.

Friends gathered for a time of visitation at St. Jude Parish in Alfred Tuesday, Sept. 11 from 9:30-11:30 a.m. at which time there was a Mass of Christian Burial at 11:30 at the church with Rev. Gene Ulrich of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary as celebrant. Burial followed in Gate of Heaven Cemetery in Andover. Arrangements were under the direction of Baker-Swan Funeral Home in Wellsville. Online condolences may be offered at www.baker-swan.com.

On our recent transcontinental trek, we found this charming spot, er...stop, in Montana, between Hardin and Billings.

We enjoyed spotting quirky or familiar names along the way:

One sign near a place in Montana where the road could be closed because of bad weather, said, "Return to Buffalo when flashing." (Quite a trip, from our perspective.)

Crazy Woman Creek, Wyoming

Manhattan, Montana

Geneseo, North Dakota

Cornell College in Mount Vernon, Iowa

Pocahontas Mountain in Jasper National Park in Alberta, where a local told us it is so named because it resembles the profile of a sleeping Indian chief. I commented that Pocahontas had been a woman and she shrugged.

A favorite, though, was on beautiful northwest-slanting Vancouver Island, British Columbia. As we drove its length toward our ferry embarkation site at Port Hardy, we appreciated its rugged roadside wilderness, beautiful wildflowers, and tumbling streams. We noted "Adam River" as we crossed it. "Wait," I exclaimed, "I demand equal time for 'Eve River!'" Granting my request, the very next crossing was over "Eve River."

ALFRED--The Alfred Lions Club collects eyeglasses for Lions Sight Missions and cell phone and ink jet cartridges for recycling. Boxes are available at the ALFRED PHARMACY, COMMUNITY BANK, STEUBEN TRUST BANK and SERVU CREDIT UNION and we thank everyone who has donated items throughout the past year.

We have received over 150 pairs of glasses (lens with or without frames and cases and sun glasses are acceptable), about 25 cell phones and over 400 ink jet cartridges. The recycling provides a small income to our charitable funds.

A special thanks to the above businesses and to the community for your support of this Lions project.

Perhaps you would like to see how the Lions distribute the glasses which we and other clubs collect. There is a 3 minute video about a Lions Sight Mission trip to Honduras on the Lions Clubs International web site.

The easiest way to find the video is to go through the Alfred Lions web site. Since our web site name is hard to remember, Google: Alfred Lions Club, select the link to our site and on our page select the link to Lions Clubs International and, at least through the month of September, in a few moments the video will appear.

Use that zucchini...in chocolate cake!

If your garden has done well this summer, you probably are running out of ways to use up the zucchini. It is also a vegetable that is not high on the favorites list with kids.

Here is a way to use that zucchini and please everyone. It is another recipe that I unearthed from an old file. The bottom of the page says "Jefferson Journal 2007-2008." I don't have a clue what that is or where I got it, but the cake is delicious!

Chocolate Nut Zucchini Cake

- | | |
|-----------------------------|----------------------|
| 9 T. cocoa plus 3 T. butter | 4 eggs |
| 3 c. flour | 3 c. sugar |
| 1½ tsp. baking powder | 1½ c. oil |
| 1 tsp. baking soda | 3 c. grated zucchini |
| 1 tsp. salt | 2 tsp. vanilla |
| 1 c. chopped nuts | |

Mix flour, baking powder, salt and baking soda together and set aside. Beat eggs at high speed until thick, gradually add sugar. Add vanilla and cocoa and beat until well blended. Add dry ingredients at slow speed, beat until smooth then add zucchini and nuts and stir with a wooden spoon. Pour into greased tube pan. Bake one hour and 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Let cool entirely and add chocolate icing.

Romney and Obama

Dear Editor:

When Hawaiian authorities released the long form of President Obama’s birth certificate, after much yammering by the faux billionaire Donald Trump, it seems that all of the evidence on the president’s birth has been exhausted. Currently 17 percent of Americans don’t accept Obama’s American nationality, but what the hey, 34 percent of them believe in ghosts. The orchestrators of the silly, easily disprovable birther mythology did not bring down a president.

That, of course, was never the aim of the racist supporters of this absurdist movement. Their object was to mass-market Obama as the Stranger, a person in a society who really isn’t a part of it, or as political observers now put it, the “Other” - one not a real citizen but “alien, exotic, threatening, or inferior” because of different racial or cultural characteristics. Thus, when Romney’s travelling buddy, the fatuous John Sununu wails at the top of his puerile voice, asking why the president can’t be “an American,” he is swimming in the same fecal swamp as the birthers. He later reportedly apologized, but every skunk in the woods knows the first redolent squirt leaves an impression that worlds of recantations will not erase.

Even the tint-haired, charming Mrs. Romney flirted with this theme when she affirmed how quintessentially American she and her quarterbillionaire self-made husband were. It was a little disingenuous for a woman who has two Cadillacs, five mansions, one, in California, being doubled in size with elevators for cars, to rhapsodize on how she and her husband love and understand the average working woman. Oh, well, Eleanor and Franklin D. Roosevelt did.

No, we don’t need Romney’s birth certificate. Nor Obama’s. Each in his way is American as apple pie, but class-dictated narratives give them stories so disparate as to make them seem, and be, two different breeds of cat.

Obama’s story is a familiar one. Dead mother. Absent father.

feeling was that with the loss of ideological competition, the new robber barons would lose all restraints.

So, after four years of economic disasters, does anyone besides Mr. Romney and friends believe the free market needs even more deregulation? Reagan deregulated and we got the Savings and Loan scandal. With George Bush II (and to be fair, Dick Arney during the Clinton administration), banking rules were relaxed, and we got the worst economic disaster since the Great Depression. Capitalism is the only economic philosophy I know of which even working perfectly creates paupers. Add a little corporate manipulation and...

Mitt Romney ran on his business acumen, and both he and his wife accuse critics of his record of envy of his success and engaging in class warfare. Bill Gates, George Soros, and Warren Buffet are all far richer than Romney, and who criticizes them? The problem people have with Romney is not that he has money but how he made it and what he did with it. St. John Chrysostom in the 4th century said, “Rich men are crooks.” If you are running as president, you should be willing to prove the opposite.

The Sharpest Crayon on the Tree?

Recalling days of back-to-school,
I always thought that it was cool
To have a brand new box of crayons
With which to busy busy hands
Which otherwise would rendezvous
With trouble they could get into –
So hard it was to stay inside the lines!

I’d try to crayon an oriole
Within a scene arboreal;
But soon grew wide the crayon tip
And then outside the lines would slip,
Resulting in a birdlike shape
That morphed to more like that of ape –
A crayon that fell a long ways from the tree!

