SUMMER CONSTRUCTION AT ALFRED STATE

Dozens of facilities getting upgrades this summer

ALFRED—Students may take a break for summer, but this is the time when Alfred State is working hard to improve the campus before they return in late August. Within the past few months, dozens of facilities have been upgraded, while others are undergoing exciting changes or additions.

Recent additions on the Alfred campus have included a food truck, 43-passenger bus, commodity barn, hay barn, basketball court at Shults Hall, diagnostic medical sonography suite, and radiologic technology suite. Some of the numbers for summer construction projects show their size and scope, such as the 6,700 feet of new gas lines, 150-plus new concrete steps, and 20-plus new pedestrian lights.

As for the School of Applied Technology campus, the $5 million Sustainable Advanced Manufacturing Center, which will house freshman and senior welding students and senior machine tool technology students, will be ready for fall classes. A new Health and Wellness Services Center will open in Wellsville for the first time this fall, as well.

Glenn Brubaker, director of Facilities Operations, said, "We're excited about the improvements being made to both our campuses. Our hope is that when students arrive later this month, they'll see that we've been hard at work over the summer making Alfred State even greater."

Other projects on the college's summer to-do list include adding a new Pioneer Trail complete with fitness stations, installing a 72-inch entertainment center at 10 Elm, resurfacing and striping multiple parking lots, and renovating the library art gallery and lounge, the nano lab clean room, and the equestrian pavilion.

"Our students are at the heart of everything we do here at Alfred State," said President Dr. Skip Sullivan. "These renovations and upgrades have been undertaken with the goal in mind of making their college experience the best that it can be, and we continually evolve and progress to meet this goal."

One of the biggest facilities projects is the makeover of the college's largest residence hall, the MacKenzie Complex, which enters into phase one this fall. Preparation work includes installing new laundry areas closer to MacKenzie residents, clearing out the central quad to make way for construction, and relocating Residential Services offices to the Townhouse Commons. At Pioneer Stadium, construction will soon begin on a new set of locker rooms as construction projects continue to enhance the campus.

To install more than 150 new concrete steps on Alfred State's main campus, construction workers enlisted the assistance of a concrete boom that reaches 100 feet horizontally and another 100 feet vertically.

ALFRED UNIVERSITY

National Science Foundation honors Dr. Yiquan Wu

ALFRED—Dr. Yiquan Wu, associate professor of materials science in the Inamori School of Engineering at Alfred University, has received a CAREER Award from the National Science Foundation (NSF).

According to the NSF, "The CAREER program offers the most prestigious awards in support of junior faculty who exemplify the role of teacher-scholars through outstanding research, excellent education and the integration of education and research within the mission of their organizations."

"I want to personally congratulate Dr. Wu on this marvelous recognition," said Mark Zupan, president of Alfred University. "Receiving an NSF CAREER Award is a significant achievement for Dr. Wu, and it speaks to both the quality of his scholarship and the importance of the further work he plans to undertake with the funding. He is a rising star in ceramic engineering/material science field and his accomplishments to date as well as his future potential as a teacher-scholar reflect well on all of us at Alfred."

DR. YIQUAN WU

Wu's project is entitled, "CAREER: Mechanism for Controlling Ionic Valences in Transition Metal Doped Laser Materials." He is proposing to explore the "formation, stability and manipulation of defects in optoelectronic materials" with the goal of creating high-quality laser materials with tailored properties.

According to the NSF award information, "This line of research is extremely important in the development of new optical devices and has not yet been adequately pursued and understood. This project is transformative" because it could lead to develop new optical and photonic materials "with new capabilities and functions."

The research could affect a "wide range of important applications, including laser machining and manufacturing, laser-sparked fusion energy, laser communications, high-energy particle and radiation detection, and medical imaging."

Earlier this year, Wu, who has been a member of the AU faculty since 2011, received a "Global Star Award" from the American Ceramic Society's Engineering Ceramics Division at the 2016 International Conference and Expo on Advanced Ceramics and Composites (ICACC). The award recognized Wu's contributions to the Engineering Ceramics Division and to the ICACC.

Wu was chosen to participate in the Manufacturing Innovation Institute in Integrated Photonics, based in Rochester, announced last July. The new $610 million center is funded by $110 million allocated by the federal government through the U.S. Department of Defense; $250 million committed by Gov. Andrew Cuomo on behalf of New York State, and the remaining $250 million committed by the private partners in the venture.

His research interests include advanced ceramics, optical materials, nanostructured materials for energy, biomaterials, and functional films and coatings.

He has done research work for the U.S. Air Force Office of Scientific Research, the Office of Naval Research, the National Science Foundation, the Defense Threat Reduction Agency, Corning Incorporated, and Sandia National Laboratory. Wu earned a Ph.D. in materials science from Imperial College London, and a Master's in materials from Chinese Academy of Sciences.

AU Annual Fund raises 93% of 2015-16 goal

ALFRED—The 2015-16 Alfred Fund, which closed June 30, fell short of its $1.41 million goal, raising $1,317,655, or 93 percent of goal, from just over 2,800 donors.

Alumni giving increased from $626,391 to $743,379, or 56 percent of the total. Trustees (current and life) contributed $363,415, or 28 percent of the total.

"We want to thank all of those who made a gift to the Alfred Fund during the 2015-16 academic year," said Jodi Bailey, director of Alumni Engagement and Annual Giving. "The Alfred Fund is one piece of Alfred University's annual giving efforts. It's an essential element in providing our students with the very best education possible."

"We need everyone's support to help move AU's vision forward," said Bailey. Those who would like to support this year's annual giving efforts, including the Alfred Fund, may do so online.

Floyd Haley Dodd, 97, WWII hero who was a TV extra after retiring

FLOYD HALEY DODD
Bartender on 'Naked Truth'
SANTA MONICA, CA—Floyd Haley Dodd, who was born on Nov. 27, 1918 in Salamanca, and moved to Hornell as a child, died July 4, 2016 in Santa Monica, CA where during his retirement he enjoyed a late career as an extra in TV shows and movies.

Floyd worked on the Erie Railroad ad a fireman and engineer for almost 40 years. After his retirement from the railroad, he moved to Los Angeles, Calif. and had a long career as an extra in both television and movies. He had a recurring role on the TV show "The Naked Truth," playing Floyd, the bartender.

He loved coming home to Hornell and spending time with family, seeing friends and playing gin and poker at the American Legion.

Independence Day was a special day for this WWII hero, who served in the Army of the United States, Battalion 509, Company C, Paratroop Infantry from 1942-1945. Wounded three times, he received the Purple Heart Medal.

Following the war and after returning to Hornell, he met and married Vincena DeGaetano, who predeceased him in death in 1967.

Floyd was everyone's friend; always helpful, always available when needed and always a gentleman. He loved playing with and entertaining children. In the summertime, the neighborhood children would knock on the door of his house on Prospect Street and ask, "Can Mr. Dodd come out and play?" This was a testament to the incredible man he was, everyone loved him.

He will be missed by his three daughters, Kathy (Allan) Silberman, Chris (Bob) Pettinelli and Mary Kay George; five grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

Donations in his name may be made to the Hornell Alumni Association.

A summer drier than her sense of humor

By BECKY PROPHET
A.E. Crandall Hooks Fire Co.

This summer is drier than my sense of humor. It is so dry here, as July winds down that we didn't light any tiki torches or other flames to light a recent reunion party. It's sooo dry that we are contemplating paying some teenager to water our lawn—it'd be hard for him/her to tow that much water behind a bicycle, so we will relent.

Being very careful with fire and obeying NYS burn regulations as well as those of the Village of Alfred are essential all the time, but especially now. The Q and A's found below have been copied from of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Burn Regulations. With such a dry spring and summer, as well as continuing heat waves, it is important that we all adhere to these regulations. Further, they match the Village of Alfred ordinances on fire. It's smart AND legal to apply these to prevent fires and to avoid serious air pollution.

I have included the most salient questions and answers from The New York State regulations on open burns. The entire piece is available at <http://www.dec.ny.gov/chemical/58519.html>, where you may read the entire article.

1. Do the regulations on open burning make burning household trash in burn barrels or piles illegal?

Yes. Burning trash is prohibited statewide in all cases. Our existing incinerator rule already prohibits burning household trash in wood stoves, fireplaces, and outdoor wood boilers. DEC recommends that you recycle all appropriate materials (such as newspaper, paper, glass and plastic) and compost your organic kitchen and garden waste.

2. What are the regulations on open burning in New York State?

All open burning is prohibited in New York with several exceptions including the following: Campfires less than 3 feet in height and 4 feet in length, width or diameter are allowed. Small cooking fires are allowed (in the Village these must be in containers). Fires cannot be left unattended and must be fully extinguished. Only charcoal or clean, untreated or unpainted wood can be burned. In towns with a total population less than 20,000, you may burn tree limbs with attached leaves. The limbs must be less than 6 inches in diameter and 8 feet in length (also referred to as brush). However, this is not allowed from March 16 through May 14 due to the increased risk of wildfires.

3. Why has DEC changed the regulations allowing open burning in New York State?

Open burning of household trash releases dangerous compounds including arsenic, carbon monoxide, benzene, styrene, formaldehyde, lead, hydrogen cyanide and dioxin, among others. Open burning is also the single greatest cause of wildfires in New York.

