

AU's Health Fair: Bet there's something to interest you

3/17/06

Bet you'll find something that interests you at the 8th Alfred University Health Fair, scheduled for 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday, March 22, in Powell Campus Center. This year's theme is "Ante Up '06' Don't Gamble with Your Health." The event is open to the community, as well as AU faculty, staff and students. Last year, 530 people attended. Participants this year will enjoy fun, interactive, and educational presentations brought to campus by over 20 vendors, said Pamela Schu, health and wellness educator for the University. She noted there will be door prizes donated by local merchants and service providers. Topics include; preventing STD and HIV, HIV testing, alcohol management, reproductive health, prevention of skin cancer, healthy food portions, nutrition and much more. The following outside agencies and vendors are participating: Academic Insurance, AIDS Rochester, Alfred Police Department, Allegany Council on Alcoholism/Substance Abuse, Cornell Cooperative Extension, Jones Memorial Hospital, The Nail Parlor, Rochester Eye & Tissue Bank & Finger Lakes Donor Recovery Network, Servisoft, Wellness Council, St. James Mercy, and Finger Lakes Wellness Center and Health Spa. Alfred University offices participating include: AU Health and Wellness, Crandall Health Center, and the AU Biology Club.