If careful, you could sharpen yer
Burnt Orange in yer sharpener...
Then color right along just great
Until a catatonic state
Laid hold upon your favorite thumb
And rendered it completely numb –
So never could you stay inside the lines!

So now I only use my crayons
To busy bored and idle hands,
Arranging words in artful rows,
In rhythmic, rhyming anti-prose,
Educing chuckle or guffaw:
“Cartoonist” – but who cannot draw!
NOT the sharpest crayon on the tree.

WHERE IS THE MANDATE RELIEF?

Last week the State Comptroller announced the new contribution rate that local governments must pay to the State Retirement (Pension) System. The rate increased from 18.9% to 20.9% for non-uniform members and from 25.8% to 28.9% for police and fire personnel. For most of our employees this appears to be only a 2.0% increase. This is what Governor Andrew Cuomo will undoubtedly claim, and that means that municipalities don’t receive any relief from the 2% real property tax cap. However, the State is playing games with the numbers.

The 2.0% rate increases that are being talked about refer to the percentage of payroll that employees must contribute towards employees’ pensions. An increase in that rate from 18.9% to 20.9% represents a 10.5% increase, not a 2.0% increase. For an Allegany County employee paid $40,000 in 2012 the County had to pay a pension contribution of 18.9% amounting to $7560. For 2013 that same employee at the same $40,000 salary in 2013 the County will have to pay a pension contribution of 20.9% amounting to $8,360. That $800 pension increase calculates to a 10.58% rate increase.

Let’s put these rates and numbers into context. Many employers (but not all) make contributions towards their employees’ pensions. However, virtually no employers (other than government) make contributions equaling to 20% of payroll. Most employer contributions towards employee pensions are in the range of 3.0%. A generous employer rate of contribution is in the 5.0% to 6.0% range. That was the range paid by most municipalities until the early 2000s. However, in 2008 the State Pension System lost more than $50 billion in the Wall Street meltdown. To make up that loss the State Comptroller is requiring local governments to pay extra to replace the money that he lost. Counties, towns, villages, and schools have to make both their regular pension contribution payments AND pay those make-up contribution payments. As a result the State Pension contributions from most municipalities, including the county, have skyrocketed. Contributions of 6.5% of payroll have more than tripled to 20.9% over the past 5 years.

Thus, how ironic that Romney embraces John Sununu when the latter questions whether Obama is “American” enough while Romney stows his American money in Switzerland, the Cayman Islands, and who knows what other foreign country? How ironic that Romney pals around and has fund-raisers with Donald Trump while Trump demands all sorts of documentation from the president and Romney refuses to reveal his income tax returns to the American people. We all know Romney paid half the tax rate as the average worker. What worse embarrassment could he wish to hide?

Bain Capital? We already know how it destroyed companies and impoverished workers to enrich Bain managers. Ugly business, but how unusual in a corporate world briskly deindustrializing this country? It wouldn’t even show on a tax return.

So why have both Mr. and Ms. Romney chosen to defy a sensible and strong tradition of Presidential candidates making their finances available to the American people? Republican heavyweights have urged him to do it; Democrats have promised not to criticize them. What would their tax returns reveal that would be worse than the suspicions aroused by their not releasing them?

It finally all boils down to this: Who would vote for a man to manage one of the largest - and in trouble - economies in the world if that man thinks people have no right to know how he handled his own personal finances?

The Romneys are no doubt counting on the millions from their rich supporters to smother the questioners. Some say three or four billionaires can purchase a presidency. Maybe they’re right.

Very truly yours,
Edward McCamy

In Angelica Sept. 22-23 for Civil War Re-Enactment Weekend

Muskets firing, canons blasting, war breaking out

ANGELICA—Muskets firing, cannons blasting, soldiers and sutlers, rebels and Yankees, ladies in their finery, cooks, civilians, doctors, drummers... These are a few of the sights and sounds you'll experience at the Civil War Re-Enactment in Angelica on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 22 and 23.

Now in its fifth year, Angelica's Civil War Re-enactment attracts thousands of visitors and hundreds of re-enactors who, through living history demonstrations, re-enactments of actual Civil War battles, and spontaneous interactions with visitors, help the audience understand more fully certain facets of Civil War life. And it isn't always pretty.

Visitors will experience history coming alive when they visit the military camps, where the re-enactors are happy to describe their life as a Union or Confederate soldier. The doctor in the medical tent can tell you how surgery was performed, illnesses cured (or not), and wounds tended in the heat of battle. The laundress can describe the methods used to wash clothes in camp, and cooks will show you what's in the pot for dinner.

New Activities: New this year is a living history presentation by Jack Maples portraying Confederate General Montgomery Corse, an anti-slavery Confederate. In this portrayal we learn about General Corse's relationship with Robert E. Lee. Maples will also be selling his book, Reconstructed Yankee, which is locally relevant: the story of the book ends in the old village of East Rushford (now under Rushford Lake). Mr. Maples' presentation takes place Saturday at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. in the Angelica Grange Hall on Park Circle.

Also new this year is a re-creation of the Richmond Bread Riot by the civilian component of the re-enactors. The Richmond Bread Riot was an uprising of women in Richmond, Va., over the inflation and food shortages experienced by the South during the war. It is an often-overlooked event in history education. This re-creation will take place on historic Main Street at 10 a.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Sunday.

A Catholic Mass celebrated by Father John will take place on Sunday at 9 a.m. in the Grange Hall, to be followed immediately by a Civil War-era church service conducted by the Rev. John Hogan, who is returning to present his authentic service again after an absence of two years.

Concert: Sunday's activities will culminate at 2:30 p.m. in Park Circle with a special musical presentation of patriotic and Civil War-era music by the Houghton College Philharmonia and Houghton College Choir. The program will end with a performance of Tchaikovsky's "The 1812 Overture," replete with church bells and cannon fire, to commemorate the 200th anniversary of Napoleon's retreat from Russia (the event that inspired the famous composition).

Angelica Farmers' Market: Park Circle will host the popular Angelica's Farmers' Market, with local vendors offering fresh fruits, vegetables, meats and baked goods, plus wine, honey, and artisan wares. Sharing the market for this event will be Civil War-period vendors called "sutlers", plus craftsmen, civilian camps, and traveling exhibits.

Admission, Parking and Shuttle Service: All event parking is at the Allegany County Fairgrounds at Exit 31 on the I-86 expressway, a short distance from downtown. Admission is $2.00 per person [12 and under free] and includes a souvenir booklet and all-day shuttle service.