4. Can I burn leaves if I live in a rural area?

No, burning leaves is banned in New York State. We encourage you to compost leaves.

5. Your rule says firewood must be untreated, some firewood is heat-treated, is that allowed?

Some firewood is heat treated (kiln dried) to control invasive insect species if it is to be transported over 50 miles. Heat treated firewood is not intended to be prohibited. However, the burning of chemically treated wood such as pressure-treated lumber and plywood is prohibited.

6. Are open fires allowed to control invasive plant and insect species?

Yes. Case-by-case DEC approval is not required.

..... 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 15, 16 are available at the website, but are not likely situations in the

Village of Alfred

14. Can a town prohibit open burning that the state allows?

Yes, towns, villages, cities and counties can pass ordinances that are stricter than, and not inconsistent with, the open fires regulations. You should check with local authorities to find out if local law requires a permit or prohibits open fires.

17. Where should I call to report an illegal open fire?

Report all poachers and poachers by calling the DEC hotline at 1-844-DEC-ECOs (1-844-332-3267).

The Village of Alfred regulations, which are definitely parallel to these and slightly tighter in a few places are available of the Village website.

Beyond these regulations, there are some newer things to consider: Those lovely lanterns that look like white miniature hot air balloons that are lit and then set to rise and drift away are not quite as sweet and romantic as they are at first blush. To be legal in NYS, they must now be tethered. Apparently one set a dock ablaze on Keuka Lake on 4th of July weekend.

Marion Fosdick came to AU in 1915

[Editor's Note: Like most of the recipes she shared with our readers over the past couple of decades, Ellen Shultz's Sunny Side Up columns are worth repeating.]

In 1915 Marion Lawrence Fosdick came to Alfred University to teach in the College of Ceramics. She had studied at the school of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston and the Kuntsgewerbe Schule in Berlin. She worked closely with Charles Fergus Binns, founder and first director of the Alfred University School of Ceramics, to establish the department of design. In 1926 she was awarded the Binns Medal for outstanding work in ceramic art. She has pottery in the epermanent collections of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City and the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts, as well as several other collections botho public and private.

This dish has been a favorite around town for years, turning up at most pot-luck suppers.

Marion Fosdick's Cheese Dish

5 c. cubed, buttered white bread (9 slices)
2 1/2 c. strong cheese, cubed
some grated onion

Put the above in layers in a greased dish; salt a little. Then beat 2 eggs with 1 c. milk and 1/2 tsp. prepared mustard. Pour this over the layers of bread and cheese. Optional: cut 3 strips bacon in half and lay on the top. Refrigerate overnight.

Bake in a 350 degree oven until the top is golden brown and a knife inserted in the center shows the entire dish is baked.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Alfred State president offers letter to the Alfred community

To my fellow members of the Alfred community,

It won't be long until the surge of students arrive for fall. I want to take this opportunity to provide an update on Alfred State's continued investment in the community and to thank and recognize all of you for your continued support of our college as we all work together.

We applaud our neighbors across the street at Alfred University for the selection of Mark Zupan, a world-class scholar and academic leader, as the 14th president in the university's history. As leaders of institutions of higher learning within the village of Alfred, we are both committed to the advancement and growth of young minds, as well as the community we live in. We are truly in this together.

I would like to thank Allegany County for entering into a partnership with Alfred State to help improve economic development across our community. Together, we will work to consistently attract, retain, and expand investment in local businesses, industries, and supportive infrastructure. All of us know how important the mission of this partnership is for the future growth of our community, as well as its citizens, businesses, and colleges.

Our admissions figures continue to climb, as by mid-July we had received 6,853 applications, an increase greater than 17 percent over the same time last year. The number of accepted students has also spiked by 27 percent. We are extremely pleased and excited at the growing interest in our college among prospective students. To attract student interest, we have also added eight new majors in the past year, including criminal justice, diagnostic medical sonography, health sciences, interdisciplinary studies, motorcycle and power sports technology, radiologic technology, and both an associate and bachelor's degree in graphic and media design.

The students here at Alfred State are at the heart of everything we do, and I could not be more proud of them and their accomplishments, whether it was tying for first place in a national BUV competition, installing a solar-powered trailer at the National Arboretum to support live online video monitoring of a family of bald eagles, or placing third in the nation in masonry and fifth in the nation for commercial baking at the SkillsUSA championship. Their achievements are a testament to terrific faculty and staff we have here at Alfred State.

For many of our incoming students, getting involved on campus and in the community starts before they even begin classes during our annual Day of Service, which will be held on Aug. 23 this year. This event is part of our Week of Welcome, and is a great way for these students to get involved, meet new people, and to not only help out the community, but to also become a part of it through service efforts such as painting, assisting food pantries, working in our community garden.

As an anchor institution, civic engagement is a key focus at Alfred State, with students, faculty, and staff taking part in days of service such as Celebrate Service Celebrate Allegany and Spring Into Action, and volunteering out-of-state in places such as South Carolina and New Orleans. The number of service hours contributed by Alfred State's students has seen significant increases in recent years.

Through internships, clinical treatments, and volunteering, the number of service hours has climbed by more than 10 percent per year and has surpassed 80,000 hours of community service per school year.

Those of us at Alfred State focus our efforts to help students to learn, grow, and advance. Our goals for the community are equally important, as we work together, learn, grow, and advance this village that is so supportive of all that we do. We thank you.

Sincerely,

Dr. Skip Sullivan

Beginning to rain?

Editor of The Alfred Sun:

I'm not complaining, not at all, but I wrote a fire company article to respond to the dryness of this summer of 2016. We hadn't had any measureable rain at our house for about six weeks when I did so. THEN, just as you and THE SUN went on vacation, we began to get rain. Why is that? Should we shut down your presses and send you away the next time we have a dry spell? Please advise.

Love Suffers Long—But It Suffers

At night in the summer I sit and I shiver—
From head down to toe, hypothalamus to liver—
And though running the risk I won't live to see dawn,
I'm too chilly for griping or carrying on,
So all summer I sit in my office and freeze...
And it's all on account of the stiff, chilly breeze
That comes in the back door and sweeps right through the house,
In a system designed by my house-cooling spouse:
"Tomorrow'll be hotter than blazes, you know,
So every last calorie inside's got to go,
Now open the doorways! Unbatten the hatches!
Unloosen all bolt-things! Unfasten all latches!
Remove what obstructs and whatever may hinder!
Crank open each vent and fling wide every window!
So come on! Hurry up, now! We've gotta begin
To chase out of the house all the hotness that's in
And replace with the coolness that's outside the house!"
(So tenderly goaded my house-cooling spouse)
"And the best way I know of's the cool evening breeze."
And that's why I sit in the office and freeze...
But rather than griping and carrying on
And running the risk I won't live to see dawn,
I'd best just keep still and continue to shiver—
From head down to toe, hypothalamus to liver.

Allegany County Legislator

A "COUNTY FAIR" MEETING

Once a year the Allegany County Legislature leaves the County Office Building to hold one of its bi-monthly sessions at the Allegany County Fairgrounds. This year that meeting was held on Thursday, July 21st, at 2:00 p.m. The circumstances were almost perfect. It was clear, with a breeze, though a bit too hot for some. It was good to get out and mingle with our neighbors and visitors. I don't know what the attendance at the Fair was on Thursday, but there seemed to be crowds, and the parking lot was nearly full.

Our session opened with the Pledge of Allegiance, led by former Air Force Master Sergeant Jeffrey Griswold. Jeffrey has a somewhat unique record of military service. He served in the US Army, and then spent 10 years in the Army Reserve. Then he spent 10 years in the US Air Force Reserve. He was discharged from the military in October 2013. He is active in Amvet Post One and Friendship Post 1168 of the American Legion. He also serves on the Cuba Volunteer Fire Department. Three Scouts from Angelica Boy Scout Troop 736 comprised the Color Guard for the American Flag. They were Austin Ford, Noah Ford and Jacob Bliss.

The meeting at the County Fair gives the Legislature an opportunity to recognize some special residents of our County. Derek Smith was recognized as a 4-H Honoree. Derek has competed in 4-H programs for 10 years. This year's Fair was dedicated to Jim Young of Angelica. Fair Board President Karen Tripp was present to acknowledge the numerous volunteers who dedicate hundreds of hours of their time making our County Fair one of the best in the State.

State Senator Cathy Young and Assemblyman Joe Giglio joined us as they have done for many years. Both acknowledged the unique values that make our County and Fair special. Congressman Tom Reed could not be with us, but sent his greetings through his County Representative, Lee James. I appreciate the support of our national and State elected officials.

Board Chairman Curt Crandall appointed our new County Administrator, Timothy Boyde, to the Cattaraugus-Allegany Workforce Development Board. He also proclaimed the week of July 17-23 as Pretrial, Probation and Parole Supervision Week in Allegany County. The Board then considered and approved six resolutions. Resolution #167-16 approved a Grant Application to the NYS Division of Criminal Justice Services "Rural Community of Practice" for the Probation Department. Resolution #168-16 accepted and appropriated the sum of $20,000 for the "Balancing Incentive Program Caregivers Grant" for the Office For the Aging. Resolution #169-16 accepted and appropriated the sum of $1,072 in Cost of Living funds for the County Health Department for the Tobacco Enforcement Program.