To enhance the safety of holding this event in Angelica's Historic District, the Angelica Village Board has authorized the closing of Main Street to vehicular traffic and to parking from High Street to Peacock Hill Road, beginning Friday, Sept. 21, at 6 p.m. and ending Sunday Sept. 23 at 4 pm. Detours will be established to re-route traffic.

History: One hundred and fifty years ago, men from Allegany County and the surrounding area gathered at what is now known as the "Parade Grounds" in Letchworth State Park. In 1862, it was known as "Camp Williams" and served as the mustering point for over 1,000 of these men, who became the 136th New York Volunteer Infantry. They marched forth from that camp to the places we've all read about in history texts -- places with names like Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the Siege of Atlanta and Sherman's March to the Sea.

Boy Scouts and Re-Enactors: This year on Sept. 22-23, members of the modern-day group who recreate those men and women of the Civil War will gather in historic Angelica, to teach today's young men about that era. The Western Gate District of the Allegheny Highlands Boy Scout Council will hold their eighth Civil War Camp-o-ree at the Allegany County Fairgrounds.

The camporee has fueled a new interest in Civil War history by the scouts and led to the formation of Crew 7136, a Venturing Crew that re-enacts Company "K" of the 136th New York Volunteer Infantry, which was recruited in Allegany County in 1862. Crew 7136 participates in re-enactment events throughout the region. Dressed and equipped with authentic equipment, they strive to teach history to today's youth through portraying the lives of Volunteer Infantry and civilians during the Civil War.

Approximately 450 scouts and leaders from throughout the region are expected to participate in living history demonstrations of camp life, marching and artillery. Over 350 re-enactors from across the region will make camp right in the yards of willing village homeowners. The Union re-enactors will encamp on properties west of Park Circle, and the Confederate re-enactors will encamp on properties east of Park Circle. From these locations they'll eat, sleep and breathe Civil War-era life. Dressed in period costume, they'll battle blue against grey complete with cannons, muskets, and epithets. Capping off the weekend, the scouts will observe several skirmish re-enactments put on by the re-enactors, and then participate in a mock battle of their own, using imitation muskets and gaining valuable insights into Civil War life.

1812 Overture to culminate Civil War reenactment event

HOUGHTON--The Houghton College Philharmonia and College Choir, with special guests from the Alfred University Music Department, are privileged to perform The 1812 Overture during the 5th annual Civil War reenactment in Angelica, N.Y. The concert will culminate the weekend-long event on Sunday, Sept. 23, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Church bells, ancient cannons, and orchestral instruments will be combined in a timeless piece of music by Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky. It, as well as other patriotic and time period music, will make up the musical program performed by Houghton College ensembles and friends.

The Civil War Weekend began as a program for the Allegheny Highlands Council Boy Scout Camp. Five years ago, it became a full-fledged reenactment and today thousands of visitors continue to attend and experience history coming alive. Always expanding, this year's event will finish with a bang as the cannons go off during the performance of the famous 1812 Overture.

Tchaikovsky composed this piece of music for the 1882 Moscow exhibition, in celebration of Russia's victory over France during the French Invasion of 1812. The cannons and church bells used at the end of the piece celebrate the victory of the Russians, who burned their own city to the ground to be victorious. This particular performance of the piece commemorates the 200th anniversary of Napoleon's retreat from Russia.

Houghton College continues its involvement in the surrounding community by co-sponsoring the event with the Allegany County Chamber of Commerce and Time-Warner Cable. The concert will be performed in the circle of churches in Angelica, with the ringing of church bells from the belfries and cannons heard in the background. In the case of inclement weather, the concert will be held inside.

‘Art in Seoul’ topic at Sept. 20 forum

ALFRED—Hope Childers, assistant professor of art history at Alfred University, will present "Art Old and New in Seoul, South Korea" as part of Alfred University's Bergren Forum series. The forum will take place on Thursday, Sept. 20 and will begin at 12:10 p.m. in Powell Campus Center's Nevins Theater. All are welcome. Childers will talk about her trip to South Korea in May, where she explored the contemporary art scene as well as traditional Korean culture. "Seoul is one of the world's megacities, with over 25 million people. While there I interviewed contemporary curators and artists, and attended several groundbreaking exhibitions of Korean modern art," said Childers.

She will show slides of the range of art and cultural institutions she visited, from the grand National Museum to the modest Kimchi Museum. In addition, she was able to visit landmark Buddhist temples in the city during the run-up to the Buddha's birthday, a very festive event for many Koreans.

Childers noted she will be using the material she has gathered for her art history classes on Contemporary Asian Art.

Childers earned both her bachelor of fine arts degree and master of Arts degree in art history from Louisiana State University. She then continued her education and received a Ph.D. in art history from the University of California-Los Angeles. She has received numerous grants and fellowships, including the McGinn Memorial Award in 2006 and the Getty Dissertation Workshop Award, given by the Getty Research Institute in 2008.

The Bergren Forum, sponsored by the Alfred University Division of Human Studies in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, meets Thursdays during each academic semester at the University. Participants are encouraged to bring a lunch; coffee and tea will be available.

HISTORY ANYONE?

I was so startled by a comment which a stranger made to me a couple of weeks ago, that I am still mulling it over. As I was paying for a book about the assassinated 20th United States President, the title drew the salesperson's attention. I began to say what historical event the book was about. She abruptly cut me off, remarking "I don't know any history." It seemed obvious that she had never heard of the incident or its victim, or thought it possible to have any relevance within her own life.

I would suppose that the clerk was about twenty years old, give or take a year. How I wish that our encounter had been a half hour long instead of only seconds. I would have asked for her definition of "history" and compared it with mine. For instance, does she think that she is living in a historical time? Or, that history is only something that happened in the past? I realize that it is both.

Was she unwillingly subjected to history classes in school? Or, were the history textbooks so abbreviated that she learned nothing from them which has made connections with her everyday life now?

I remember that one of my high school texts mentioned Henry VIII, but not his six wives. I had to wait to learn about the excitement they engendered until I was in college. Yet, as I was growing up I was well aware that a family friend was going through multiple husbands. She even married one of them twice. Knowing at a tender age about all of her marital uproar has had no ill effects on me.

Does the young woman in the store think that history is engraved in stone? Or, that it is a fertile field in which one person or another reinterprets old facts or turns up new ones? I am constantly encountering books which prove the latter.

Recently I checked out, and am now amidst, a library book by Tony Horwitz. Entitled A Voyage Long and Strange: Rediscovering the New World, it is being read by the author on seven compact discs. There are two advantages for me in utilizing this format. One is hearing Horwitz's voice talking about his own travels inspired by historical events. The other is that I can listen and learn while washing dishes. The chief disadvantage is that I do not see the maps and illustrations found in the printed edition.