Resolution #170-16 accepted and appropriated the sum of $4,550 from ACCORD Corporation for continuation of the ACT II Batterers' Program. Resolution #171-16 transferred the sum of $20,000 from the Department of Public Works Road Machinery Account to an account to pay for a fuel tank upgrade. Resolution #172-16 approved an amendment to an agreement between the Office For the Aging and Willcare. It increases the amounts paid to that agency for home care services for the elderly.

The Board then approved payment of the audited bills for County government for the past two weeks. Those bills came to $3,103,613.51. This included over $380,000 to pay for the County's mandated contribution to the State Medicaid Program. New York State is the only state that requires local governments to contribute towards the cost of Medicaid. So far in 2016 Allegany County has paid $5,795,580 towards the Medicaid Program. If New York would pick up this one expense, just like every other state already does, it would enable us to reduce our tax rate by more than 33%.

I want to extend a special thanks to the County Fair Board, and the many Fair volunteers who make our County Fair such a wonderful experience. My family and I had a great time at the Allegany County Fair.

ALFRED CERAMIC ART MUSEUM

Doors will be opened Oct. 28 with 'Core Sample'

ALFRED—To celebrate its move to a new building at Alfred University, the Alfred Ceramic Art Museum will open its doors to the public with an exhibition entitled Core Sample, featuring highlights from its permanent collection.

The opening gala reception, scheduled for 6-9 p.m., Friday, Oct. 28, is open to the public, free of charge.

"Core Sample will include a number of pieces that have not been on view in years," said Wayne Higby, an internationally acclaimed ceramic artist and educator who is the director of what is now known as the Alfred Ceramic Art Museum.

"This is the first of many ambitious projects slated for the Museum, which will reveal essential aspects of the Museum's collection, as well as chart new directions in ceramic art and scholarship," said Higby.

The new museum was built with a gift from Dr. Marlin Miller, Jr., chairman emeritus and member of the Alfred University Board of Trustees since 1972, and his wife Ginger. It is the first permanent home for the museum, which has its roots in the first "study collection" created in 1903 by Charles Fergus Binns, founding director of what was then the New York State School of Clayworking at Alfred University.

Beginning Nov. 1, the hours of operation for the Museum, located on Pine Street on the AU campus, will be:

Mondays: closed

Tuesdays: 10 a.m. – 5 p.m.

Wednesdays: 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Thursdays: 10 a.m.-7 p.m.

Fridays: 10 a.m.-5 5 p.m.

Saturdays: 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Sundays: 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Admission for adults (18-54 years old) is $7; for those 55 and older, $5; and local residents (those whose home zip code begin with 148), AAA members and military, $3.

Alfred University and Alfred State College faculty, staff and students will be admitted free with ID, as will Alfred-Almond Central School students.

HINKLE LIBRARY EXHIBIT

Artist's wine stain self-portraits currently displayed

ALFRED—When it comes to creating portraits, some artists choose to work with more traditional mediums, such as acrylic, watercolor, or charcoal.

But for Amelia Fais Harnas, the medium of choice is a more unique one: red wine.

From celebrities to politicians to family members, Harnas has created many realistic portraits out of red wine, and from Aug. 29 through Sept. 30, the public will have a chance to view a series of 14 all-new wine stain self-portraits at the Hinkle Memorial Library at Alfred State.

About four years ago, Harnas said, her wine stain portraits began to attract a lot of attention on the Internet, though at around the same time, she started experiencing increasing trouble with her complexion. She was eventually diagnosed with rosacea.

"Of course, the irony was not lost on me, since red wine has long been thought to be the cause of rosacea," she said. "So, taking inspiration from Monica Castillo's brutally honest self-portraits, it is all too appropriate for me to finally create a series

Wine stain self-portrait

"Carre" is one of 14 wine stain self-portraits by Amelia Fais Harnas that will be on display at Alfred State's Hinkle Memorial Library from Aug. 29 through Sept. 30 in an exhibit titled "#nomakeup."

of self-portraits illustrating my plight using the very medium that many believe triggers it."

Titled "#nomakeup," the exhibit's featured wines stains are all selfies on square pieces of white fabric with white prints, "intended to conjure up a sense of Instagram filters and format," Harnas said. She noted that the title "speaks to the honest representation of my rosacea, as well as my dismay about how this hashtag is often used by women whose complexions and bone structure already highlight their innate beauty. For me, makeup is the only way I can attempt to conceal a stigmatizing medical condition."

Harnas, who hails from Corning but has been living in Portland, ME for the last two years, holds an associate degree in liberal arts from Corning Community College and a Bachelor of Arts degree in graphic arts and arts business from SUNY Empire State College. She furthered her art education by visiting and studying the artwork in more than 50 museums in Austria, France, Germany, Italy, The Netherlands, Spain, and Switzerland.

An artist, designer and performer, her exhibitions, collaborations, and performances have taken place in Corning; Binghamton; Portland, ME; Portland, OR; Brooklyn; Hammondsport; and Elmira. She is also the co-founder of a small collaborative arts festival called "The Hours Festivals," and will have an artist residency from Sept. 3-10 at Hewnoaks in Lovell, ME.

When asked what she hopes viewers of her #nomakeup exhibit will take away from it, Harnas said, "Even though it is tempting and increasingly easy to present yourself in a self-serving flat light via flattering filters on Instagram, and Facebook posts that are biased toward the rosy moments of life, it is through the honest showing of our vulnerabilities that true connection occurs."

The exhibit will be open for viewing during normal library hours. To inquire about exhibiting your work in the Hinkle Gallery, email library@alfred-state.edu or call 607-587-4313.

AU alums publish a 'witty kitty' children's book

ALFRED—Alfred University alums Mike '04 and Kristin Quell-Garguilo '05, who now make their home in Ridgefield, CT, have published a "witty kitty" children's book about their daughter and a crew of pirate cats titled, Captain Aurora and the Most Purrrfect Treasure.

The desire to write a children's book has been a long time goal for the couple. With Kristin's artistic and creative ability and Mike's fondness for child-like adventures, the couple knew they could achieve this lofty goal but they struggled to pinpoint a plot.

After the birth of their daughter Aurora in 2014 and her fondness for the family cat Leo, the adventure for the first story blossomed naturally. Aurora would always seem to be going on "adventures" with her first mate Lucky Leo not far away, even though he was typically sleeping.

The recipe for the book was simple, take a strong-willed, childlike captain, Aurora, and mix a crew of mischievous, lazy, and quirky cats that she has to work with and let the ideas for nearly two years. They celebrated Aurora's second birthday with the release of the book, which is available through Amazon.

The back of the book reads, "Embark with Captain Aurora and her merry crew of cats as they seek to discover the Most Purrrfect Treasure. Adventure, sleeping, danger, eating, high jinx, and even more sleeping. Will Captain Aurora be able to control her crew long enough to uncover the treasure? Or will she succumb to their kitty desires?"

The couple met at Alfred University, where he was an education and geology major, and she was an environmental studies and geology major.

When they are not herding cats and a toddler, Mike is a science teacher at Tarrytown Union Free School District, and Kristin is a sustainability engineer and alternative energy specialist.

Almond Library hosts ‘Clay with Kids’

ALMOND—Nine 8-to-12-year-old students spent two hours on a sultry summer afternoon at the Almond Library forming cool clay flats into works of art.

The students made either a bowl or two wall plaques in the "Clay with Kids Program" led by Andover potter, Mrs. Carol Amman, a recently retired Spanish teacher from Alfred Almond High School.

Three students overcame the challenge of adhering bases onto their beautifully decorated bowls while six students selected inspiring words and decorations for their individual plaques. One student made a plaque for each of her parents.

The students commented that they liked using their creativity, making things, having fun with their friends, seeing Mrs. Amman, and having this unique experience. They overwhelmingly agreed that they would tell their friends about the program and would do it again. The Almond Library thanks the Allegany Arts Association for providing the funding to make this program possible.

NOTES from the
BOX OF BOOKS

By MELANIE MILLER
Box of Books Library Director

Sunday, August 7 was STEM Sunday at the library from 1-3 p.m. Activities were science, technology, engineering and math related.

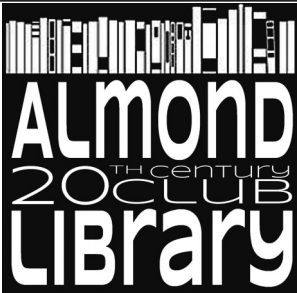

Some of the activities were Minecraft Math Coloring, LED Throwies, Code Your Name, and Marshmallow & Spaghetti engineering. These activities were for kids ages 6 and up with adult help.

On Monday, August 8 we held a Healthy Cooking Contest. Contestants prepared their favorite healthy dish and dropped it off to the library before on Monday August 8. Dishes were judged by the Board of Trustees. Winners will be awarded a $10 gift certificate to the Rogue Carrot. Watch for announcement of the winners.