By contrast, I am poring over the print version of another author's research which also reveals forgotten or overlooked history. Written by Charles C. Mann, the title is, 1493: Uncovering The New World Columbus Created. It is 535 pages long. I hope for upcoming opportunities to sit where I can both comfortably heft it and continue reading beyond its Preface. I have already perused its several maps and the many revealing illustrations.

As for the President mentioned above, a madman shot him. A stubbornly inept physician was in charge of his recovery. In her book Destiny of the Republic: A Tale of Madness, Medicine and the Murder of a President, author Candice Millard brings to life the story for today's audience. She details a segment of the history of science, as well as an often forgotten incident in United States history.

D. Willard Bliss, the doctor presiding over the President's health, was giving value only to older scientific knowledge. He scorned the now historic way it had just been rewritten. Dismissing modern germ theory, he let dirty instruments and fingers probe for the would-be assassin's bullet. Also in locating it, he ignored the potential helpfulness of the "induction balance," a piece of equipment just invented by Alexander Graham Bell.

Hence, on September 19th, 1881, General James Abram Garfield, died. He had been inaugurated as President on March 4th, 1881. Charles Julius Guiteau shot him on July 2nd, 1881. Today it seems that Garfield had the potential to have been one of the most effective leaders this country has ever known.

Heretofore, I had acquired little knowledge about President Garfield. This book supplies highly interesting information about both history-making people and a period in American life, which were mostly ignored in the classrooms of my youth.

I wish to make a challenge to people who indifferently claim that they do not know any history. Try reading a book written by someone alive today who provides both fresh hindsight and insight about a particular era. There will be no test, nor will you need to memorize details. However, some facts and assumptions which you read may tickle your fancy. Although they may not lead to an addiction for historical knowledge, you might develop a craving for more.

'Dreaming in Colour' exhibit to open

ANDOVER--An Opening Reception for Susie Mouroukos' new exhibition, "Dreaming in Colour," will be held at 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 22 at the Artist Knot Gallery in Andover. This catered event will feature live music and provide an opportunity to meet the artist.

Favorite childhood memories of life in quaint villages and small towns serve as the inspiration for the paintings created by Susie Mouroukos. Born in Montreal, Quebec, Susie uses bold and bright colors to transform typical scenes of rural life into imaginative color extravaganzas. Her use of color and level of detail bring cheer and happiness to all those who admire her work.

She has captured her happiest times in her paintings filled with simple charm and pure innocence. Her delightful paintings express a familiar comfort and evoke feelings of joy and enchantment.

According to Gallery Director Amy Brown, "This exhibit really showcases Susie's talent. Not only does the color and the detail attract the viewer, but there seems to be a story, real or imagined, behind every painting. This involvement with a story causes the viewer to linger, enjoying the dialogue."

Brown went on to explain that Mouroukos draws heavily upon her Greek heritage, having spent much of her youth with relatives in Northern Greece.

As the artist herself states, "Playing in my grandparents' village as a child was a time of wonder and innocence. Traveling often from Canada to tranquil villages in Northern Greece was, for me, a time like no other. Cherished memories, gentle landscapes, and bursts of colour everywhere were very evident to me. Even at such a young age, I loved the simplicity and charm of the people, unforgettable sights and sounds. They stay with me today as dreamy images that, when put on canvas, become a magical time again."

"Overall," Brown said, "the works in this exhibition are evidence of an artist that revels in the act of creating and consummates that act with skill."

Mouroukos has exhibited throughout Canada and has work in several public and private collections in Canada and the U.S., as well as in the private collection of Prince William, Duke of Cambridge.

"Dreaming in Colour" opens Saturday, Sept. 22 at 6 p.m. at the Artist Knot Gallery in Andover. The Gallery is open Wednesday- Friday 11 a.m.-5 p.m., Saturday 11 a.m.-3 p.m., and by appointment. All events are free and open to the public.

Visit them at 36 Main St., Andover, or on the web at www.artistknot.com, or contact directly at 607.478.5100. The Artist Knot Gallery is the only full-time, full-service fine art gallery in the Twin-Tier region.

Conservation topic of speaker series

ALFRED--Benjamin Gajewski, stewardship director at the Genesee Valley Conservancy (GVC), will be speaking on "Conservation: The Land Trust Model" as part of Alfred University's (AU) Environmental Studies Speaker Series.

The lecture will take place on Friday, Sept. 14 at 12:20 p.m. in the Roon Lecture Hall (Room 247) of the AU Science Center. Everyone is welcome to attend, admission is free, and refreshments will be served.

Gajewski's job as stewardship director entails overseeing conservation easements and nature preserves. He is also involved with acquisitions, public relations, and fundraising.

The Genesee Valley Conservancy, located in Geneseo, is a non-profit organization dedicated to protecting and preserving the delicate habitats, scenic vistas, and quality farmland in Western New York. Since its founding in 1990, the GVC has protected over 13,600 acres of New York State land.

Gajewski earned a bachelor of arts degree in sociology with a minor in environmental studies from the State University of New York at Geneseo. NOTES from the BOX OF BOOKS

By ELIZA ORDWAY
Box of Books Library Director

The Box of Books has entered it Fall Hours and has decided to add Sunday hours back into our rotation. With the extreme success of the Alfred Farmers Market the Box of Books has decided to open on Sundays for services to the public. Sundays are being staffed by work-study and will only be available when students are here. Our hours are Monday 10-6, Tuesday 12-8, Wednesday 10-8, Thursday 12-6, Friday 10-5, Saturday 10-2, and Sundays 12-4.

Coming events at the Box of Books:

Sept. 13 at 4:15 pm: Bookworm Club starts. Come make a bookworm and get the instructions for the program. Some suggested readings will be given, prizes can be earned and book discussions welcomed.

Sept. 13 at 6 pm: ePLACE Blogging Class; Have you ever wondered what a blog was? Are you interested in learning how to make your own blog? Laurie McFadden is going to give an introductory level class to blogging here at the Box of Books.

Sept. 14 at 11 am: Mother Goose on the Loose

The annual book sale is Sept. 22 from 10-4 and will be held again this year on the bandstand lawn. We will be accepting donations until the day of the sale. Please call ahead to schedule a time to drop your books with Eliza or at the storage unit. With our limited space it is vital that we not have bags and boxes of books sitting around the library. We are also not accepting donations of text books, VHS or cassette tapes, encyclopedias and magazines. These items do not sell and add to the amount of materials we need to find homes for at the end of the sale. If you would like a receipt of your donation please provide us with a list of what you donated broken into categories, i.e. hardcover, paperback, audio, DVD. We appreciate all your support in making our book sale a success.

The Alfred Historical Society could be history. Determining that the future of the Society is at risk, the board of directors has called an important meeting for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 2 at the Champlin Community House...Probably the Alfred Historical Society's most significant accomplishment is the preservation of the office building of the Celadon Tile Company that was built in 1892 and today stands near the traffic light in Alfred. Its most recent contribution has been the publication of walking brochures for the Village of Alfred, the cost of which was subsidized by other community groups. Alfred Historical Society also contributed, in the last year, $1,000 to the renovation of Alfred Montessori School and a $763 contribution for the Village Hall Renovation.

"Get out of the way," the New Testament often has a nicer way of putting it. Yet that is basically what it tells us if we are to live like Christians. Your friends and neighbors at the Alfred Station Seventh-day Baptist Church, "A Baptist Church with a Difference serving the community since 1831," invite you to hear Deacon Kevin Palmiter as he shares the reality of this in a sermon "For Me" from Galatians 2:20 during the 11 a.m. Sabbath Worship Hour, Sept. 21. Deacon Palmiter is an active member of the congregation, a member of the trustees, and one who desires to share his faith with others...

'Builders of Unity,' Ephesians 4:1-16

ALMOND--"Our New Identity: Builders of Unity," Ephesians 4:1-16.

Remember Lucy barging into the room where Linus is watching TV and demanding that he change the channel? "What makes you think you can just walk right in here and take over?" "These five fingers," says Lucy. "Individually they're nothing, but when I curl them together like this into a single unit, they form a weapon that is terrible to behold." Linus: "Which channel do you want?" He looks at his own fingers and says, "Why can't you guys get together like that?" LOL

Lucy and Linus help introduce us to the 4th in a series on our new identity as believers in Christ. The Almond Union of Churches is NOT a church for unions, but it is a union of American Baptist and Presbyterian. Baptists are often seen as a group which often splits from rest of the body. Sadly, others in the body of Christ see those splintering off--it may come from our independence--the individual must answer to God for his or her own actions. The congregation, the local church, is autonomous, free to pursue God and worship God as they feel led by God. The Baptist denomination doesn't try to tell other Baptists what to believe. It is there to provide resources, assistance to the local congregations. No hierarchy, or maybe an upside down hierarchy with the local church on top. Makes it easy for a group within the main group to split off.

Paul's letter was emphasizing the importance of Christian unity. It's certainly not just Baptists who have splintered into a number of other groups. There's always a 'hot button' of controversy and lately that 'button' involves the issue of homosexuality and it's leading to a host of other churches splitting up. Biblically, the Church needs to find out how to put these hot buttons behind us, and put Christ before us--just concentrate on Jesus. How do we get there?

Here's a story: during WWII Hitler commanded all the Christian churches in Germany to unite so that he could control them. Among the churches, about half complied and half refused. Those who went along had a fairly easy time, those who did not, faced harsh persecution. Countless Christians ended up in prisons and camps.

Jews were not alone in the camps. There were countless others--anyone who didn't speak the party line. Whatever. When the war was over, feelings of bitterness ran deep between the groups that had resisted and those who aligned themselves with the State Church.

Much tension! Finally they decided the situation had to be healed. Leaders from both sides met at a quiet retreat. For several days, each person spent time in prayer, examining his own heart in the light of Christ's commands. Then they came together and as they spoke of their hostility and bitterness to God and yielded to His control, the Holy Spirit created a spirit of unity among them. Love filled their hearts and hatred disappeared.

When love prevails among believers, especially in times of strong disagreement, it presents to the world an indisputable mark of a true follower of Jesus Christ. Love is more important than any difference we face. There is one body, and one Spirit--we were called to one hope, one Lord, one faith, one God who is over all and through all.

Unity in the Church is only a problem when we lose sight of our one body, one Lord. Some believe that unity means tolerance of any opposing viewpoints. Let everybody believe whatever they want so we can all get along. It's like, always give your child all the candy they want everytime you go to the store so they won't throw a tantrum. Not sure that's the healthiest way to bring up your kid.

It's not what Paul meant. We are called to unity and we are called to grow toward Christ. Not ignoring any differences, but working together, in unity, to reach maturity in our faith. Sort of like tuning pianos all to the same tuning fork. They are all in tune with each other because they were tuned to the same fork.

Like us: all tuned to the love in Christ and we are in tune with each other as well. That "hot button" topic mentioned earlier is still with us. We don't seem to be seeking unity. We seem to respond the same old way: splinter off. The Body of Christ dividing again. Broken Unity. No one is winning, except maybe Satan and he probably planned this anyway.

Said Pastor Steve: "So I encourage you to love Him and worship Him and praise Him and read about Him and pursue Him with everything you have and with everything you are--and you will have a bond, not only with Him, but with all the fellow believers that also love Him. You will truly be a part of the body of Christ."

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, September 13

At the first light of dawn on this day in 1814, the British fleet commenced its bombardment of Fort McHenry, in Baltimore's harbor. All day long and into the night, the shelling continued, lighting up the sky with explosions of aerial bombs, rockets, and mortars.

Watching from a British ship were two Americans, aboard under a flag of truce to negotiate an exchange of prisoners. Once of these was Francis Scott Key, and as he paced the deck, he would pause and write down in a notebook the words that were coming to him. Then he would return to the rail, to see if the fort's huge flag was still there.

Saxons seek first win at St. Lawrence Saturday

TROY—The Alfred University football team dropped a 24-6 decision to host RPI in the Saxons’ 2012 season opener.

AU cashed in on its opening drive when freshman wideout Meleke Fuentes (Olean) scored on a 13-yard run midway through the opening quarter. The touchdown capped an 11-play, 72-yard drive that spanned just over four minutes and came after the Saxon defense forced RPI to turn the ball over on downs at the AU 28-yard line. The PAT failed and Alfred led, 6-0, with 7:37 left in the frame.

RPI answered with a touchdown on the Engineers’ ensuing drive, then added another in the second quarter to take a 14-6 halftime lead. An RPI field goal early in the fourth made it 17-6 and another touchdown later in the final frame closed out the game’s scoring.

In his first start in an AU uniform, junior quarterback Zach Sopak (Falconer/Southwestern), a transfer from Washington & Jefferson, threw for 122 yards. Junior wideout Josh Phillips (Syracuse/West Genesee) caught four passes for 32 yards and senior tight end Adam Schutz (Geneva) caught three for 19 yards. Schutz also had a TD grab called back by a holding penalty.