During our end of summer reading wrap up picnic on August 28, we will be accepting seed donations for our seed library. A seed library will allow you to "borrow" seeds to plant in your own garden. At the end of the season, you return seeds from your garden to the seed library. Patty Sherman from Cornell Cooperative Extension will be holding a Seed Saving presentation from 1-2 p.m. that day. If you have any questions, please feel free to call or email the library. (607) 587-9290 or alfred@stls.org.

Dr. Kellogg pens ‘Tales of Cosmic Disaster’

ALFRED—Dr. Richard Kellogg, professor emeritus of psychology at Alfred State, is the author of an article appearing in the most recent issue of Paperback Parade, a quarterly journal for readers and book collectors. The article is titled "Tales of Cosmic Disaster."

In the article, Kellogg discusses two classic novels in the science fiction genre penned by Philip Wylie (1902-1971) and Edwin Balmer (1883-1959).

"When Worlds Collide" (1933) and "After Worlds Collide" (1934) present a future scenario in which two rogue planets have strayed from their normal orbits and are hurtling through outer space toward earth. Mankind will only survive if a powerful spacecraft, aptly christened the Ark, can be built to transport a select group of people to another planet before the catastrophic collision in space.

The author points out that Wylie and Balmer were speculating on the possibility of space travel decades before the American space program and the successful flight to the moon. It is likely that many future pilots, engineers, and scientists were inspired by reading these thrilling tales of space exploration in their youth.

Kellogg writes frequently about detective fiction and the world of science fiction. He is the creator of a popular series of books for children featuring boy detective Barry Baskerville. The most recent entry, Barry Baskerville Traps a Thief, is available at the Amazon website.

HISTORY OF TRADESMEN BEING PRESERVED

Statue of Liberty tinsmith speaks at Allegany Co. Fair

ALFRED—While working to repair and maintain the Statue of Liberty, Dennis Heaphy knows that he is preserving history.

In addition to the 62,000 pounds of copper that make up the 300-foot-tall monument, he is also preserving a proud history of tradesmen who helped build this great country. Heaphy, the resident tinsmith for the Statue of Liberty, recently came to Allegany County to celebrate how the region and Alfred State build interest in the craft and trades for the next generation.

Heaphy set up shop at the recent Allegany County Fair to tell his story that started when his great-grandfather opened a metal shop in Syracuse 124 years ago. Sharing his skills and talking with local residents about the need for young people to learn trades with hands-on education proved inspirational.

“My work on the Statue of Liberty is a grand achievement for me, but I was inspired and invigorated by the pride people expressed when they reflected on works of their relatives,” said Heaphy. “The spirit of a community is deeply intertwined with its craftsmen, they are at the heart of the arts and the character of that community, and the trades of today have their roots in the trades of the past.”

Since 1966, Wellsville has been home to Alfred State’s School of Applied Technology. Located on the site of the former Sinclair Oil Refinery, Alfred State’s campus is keeping a proud tradition of tradesmen alive, as each fall a new class of students arrive to learn skills that are not only passed down through the generations, but also evolve to meet the demands of today’s industry. The Allegany County Economic Development staff hope that Heaphy’s visit will be the first in a series of tradesmen who come to demonstrate their craft and generate more interest in education for the trades.

“Our campus in Wellsville is preparing for a big celebration to commemorate 50 years,” said Dean of the School of Applied Technology Ana McClanahan. “We will be inviting the community to join us on Homecoming/Family Weekend for a celebration on Oct. 14. We have a ton of history to celebrate, but also to cheer for what’s new and still developing on our vibrant campus.”

Heaphy’s wife, Anna Dobkowski, is actually an Alfred State alum, having graduated in 1976 with an architectural engineering technology degree. His connections to the college go even deeper, however.

“Not only did Anna graduate from Alfred State, but so did my uncle and many friends, and many friends of friends, and I am proud to say that my nephew will be attending in the fall,” Heaphy said. “Allegany County is the perfect atmosphere to nurture a culture of craftsmen who could find fertile ground to teach and learn the trades that have made us who we are.”

Employers often lament about the need for more young people to learn the trades and the open jobs waiting for skilled workers. Heaphy sees the need for continuing to teach the hands-on skills needed for trades and crafts as a way to prevent the extinction of a long proud tradition.

“When we look at a structure, a piece of furniture, or myriad other works of craft, we hear those voices telling their stories,” he said. “But like a dying language, once there are no more native speakers, it becomes the whisper of myth. I have labored most of my life to keep these languages alive so future craftsmen can understand those messages.”

INNOVATIVE PROGRAM AT ALFRED STATE

Motorcycle and power sports technology to be offered

New Alfred State program is first in the Northeast

ALFRED—Continuing to add unique and in-demand academic offerings, Alfred State is pleased to announce the addition of a two-year motorcycle and power sports technology major that will be the first of its kind among all public colleges in the Northeast. Classes for this program will begin in the fall of 2017.

The Associate in Occupational Studies degree program will prepare students for a career as a motorcycle/power sports/ small engine technician, incorporating a progressively challenging format and hands-on laboratories, using full-size functioning vehicles.

Training will include all aspects of motorcycle and small vehicle repair, including the diagnosis and repair of gasoline and diesel engines, transmissions, electrical/electronic systems, brake systems, steering systems, and suspension systems.

Occupational opportunities for graduates of this program include motorcycle technician, marine vehicle technician, small engine/lawn and garden equipment technician, service manager, and shop foreman.

Kent Johnson, program coordinator and chair of the Automotive Trades Department, said, “I am excited to add the motorcycle and power sports technology curriculum to our department. The Alfred State Automotive Trades Department has 50 years of experience training technicians to repair trucks, equipment, and cars. That experience, combined with us working closely with industry to develop curricula, should help us make this a premier program very quickly.”

Dr. Skip Sullivan, president of Alfred State, said, “This major’s simulated real-world practice environment, experienced faculty, and diverse tools and equipment will give our students a competitive edge once they enter the workforce. We are delighted to add motorcycle and power sports technology to our academic offerings, and I thank all of the faculty who made this program possible.”

Dr. Kristin Poppo, provost, said, “Alfred State is pleased to provide the opportunity for students to engage in hands-on learning to service motorcycles and other recreational vehicles. Housed on our Wellsville campus, this program will prepare students to ‘hit the ground running’ in a growing industry.”

Alfred State has added a new two-year motorcycle and power sports technology major, with classes for this program beginning in the fall of 2017.

Alfred State students can minor in leadership beginning this fall

ALFRED—Adding to the ways in which Alfred State students are preparing to become the leaders of tomorrow, the college will begin offering a leadership minor this coming fall semester.

The minor is intended to expose students to existing courses and experiential credits (internship or practicum experiences) at Alfred State that focus on and/or include leadership topics. These students will be introduced to the Social Change Model of Leadership and mentorship opportunities.

Although the minor will be administratively housed in the Business Department, a team of faculty and staff will help coordinate the program and advise students who register for it. Danielle Green, chair of the Business Department, said she is excited about this new offering.

“As the department continues to grow, we look to add new opportunities in the academic field of business,” she said. “This minor will provide an opportunity for both business and non-business students to acquire skills necessary to be leaders in their respective fields.”

Requiring a flexible 15 hours of credit, the minor will:

- introduce students to civic-leadership opportunities;
- provide a comprehensive group of learning experiences that will complement and enrich all academic programs;
- offer a valuable skill set to boost student marketability, while providing supplementary productivity and an increase in their ability to set and exceed workplace goals and objectives;

•strive to continually raise the bar and provide the community, state, and nation with the next generation of remarkable leaders who will leave a mark of effectiveness, efficiency, and distinction in their wake.

The backbone of the minor integrates Alfred State’s existing Emerging Pioneers Leadership Program (EPLP), which offers leadership development opportunities at three certificate levels for all students. The new minor and the EPLP are one of several leadership-centered offerings at the college, including the Civic Leadership Living Learning Community and Leadership Suites/Organizational Suites.

Alyshia Zurlick, assistant director of the Office of Student Engagement, said, it would be an understatement to say that the Alfred State community is excited about this opportunity.

“One of the single greatest determining factors of college and workplace success is the ability to be a highly effective leader,” Zurlick said. “Leadership skills are valued and respected and have become increasingly pursued in the workforce. The leadership minor will provide students with essential leadership qualities and principles that will enhance and solidify success both in the classroom and the workplace.”

ALFRED STATE

New students use Pokemon to explore campus

ALFRED—Incoming students are catching more than just a glimpse of college life during Alfred State's summer orientation, with the new Pokemon Go mobile game they are venturing across campus and making new friends along the way.

"As a college of technology, our first inclination is to look for ways to utilize technology for a benefit," said Stephanie Hoyer, digital media coordinator.

"When students are using Pokemon Go we noticed that they are going out and exploring the campus, finding where things are located, and sharing experiences with their new found friends. There are positive attributes to the game that can be embraced."

Students designated as Orientation Leaders at Alfred State are also trained regarding the dos and don'ts on how to use Pokemon Go. Players are cautioned to be aware of their surroundings and to stay safe while not placing themselves in harm's way. Students who choose to play are encouraged to make the most of the experience by learning their way around campus and sharing their experience while interacting with fellow students.