Senior tailback Tyler DeRosa (Miller Place) rushed 12 times for a team-leading 76 yards for Alfred. Junior tailback Austin Dwyer (Hornell) ran seven times for 31 yards and Fuentes finished with 23 yards on a pair of carries.

RPI quarterback Mike Hermann threw for 197 yards and a pair of TDs and ran for 100 yards and another score. Reggie Colas caught six passes for 90 yards and a touchdown for the Engineers.

Senior strong safety Reggie Pressley (Rochester/Gates-Chili) had a game-high 13 tackles and senior end Chris Steeves (Rochester/Gates-Chili) had 12 tackles, including a sack, to pace the AU defense. Senior tackle Mike Raplee (Dundee) had 11 tackles and senior linebacker Brendan McGinnis (Walworth/Gananda-East Rochester) had nine. Junior linebacker D.J. Welch (Avon) made six tackles and intercepted a pass.

Alfred is in action next on Saturday, Sept. 15, at 1 p.m. at St. Lawrence.

Men’s soccer team splits week

The men’s soccer team (2-2-0, 0-0-0 Empire 8) played two games last week, beating Pitt-Bradford 1-0 on the road, then dropping a hard fought 5-4 decision in overtime to visiting Marywood.

Despite outplaying Pitt-Bradford in the first half, the Saxons went into intermission scoreless. AU continued its dominance in the second half outshooting Pitt-Bradford 14-1, and still holding a 3-0 advantage in corner kicks. AU found the net in the 72nd minute as junior forward Jeffery Thomas (Canandaigua) received a cross from senior forward Frankie Mannino (Elmira Free Academy) to bury it in the back of the net. For the game, Alfred boasted 26 shots to Pitt-Bradford’s six, and six corner kicks to their one. Junior goalies Jacob Bird (Auburn/Skaneateles) and Samuel Guy (Binghamton) split the two halves evenly to earn a combined shutout.

Against Marywood, AU played a strong first half, starting with a free kick goal by senior midfielder Tony Gai (Burke, VA/Lake Braddock) in the 18th minute. Gai then served a ball to senior forward Mannino, who then scored it with a header. The third Saxon goal came on a penalty kick by Gai at the 35th minute and Alfred headed into intermission with a 3-2 lead. Alfred outshot Marywood 7-4 for the half. The second half opened up with another Alfred goal as Gai netted a penalty kick to earn an impressive hat trick and put his team up, 4-2.

For the game, freshman goalie Matthew Unick (Warwick Valley) played the first half, making one save. Freshman William Badger (Dannemora/Saranac) started the second half (26 minutes) and made a save before senior Jacob Bird (Auburn/Skaneateles) finished the game (43 minutes) and made four saves.

This Week: at Hilbert (9/11, 4 p.m.); vs. Elmira (9/15, 11 a.m.)

Women’s soccer team beats Hilbert, falls to Pitt-Bradford

The women’s soccer team (3-1-0, 0-0-0 Empire 8) topped Hilbert, 2-0, to earn their third victory of the 2012 season. Earlier in the week, the Saxons lost 5-1 on the road to Pitt-Bradford.

In the Hilbert game, the first half of play belonged to the Lady Saxons as they outshot the Hawks, 6-1, and held a 3-0 advantage in corner kicks. An early goal (four minutes) came from freshman midfielder Dawn Torlish (Farmington/Victor) off a finely placed pass from freshman attacker Mary Hendee (Almond/Alfred-Almond), and AU went into halftime on top, 1-0.

AU continued the fine play in the second half as sophomore Rachael Williams (Penfield) netted the final goal of the contest, at the 58-minute mark. Junior Samijo Scheer (Corning/East) minded net for the full 90 minutes for the Saxons, making four saves to earn the shutout.

Against Pitt-Bradford, senior midfielder Devin Fitzgerald (Rochester/Greece-Olympia) scored a goal in the final minute for the Saxons. Scheer played 72 minutes in net and made four saves, while senior Ashley Frazell (Newton, NJ) finished the remainder of the game and made one save.

Alfred United Methodist Church holds Rally Day, 9/11 readings

ALFRED--The Alfred United Methodist Church congregation held a “Rally Day” Sunday, Sept. 9 to usher in the new church year. A special part of the service involved a tribute reading to honor those people lost during the Sept. 11, 2001 attacks and their families. The deeply meaningful words evoked God’s deep love for his people and his great sadness for the loss of life suffered on that day.

Words from the Bible verse 1 Corinthians 13:13 were used throughout. The verse reads, “And now these things remain: Faith, Hope, and Love. But the greatest of these is Love.” The congrega- tion was in tears by the end of the profound words. The work was presented by Barbara Larsen, Pamela Bucher, and Addison Frey. Thanks to all for their moving readings. The Alfred UMC “Joyful Noise” Ensemble sang a rousing rendition of “America, The Beau- tiful” that was well received during the service, as well.

The Alfred United Methodist Church invites everyone to worship with us at 9 a.m. each Sunday and enjoy Fellowship time at 10 a.m. Following that at 10:30 a.m. are Church School classes for all ages, including adults. The Youth Group meets at 6 p.m. Sunday evenings. College students are always welcome at our Sunday service. If you would like more information you may call Pastor Timothy Middle- ton, Sr. at (607) 587-8168. The church newsletter is available on the Alfred United Methodist Church Facebook page. We hope to see you next Sunday.

Congratulations to Don Washburn of Almond, who recently won first prize in the 31st annual Canandaigua Lake Trout Derby. He snagged his winning 13.48 pound, 35 inch lake trout just two hours and twenty minutes into the two-day derby. IN addition to the cash prize, the trophy fish will be mounted. Since its inception the Canandaigua Trout Derby has raised more than $160,000 for Camp Good Days and Special Times and Mercy Flight Central, according to the website. Don says he has been fishing since he was a kid. “We used to catch suckers in Kanakadea Creek for Al Palmer’s fishing gang to use for bait, and he would pay us a penny apiece. There were a lot of trout, too, but there hasn’t been anything in that stream (worth fishing for) since the 1972 flood,” he lamented. Not looking for publicity, Don joked that he had fished the Canandaigua Derby for 26 years: “I’ve just gotten back my entries fees, that’s all.”

Alfred State gets AmeriCorps grant

ALFRED—Alfred State has been awarded a competitive grant through the AmeriCorps Education Award Program (EAP) of the New York Campus Compact. The grant will be used to support the recruitment of college students to volunteer in their communities—helping to increase the capacity of local nonprofit organizations and schools, and meeting critical community-defined needs. Upon successful completion of 300 hours or more of service, students are eligible to receive a $1,175 Education Award to be applied toward outstanding federal student loans or the cost of attendance at Alfred State.

“Thanks to this grant, 10 human services management students will receive an education award upon successfully completing their senior Field Practicum requirement in a non-profit or agency setting,” said Jonathan Hilsher, Alfred State’s director of civic engagement. “This initiative supports our vision of developing civic minded leaders while students gain valuable experience, reduce debt, and address community needs.

EAP fosters civic engagement among higher education students, promotes the National Service movement, and encourages positive relationships between campuses and communities.

Angelica. (Transit Bridge--formerly Six-S). It's nice to arrive by 12:30 or so, and lunch will be served promptly at 1 p.m. The luncheon buffet offers traditional Irish specialties (Irish stew, "chips," shepherd's pie, leafy salad) with coffee or tea.

The program will be given by our own Daughter Barbara Kubiak, on "Antique Samplers," and I'm hoping she will bring some of her collection with her so we can admire and ask questions. In addition, our 2012 Community Service Award winner (Carolyn Miller) will be honored and presented her pin by Community Service Chair Peg Strittmather. Nominations for the office of Regent will be accepted, as well.

I hope you will all be able to join us to hear this interesting program and to congratulate Ms Miller on her well deserved award. Hostesses are Joan Sinclair and Kay Anderson.

For the fifth straight season the Alfred State football team opened up their season with a victory. The Pioneers got contributions from all sides of the ball in their 27-3 victory over Hartwick JV on Sunday afternoon.

Hartwick scored the lone points of the 1st quarter when Maxwell Sergovich connected on a 26-yard field goal. Alfred took the lead for good in the first minute of the second quarter when Colton Caldwell (Dublin, OH) steamrolled 16-yards into the end zone on the quarterback keeper. After Penn Tech took a 2-0 lead, Daniel Asante (Bronx Leadership Academy) got the Pioneers on the board in the 75th minutes when he scored his second goal of the season after getting a pass from Anthony Prete (Arkport). Just under five minutes later, Mitchell Porter (Alfred Almond) tied it up with his third goal of the season. Nick Peraino (Geneseo) was credited with the assist. Neither team could find the back of the net in the final ten minutes of regulation or during either of the two 10-minute overtime sessions. Nick Smith (Arkport) made 11 saves in 110 minutes of action in net.

Versus JCC on Saturday, Porter scored the lone goal of the first half as he bent a shot around the keeper after getting a pass from Peraino. Seiyo Nakasawa (Shiga, Japan) made it 2-0 in the 61st minute when he scored his first collegiate goal. Colby Curran (Alfred Almond) picked up the assist. Asante capped the scoring 12 minutes later when he scored his 3rd goal in the last three games. Smith made seven saves to record the shutout.

Women's Soccer: 2-1, 2-0 RIII DIII

Kali Mulheisen (Alfred Almond) recorded her first collegiate hat trick as the women's soccer team defeated Jefferson CC 4-1 in the 2012 home opener. A match on Thursday at Delhi was cancelled after a thunderstorm halted the game before it became official.

Hannah Gilray (Fredonia) was credited with the assist. 17 minutes later, Jefferson tied it up on a goal by Kari Gehrke. Seven minutes into the 2nd half, Mulheisen put the Lady Pioneers back on top after getting a pass from Keri Bellavia (Greece Athena). The Dugout

This past weekend I took off for Vermont, driving 12-hours to see a soccer game (makes sense), as Jess Hersbt from Webster was playing a home game for her Vermont Catamounts squad. Herbst is a senior this year and wanted to see one of her home games plus the new turf field at UVM. Overall the weekend went well but not without a few "glitches" along the way. Nothing major but it made for an interesting trip thru the ADK's and into Vermont.

Departed on Friday afternoon with thoughts of heading to Lake George for the nite and staying at the Econo Lodge there. Stopped there 3-years ago or so, knew where it was and four hours of driving after work would be about enough for me. Called en route from a rest area ...hotel booked. Great. Seems that Lake George was having the World's Largest Car Show over the weekend. Headed there anyhow to checkout the vehicles and wow, they were great! People lined up on both sides of the street in town as the cars would be parading by. Quite crazy, took some time, but glad I drove thru the village to see the cars.

Time to find a hotel and after a few futile searches, Lee's Corner Motel in Pottersville (honest!) beckoned. Had actually driven by this place before on the previous stop over in Lake George as I explored the Natural Stone Bridges & Caves which was two-miles down the road. Placed worked out quite nicely, Lee was very accommodating and Schroon Lake wasn't far away. Have driven by there on route 87, The Northway, but never stopped. Breakfast it would be in the am and a solid one it was in a neat little town. After that it was off to Burlington, VT.

Was basically "winging it" on way up thru and though I'd take the Ti Ferry across Lake Champlain and into Vermont. Talked to a couple of guys at Pitkins Restaurant in Schroon Lake and they told me the Crown Point bridge would be the best way to go. The "new" Crown Point bridge, which replaced the old one, which collapsed into the lake. Excellent. So, obviously, I headed that way. Beautiful new bridge spanning the lake and quite the view at the peak. Daughter Lauren would've been freaking out as we headed over this structure.

From there it was north to UVM with the Adirondack's on my left over in New York State, Lake Champlain down below them and some Green Mountains to my right in Vermont. Tough to beat this view although Saturday was slightly overcast as I headed north on route 7. Pulled into the UVM athletic complex off Spear Street and headed for the parking lot. Been here a couple-three times so knew my way around. Parked in front of the ice hockey/basketball facility, adjacent to the field hockey and soccer/lax layouts. Both on turf. A couple of people stopped and asked me if "I was from Webster?" Still have a Webster Warriors soccer decal on my car from when Lauren played at Schroeder. They were from next town over in NY, Ontario and at UVM to watch their son play in a big hockey showcase tournament. Small World time. Spotted Patti Marks (Penfield) right after that and walked over to the soccer field with her. Daughter Haley on Catamounts squad as well.

A mild afternoon as UVM was hosting Brown but the wind was absolutely nuts! One of those games where whoever had the wind at their back, pretty much controlled the ball. 3L's Geneseo squad played a game in conditions almost exactly the same a couple of seasons back at St. Lawrence. Warmer temps this day. Brown got a breakaway in the first half, only two shots total, but this one was solid and the GK had no chance. Brown up 1-0 at the break. Vermont would get the wind in the second stanza and had numerous chances but no tallies. Quite used to that after watching Schroeder/Knights soccer over the years. Marks played a solid game as a defender but have no idea why she is back there? A scorer! Great seeing Herbst play but her back bothering her this afternoon.