"It's our job at orientation to guide students to become successfully engaged and productive members of the campus community," said Mallory Morehouse, coordinator of orientation. "We want to guide new students to keep their academic success a priority. We also understand the need for students to become engaged outside of class, to pursue their personal interests and passions while making new friends. Pokemon Go can be an incredibly social experience since it encourages gamers to go outside, explore and even enjoy some friendly competition."

The Bell Tower at the center of the Alfred campus serves as one Poke Stop, where players can collect free Pokeballs, incense, potions, revives, and eggs. Other nearby stops include the Alfred Post Office, the Box of Books Library, and the Alfred Fire Department.

Whether playing solo or in groups, students have the option to join one of three color-coded teams, known locally as Alfred State BLUE, Pioneer GOLD, and Team Alf-RED. A Pokemon gym is located at the entrance to the Hinkle Memorial Library, where players often congregate for competitions. Another gym is located at the Theta Gamma House on Main Street in Alfred.

Pokemon Go is allowing incoming Alfred State students attending summer orientation to become more familiar with the campus while making new friends.

After a July 5 launch, the popularity of the game has grown rapidly across the country and by the first orientation session on July 10 a great number of students had downloaded the free app and were playing Pokemon Go as they explored the campus. The college's 2016 summer orientation included a number of overnight and daytime sessions from July 10-29. All full-time, new, and transfer students entering Alfred State in the fall of 2016 were required to attend a session.

One Time, One Meeting

By BEN HOWARD

FEAR AND BELIEF

"Nine out of ten people I talk with about retirement," our family accountant remarked not long ago, "are afraid they will run out of money." Most of his clients, he went on to explain, have sufficient resources to enjoy a secure if not affluent retirement, but that doesn't keep them from believing otherwise or fearing future hardship.

The entangled relationship of fear and belief was one of the themes of a retreat I recently conducted at the Olean Meditation Center. Around thirty people attended this retreat, whose aim was to explore how mindfulness might help us recognize, accept, and release our everyday fears. In this retreat we did not purport to address traumas or their aftermaths. That is the job of a qualified therapist. Nor were we attempting, in one Saturday morning, to allay such profound apprehensions as the fear of death. Rather, we had convened to examine whether, in the words of the Zen teacher Zenkai Blanche Hartman, we might "turn toward our fears with warmth and compassion."

During the first hour we focused on the recognition that fear is present. To initiate that recognition, I invited participants to settle into an upright comfortable posture, bringing their attention to the sensations of breathing. A few minutes later, I asked everyone to observe the thoughts crossing their minds, first by counting the number of thoughts that occurred in a three-minute period (the average was around fifteen), and, second, by noting the kind of thinking they were doing (remembering, projecting, analyzing, fantasizing, etc.). Last, I asked them to examine the content of their recurrent thoughts. How many pertained to the immediate present? To a past event? To something that might happen in the future? How many were based in fear?

In the ensuing discussion, participants reported on their findings. Many of the thoughts reported had to do with the past or future, and only a few with the present moment. And many were indeed based in fear. The most nuanced account came from a man who had found himself thinking repeatedly about his son, who in that very hour was driving on the New York State Thruway. Although this worried father's thoughts had centered on the present moment, they were rooted in fear for his son's safety.

During the second hour we focused on accepting recognized fears. Difficult as it can be to admit we're afraid, it can be even more challenging to accept our fear, once it has come to light. To facilitate that process, I once again instructed participants to assume a stable upright posture and settle into meditative awareness, but this time I asked them to recall a situation in which they had experienced moderate fear. Reliving that situation, they then explored means by which they might allow their fear into their field of awareness. Some people have found it useful to implement such words and phrases as "yes," or "I consent," or "this, too." Others have found it helpful to focus on the physical sensations attendant to fear. By so doing, we can gain awareness of both our constrictive resistance and the openness of heart that comes with accepting what is present.

This active acceptance leads naturally into the third stage of the process, which is to investigate the ways in which our fears comingle with our beliefs. During the third hour, we undertook that inquiry by once again bringing mindfulness to a remembered experience. In this case, however, I asked participants to recall a fearful experience while asking themselves two questions: "What am I believing?" and "Is this belief real, but not true?"

This simple exercise produced some remarkable results. The most dramatic was reported by a participant who had chosen to contemplate an experience from her childhood. One day in school, she recalled, she had sung a song with her classmates. Afterwards, her teacher had told her it would be better if she not sing with the group anymore, because her voice didn't really fit in. She had accepted that judgment, and over the years she had generalized it beyond its original context. It had become a personal belief, which she had carried with her until that morning.

"How do you feel now?" I asked.

"Free," she quietly replied.

To be sure, the contemplation of fear is not for everyone. It is easier in the short run to ignore, deny, or suppress our fears, or to distract ourselves with busyness and entertainment. But as Jack Kornfield has observed, "A fearful situation turns to anger when we can't admit that we're afraid." By learning to stop and look into our fears, we can increase the likelihood that our future choices will be based on clear seeing, emotional stability, and alignment with things as they are—three of the fruits of meditative practice—rather than on fear, anger, or fear-infused belief.

Growing Up in Alfred

By JUDE FRECHETTE
Special to the Alfred Sun
"Tory 2-C"

Naturally, as soon as my sister got her first horse, Dellie, I started agitating for a pony of my own. Dellie was happy to carry both of us riding double, but I was envious of the very special relationship that Kathy had with him, and wanted an equine pal for myself. I wanted to hold the reins of an animal who looked to me for all of his needs, including friendship.

Sadly, my first pony was a disappointment. Mom and I found Twink at the Horse Traders' Convention. This was an annual event held at the Don Heers farm on the edge of Almond, and somebody should write a book about it. People came from all over western Pennsylvania and New York State with trailers full of horses, and even a few donkeys and mules, to camp for three or four days, drink lots of beer, and sell or swap their livestock. It was such a spectacle that it drew folks who had no intention of buying, just to stroll around and absorb the atmosphere.

Poor old Twink was a ruined animal. His wind was broken, he coughed continually, and his hooves were so badly foundered that he could barely walk, much less run. It was an out-and-out pity purchase. Mom and I felt so sorry for the little guy, tied out in the sweltering sun with his head drooping, that we bought him just to get him out of there.

A rough-looking, beer-smelling man took our money, and trailered him up to Alfred for us. Needless to say, Twink didn't last long with us. As I recall, we found a friendly local farmer who was willing to put Twink out to pasture for the rest of his days.

That left me horseless again, so I started combing the classified ads, and one day my dream-horse appeared there. I talked it over with my parents, and it was agreed that if he looked as good as he sounded, I could buy him. The only condition was that Dad would name him "Tory 2-C" after an experimental rocket he'd worked on at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee. I thought it was a stupid name, but it was a small price to pay.

We phoned, then went to Arkport to see him, and he was even better than I'd dared to hope. He was large for a pony, twelve hands at the withers (1 hand = 4") and a beautiful glossy black.

He sported two white stockings, and a white "L" on his shoulder, which I took as a sign of destiny, since that was my middle initial.

His owner, a girl named Louise Flanders who had raised him from a foal, had obviously trained him well, both for riding and driving. She even had him pose for us in a stretch, like a show horse. I was thoroughly captivated, and the deal was made.

Tory and I had a marvelous time getting to know each other. I got him settled next to Dellie in the barn, and they got along fine. I'm sure Dellie was glad for the company, since horses are herd animals. Kathy and I went riding together often, and Tory had no trouble keeping up, though we looked a bit like Mutt and Jeff.

He was a sweet-tempered soul, with the spirit and intelligence the Welsh breed is famous for, and we quickly grew to love each other.

Tory had come equipped with a Western saddle, which I preferred to the English tack I'd learned on. I took to wearing cowboy boots and hat everywhere except at school. I even sang cowboy songs as we pranced around the village, much to the amusement of townsfolk and students.

At some point, I decided to teach Tory to jump. I set up two stacks of bricks in our side yard, with a board across the top, starting at one foot high. He learned fast, and pretty soon we were up to two feet, clearing the board easily with room to spare.

I was intensely proud of Tory's progress, and bragged about him to my new friend Diane. She was an accomplished horsewoman from Hornell who had recently been hired as a waitress at the Collegiate, and she owned three horses. I persuaded her to come and watch us practice.

Tory and I cantered across the lawn and sailed over the board, set at 2'6" - our best jump ever! As we circled and came back, I was deeply offended to see Diane laughing her head off. She couldn't stop, and I was getting furious. Finally she managed to speak, and explained that she wasn't exactly laughing at us. It was that she recognized my pony as the same one she'd seen at a horse show a few years before, who amazed everyone by jumping five feet with a rider, namely, Louise Flanders.

So it turned out that, while I thought I was training Tory, he was actually training me! It wasn't too hard for me to swallow my embarrassment, since I was even prouder of his accomplishments than before. From then on, I learned to follow his lead in areas where he knew more than I did. He never steered me wrong.

Give To The U.S.O.; Help The Boys In Service.

The campaign in Alfred for funds for the United Service Organizations was started Monday morning with President J. Nelson Norwood, honorary chairman and DeForest W. Truman, newly elected County Commander of the American Legion, chairman. Nell S. Sullivan of Bolivar is county chairman. A committee to assist the chairman was formed and is composed of the following: C.R. Fenner, Howard C. Gould, Charles Roberts, Dana C. Peck, Don Baker and N.F. Tucker. These members are maintaining contribution posts, where boxes are to be found for your contributions....

Mrs. Alice McDermott, R.N., has been appointed to the position of superintendent of the Clawson Infirmary, following the resignation of Lydia Conover because of poor health....

The Aluminum Drive. Pots and pans, tea kettles and more tea kettles. One of the collectors remarked, if anyone had told him there were so many aluminum tea kettles in the township he would never believed it. The collection was quite successful and the committee wishes to thank all who helped, especially Supt. Sisson for the use of the trucks and drivers. The committee consisted of Miss Winifred Davis, chairman, Mrs. Marietta McGraw, William Woodruff and Fred J. Pierce.

Three men have been appointed to the faculty of the Math Department of Alfred University, President M. Ellis Drake has announced. Dr. John W. Hurst, former head of the Math Department at the University of Montana, has been appointed Visiting Professor of Math...Dean Hoover, a member of the mathematics faculty at Montana State University, has been appointed Assistant Professor of Math...Robert E. Ehrlich, a former math instructor here is returning to Alfred University as Assistant Professor of Math...

In the wake of a sudden storm yesterday, lightning struck a three-story barn belonging to Nate Tucker at 122 North Main Street, here in the village. The building burned to the ground...Tucker could make no estimate of the damages, but did say the barn, having been converted to a tool shed, and its contents were partially covered by insurance. Tucker's home and a gas station are very close to the barn, but firemen contained the blaze to the structure, though unable to save it.

Where there's smoke... According to one cracker-barrel philosopher, men fall into three categories, judged by the way in which they view women. In the first category are the bounders and professional Romeos. They want their women to be like cigarettes—slim, trim, to be selected without much thought, easily set aflame and, when the flame has subsided, discarded and forgotten forever. The second type is for the so-called sophisticated type, the fastidious, worldly type who wants his women to be like cigars. They are expensive, last longer, are quietly simulating, but can be exchanged for a more expensive brand when personal finances make it possible. The divorce courts are filled with this type. The third category is the fellow who wants his women to be like his pipe, something he becomes greatly attached to, knocks gently, but lovingly, fondles in a dreamy sentimental mood, and without which he feels rather lost and uneasy. Having made this comparison, our philosopher concludes with the observation that a man will give you a cigarette, offer you a cigar, but he never shares his pipe. —Dairymen's League News

Alfredians—Dr. and Mrs. Lyle Slack and sons of New Jersey, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jacox in Alfred and Mr. and Mrs. Merl Slack in Whitesville...Mrs. Edward Decker (Elaine Gardiner) and children, Kathy, Ted and Jack arrived July 14 to visit her mother, Mrs. DeForest W. Truman and Mr. Truman. After a week in Alfred, they left for Shinglehouse, Pa. to visit Mrs. Decker's sister, Mrs. P.C. Mix (Thelma Gardiner) to their home in Joppa, Maryland...Dr. and Mrs. Jean Attali and two children of Paris, France, are spending six weeks with Dr. and Mrs. Willard Sutton, parents of Mrs. Attali. Mr. and Mrs. George Tappan and three children of Talara, Peru, are joining the family for a reunion...

Over one hundred children are enrolled in the Summer Reading Clubs at Herrick Memorial Library...

FIFTY YEARS AGO, AUGUST 4, 1966

Miss Arlene Ruth Barron and Daniel Edward McMahon, both of Almond, were united in marriage at a Nuptial Mass at St. Jude's Chapel, Alfred, Saturday morning, July 30, at 11 a.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Barron, and Mr. McMahon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. McMahon, all of Almond...

25 Years Ago, August 8, 1991

The 31st annual Alfred-Almond Alumni Banquet was held Juoy 20 at the Knights of Columbus, Hornell, with approximately 325 in attendance for the evening events. Honored classes were 1941, 1951, 1966, 1976 and 1981. Also, the classes of 1945 and 1961 had class picnics. The honored guest was Mrs. Ginny Stopfel, who has taught sixth grade most of those years at A-A since 1966. The Jean Hanks Palmiter Scholarship winners were: Michael Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Baker and Mrs. Sue Baker, and Gretchen Burdick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Burdick. The Sports Hall of Fame awards were presented by Floyd Farley and Dale Lorow to Fran Schwartz, Harold Snyder, Pete Randolph, Mary Liz Gorton Schwartz, Dennis Allen and Ernie Moore...

Sunbeams—A picnic celebration of the Armstrong-Bucher family was held at the "old homestead" at 101 North Main Street, Alfred, on July 20 in honor of the 51st wedding anniversary of Beth Bucher and L. Louise Elizabeth McIntosh, 80, a resident of Thurston County, WA, died Thursday, July 11, 1991, in St. Peter Hospital, Olympia, WA, following a nine-month illness. She was born Dec. 6, 1910 to William and Sophia Zarp, in St. Paul, MN. Her family moved to Olympia in 1921 and she was graduated from Olympia High School in 1928. She attended Washington State College (now University) where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. In 1935 she moved to San Francisco where she worked for Owens-Illinois Corporation until 1946. She was married to Malcolm Eastman McIntosh of Olympia in 1942 in Yuma, Ariz. When Mr. McIntosh returned from World War II, they moved to New Haven, CT., where he studied French literature at Yale, receiving his Ph.D. degree in 1953. Thereafter, the couple lived in Tuscaloosa, AL, Easton, PA, and Alfred, NY where Mr. McIntosh taught at Alfred University from 1957 to 1976. Following Mr. McIntosh's retirement in 1976, they returned to Thurston County to live on and manage the family's 1,200-acre tree farm. They also traveled extensively in Mexico, Europe, China nad the South Pacific...

Rebuilding 'The Big Easy' isn't easy. (By Peter Ostrower). I've gotten off to a great start down in New Orleans. Although I constantly struggle to pronounce street names like the locals, I'm adjusting well to the life in the Big Easy. As for the New Orleanean adjustment to life after Katrina, my neighbor, a typical guy around here, told me that he is still struggling to accept the fact that the New Orleans he knew and loved died. I've signed on for a year-long contract with Americorps/Habitat for Humanity. I get up at 5:45 for work. My boss claims this is a tailored "summer schedule" and that we'll be pushing back the clocks after we escape the heat of July and August. The idea here is that if we start early, we end early, too. Regardless, this wake up schedule has not been a pleasant contrast to my last year in college. Speaking of which, life at Ithaca really does seem pretty far back in the rear view mirror. When my Dad encourages me to take a class or two at Tulane, I tell him that I'm already taking the best course since Kindergarten. (I'm talking about carpentry, Uncle Vic, not the business side of Habitat...) I'm learning SO much every week, and combined with what I came here knowing after a few years of Habitat building during college, I'll be ready to put up my own house by mid August without the assistance of any of my supervisors. I am a supervisor on the job site, instructing what is called "new construction," meaning everything that goes on between the foundation to the top of the roof, minus dry wall, plumbing, and electrical. (Those last three parts of the housing process are given out to sub contractors within the area.) The toughest part about my job is having to take a step back and let the volunteers do the work. On an average day, a group of 350 volunteers will be split up among eight staff members...

ALFRED STATION S.D.B. CHURCH

Sermon title ‘What’s a Christian to do?’

ALFRED STATION-After moving last Sabbath’s Worship Hour to the Wesley Chapel on the campus of Houghton College during the 204th session of the Seventh Day Baptist General Conference, your “extended family” at the Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church return to Alfred Station.

This Sabbath, August 13, you are invited to share your love of God during the 11 a.m. Sabbath Worship Hour.

This Sabbath Pastor Ken’s

sermon returns to the letter of James looking at the message of James 4:5-10. The sermon is titled, “What’s a Christian to do?” The words that we are called to pay attention to in this passage are: Submit, Resist and Draw Near.

Why not plan for you and your family getting to know your “extended family?” The 11 a.m. Worship Hour meets in the sanctuary of the Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church at 585 Route 244, Alfred Station.

If you are unable to physically being a part of the Worship Hour by your presence, join our “Live Stream” broadcast at www.alfredstationsdb.org Broadcasting begins at 10:55 a.m. Sabbath, (Saturday) August 13. If you need further information please call the church office at 607-567- 9176.

As you consider being a part of the Worship Hour remember “Yesterday is History, Tomorrow is Mystery, Today is a Gift.”

Community Chest meeting August 16

ALFRED-The Alfred-Alfred Station Community Chest Board will meet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, August 16 at the Union University Church Center, corner of Main and Church Streets, Alfred, to hear requests and adopt a budget for the 2016 campaign.

Charities that have not been part of the campaign recently are invited to participate if your organization provides services for members of the Alfred-Alfred Station community. We recommend that a representative of your organization be present to make your request for inclusion in the 2016 fund drive. Please provide the following information (enough copies for 8 board members) to acquaint the members of the board with your group:

(a) amount of funding you seek
(b) facts about your organization and how it serves our community

(c) a copy of the form which establishes your organization as a "not-for-profit" charity

(d) a copy of your latest budget and/or annual report

(e) if you filed an IRS form 990, please calculate the following: ratio of salaries to total revenue as indicated: from form 990-EZ, Part I, line 12 divided by line 9 OR from form 990 Part I, line 15 divided by line 12

(f) a brief statement that could be used in the newspaper to familiarize our donors with the way(s) your organization serves the Alfred-Alfred Station community. Your words will better inform our donors than ours could.