The team had a cookout afterwards, minus the "cookout" portion. No cooks around like Verdino-Bergin from Geneseo! Plenty of great food on hand though. Had a chance to chat with Jess then and talked to Ellie Mills (Virginia) whom I had met the previous fall in Plattsburgh at a Geneseo soccer game. Katie Deppen is a teammate of Herbst, from Virginia Beach and she went to same high school that Percy Harvin (Florida/Vikings) did. All too soon it was time to depart. Hey ... there was still food on the table!

Took off from Burlington with tentative thoughts of heading back thru the ADK's, stopping somewhere and maybe playing some golf in the morning. No set schedule, which was different for me from many other trips. About 15-minutes down the road not only was the wind still blowing like crazy but it started to rain and then rain harder. Yuk. Forget the Adirondacks, was hoping to navigate thru this ok. A downed telephone pole near (George) Orwell, branches scattered on the road and time to head towards home. Or, at least to Queensbury. With the slow traffic, rain and getting darker, decided not to push on thru to Webster. Glad I didn't. Stayed at place called the Alpenhaus Motel and watched the Yanks on the tube.

A sunny Sunday awaited and it was time to head out. Brief thought of stopping in Whitesboro to see Doris Springer but think I'll do that at end of month on my next outing ... back to the ADK's! Going to hook-up with Lauren one nite as she is running in a relay race that ends in Lake Placid and hope to take in some Geneseo

Rod Streater makes start with Raiders

ALFRED--Most football players dream of one day playing on the biggest stage but few have the chance. Former Alfred State and Temple University wide receiver Rod Streater achieved his dream and made his NFL debut as a starting wide receiver for the Oakland Raiders as they took on the San Diego Chargers on Monday Night Football.

While Streater was playing on the West Coast a group of students and coaches watched Streater's every move at the Cappadonia Auditorium inside the Orvis Activities Center.

Alfred State football coach Mick Caba was one of the attendees and the smile on his face was evident even in the dark auditorium.

"It is extremely rewarding to see Rod play tonight and enjoy the success he is having. I am personally very close to Rod and have worked closely with him and his agent DS Ping throughout his draft and free agent experience," he said, "To know how hard Rod has worked to get here tonight makes this extra special. Rod is so deserving."

Streater, a non-drafted free agent signee, earned a spot on the Raider roster after making 18 catches during the preseason. He was so impressive during the preseason that he earned a starting wide receiver spot for opening night.

Streater made four catches for 27 yards and a 2-yard TD catch in the Raiders 22-14 loss. His touchdown catch was in the final minute of the game and was the only Raider touchdown of the night. Streater also caught the ensuing 2-point conversion. He was targeted by Carson Palmer over ten times in the contest.

Current Pioneer wide receiver and Dansville High School grad Sammy Diaz watched intently "Watching a former Pioneer player in the NFL motivates me to push and give all I got on and off the field. It shows that dreams do come true if you work hard and focus on your goals."

Brett Rapan (Bolivar Richburg), a sophomore baseball player, echoed Diaz's comments. "Coming from a small school like Alfred State it is an inspiration to see that a player started out where I am and made it to the biggest stage. With hard work all dreams are attainable."

Caba knows the impact of Streater's success for the college. "The biggest message tonight and Rod's success in the NFL sends to our players in the football program and in the athletic department is that with hard work, dedication, and believing in your dreams is possible. You just got to keep believing and if your opportunity comes you need to be ready."

Caba previously had two other players play in regular season games but Streater was his first former player to make a start in the NFL. Streater is the 3rd Pioneer to wear a NFL uniform but is the first to play in a regular season game.

With one game under his belt, Streater and the Raiders will now prepare to travel to Miami to take on the Dolphins on Sunday.

women's soccer plus UPenn and Stephen Baker at Cornell. Anyhow, good weekend overall.

HITS AND MISSES:

Not a good weekend for the Alfred Saxons on the gridiron as they dropped their season opener to RPI, 24-6. Turnovers would cost the team in this contest as they hope to rebound this weekend at St. Lawrence. In other Division III action in football it was SJ Fisher nipping Washington & Jefferson on the road (good win), Brockport stopping Buffalo State and Hobart in Geneva beating Geneva of Beaver Falls, PA in NY. Ithaca and Cortland had "byes."

Not a good Sunday for the Buffalo/Toronto Bills as they were thumped at MetLife Stadium by the NJ Jets as the NFL season got underway. Same old Bills? Buffalo hosts the Kansas City Chiefs this Sunday at Ralph Wilson Stadium. Guessing Stu will be in attendance for his 26th straight season opener. Not sure on exact tally. The Waffle up from Almond. Maybe "Rookie" Firster. And, "The Traveling Sports Fan" from Almond will be in the parking lot off California Avenue.

The Hornell Red Raiders football squad is (2-0) after beating Bishop Kearney in Rochester to begin play and then thumping Wellsville, 40-6 this past weekend. The three-time defending state champs roll along.

Christy Kaznowski and her Western Carolina Catamounts women's soccer team is at (3-3) on the year as they get set to host the Catamount Classic this weekend. WCU did indeed beat the Albany Great Danes (NY) recently as the once-legendary Kaz informed me via phone. Rambling on about his daughter now has played a school that he did in hoops while at Brockport. The younger Kaznowski has tallied 2-goals and 1-assist to date for the season.

Jess Herbst (Webster Schroeder), Haley Marks and the UVM women's soccer team at (1-5) now.

Kristy Sherman's (Arkport) girls soccer team at Brockport High has a (3-1) mark in the young season. Hoping to see Brockport at Schroeder (2-0-1) this year ... if they even play. Better check that schedule!

Tough start for the UPenn men's soccer squad as they stand at (0-4) after dropping games this past weekend in their own Penn Classic, to Air Force and Hartford. Assume the Bakers from Penfield/Fairport in attendance.

Same tough start for the SUNY Geneseo women's soccer team as they are at (0-4) as well. Coach Wiley's troops fell to Allegheny and UR in the Fredonia Classic this past weekend. Geneseo has their home opener this Thursday versus Nazareth and hope to take in my first game of the season.

"Hilly" Moses was at the AU-RPI football game.

Mark S. Gaisser off to Orlando this weekend to play softball in a 4-day World Tournament. His team has won six-tourneys this year along the way.

Jim Bathgate took second-place in the Victor 5K over the weekend. A former Alfred State runner for "Doc" Moore.

Had a chance to chat with the "cage man" at JMU last week. He invited me down to be on the "chain gang" for a football game. Wow.

Rory McIlroy wins the BMW Championship on the PGA Tour with a star-studded leaderboard.

How is that LA Dodger trade working out with the ex-BoSox players?

College Football Championship ... Alabama versus USC.