If you are unable to send a representative to our budget meeting on August 16, please send your request, with the information indicated above, to: Alfred-Alfred Station Community Chest, P.O. Box 603, Alfred, NY 14802-0603 so that it will be received before the August 16 meeting.

The board looks forward to receiving requests from new organizations.

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, August 11

If man’s natural instinct is toward selfishness, as the architects of the Constitution presupposed, then republican government requires God’s grace. For in order the function, it depends on a degree of selflessness in each citizen. Each must relinquish a portion of his or her individual rights, to strengthen the whole. Such sacrifice, and concern for the well-being of one’s neighbor, does not come spontaneously to most. But under the inspiration of Christian faith, it can become instinctive. As John Adams put it:

“Our Constitution was designed only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate for the government of any other.”

ALLEGANY COUNTY

Richard J. Hoshal, Village Clerk/Treasurer of Belmont.

Grant received for Belmont's First Responders Park clock

BELMONT—The Allegany County Area Foundation recently presented a grant check in the amount of $510.35 to the village of Belmont to help improve the appearance of the First Responders Park located at the intersection of Greenwich and Schuyler streets in Belmont. This grant money was provided by the Masonic Lodge #424 Village of Belmont Clock Fund. The Masonic Lodge in Belmont had dissolved back in 2011. This fund was established at the Foundation to provide in perpetuity the means to care for and maintain the four sided clock.

The Masonic Lodge had purchased the clock and donated it to the Village of Belmont in 2010. Near the clock is a plaque which names the Masters that had served at the Lodge.

If you would like to make a difference in your community by leaving a legacy please contact the Allegany County Area Foundation today at 585-808-8444 or e-mail: director@alleganycount-yareafoundation.org. The Foundation welcomes tax-deductible gifts in any amount, including memorials to friends and loved ones.

American Red Cross plans Allegany Co. blood drives

The American Red Cross urges blood donors to give in the final weeks of summer to help overcome a critical summer blood shortage.

The summer months are among the most challenging times of years to collect enough blood and platelet donations to meet patient needs. Many regular donors delay giving while they take vacation and participate in summer activities. The need for blood doesn't take a summer break though.

Donors of all blood types are urgently needed to give now to help ensure blood is available for patients in need. Those who donated blood earlier this summer may be eligible to donate again. Blood can be safely donated every 56 days, and double red cells can be donated every 112 days. In appreciation for helping to save lives, those who come to donate blood or platelets with the Red Cross now through Aug. 31 will receive a $5 Amazon.com gift card claim code.

Schedule an appointment to give blood by downloading the free Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting redcrossblood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). To help reduce wait times, donors are encouraged to make appointments and complete the RapidPass online health history questionnaire at redcrossblood.org/rapidpass.

Blood drives in Allegany County are scheduled as follows:
-ALFRED: Friday, August 19, 12 noon to 6 p.m., Alfred State College, Upper College Drive
-ALFRED STATION: Monday, August 29, 2 to 7 p.m., Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church, 587 Route 244, Alfred Station.
-FRIENDSHIP: Monday, August 29, 1:30 to 6:30 p.m, Friendship Fire Company, East Main Street.
-WELLSVILLE: Monday, August 22, 2 to 7 p.m., Brookside Wesleyan Church, 3456 Andover Road, Wellsville.

VILLAGE OF ALFRED OLYMPICS

Alfred residents make big splash in pool, talent show

By PETER McCLAIN
Alfred Village Trustee

ALFRED—The inaugural Alfred Olympics wind their way toward the potluck and welcommunity celebration at the Closing Ceremonies at 5 p.m. Monday, August 22 on the Village Bandstand lawn. However, since our last report, a few more events were competed.

On Sunday, July 24 Alfred University opened Lebohner Pool for a swim meet. The event was marked by standout performances in both the children's and adult's categories with Ellora Enke taking two firsts, a second, and a third place finish among the children and Andy Butler finishing first in three events. Both Ellora and Andy won the 50M freestyle and backstroke events.

In the Smallest Splash contest, Ellora took second to LaRae Dodson whose form consistently produced the smallest splash of the day. On the adult side, Andy sat out this event allowing Shawn Carstens to claim victory.

The final event was the Cannon Ball Contest where Liam Carstens produced the largest splash among the children and Andy Butler unleashed a series of can openers that wet the spectators, the life guard, and the tiled walls from the spray! Special distinction goes to Peter McClain who competed in every event and managed to finish last in all of them.

Then, on Friday evening, July 29 the community gathered at the Village Hall Theater for Alfred's Got Talent. Guest judges for the competition were Naz Kourgli (aka Donald Tape), former Mayor Virginia Rasmussen, and the current first lady of Alfred, Jill Grigg. Eleven acts entertained the audience with a mixture of singing, dance, comedy, and a skit. The evening ended with a performance by The Singing Hooks of A.E. Crandall.

Third place was taken by the father-daughter combination of Steve and Ryann Donlon who performed Vance Joy's Riptide, with Ryann providing the vocals and her dad accompanying her on guitar. Second place went to Hudson Laprade who kept the room in laughter throughout his self-deprecating, stand-up comedy routine. And first place went to LaRae Dodson who sang Bruno Mars' Grenade. The event set the record for attendance at an Alfred Olympics event and many in the crowd were eagerly looking forward to next year's reprisal and a return of an Alfred Community Theatre production.

As the summer winds down on the first Alfred Olympics, remember to continue marking off your time spent reading and get your completed sheets to the Box of Books by Monday, August 22 so that your efforts can be tabulated toward the final Olympics standings (the Summer Reading Program continues through Aug. 28, but the Olympics does not so drop off your sheets early).

Alfred Olympic Standings

Going into the Str8 Eight Day events, the current standings have the East side leading the village with 803 points. South remains in second with 341, North in third at 192, and West sitting in fourth with 77.

AU's Li'l Alf will join in Rhinos' Mascot Night

ROCHESTER—Li'l Alf, the mascot for Alfred University, fresh from a second-place finish in a national competition for the best mascot in Division III of the NCAA, will be on hand for the Rochester Rhinos home soccer game on Saturday, Aug. 20.

The Rhinos are hosting a Mascot Night, in which close to 20 mascots from college and pro teams in the region are expected to attend. The event is being held to celebrate the birthday of Rex, the Rhinos' official mascot.

Mascots attending will greet spectators entering the main gate at Rochester Rhinos Stadium, before kickoff of the 6:05 matchup between the Rhinos and visiting Pittsburgh River Hounds. Gates to the stadium, located at 460 Oak Street in Rochester, will open at 5 p.m. Tickets are available at a discounted price of $15 (see below for ordering info).

In what has become one of the most popular features of Mascot Nights at Rhinos games, the mascots in attendance will take the field for a halftime game.

The Rhinos are also conducting a Super Heroes Night where kids can dress up as their favorite super hero.

Alfred University alumni, students, parents and friends are welcome to attend a pregame tailgate at 4 pm. Food and non-alcoholic beverages will be provided. Game tickets are available at $15 (discounted from the regular $24 price). University Relations has 50 tickets set aside for those attending the tailgate so all of the Saxons in attendance can sit together. Register online at alfred.edu/alumni

Continue the legacy of Dr. F. Clifton Miller

Dr. Clif Miller spent his entire medical career in Allegany County caring for the women and children of this community as a busy obstetrician/gynecologist and pediatrician.

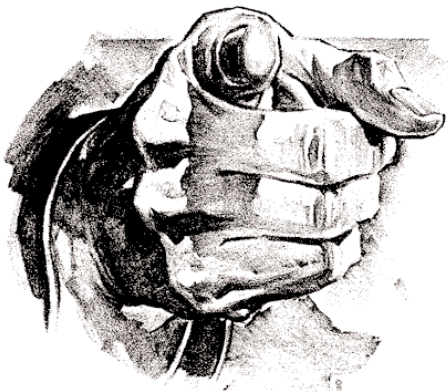

When he died unexpectedly, friends and colleagues felt compelled to find a way to honor his legacy and decided that a fitting memorial would be to rename the maternity unit at Jones Memorial after him and to establish a trust fund that will be used to support women and children's health services for generations to come.

If Dr. Miller touched your life by delivering or caring for you or someone you love, please consider joining the Dr. Miller Fan Club by making a donation. The goal of this project is $250,000. These funds will be used to name The Dr. F. Clifton Miller Birthing Center and to establish the Dr. F. Clifton Miller Trust.

HITS AND MISSES:

It's almost mid-August, summer will soon be fading away, time for NFL football to begin ... unless it is at the Hall of Fame field in Canton, Ohio! Yikes, what is up with that? The NFL kicks off their exhibition season each year in Ohio by having a game to add to the enshrinement weekend festivities. This year it was supposed to be the Packers and Colts taking the field on Sunday nite as Brett Favre, Tony Dungy and Marvin Harrison were inducted with Green Bay and Indianapolis ties. Green Bay fans travel. Packers and Steelers fans are probably the two best at that, and to come to Canton to see the ceremonies but then have no game to see, probably didn't sit too well. Others inducted this past weekend were Kevin Greene, Orlando Pace, owner Eddie DeBartolo Jr., the late Dick Stanfel and the late & legendary QB, Ken Stabler of the fabled Oakland Raiders.

It has been a rough start to training camp for the Buffalo Bills at SJ Fisher College in Pittsford. Their #2 pick in the college draft, Reggie Ragland is probably done for the year before the season even started with a knee injury. Perhaps a torn ACL. The Bills are already without their #1 pick, Shaq Lawson for at least part of the season with a shoulder injury. Not a good start to a "must win" campaign for head coach Rex Ryan and the Bills. Stu and Waffle were unavailable for comment on the situation as they were taking in the Watkins Glen Race over the weekend. "Sure" they'll be selling more of their season tickets now, on a per game basis, and concentrating on Notre Dame football instead. Could be a long fall/winter for the A-A duo.

Big-time "congrats" are in order for Justin Kieffer and his wife, Lyndsay Murphy Kieffer of late. Justin just competed in and completed the grueling IronMan Triathlon at Lake Placid in the ADK's with a time of 16:28:55. Yes, that is 16+ hours! When Lauren and I were recently in Lake Placid we saw signs around town advertising this event, was aware of it anyhow as one of her Ragnar teammates has competed in this and actually saw some potential training going on at Mirror Lake one evening along with Jess Herbst. Training for this is crazy, to say the least and for Justin to complete this is quite the accomplishment. And Lyndsay, the former Alfred University cager, recently was on the winning team in the Hornell Gus Macker "open division" for women. While not recently, have watched Lyndsay play in this event many times over the years and usually on a competitive team with former teammates or college opponents. Going way back, many-many games against Lauren and her Webster teammates in Hornell, Corning and Utica. Always tough battles at that young age! "Congrats" to both!

The Hornell Gus Macker also announced it is naming its Sportsmanship Award after Dean U. Long. Richly deserved! "Ungawa" officiated games galore over the years, even driving up from Mississippi of late and in 2015 when he was sick with cancer that would eventually take his life. "Later ... Much."

Former Alfred-Almond cager, owner of the famed Torrey Painting Striders, huge Cleveland fan, "Hair" Torrey had to settle for second-place in the foul shooting contest held at the Hornell Gus Macker. After many years of dominating this event, believe it is now two straight, second-place finishes. The "Traveling Sports Fan" starting to slip as are his beloved "Tribe"?

Jake Taft, former Friendship Little League star Bruce Emery and his son, Bradley took in a Yanks-Rays baseball game at Tropicana Field in St. Pete's the weekend before last. The "AAA" Rays swept the Yanks out of the building over three games and it was time for NY Yankees to make trades. They shipped out Aroldis Chapman (Cubs), Andrew Miller (Indians), Carlos Beltran (Rangers) and Ivan Nova (Pirates). In return, many key prospects as the Yanks needed to get younger. Like the Chapman deal as they got some real promising talent in return, not so much Miller, but the Yanks are a .500 team and his talent was wasted in New York. Chapman and Beltran free

ALFRED UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL

ALFRED UNIVERSITY veteran quarterback Tyler Johnson (5) is among 18 returning starters on the Saxons football team who hope to make some noise during the 2016 season.

Saxons receive votes in football poll

ALFRED—The Alfred University football team is among a group of squads that received votes in a national Top-25 poll of Division III programs.

The Saxons received two votes in the 2016 D3football.com Preseason Top 25 poll, released Tuesday. The D3football.com Top 25 is voted on by a panel of 25 coaches, sports information directors and media members from across the country, and is published weekly.

AU, under the director of third-year head coach Bob Rankl, is coming off a 2015 season in which the Saxons went 8-3 (5-3 Empire 8 Conference), capping the year off with a 12-11 win over Fitchburg State in the ECAC Whitelaw Bowl Championship game.

The Saxons return 18 starters (eight offense, eight defense, two special teams), including seven Empire 8 Conference All-Stars. Among them are senior quarterback Tyler Johnson (East Syracuse, NY/East Syracuse-Minoa), a three time league all-star and the 2013 league Rookie of the Year, and junior outside linebacker A.J. Licata (Lake View, NY/Frontier), a first-time E8 all-star last season.

Johnson produced 2,599 yards of total offense (1,923 passing, 16 TDs; team-high 633 rushing, nine TDs) and was named to the Empire 8 Second Team. Licata, an honorable mention pick, had 101 tackles (14 for loss, 4 1/2 sacks) two forced fumbles, two recoveries, and an interception. In addition to the returning starters from last season, the Saxons welcome back senior defensive tackle Zach Brinkley (Brockway, PA/Brockway). Brinkley is a two-time Empire 8 Conference all-star who missed the 2015 campaign with injury.

Alfred opens its 2016 season Saturday, Sept. 3, at noon at home against Husson. The Saxons play three teams listed in Preseason D3football.com poll: 17th-ranked Cortland (home, Oct. 15); and RPI (away, Sept. 10) and St. John Fisher (home, Nov. 12), both of which are receiving votes.

agents anyhow and Nova needed a change of scenery. "Tex" soon announced his retirement, A-Rod followed up this past Sunday and catcher Brian McCann could soon be on the move as well.

R. Theodore "Hilly" Moses and his son, "Marvin" will be off on another baseball trip soon that will have them taking in MLB games in: Detroit, Cincy, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Philly. The duo took in more games last summer as they went to: Milwaukee, maybe Minnesota, St. Louis, Kansas City, Cleveland, Yankee Stadium, Fenway Park along the way. Guessing on some of the spots from 2015 and maybe even 2016. Was long "chat" with Moses on Sunday past. I know, lucky me!

It should be quite the playoff chase in MLB this year as the top teams all helped themselves at the trade deadline. The Cubs, Nationals, Giants and Dodgers all are playing well in the NL. Chicago and Washington would be a great championship series but am not counting out the SF Giants in this even year. Over in the AL, still sticking with the Texas Rangers to advance as they'll be in the playoffs with Cleveland, Detroit, Baltimore and Toronto.

Hoping to take in three MLB games this year myself starting with the Rays at Yanks this weekend. 3L and I headed to the 'Stadium as the 1996 World Series team will be honored on Saturday prior to the regular game. Tino Martinez my favorite player from that team, was at YS stadium when he was honored two years ago as Lauren, Jess Herbst and I watching. Get to see him plus Mariano Rivera, Derek Jeter, Bernie Williams, Paul O'Neill and many more on Saturday. Plan on going to a game in Cincinnati in September and still hoping to see a game in Pittsburgh, with "E" perhaps, in late September.

A-A grads Stu and Waffle were indeed in Watkins Glen this past weekend as Denny Hamlin won the NASCAR Sprint Cup's Cheez-It 355. They were joined by "Shards," Evan Enke, Matt Green and a few others. Halfhead?

Didn't make it down to the A-A alumni banquet for the first time in many years. Tough call! Lauren drove up to Webster from NYC and we ended up with quite the busy weekend. Visiting that Saturday with Lorna "Forth," Mary Herbst and Coach Brown, running errands as well. Saw on FB some names and wish I had a chance to see Big Nev, Dave Kingman, Mark S. Gaisser, Anne Gaisser Holmok, Cutter, the "Cage Man" and Mixer, plus others, obviously. My aunt and uncle. Usually sit with the Mix brothers when not one of my 5-year reunions. Always look forward to that. Great event.

Lauren ran in the annual Lindsay Matthews Memorial Scholarship 5K on Sunday the 24th. She had a solid run on a very hot day. Was 19th overall, third female and first in her age group (25-29). The last five years she has finished: 2-1-4-3-3 (females) overall in this race in honor of her former Geneseo soccer teammate from Orchard Park. Geneseo teammates, Feuz-Alison Lewis and Meg "Pam" Verdino all there and all finished. Giving a big "Gut It Out Award" to Verdino for her efforts! Had a chance to chat with Emily Fleetwood after the race, a Matthews Scholarship Award winner, who went on to play lax at Niagara University. This event very well run, organized and gets bigger each year.

Backing up to the Coyle-Blumenauer wedding reception, the girl I met from Angelica, who played soccer for Coach Holmok at Alfred State College was Tara Schola.

7/30 - had a golf outing set-up with Bob Baker at Woodlynn Hills in Nunda cancelled by rain. Sunny that day in Webster, perhaps Alfred too, but not in Nunda. Yuk.

Have watched some of the Rio Olympics, hope to see more when Phelps and Ledecky swim for the USA plus the two Team USA basketball squads in action. The women probably have the best team they have ever assembled.

How about this for an oddity ... seven teams (of nine) tied for first-place in Major League Lacrosse, including the Rochester Rattlers. All had (8-6) records and only four teams make the playoffs. Rochester did not. Now there is a "fun" tiebreaker!

Off to New York City this weekend to see Lauren and the SEAL, Jason (Bourne). Besides the Yanks game, hoping to go to Foley's Sports Bar and Frances Tavern in our travels.

Frank Sumo ... attendance.
